A Fork in the Road to Riches

"And so, our own thoughts and opinions are bent towards the real estate market, as if by some powerful magnet. Pretty soon, we have a warped view of the world...in which 'you can't lose money in real estate.'"

by Bill Bonner
www.dailyreckoning.com

"The trouble with all salesmen," began a conversation yesterday, "is that they begin to believe their own claptrap. That's true of stock promoters. It's true of politicians. It's true of real estate investors. I don't know; it might even be true of used car dealers.

"Right now, all over America, people are becoming real estate brokers. There are thousands of new ones every day, because they think it is the royal road to riches. They figure they will get an inside track to making a lot of money. They figure they'll get paid for doing market research. I mean, they'll get to go around and look at houses that are for sale, and they'll get paid to do it. All they have to do is sell a house now and then and they can earn a decent living from commissions, but the real money is when they find a gem of a house at a discount; then they figure they will pounce on it.

"What's happened is that they've bought into the real estate industry's spiel. They think it always goes up. And since it's going up all the time, they want to be in on it.

"What you don't see in the real estate numbers is a lot of buying and selling within the real estate profession. A guy gets a license to sell property. The next thing you know, he's not selling a thing, he's buying. He is fundamentally a believer, but his buying is not 'normal.' A few years ago, he was probably buying tech stocks. And before that, who knows what it was, but this is not a guy who will hold onto his house in a slack market. He'll sell, either because he has to, or because he loses interest. There's a lot of that kind of very petty speculation going on. These people will leave real estate when the going gets tough and move on to something else."

We have been thinking about property - perhaps because we are surrounded by it. When prices rise more than 20% per year, as they have in the greater Baltimore-Washington area, it draws attention. We went down to Baltimore's Fells Point area last night for dinner. We felt as though we were in a new city. It was as if we had never been there before: New restaurants, new condominiums, and new parking garages.

(We recalled the days when you could get drunk and drive right down the main street directly into the water. Alas, those days are gone.)

And so, our own thoughts and opinions are bent towards the real estate market, as if by some powerful magnet. Pretty soon, we have a warped view of the world in which "you can't lose money in real estate."

Yet, we sit this morning in a building whose real value - even today - is probably less than it was 75 years ago. As near as we can determine, the value of central city property in Baltimore hit its high in the 1920s, or maybe before. Then, the city began a decline from which it has never fully recovered. By the 1970s or 1980s, it probably hit bottom with luxury apartments in the center of town selling for as little as $30,000.

Since then, prices have generally gone up, but even as late as the early 1990s, when we bought our office building, prices were depressed. Our place is an elegant mansion of 16,000 square feet. It wasn't in bad shape when we bought it, but the price reflected a long period of malaise and discouragement with property. We paid only $500,000 - and worried about it. Now, the building is probably worth more than a million. We have no sure figures, but we recall a calculation that showed it was worth more than that, in real terms, a century ago.

Out on the plains the story is a little different. As reported in this space a few days ago, prices for Kansas farmland reached a peak in the 1880s. They have never recovered.

Does real estate always go up over the long term? We don't know. If so, you may have to live as long as Methuselah to find out.

Something Old SOMETHING NEW

Dear Brides-to-Be,

Now that Christmas is over, many of you may have become engaged. It's time to think about weddings you have really enjoyed and why. Coming down the aisle is important.

When you choose the location of the ceremony, you and your fiancé will have to sit down and talk! You may decide to pick one faith over the other, or just marry nondenominational and conduct the ceremony together. Be sure to discuss your plans with your families if they are paying for the wedding.

What type of vows do you want? Will you write something of your own? Express your love at this time in front of everybody to be bonded for life.

It is really beautiful to see weddings of all types where people have planned carefully and express passion for each other I want your wedding to be perfect.

Best wishes,
Carlene O'Connor

Publisher's Pen

While reminiscing the past from 1983 until 2005 and remembering why Village View Publications wrote a publisher's pen column was exhilarating. It was written as a means to interact with the readers. In the years 2000 through 2005, it ceased to exist with only special editions having the column.

It was recently brought to my attention that readers would like to have me bring back that column, so I decided this would be a great year for it. Readers, this is my New Year's resolution!

Let start talking about restaurants. There are many fine restaurants on the south side of Chicago and we will start with two. For a family restaurant, we selected two this issue with the first one being Karson's Restaurant in Evergreen Park.

Once a year Anita Anderson, our food editor and I go out for dinner. This year we selected Karson's. Anita ordered a turkey dinner and questioned the server if it would be real turkey or processed meat. Well, the owner, Nick came over to our table to say, "we only have fresh turkey meat cooked with the bone, not processed meat." She was happy and I had ordered lamb chops and received a nice platter of lamb chops, rice, Greek style broasted potatoes and vegetable. Anita looked at it and asked if she could try some of it because her husband Don loves lamb and wanted to know if the chops were tasty enough, they would continue to go there for lamb. Well they received the 4 stars for their lamb chops and beautifully displayed food setting. The turkey must have been good also but we still need a doggy bag.

Oak Lawn Family Restaurant also has great food!. Their style of serving is different than Karson's, that is why we selected these two restaurants. There are new owners at Oak Lawn Family Restaurant, so let me know what you think about both of these restaurants.

On the sad note, my sister-in-law, Rosemary Troia, age 65 passed away November 23rd, the day before Thanksgiving. She was a great waitress at Lemets on 55th and Halsted and Hickory Pit in Bridgeport for many years. Also, she worked as a floral designer until she had a stroke in 1990. She will be remembered at a memorial mass in January.

Eberhard Hamer, at rest December 7, 2005, is the husband of June, father of former employee, Linda DuPuy. Mr. and Mrs. Hamer were former owners of Service All, in Oak Lawn for many years. Eb was an engineer for Argonne Laboratories also for many years. As residents of Oak Lawn for more than 40 years, they were involved as a couple for the Boy Scout troops in Hometown and Oak Lawn.

They also played Santa and Ms. Claus for various schools in Hometown , Robbins and Oak Lawn. Whenever there would be volunteer work to do, Linda also volunteer them for it. Surely, his family and friends throughout Oak Lawn will miss Eb, his kind words will also be missed by many.

Martin Rochford, passed away December 13, resident of Palos Hills. Roch was an accountant for 50 plus years and worked in Mr. Greenwood, Oak Lawn, Burbank and Palos Hills. His son Ted (Veronica) and wife Mary, grandfather of Brendan James, age 1, survive him.

RINGING IN THE NEW YEAR - A TIMELESS TRADITION

It was a comfort to see Dick Clark ring in the New Year. The eternal teenager had recently suffered a stroke and, though he was recuperating,, it was anyone's guess if he'd actually be there when the ball began its decent in Times Square. He has become as much a part of the New Year's celebration as singing "Auld Lang Syne" at the stroke of midnight. It's amazing to realize the former host of "American Bandstand" is now 76 years old.

New Year's Eve is traditionally a night of 'out with the old and in with the new' but without Dick Clark, it just wouldn't be the same.

I guess now his presence is a sort of staple of security for those of us who consider ourselves not growing older but growing older better.

There are some predictable rituals people engage in on New Year's Eve.

I remember my mother drinking Mogan David wine and eating sardines for good luck. I don't remember any resolutions being revealed in those days, or maybe I just wasn't paying attention.

Every year since I quit smoking, which is about 20 years now, I have made a resolution to lose the habitual pounds that seem to multiply with each year's passing.

Maybe that is my only resolution every year because it is one thing that hasn't changed from one new year to the next.

Well, I'm onto a totally new train of thought this year.

I've decided to give myself a break this year and not even utter the F -word, as in FAT.

Instead of obsessing about losing the weight, I am going to concentrate on gaining insight into the truly important things - like making meaningful memories with my family and spending quality time with friends. Now those are resolutions worth reciting and remembering.

And here, for your New Year's enjoyment, some famous quotes being shared as insights as we welcome in the wonderful year of 2006.

A quip from Helen Fielding - Bridget Jones' Diary-

"I do think New Year's resolutions can't technically be expected to begin on New Year's Day, don't you? Since, because it's an extension on New Year's Eve, smokers are always on a smoking roll and cannot be expected to stop abruptly on the storke of midnight with so much nicotine in their system. Also, dieting on New Year's Day isn't a good idea, as you can't eat rationally but really need to be free to consume whatever is necessary, moment by moment, in order to ease your hangover.. I think it would be much more sensible if resolutions began generally on January the second."

"Youth is when you're allowed to stay up late on New Year's Eve. Middle age is when you're forced to." -Bill Vaughn

"The object of a new year is not that we should have a new year. It is that we should have a new soul." -G.K Chesterton

"Many people look forward to the new year for a new start on old habits."-Author Unknown

"A New Year's resolution is something that goes in one year and out the other." -Author Unknown

"Never tell your resolution beforehand, or it's twice as onerous a duty." -John Selden

"The new year begins in a snow-storm of white vows."-George William Curtis

"For last year's words belong to last year's language
And next year's words await another voice.
and to make an end is to make a beginning."-T.S Eliot

"Ring out the old, ring in the new;
Ring happy bells across the snow:
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true."
-Alfred Lord Tennyson

I'd like to take a moment to thank each and everyone of you for your support of this column. Thank you for letting me share my thoughts with you each week.

I greatly appreciate it.

Peace love and joy are my wish for you this New Year!!

Love and best wishes, Kathy

If you work with a financial professional, I would suggest talking to that person. It is very important that you compare the performance of your different investments against a similar index or mutual funds that invest in the same type of assets. The Dow Jones Industrial average is a good tool for large company stocks, but it is not good for small companies or global stock comparisons.

Everyone should evaluate your investment objective and the amount of risk you are comfortable assuming. Many mutual funds will change their investment objective or the type of stocks they buy. This can change the funds investment risk drastically, so make sure you are comfortable with the current objective of the fund. Also evaluate what your risk tolerance is and develop a portfolio that meets your needs and make sure you continue to evaluate it.

As risk tolerance changes in time, many factors change it, such as the amount of time before you will need to access money from the account. As you get closer, it is important to invest a portion of your account in more conservative assets such as bonds and money market accounts. A factor to consider is an emotional response to loosing money. Everyone remembers the stock losses in 2000 and 2002.

This brought home the risk element of the stock market. But as most markets work, there was a stock market rebound over the last three years erasing most of the losses of the previous bad market. If your response to loosing money was to sell, you should look at a more conservative portfolio.

These are very important exercises everyone should do so you can achieve your investment goals of the future.

Happy New Year, good tidings to all and hopefully everyone will have a healthy and prosperous New Year. This is a perfect time to review your current financial picture and map out a strategy for 2006. It is also a good time to reevaluate your investment goals.

Every year, everyone should review all of their current investments to see how they have been performing. There are different sources to gather this information. The easy way is to look in the paper that publishes values for the different mutual funds.

Stop, Look Within and Listen: the life you led in 2005 should not have loose ends to deal with in 06. Everyone has to have a something they've left undone but if it is something "major" it will be most regrettable, like a disaster just waiting to happen in 06, to you. It could be money issues, it could be health issues, it could be your marriage or the relationship you are in or trying to get into. Still, we all do pretty much the same things every day in our lives. This is because we are spiritual beings having a human experience living a life with someone, doing what we can to make a living, etc. But for most of us there is something that "only we can do" for ourselves, for our loved ones, bosses or friends or, for the sake of our very soul! You can be guided to know what this is in your own soul-searching. Never enter into the many battles that life brings to you unprepared to meet those battles, demands orchallenges. Right? What may seem unknowable for 2006 is know-able!

Tinley Park Bannes School spreads happiness

When the first grade students of John H Bannes School entered into their Christmas project for the Crisis Center for South Suburbia, they did with heart and soul. The young people raised $700 in order to bring happiness to children spending the holiday season at the Crisis

Over 60 first-graders and teachers spent a morning at the Orland Park Mall. Each child selected a bear and chose a heart then they stuffed, fluffed, dressed and in some cases named the bear. They then tucked the bear into its own "condominium", brought it back to school and then it was given to the Crisis center to one who needed a new friend. Each child whispered a fond good-bye to the bear and gave an extra hug.

This is the second time the students took part in this project to benefit Crisis Center. First grader, Luke Van Kleek felt sorrow but agreed they are spreading happiness around the world one bear at a time.

New techniques at LCM

A new procedure at Little Company of Mary Hospital offers reduced pain and healing time following prostate cancer surgery. It is one of the few hospitals to offer da Vinci Prostatectomy. In 2005 alone, 232,000 men were diagnosed with prostate cancer, the most common form among men in the United States. However it is highly treatable if found early. Surgical removal is one of the most effective treatments, but the operation causes a great deal of anxiety for the patient due to risks and effects on the urinary tract and sexual function.

Little Company of Mary Hospital is one of the only community hospitals in the greater Chicago area to employ the da Vinci surgical system in prostate cancer surgery. A minimally invasive approach, da Vinci employs the use of state-of-the-art robotic technology allowing surgeons to perform complex surgeries through tiny openings. The surgeon has the advantage of greater visualization and control of the instruments. In addition nerves and valves are more casily preserved using this technique, which offers the patient improved urinary control and preservation of sexual function. The patient also enjoys a shorter stay, less blood loss, minimal scaring and a faster return to normal activities.

Much Ado About Nothing clearly deceives

by Marijo Doody

"Much Ado About Nothing" belongs to the group of mature romantic comedies of Shakespeare. The beauty of this virtuous deception is they are so plausible.

"Much Ado About Nothing" is about the fate of two pair of lovers. Beatrice (Kelli Fox) and Benedick (Jim Mezon) have much chemistry in their bantering about as the older couple. Hero (Susan Shunk) and Claudio (John Hoogenakker) the younger traditional couple are in the midst of the romantic deception.

In this "Much Ado About Nothing" the tragic action of innocent women and infidelity clearly shows the inadequacy in Claudio.

The real star in this production is Scott Jaeck as the town's bundling constable Dogberry in the zestfully comedic roll and his ragtag officers, James Harms and Don Forston.

Canadian director, Marti Maraden makes her debut in this production. She is known in all the major circles in Canadian Theatre. Merzon and Fox are also Canadian. One wonders if American actors could have done these rolls.

"Much Ado About Nothing" is about humor, emotion and maturity necessary for marriage and romantic love along with the dangerous effect of power and clearly deceives the viewer. It is definitely worthwhile to see.

Other performers noted are Kevin Gudahl, Sean Fortunato, Carey Cannon, Monet Butler and David Lively. Costumes (Christina Poddubink) were lovely and Patrick Clark's sets were perfection in the Italian way.

Tickets for "Much Ado About Nothing" at the Chicago Shakespeare Theater Box office at 312-595-5600 or visit the theater website at www.chicagoshakes.com Performances are weekday evenings at 7:30pm, Friday evenings at 8pm, Saturday evenings at 8:30pm and matinees on Wednesday at 1pm, Saturday at 4pm and Sunday at 3pm. The last performance day is February 26.

Orland Fire District stresses importance of smoke detectors

Two Recent House Fires Had No Smoke Detectors

Two recent house fircs within the Orland Fire Protection District have prompted fire officials to sound a call for working smoke detectors in all homes.

"In the last few weeks, we've had two serious house fires and in both cases neither home had working smoke detectors," said Orland Fire Chief Don Bettcnhausen. "Luckily, no one was seriously injured; however, we're asking that everyone in the Orland Fire Protection District not take a chance without a smoke detector," the chief stressed.

Statistics show that most fatal fires occur at night or in the carly hours of the morning. The smell of smoke will not wake a slccping individual. It can, in fact, put a slccping person into a deeper sleep.

Wc're encouraging everyone to stock up on the batteries they need — especially now during the holidays — and leavc the battcry in the smoke detector."

According to the Unitcd States Fire Administration, by 1995 an estimated 93 percent of all American homes — single and multifamily apartments, nursing homes and dormitories — were equipped with smoke detectors.

"A working smoke detector is the first line of defense against fire," Bettenhausen said. "In the event of a fire, a smoke alarm can save lives.

Smoke detectors should be installed on every level of the home, including the basement. It really baffled our personnel that the two recent house fires didn't have smoke detectors. We're hoping that all families in the Orland Fire District heed this warning and make sure they have working smoke detectors on every level of their homes."

For more information about smoke dctectors and the proper placement of them, call the Orland Fire Protection District's non-emergency numbcr, 708/ 349-0074.

Peoria Native Brings Years of Municipal Experience

The Village of Orland Park has announced the appointment of Karie L. Friling to the newly created position of Director of Development Services.

Friling's most recently served as the Assistant Village Administrator for Community Development for the Village of Matteson. With Matteson, Friling was responsible for the combined department of building services, planning, community affairs, economic development, engineering and capital projects.

With Orland Park, Friling will lead the newly combined four division Department of Development Services which includes Planning and Economic Development; Design and Systems; Building and the village's private engineering contractor.

"We're very excited to have Karie Friling join the village's team," said Orland Park Village Manager RJ Zeder. The director of Development Services will be the Orland Park's primary economic development official tasked with promoting business investment in the community.

"Ours is a very broad position that will help to implement the procedures established by the Mayor and Board of Trustees," Zeder said.

"We're very happy to have found an individual who has the personnel management and economic development knowledge that we were looking for," the village manager added.

Friling holds a Master of Public Administration Degree from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Western Illinois University in Macomb. She is a member of the International City/County Management Association, the International Economic Development Council, the Illinois Tax Increment and Enterprise Zone Associations and a number of other professional and civic organizations. 2006

Stop, Look Within and Listen: the life you led in 2005 should not have loose ends to deal with in 06. Everyone has to have a something they've left undone but if it is something "major" it will be most regrettable, like a disaster just waiting to happen in 06, to you. It could be money issues, it could be health issues, it could be your marriage or the relationship you are in or trying to get into. Still, we all do pretty much the same things every day in our lives. This is because we are spiritual beings having a human experience living a life with someone, doing what we can to make a living, etc. But for most of us there is something that "only we can do" for ourselves, for our loved ones, bosses or friends or, for the sake of our very soul! You can be guided to know what this is in your own soul-searching. Never enter into the many battles that life brings to you unprepared to meet those battles, demands or challenges. Right? What may seem unknowable for 2006 is know-able!

Sheriff visits Children's Hospital

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan made an early Christmas visit to patients at Hope Children's Hospital in Oak Lawn. Sheriff Sheahan, with the help of Santa Claus, delivered autographed NFL helmets to the children, which were donated by the Chicago Bears and several of their opponents while in town to play against the Chicago Bears.

National Radon Action Month

During National Radon Action Month, our nation is reminded of the serious danger that radon gas poses in our homes. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) estimates radon causes about 20,000 deaths from lung cancer in the U.S. annually. Exposure to indoor radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer after cigarette smoking, and the U.S. Surgeon General has warned that radon is a national health problem.

Protecting the health of all Americans against the threat of radon gas begins with testing your home.

Radon is a natural radioactive gas released in rock, soil, and water from the natural decay of uranium. It is colorless, odorless and tasteless. Fortunately, scientists have provided tools that help protect us from radon, such as a simple test that determines the level of exposure in homes, schools and other buildings. Testing for and measurement of this dangerous gas in the indoor air we breathe is simple, inexpensive and effective. If elevated levels are detected, there are simple, cost effective steps that can be taken to reduce concentrations to acceptable levels.

The EPA is working in concert with other Federal, State and volunteer organizations to educate Americans about the risks of radon. During National Radon Action Month, I encourage all Americans to join in this crucial effort and learn more about the health risk posed by radon, test for it and, when warranted, take steps to reduce exposure to it.

As Assistant Administrator of the Office of Air and Radiation in the U.S. EPA, I urge the recognition of the month of January as National Radon Action Month. I encourage our partners and programs to honor this observation with appropriate programs, ceremonies and activities.

OLCHS teacher visits Japan on a Fulbright Scholarship

Special Education teacher Patricia Land recently returned from an 18-day trip to Japan as part of the Japan Fulbright Memorial Fund for Teachers.

The JFMF Teacher Program is funded by the Government of Japan as a gesture of thanks to the United States for providing Fulbright Scholarships to many Japanese nationals, allowing them to study in our country. Mrs. Land was selected from over 2,600 applieants this year.

The program began with a group orientation in San Francisco for all 200 teachers, who came from every state. Participants then traveled to Tokyo to attend workshops and seminars led by experts on Japanese education, culture, government, and economy. While in Tokyo, Mrs. Land and her colleagues visited muscums, shrines, and historical places.

The Teacher Program concluded with a debriefing in Tokyo during which participants had opportunities to compare notes on their experiences. Aceording to Mrs. Land, "This was an extraordinary opportunity to experience a unique and beautiful culture, get to know the Japanese people, and gain first-hand insight to their educational system."

The JFMF Teacher Program will have a direct benefit to Oak Lawn Community High School as Mrs. Land shares her experiences with her classes and International Club. In doing so, it fulfills Senator Fulbright's dream of creating a more peaceful world through education and mutual understanding.

Oak Lawn postpones special service area again

by Matt Mayer

At the public comment portion of the Jan 10, Oak Lawn Board of Trustee meeting, a resident asked Mayor Dave Heilmann if the village was planning to ereate another Tax Increment financing (TIF) district. Heilmann responded, "I think the biggest opportunity for the future of Oak Lawn lies at 110th and Cicero. The village hasn't reeeived full analysis from the TIF consultant. However if the question to me is, leave it like that or go out and TIF and change the future of our community in that area, I will vote for a TIF every single time", Heilmann said.

The 25-acre parcel contains a vacant Dominick's, an operating K-Mart, a Harley Davidson dealership. Trustee Tom Phelan and Heilmann have been interested in transforming this parcel into a life style center, which would include high-end retailers. Phelan has been promoting this concept to developers. Both Heilmann and Phelan have said several times that this area needs incentives, which a TIF would provide, to attract developers. A TIF uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is free from local taxing bodies; the maximum life of a TIF is 23 years.

The board approved Heilmann's request to postpone the Target Corporation special service area- munieipal parking lot ordinance until the April 11. Heilmann said the village has heard very little from Target Corporation. "I will wait until I hear back from Target", Heilmann said.

The board approved an ordinance for a two-lot resubdivision with lot variances at 6560 W. 91st Pl, a two-lot resubdivision at 9020 S. Ridgeland Ave as well as a two-lot resubdivision at 9805 S. Merton Ave. An ordinance authorizing the implementation of certain traffic regulations, no parking signs on 101st and 102nd and Pulaski Ave; a yield sign on 102nd St and Buell court and a residential parking, permit only, sign on 94th and Mead Ave was also approved. Mayor Heilmann read a proclamation for the 2006 Girl Scout Cookie Program. The Girl Scouts will be selling cookies from January 13 through January 29. The next meeting is Jan 24.

General Assembly reconvenes for 2006

The 94th General Assembly resumed January 11, 2006. Senator Ed Maloney (D-Chicago) said "it is good to be back in Springfield, last summer my committee held hearings on the issue of graduation and retention rates in our higher education system and this month I will introduce legislation to improve those rates."

Maloney expects the state's budget to be an issue, as is every year and I will be fighting in Springfield for better funding for public education, healthcare and public safety. April 7 is the scheduled adjournment this year.

Maloney said, 'I am very much looking forward to continue to represent the people of my district in the Illinois Senate and I am looking forward to help craft public policy for the people of the 18th legislative district and the State of Illinois.

Don't miss an issue!

Howling at the Moon

"The typical investor merely goes along; he follows the trends up, and back down. All the while he is paying Wall Street's costs. For long periods of time, he thinks he is smart."
by Bill Bonner
www.dailyreckoning.com

Our advice at the beginning of last year was the same as the advice we gave the year before...and the year before that:

"Buy gold."

Happily, gold was the year's top performing sector, for which we claim no distinction nor ask for any thanks. We have only one virtue here at The Daily Reckoning headquarters: humility. And we are even insincere about that. But even false modesty is a great advantage in the forecasting business... that, and not watching television.

Nobody knows what will happen. The worst thing you can do is to listen to other forecasters. The New Year brings them out like a new moon brings out werewolves. All tend to howl the same thing: next year will be more or less like the last. How do they know? They read it in the paper!

If you follow the consensus view, you are doomed to mediocrity. You will make the same investments everyone else makes and get the same returns that everyone else gets. That is not only a dull and cowardly way to do things, it practically guarantees that you will eventually be looking for coins under cushions and asking your brother-in-law for a loan.

Over time, the great mass of investors loses money. Every bull market is followed by a bear market. Every bubble pops. Every great company fails. G.M. lost half its value last year. Fannie Mae fell 31%. The typical investor merely goes along; he follows the trends up, and back down. All the while he is paying Wall Street's costs. For long periods of time, he thinks he is smart.

The last bull trend in stocks began in 1982. It lasted for 18 years. All an investor had to do was to follow the consensus view and buy stocks 'for the long run.' Even now, five years after the peak, he still thinks he will get rich in stocks if he waits long enough. But the typical bear market lasts about as long as the bull market that preceded it. And it wipes out most or all of the gain. By the time it is finally over - perhaps in 2015 - the Dow will probably be back below 5,000 and the average investor will be underwater, because he bought when the newspapers, experts and forecasters told him to: when the Dow was over 5,000.

The big opportunities - and big dangers - are all at the turning points. When the Dow turns down, for example, it is time to sell. When gold begins to take off, it is time to buy. But these turning points - these major market shifts - are never foreseen by the forecasters. They are 'discontinuities.' That is, they are breaks in the visible and usual patterns. You cannot see them coming by looking at what happened last year or the year before. You cannot predict them by guessing that things, next year, will be more or less as they were the last. They are the very time when things will not be as they have been.

They are the points at which new trends begin.

We are too ornery to follow the crowd and too modest to think we know what the year ahead will bring. The best we can do is to follow hunches, instincts and old-fashioned theories. 'You get what you've got coming,' is one of them. 'Buy low, sell high' is another.

At $10 a barrel, they were practically giving away oil a few years ago. It hit $70 a barrel on September 1, 2005. Now it is around $60. Stocks were selling at only six times earnings in 1982; they were practically giving them away. Likewise, gold was so cheap in the early '70s - at $41 an ounce - they were practically giving it away. Whenever people give away something valuable, we take it.

We've never regretted buying at giveaway prices. It is what led us to buy buildings in Baltimore in the early '90s, our place in Nicaragua and, more recently, land in Argentina.

By the late 1990's, gold was being given away again at under $300 an ounce. Then, with the Dow near 12,000, we announced our Trade of the Decade: buy gold, sell stocks. Half the decade has now gone by. Gold has doubled. Stocks have not yet broken down. But we will stick with our trade. They are not giving gold away anymore. Still, a major bull market in the yellow metal is underway. We are too humble to make a forecast, but we stay with our Trade of the Decade, just to see how it turns out.

After Christmas and New Year's and the havoc of the holidays, we were very fortunate to have the dreary but warm weather. I'm still waiting for that winter blast, thinking it will be here soon. So far, so good!

Recently my e-mails brought some interesting news. A Yale person e-mailed me with information about vandalism on campus. Now, why would someone contact me about this? Readers, do you call this local news?

Without retrieving a picture from my new camera cell phone for the name mentioned, I am reporting that Priscilla Newman, Branch Manager of Washington Mutual Bank at 2321 W. 95th Street has achieved number one in the region for Washington Mutual. What that means is her branch received 317 new members in the month of December 2005, therefore, ranking number one in the region. Congratulations, that was a tough job with a handicap of a broken left foot.

Service needs are requested by Wheel for the World. Disability Awareness Sunday takes place January 29 at 9:30 a.m.-11a.m. at Moraine Valley Church, 6300 W. 127th Street, Palos Heights. Bring your used or unused wheelchairs, walkers, aluminum crutches and canes you no longer need to the church.

The family of Chuck Sobiski of Crestwood is requesting donations for Chuck, who needs a kidney transplant. A fund with the National Transplant Assistance Fund (NTAF) has been set up for contributions. Chuck is currently on the transplant list at Loyola University Hospital and has Medicare paying only 80% of surgical costs and prescriptions. His medicine at present runs $1500/month and Chuck will need the medicine for the rest of his life. Your financial support is needed. On the check, in the memo section, put "In Honor of Chuck Sobiski," and send the check to:NTAF Kidney Transplant Fund, 3475 West Chester Pike, Suite 230, Newtown Square, PA 19073.

If you cannot afford a donation, please contact Colleen Sobiski to be put on the mailing list to participate in the shop and share days throughout the year at Jewel and Dominick's.

Lastly, thank you to everyone's friend, Bud Gavin for compiling a public service guide. Contact Bud at the Worth Township Clerk's Office, 11601 S. Pulaski, or call 708-371-2900 for a free copy!

CST Director Barbara Gaines Honored by Queen

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II has awarded Barbara Gaines, Founder and Director of Chicago Shakespeare Theater on Navy Pier, an Honorary OBE (Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire). Sir David Manning, the British Ambassador to the United States, will present her with the insignia of the order on behalf of Her Majesty at an investiture ceremony at his Residence in Washington DC on February 10.

Sir David said, "I'm delighted Her Majesty the Queen has awarded Barbara Gaines an honorary OBE in recognition of her unique contributions strengthening British-American cultural relations and has given British theater artist opportunities in the Midwest and has given Chicago a dedicated Shakespeare company with a prominent home."

Barbara Gaines founded CST in 1986 and along with Executive Directive Criss Henderson, guided the development of the Theater's $25 million purpose-built venue on Navy Pier, where the company moved in 1999. This is the 20th Anniversary year of the Theater. I can remember when it was on Dearborn Street.

The OBE was founded in 1917 to honor First World War civilians, and now honors civilians and service personnel for public service or outstanding contributions to society.

KATHY'S KALEIDOSCOPE

DANCE CLASS - A STEP IN TIME

by: Kathy Whirity
kathywhirity@yahoo.com

When the dance instructor assured the class of Arthur Miller wannabes that nobody is born with two left feet, hc hadn't yet met Bill and me.

Almost from the moment our oldest daughter became engaged I knew there would be endless plans to make and details to help her out with as the countdown to the wedding date was launched.

There werc also less thought about little extras that soon came to mind when the excitement of the big night began waltzing through our heads.

What better way to enjoy the evening's festivities then for her dad and me to learn how to dance for the occasion?

That's what motivated us to join John and Maria Bell's dance class.

I've heard through the neighborhood grapevine that they can teach anyone to dance.

So it was with grand anticipation that we signed up.

Instantly we envisioned ourselves waltzing across the dance floor, spinning and turning, in one fluid movement, Fred and Ginger style.

The very first dance instruction was the basic box step of the Waltz. It looked so easy.

We began the count - 1, 2, 3, side, together, back. Finally we got the steps down, but we were about as graccful as two 2 by 4's.

A slight argumcnt cnsued when I was accused of trying to take over the lead, and I couldn't help but forcc-fully whisper, with slightly clenched tecth, that if HE'D take the lead I wouldn't have to assume the responsibility.

It didn't help that the room was filled with happy couples who seemed to take to the beat naturally.

Couples twirled, spinned and seemed to float on air all around us. Wc continued on - 1, 2, 3, side together, back.

By the end of that first class we still hadn't moved past the point of knowing the basics but we had graduated from dancing like 2 by 4's to at least resembling a pair of robots.

I was about to hang up my dancing shoes forever in sheer despair. Then I had the pleasure of mingling with other students in the class.

Turns out we were about the only brand new ballroom dancers in the group. Imagine that?

Some of the couples were old pros at beginning ballroom.

Mr. Bell gavc us much encouragement as well as taking me for a spin around the dance floor.

A master at his craft, onc dance with him and you actually can feel the rhythm come alive.

I'm happy to report that Bill and I did manage to side step our way through the six week course of the Waltz, thc Tango, the Fox Trot and the Rumba.

We learned something ncw with each class. Paticnce comes to mind.

We've lcarned that practicc and determination make for a bettcr dancer.. That's why we signed up for another session. We're in good company. Like our newfound fricnds, wc hope to someday get the fancy foot work down pat, one step at a time.

As our daughtcr's wedding day draws near and the days begin to get hectic, I try to keep a simple truth close to my heart

Life is all about the journey, and I am truly grateful for the ridc.

And I know that even though Frcd and Ginger we may never be, the steps we take, in time to the rhythm of life's music, are forever memories for Bill and me.

Illinois launches lottery to support breast cancer

A new Illinois Lottery game called "Ticket for the Cure" has been introduced and funds will be dedicated to helping fund breast cancer early detection, education research, and patient services throughout the state. The best hope is to find a cure. Breast cancer is the most common type among women 20 years of age and older, with an estimated 9,000 women expected to be diagnosed in Illinois this year.

Illinois First Lady Patti Blagojevich joined Senate President Emil Jones, Senator Mattie Hunter, Illinois Lottery Superintendent Carolyn Adams and Illinois Public Health Director Dr. Eric Whitaker in the program.

Illinois Lottery Superintendent Carolyn Adams indicated "we anticipate great success with this ticket and are hopeful that it will attract new players who will quickly discover how fun it is to play the Lottery."

Buddy Holly's Final Winter Tour Comes to Willowbrook Ballroom

Live, authentic re-enactment of Buddy Holly,

Ritchie Valens and the Big Bopper's final tour!

Willowbrook Ballroom is proud to once again host "Buddy Holly's Final Winter Tour 2006: A Tribute to Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and The Big Bopper." This fabulous live concert is an authentic re-creation of Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and the Big Bopper's final tour. Chicago is the first location of the 2006 tour, and it will take place Friday, Jan. 20, at Willowbrook Ballroom, 8900 S. Archer Ave. in Willow Springs. Doors open at 7 p.m.; show begins at 8 p.m.

The Buddy Holly Final Winter Tour re-creates Holly, Valens and the Bopper's final show. Forty-seven years ago on Feb. 3, 1959, the trio was tragically killed in a plane crash immediately following a Clear Lake, Iowa concert en route to their next concert in Fargo, North Dakota.

Made famous by Don McLean in the 1972 song "American Pie," the day has become known among rock 'n roll fans as "the day the music died."

The Willowbrook Ballroom performance will include more than two and a half hours of high-energy entertainment featuring all the hit songs of the '50s era, including "That'll be the Day," "Peggy Sue," "Oh, Boy," "Rave On," "La Bamba" and "Chantilly Lace." This year marks the eighth consecutive year for this re-creation at the legendary Willowbrook Ballroom.

Once again, critically acclaimed John Mueller will perform as Buddy Holly. Mueller has received numerous accolades for his accurate portrayal of Holly in the theatrical production of "Buddy...the Buddy Holly Story".

"His portrayal is mesmerizing," Niki Sullivan, an original member of Holly's band, The Crickets, said of Mueller. "Mueller plays Holly's songs precisely as they were written on a reissued 1957 Fender Stratocaster, the exact year and make of Holly's guitar."

J. P. Richardson, known as the Big Bopper, will be played by his very own son, J.P. Richardson Jr. Richardson Jr. brings the family heritage that only he can offer to the role of his legendary father.

Ritchie Valens will be performed by Ray Anthony, who stars in the "Legends of Rock and Roll" show in Las Vegas.

Tickets are $20 in advance, $25 at the door. The show is suitable for the whole family. A portion of the proceeds will be used for music scholarships set up in the name of Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and the Big Bopper.

The Buddy Holly Final Winter Tour 2006 is expected to sell out quickly. For tickets and more information, call Willowbrook Ballroom at (708) 839-1000 or visit www.willowbrookballroom.com.

Worlds within Worlds

Kenneth R. asks, "can a Psychic see into the other worlds that the Bible talks about. If so, are they anything like our world?" I have been able to see people and events from other times existing right here on Star Earth. I believe that wherever and whenever life existed anywhere here with us or even in very far distant places "imprints" are left for us to learn from, to improve on and enjoy. Things are pretty much the same everywhere. Sometimes we do not see cars and airplanes as we have them here, still, each "World" is designed to provide what the people need. Therefore, the answer to your question as far as I can attest to is a definite "yes" to both parts of your question. Martha asks, "can you tell me if I should seek another job? I truly resent my work and the people I work with. I am a Capricorn born Jan. 4." By all means, seek other work. You will be doing yourself, your boss and co-workers a big favour. You should find work within 3 weeks.

A romp in the park

By Marijo Doody

Drury Lane Oakbrook's (DLO) current production is the delightfully funny Neil Simon comedy "Barefoot in the Park." Casting in this Tony Award winner are Rod Thomas and Elizabeth Ledo as the young married couple, Paul and Corie Bratter. Watching the production, Ledo steals the show. The interesting thing in this play is this is before the feminist movement. One wonders if the comedic parts would have been as funny if she had a career as her husband did. Together they are marvelous.

After their sex-filled honeymoon, they are now in the real world in an apartment in New York. The 6th floor walk-up scenes are a cardiac arrest. Of course the flat has numerous shortcomings such as the broken skylight, no heat, no tub and no real bedroom. However, Corie is immune to the problems and is thrilled in her new life. However she is bored, when Paul goes to work.

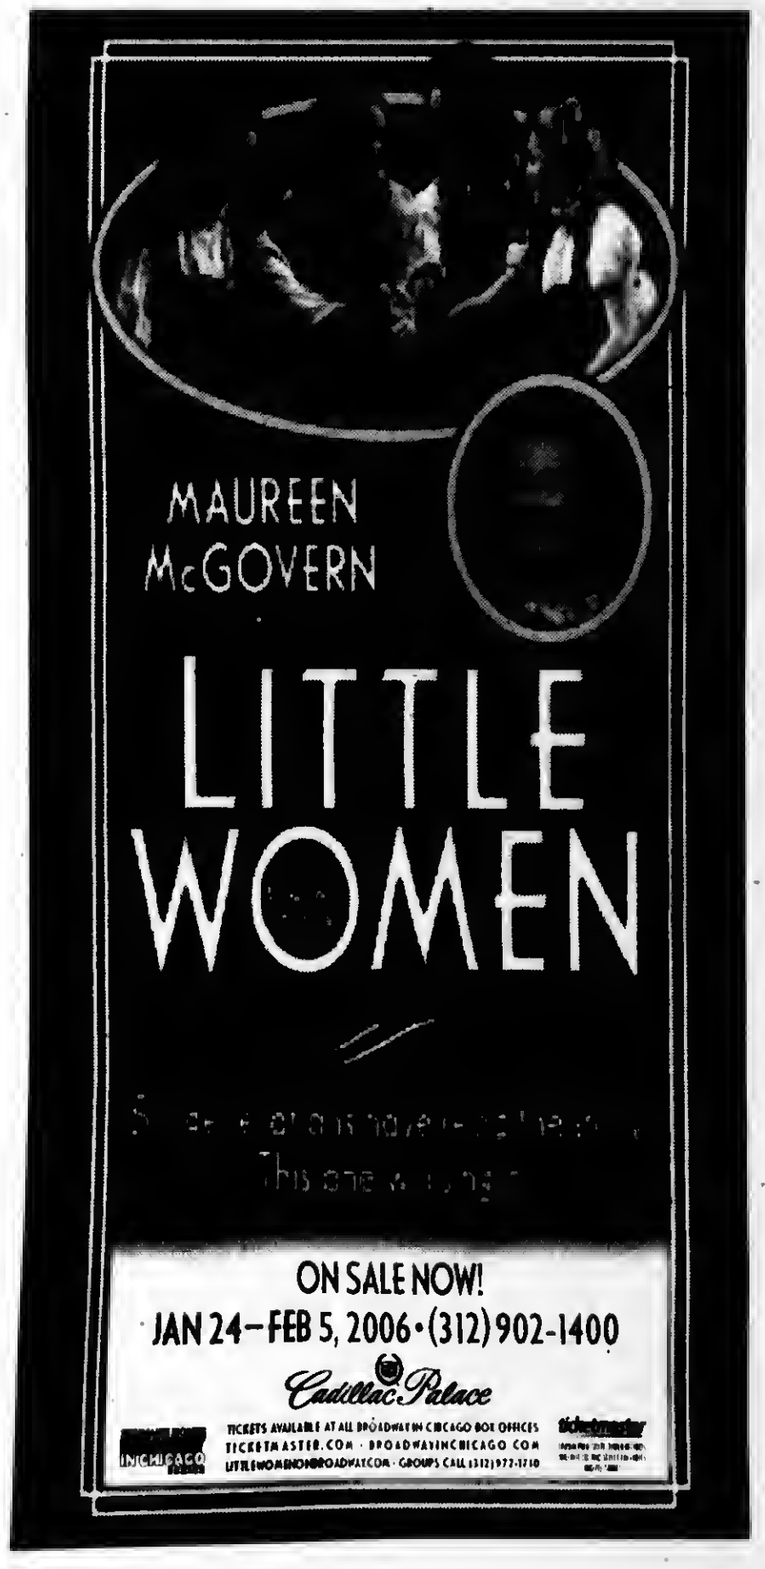
Whether Neil Simon sensed it, the comedy is more than a period of newly wed adjustments and it is the beginning of a desperate homemaker. However, Simon sticks to basics and the couple soon starts to disappoint each other where divorce seems to be the only option.

Thomas has previously been at DLO, whereas this is Ledo's first time. Ledo runs a race in every production and "brings a unique mixture of naivete and sharpness to her role." Ledo did this last season when she starred in the Writers' Theatre production of "Arms and the Man." She and this writer share the same Alma Mater, Loyola University (Mundelein College) and at the afterglow shared stories about the 8th floor.

Peggy Roeder and Jim McCince were spectacular in their roles as Mrs. Banks and Victor Velasco. The audience really responded to the actor's antics on stage. Both are longtime favorites in the Chicago theatre scene. Roeder makes every moment count and these scenes show what a different era the play is from. Roeder and I shared memories of film making in Chicago from last summer after the production.

"Barefoot in the Park" director William Osetek was ably assisted by Brian Sidney Bembridge (Scenic Design), Chris Phillips (Lighting Design) and Carol J. Blanchard (Costume Design). Blanchard won a Jeff Citation Award for last year's "Sweeney Todd" at Porchlight Theatre.

Performances run through February 26 on Wednesday at 8pm, Thursday at 2 and 8pm, Friday at 8:30pm, Saturday at 5:30 and 9pm and Sunday at 2:30 and 7pm. Tickets range $22-$26. Dinner packages are available from $40.75. The box office number is 630-530-0111 and all major credit cards accepted.



Remy Bumppo's next production is Tartuffe

Remy Bumppo Theatre Company presents the American premier of Ranjit Bolt's modern take on Moliere's irreverent comedy, "Tartuffe," from January 18 through March 5 in the upstairs main stage at Victory Gardens Theater at 2257 N. Lincoln.

Curtain times are Wednesday through Saturday at 7:30pm and Sunday at 2:30pm (except January 22). Tickets are $33-$38.50 and the box office number is 773-871-3000.

Orland Park to pay Com-Ed upgrades

by Matt Mayer

The topic of discussion at the Jan 3, Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting was a $887,000 expenditure for Commonwealth Edison upgrades for the village's expanding southwest quadrant. Some officials questioned the expenditure citing that in previous years electrical upgrades were paid for either by Com-Ed or the developer. Com Ed officials responded by saying that they are looking toward future growth and that underground cables, which have acsthetic value, are also more expensive to install than overhead cables

The village will pay this expenditure over a two-year period with the cost being obtained from the capitol projects fund. The lines will be installed north to south along Orland Parkway and a vacated portion of 104th Avenue, with the first phase of the project slated for completion by the beginning of June. The village is also researching ways to offset a portion of the expense when future development occurs.

The most recently completed developments are in the I-80 corridor and encompass a St. Xavier University branch campus, Horton Insurance Company and the Smith Crossing Retirement Community. The next meeting is Jan 16.

Orland Park Rec Department to Host Annual Regional Competition

The spicy aroma of simmering chili will fill the air when nearly 70 chili cooks from throughout the United States converge on Orland Park to compete in the Village of Orland Park Recreation and Parks Department's annual "Chilly Willie Chili Challenge."

The regional competition will be held on Saturday, January 21, 2006 at the Orland Park Civic Center, 14750 South Ravinia Avenue. (Ravinia Avenue is one block west of LaGrange Road/U.S. Route 45.) The public tasting at the competition will be held from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. All-you-can-eat "tasting cups" will be available for chili lovers to purchase for five dollars each.

The International Chili Society (ICS) and the Chili Appreciation Society International (CASI) will hold competitions for red chili and salsa, along with conducting two contests at this year's event. Verde, a green chili, will be judged and a People's Choice Award will be bestowed upon the winner.

"The cook with the most tickets at the end of the event will be declared the People's Choice Award winner," she added. Local cooks are invited to join the competition. Applications are available at the Franklin E. Loebe Recreation Center.

The winner of ICS competition will qualify for the nationals held in Omaha, Nebraska, while the CASI top 10 winners receive points to add to their total which will qualify cooks for their national competition held in Terlingua, Texas.

The afternoon includes music, food and a chili bean guess. "Bring an empty belly to taste all that the challenge has to offer," advised Fisk.

Proceeds from the event benefit the Village of Orland Park's Special Recreation Program.

U.S. Attorney commends Oak Lawn Police Department

by Matt Mayer

U.S. Attorney Patrick Fitzgerald and the Head of the Drug Enforcement Agency-Chicago office, SAC Rick Sanders recognized the Oak Lawn Police Department at the Jan 24, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting for their involvement in Operation Mountain Express 111. This case spanned a period of 1-½ years, which involved the illegal distribution throughout the United States and Canada of pseudoephedrine, which is the main ingredient in methamphetamine, a highly addictive and lethal substance.

Police Officer Pat Barron received a police department medal of valor award. Barron was the first to arrive on the scene of a multiple alarm fire of a multiunit building at 9401 S. Melvina Ave on Jan. 4. Barron observed flames on the third floor and entered the building, along with several other citizens and began pounding on the doors of the first and second floors in an attempt to alert the residents of any occupied units. As the fire department arrived on the scene and the hall filled with smoke, more than a dozen residents were successfully evacuated from the building without injury. One fatality was discovered on the third floor after the fire was extinguished. Barron along with Gene Cunningham, Matt Murphy and Joseph Maniapane, a resident of the building, received citizen recognition awards for their selfless behavior in rescuing occupants from the building.

The board approved an ordinance for the following traffic regulations: permit parking only on Kostner Ave between 95th and 96th Streets; No left turn on school days for eastbound 93rd St. at Southwest Highway and southbound Austin Ave at 95th St; no parking on the north side of 97th St between Mayfield and Mansfield Avenues; speed bumps at 89th Place and Natoma Ave; and one way on 50th Court from 95th to 96th Streets. The board also approved a traffic review board request to remove a barrier in the vicinity of 92nd St and Cicero Avenue.

The board approved an ordinance for a two-lot subdivision at 6746 W. 89th Pl as well as an ordinance approving lot width and lot density variations at 5362 W. 96th St. A Fire Department request to promote one lieutenant and one engineer from the current eligibility list was also approved. The board approved a public works department request to award a contract to the lowest bidder, Midwest Industrial Lighting, Inc for $12,910.68 for the 2006 supply of light bulbs and fixtures for the street division. A recommendation to approve a $10,000 grant to be awarded to the Oak Lawn police department through the Cook County BADGE grant program for summer bike patrol was also approved. The next meeting is Feb 14.

Evergreen Park approves appropriation ordinance

by Matt Mayer

At the Jan.17 Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting, Mayor James Sexton presented awards to the winners of the village's First Annual Business Christmas Decorating Contest. First place went to Pizza Man Pizza at 95th and Harding Ave; second place was Rosangela's Pizza at 95th and California Ave, and third place was Florida Plastics at 98th St and Kedzie Ave.

Sexton said that Water Department Director Mike Knieps reported that the village saved an estimated $120,000 by performing a water distribution survey for $9,000. The survey revealed 23 water main leaks, three of which were major leaks. The savings is a result of purchased water over a year's time.

The board approved an appropriation ordinance for fiscal year Nov. 1, 2005 to Oct. 31, 2006; the total general fund is $22,743,578. The total sewer and water fund is $4,275,857 resulting in a total appropriation of $27,019,435.

A water increase of 5 percent was approved as well as a sewer rate increase of 10 cents per $1,000 for sewer services

An amendment to the village liquor ordinance was approved requiring businesses to stop serving alcohol at 3 a.m., with the business being cleared by 3:20 a.m. A landscaping contract was awarded to Bella Landscaping for $53,375 with the option to raise the fee to $99,575 for landscaping services on 95th St.

A request from fire department chief Edward Clohessy to purchase a Chevrolet Impala for $18,866 to replace the 2000 year vehicle, which will be transferred to the Health Department, was also approved.

The villages Third Annual Family Flake Fest will take place at Yukich Field on Feb. 10, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and on Feb. 11, from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Australian Dentist writes

To Kill an American You probably missed it in the rush of news last week, but there was actually a report that someone in Pakistan had published in a newspaper an offer of a reward to anyone who killed an American, any American. So an Australian dentist there wrote an editorial the following day to let everyone know what an American is. So they would know when they found one. (Good one, mate!!!!) "An American is English, or French, or Italian, Irish, German, Spanish, Polish, Russian or Greek. An American may also be Canadian, Mexican, African, Indian, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Australian, Iranian, Asian, or Arab, or Pakistani or Afghan. An American may also be a Comanche, Cherokee, Osage, Blackfoot, Navaho, Apache, Seminole or one of the many other tribes known as Native Americans. An American is Christian, or he could be Jewish, or Buddhist, or Muslim.

In fact, there are more Muslims in America than in Afghanistan. The only difference is that in America they are free to worship as each of them chooses. An American is also free to believe in no religion. For that he will answer only to God, not to the government, or to armed thugs claiming to speak for the government and for God. An American lives in the most prosperous land in the history of the world.

The root of that prosperity can be found in the Declaration of Independence, which recognizes the God given right of each person to the pursuit of happiness. An American is generous. Americans have helped out just about every other nation in the world in their time of need, never asking a thing in return. When Afghanistan was overrun by the Soviet army 20 years ago, Americans came with arms and supplies to enable the people to win back their country! As of the morning of September 11, Americans had given more than any other nation to the poor in Afghanistan. Americans welcome the best of everything...the best products, the best books, the best music, the best food, the best services. But they also welcome the least. The national symbol of America, the Statue of Liberty, welcomes your tired and your poor, the wretched refuse of your teeming shores, the homeless, tempest tossed. These in fact are the people who built America. Some of them were working in the Twin Towers the morning of September 11, 2001 earning a better life for their families. It's been told that the World Trade Center victims were from at least 30 different countries, cultures, and first languages, including those that aided and abetted the terrorists.

So you can try to kill an American if you must. Hitler did. So did General Tojo, and Stalin, and Mao Tse-tung, and other blood thirsty tyrants in the world. But, in doing so you would just be killing yourself. Because Americans are not a particular people from a particular place, they are the embodiment of the human spirit of freedom. Everyone who holds to that spirit, everywhere, is an American.

(Taken from email.) False rumor passed along on email but actually written by a professor of law at George Mason University back in 2001. See web site www.snopes.com/rumors/america2.htm

Publisher'sPen

Editorial Note: For those who wish they could be an American, it is easy, just learn to read English, study the questions for citizenship, pick up an application for citizenship at the courthouse and you too can be just like Ozzie Guillen, a citizen of the United States. My Grandfather came over from Italy in 1904, and became a United States Citizen that same year. My Grandmother was born in this country on Manhattan Island in New York City and couldn't read or write. Thank God for America, because opportunity knocks for those who seek it.

Surely for those who know me, know that I always have a motive for my brash writing style. This particular time I am writing about some of my Northern Irish friends who want to stay in this country, little own have citizenship.

Several people from Northern Ireland in the past 16 years have entered into my life, approximately 17. The latest person I have met is a young woman who is a Dean of Students at St. Francis deSales High School at 10155 S. Ewing Ave., Chicago, IL 60617.

Mary Reid is her name, and she is the most delightful person I have met in many years, from Belfast. She introduced herself to me while she was purchasing an ad. She said she is helping Mr. Burke, the owner of Taxhelpers.

Within our many topics of conversation the day before New Years, one of her topics was about the problems that exists in Belfast and how she had lost her father in the troubles. Mary's mother raised five children alone in Belfast and Mary stated that all five went to college and are doing quite well. Even Mary's mother got out of the neighborhood.

But what was so important to me is that she had received her first experience of America as a child through the Irish Children Organization that brought children, both Catholic and Protestant, here to experience our way of life. It was then, that she knew, she wanted to be an American. She felt safe, secure and free in an Irish American home.

Mary's education came from Ireland, but her ambitions and drive came from her mother. The struggles that Mary had faced in Belfast, helped her to endure any struggles she may face and also prepared her for a future life in America.

Local restaurant will suit your needs

by Anita Anderson

Familiarity is a positive thing when it comes to the ability to find a restaurant with convenient hours, plus an ideal location when you want a "meal away from home." Karson's has been in Evergreen Park for almost half a century.

Karson's Restaurant and Pancake eatery at 3422 W. 95th St., in Evergreen Park offers great homemade-type food at reasonable prices. Managed and owned by Georgene and Nikos Karson's has food for just about every taste and budget.

The restaurant has been an institution in Evergreen Park for diners who can depend on them for breakfast, lunch or tasty dinners. Their menu is imaginative and includes specials daily. Not to be missed is the turkey dinners with "real" turkey.

Sandwiches with all of the trimmings are featured plus, if you have room check out the dessert menu. Lemon meringue pie like mom made is special.

Like any business, service is all important. Good wait staff who are informed about the daily menus are glad to assist. Then, there are the doggy bags which are a must because with the portions coming out from the kitchen you'll never be able to finish everything and it's nice to have a snack for later in the day.

Karson's phone number is 708-423-6050.

Born on the 3rd 12th 21st & 30th of any sign & Sagittarius: This is not the best time to be spending money. You need "quality, not quantity," so make this clearly understood.

Born on the 4th 13th 22nd & 31st of any sign & Capricorn: A mystery is solved about an old friend or a relative that has been "distant by choice or circumstance." S involved and a T.

Born on the 5th 14th & 23rd of any sign & Gemini & Virgo: You will be wrapping things up as to what you need financially. Someone has the right helps for you. Listen! C or K aid.

Born on the 6th 15th & 24th of any sign & Taurus & Libra: If something looks good, it does not mean it "is" good. Your sense of smell may be off somewhat. Careful! R helps.

Psychic Insights-Questions and Psychic Answers

Do Your Best-Let Your Creator Do The Rest

Many people ask the question, "how can I be sure that what I do will please my God, the Angels and the people I share my life with? I am a Virgo born August 26th, maybe there is something in my Karma that will show me what more I can do or what I am being punished for." My answer is this: your Karma is never a punishment. It shows you in some way, through a talent or opportunity, a certain something or someone that you should be doing something with or for. Karma is often associated with learning…something worth cultivating and sharing with others. If you know you are doing your best, just let God and the Angels do the rest. When you absolutely can't…God and the Angels can. But, they won't do for you what you can do for yourself. If they did things for you that you can do, you become a useless nobody. And, you cannot fool them, you see, they know you and your abilities better than you do. Okay, get busy and do one more thing today and everyday after.

KATHY'S KALEIDOSCOPE

GOOD-BYE MY GOLDEN GIRL

She lets me know it's time by the pleading look in those big brown, innocent eyes. I'm not quite ready to face this but her gentle coaxing leaves me no other choice.

Today I walked into the Vet's office and left with only her collar and leash.

A few months ago we noticed that Holly was getting skinny. One look at her chubby canine companion, Hannah, and we naturally assumed that Hannah's heavier frame was the direct result of her getting more than her fair share of the dog food.

The continual loss of weight and the added concern of a newly acquired cough is what caused us to bring Holly to the Vet for a checkup. It didn't take too long for x-rays to reveal a devastating diagnosis.

Our beloved pet had advanced lung cancer. We had options but none were especially encouraging. We could seek out a specialist in the field of doggy oncology but the cost of treatment and the rigorous side effects of chemo therapy would be the same for Holly as for a human.

We could take the chance and hope for the best. There were no guarantees and even the look in the doctor's eyes didn't leave much hope for a promise of beating the odds. We turned to our furry friend, our faithful companion over ten years, and we knew in our hearts what we had to do.

We took Holly home and made it out mission to make her last days as comfortable as possible.

I cooked her chicken with rice and told myself that as long as she still wagged her tail with an eagerness to eat then things would be okay.

It didn't take long to see that the end was near. When food lost its appeal and laps of water provoked fits of coughing and choking I knew it would be cruel to continue to postpone the inevitable.

She places her head on my knee and gazes up as if to say she's just too tired to go on. Even though she is so weak and frail, a pat on the head still renders her tail wagging.

I wrap my arms around her neck of soft golden fluff and wonder how I'll ever be able to say good-bye. How do you say good-bye to a devoted and loyal pet whose only joy in life was to lap up the love and attention her humans gave her?

When you bring home a bouncing, playful puppy, full of energy and wonder, the excitement leaves little room of thinking of a time when illness could put you in a position of putting your pet to sleep.

Somewhere down the line you face that fact. And at a time when living in their doggy years takes its toll, you accept that you just may find yourself standing in the Vet's office, hugging your fur kin for dear life as their earthly journey comes to an end.

Now she's free from the pain that claimed her last days, soaking up the warmth of sunshine's bright rays. A more kind, gentle and caring companion I have never known,

I'm at peace knowing you're frolicking in the open fields of your heavenly home.

Good-bye my sweet golden girl - you were the best.

Planning for the perfect ceremony

Written by Valerie Tillery Nostalgic Paper Memories San Angelo, Texas

What to do and in what order to do it in is a common question that couples have—an agenda is needed. An "Agenda" can be defined as the written or spoken rules for social control. Ever wonder where we got our etiquette training when it came to social events and planning the order of things? Following the example of our family members, cultural upbringing, other families, and traditions, we find ourselves repeating what was see or taught.

Ceremonial procedure has been around since day one. Formality of the greeting to the bid of farewell draws us to wonder if our knowledge evolved from some ancient tribal ceremony? Only you can best answer this question.

New rituals and customs seen to pop up every year as well as long lost practices or newly invented ones. The church dictates some. Remind yourself of things that other event coordinators included in events that you attended.

Ceremonial agendas may include scripture readings, prose pieces and poetry, and special candle lighting. You must decide on audience participation, involvement of your wedding party, children and family members. Set the tone of your event at the beginning. For inspirational, consider having the bells ring three times before the greeting is provided. Lighting a special candle for a deceased loved one will provide a special presence. If appropriate, have

Bridal Check List

Written by Tracy Orr

You've just gotten engaged and you're overwhelmed. The first thing you need to do is get a good sense of the type of wedding you and your future spouse wants. The following questions serve as a guideline for discussion. In addition to answering the questions, it?s important to decide on the importance of each issue. This will help with the compromising that is sure to come later!

1. Do you want the traditional wedding/reception, or something different such as private ceremony and larger reception, or destination wedding and party afterwards?
2. Do you want the reception to be: indoor, outdoor, indoor/outdoor? If you want outdoor only, how will rain and bathrooms be handled?
3. Do you want an afternoon or evening wedding? Formal or informal?
4. Do you want traditional reception (i.e. receiving line, toasts, first dance, garter and bouquet throwing etc.) or just a party?
5. Do you want a wedding party or just one person to stand up with you? What is the maximum size of the party? Does the number of bridesmaids have to equal the number of groomsmen?
6. Do you have a maximum number of guests you will accept?
7. Do you want dancing?
8. Do you want live music or a dj?
9. Do you want sit down dinner, buffet dinner, or just standing reception?
10. Do you want everyone in one room during the meal or can they be seated in several rooms?
11. Do you want kids at the wedding? How do you envision their participation ? hanging out with their parents or separate entertainment provided for them?
12. What kind of setting do you want: mansion, gardens, hotel, on the water?
13. Who do you want to perform the ceremony?
14. Where to you want the ceremony, church or reception site?
15. How far from the reception to the wedding site will you accept?
16. If you live in a large city, how far from the city will you accept as the site?
17. What is the maximum you want to pay for the site rental?
18. What is the maximum you want to pay for the wedding?

Checklist: What is your Degree of Formality?

If you're still undecided, there's a quick quiz to help you sort through your choices.

1. HOW MUCH MONEY DO YOU HAVE TO SPEND ON YOUR WEDDING?
A. $8,000 or less
B. $9,000-$14,000
C. $15,000-$23,000
D. $24,000 plus

2. YOUR WEDDING WILL BE PAID FOR BY:
A. You and your fiance'
B. Your parents
C. His parents
D. All of the above

3. YOUR FIRST CHOICE FOR A CEREMONY AND RECEPTION LOCATION WOULD BE:
A. Beach, park, garden, or an exotic locale like ski slopes or tropical destination
B. A private home, garden, restaurant, banquet hall, historical building
C. Hotel, banquet hall, private club, museum
D. House of worship, ballroom

4. YOU PLAN TO INVITE:
A. Family and a few close intimate friends.
B. Your large extended families and lots and lots of friends.
C. In addition to the above, there are many additional acquaintances you wish to invite, perhaps a few business associates.
D. Everyone you, your fiance', and your respective families ever met- you have quite large social obligations.

5. YOU ARE:
A. Shy and retiring
B. Neither shy nor outgoing
C. While not quite a party animal- you do love a good time
D. Very comfortable in large crowds

6. IN GENERAL, YOU FEEL THAT A WEDDING:
A. Should be a small, intimate affair with lots of personal meaning.
B. Should be incredibly romantic and personalized affair.
C. Should be a lavish celebration to celebrate your love for each other.
D. Is your shining moment to fulfill every fantasy you've ever dreamed.

QUIZ ANSWERS

If you answered mostly A's, you will most likely be comfortable with an informal.wedding. Mostly B's suggest that a semi-formal celebration will be most in keeping with your personal tastes. If C was the answer you came up with the most often, then you should at least consider a formal wedding, and if you answered mostly D's, then you very likely will need a very formal wedding in order to be satisfied.

Letter to the Editor

I extend my congratulations and best wishes for a HAPPY CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK (January 29 to February 4, 2006) to St. Gerald's School in Oak Lawn. St. Gerald's School has been servicing the community for over 70 years.

I have been a parish member since 1951 and our son graduated from the school in 1977. For the last five years I have volunteered once a week in the lunchroom. I can attest to the quality of the education both academic and religious presented as well as to the capability of the principal, faculty and staff. Our priests guide us with loving care. This is my TOP TEN LIST for St. Gerald's School:

10. Basic as well as advanced academic and life skills are taught.

9. Goals are set and opportunities to attain them are made.

8. Respect and responsibility is maintained.

7. A positive attitude along with faith, hope and charity are their attributes.

6. Communication skills both verbal and nonverbal used effectively.

5. Perseverance, tolerance, dedication and kindness displayed by all.

4. Religious education provided by loving and caring priests as well as teachers.

3. Principal, faculty and staff execute their duties in a professional as well as nurturing manner.

2. Eager students, parent and community members support the ideals of St. Gerald.

1. St. Gerald is just "a great place to be."

Kudos to all! God Bless! Thank you! Marlene

OLCHS goes to Springfield

Oak Lawn Community High School, in Oak Lawn is among nearly 120 schools statewide that will participate in the 15th annual TECH 2006 Students for the Information Age event on Thursday, February 16, 2006, at the Illinois State Capitol Building in Springfield.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., students will show the public, including elected members of the Illinois State Senate and the House of Representatives, how technology is being used in the classroom to improve achievement. Computer workstations will be set up in the Capitol Building Rotunda so students can show how technology has helped them with their schoolwork.

Representing OLCHS in the demonstrations are Michael J. O'Sullivan, Senior, Michael Palhegyi, Junior, Christopher Taraba, Sophomore and Mr. Jeff Krohn, Media Specialist.

We will be demonstrating "M.I.T.H.: Music in the Hallways", a collection of student-produced verbal and musical segments created in the school's on-campus audio studio. The purpose of TECH 2006 is to show how Illinois is preparing students to succeed in the Information Age. Students will demonstrate for lawmakers and the public the creative ways technology is being used to enhance and accelerate student achievement in Illinois schools today.

The importance of this event lies in making the public aware of the central role technology has come to play in our schools and generating support for its adequate funding. Entering the job force without a strong foundation in information-age technology is not an option for today's high school and college graduates. Understanding computers and related tools is a requirement, even for entry-level jobs, and computer literacy is essential for further education and advancement in almost every academic sphere.

At the elementary and high school level, technology expands the walls of the traditional classroom, bringing in people and events from all over the globe. Technology captures and holds the attention of this generation of learners far better than textbooks alone. And computers allow for more individualized instruction, as teachers, using technology, move from the traditional "sage on the stage" role to becoming "guides on the side," providing students the tools they need to become more active in managing their own learning.

TECH 2006 is a not-for-profit initiative, supported by a broad range of education and business organizations. Corporate sponsors are: Apple Computers, CDW-G, Cisco Systems, Comcast, DellGraphtech,Learning.Com, MacWorkshops.Com, River deep, and Thomson Galc. Without the understanding and support of the public and the legislature, adequate public funding for education technology is hard to come by, and without it, Illinois cannot remain competitive in the global economy.

Oak Lawn Community High School is pleased to support and be a part of Tech 2006: Students for the Information Age.

special favors or remembrances cards. Have a balloon release set up as guests file out of the church or ceremony location.

Display items can be used not only for the reception, but also the wedding ceremony. Guests can be required to sign the guest book, view pre-engagement photo displays, and a shadowbox display filled with wedding memorabilia. These items can easily be transferred to the reception.

Consider organizing an agenda for the reception as well. The usual agenda involves the cake cutting and bouquet and garter toss. Build on these traditions and incorporate more reception activities.

Consider the following list:

1. Introduction of the wedding party, parents and newlyweds
2. First dance and wed ding party dance
3. The Polish custom of the?dollar dance?
4. Receiving line
5. Chiming of the glasses as an announcement for a toast
6. Roasting the bride and groom
7. Children?s dance, then teens
8. The ?singles dance?
9. Cake Cutting
10. Recognition of those married 50 or more years, then 25, 20, 15, 10, 5 and 2 hours
11. The community dance?bride and groom adds on all guests to the line

Whatever tribal customs you claim, remember that having an agenda will enhance your celebration and preserve your memories for a lifetime.

No more chads

by Marijo Doody

Cook County Clerk, David Orr, is launching a new voting system in this coming March Primary. Touch screen computers are coming to a polling place near you. Unfortunately there will only be one in each precinct. In voting venues where more than one precinct is present there will be more touch screens.

At a recent judge training session, 20% had no computer training. The session began with a power point presentation that could not be read since the screen was too small. They had to get the computer tech to update the equipment.

Cook County received a $24 million grant from the federal government to implement a voting system that is handicapped accessible. Orr explained that they could buy 2000 screens for 1400 polling places in Cook County, so that means their could be long lines at the polls and irate voters.

There will not be any more punch card ballots with the hanging chads. Most voters will use a paper ballot with marking an "x" or their mark next to their choices. The voter will feed the ballot into the optical scanner. The voter's ballot will have a cover so that no one can see the choice. If a mistake is made or you want to change the paper ballot mark, the voter needs to get a new one and remark. No doubt some will not like the paper ballot.

Orr notes that with the new system both judges and voters can get confused. Reportedly, seniors loved the touch screen. No doubt because the print was a lot bigger. This was true at the judge training session. At the end of the screen vote, a summary screen showed all the votes you cast and what you failed to vote in so one could mark it correctly i.e. go back on the touch screen and remark it.

The touch screen machine comes with a verification system that included a paper print out. The voter can look at it to ascertain it reflects the result, but not handle it. The print out is placed in a sealed container.

Reportedly, the touch screen system has been used in other states. In Nevada, they were placed in shopping malls months before the election and people could vote whenever they wanted to instead of waiting for Election Day. This will be done in Cook County also so that certain polling places will be earmarked for early election. The reason is they will hope to increase voter turnout and to make it more convenient to vote in an 18-day period. For the March 21 election, early voting will start on February 27 and run through March 16. Voting hours are 9am to 5pm daily and 9am to noon on weekends.

Because this is the first election to test the new law, it is not known how many voters will take advantage of the early voting program. Other states with similar early voting, have experienced substantial turnouts and reportedly 33% more voters were casting early ballots.

Moliere's Tartuffe is zesty

by Marijo Doody

In this century not much has changed since Moliere's time (17th Century). Good comedy is always timely. The British writer, Ranjit Bolt translated from the French "Tartuffe" with American overtones It is now on stage at Remy Bumppo Theatre (RBT) and is lup. sassy, multilingual, street-wise and contemporary.

Bolt's presentation was created for the London stage in 2002 and director James Bohen has molded it with zest in Moliere's satirical comedy in rhymes and bantering. This production is set in the Washington DC area. Orgon's (played by Patrick Clear) house is in disruption because of a southern, hanger-on who sweet-talks his way into the situation. The southern man is Tartuffe.

Orgon's mother, Margaret Kustermann backs her son up, but everyone else in the home is going mad. Margaret even looks like senior Mrs. Bush. This is her RBT debut: In a conversation, she shared that her former career was a teacher and she taught with a college friend of this writer.

Nick Sandys marvelously plays Tartuffe. It is different from his prior rolls in classical theatre. Tartuffe is a born-again Christian who is a fraud. The household includes the Hispanic housekeeper-maid; Dorine wonderfully played in her RBT debut by Stephanie Diaz and a star in the making. She sees things as they are and speaks her mind in either language. She had some of the best lines in the show. In a conversation with her after the show, she said, "that it is a thrill to be in Chicago."

The performance follows the escalating Tartuffe fortunes and attempts to unmask him and restore Orgon to his senses. Orgon is taken in by Tartuffe and decides to give him, his daughter, Marianne (Erin Neal) who is in love with Valere (great comedy by Erik Hellman). His wife, Elmire (great work by Linda Gillum), is nearly sacrificed as Tartuffe lusts greatly for Elmire.

Orgon's brother-in-law Cleante (Raymond Fox) proposes "all things in moderation." The federal agent restores law. Any resemblance's to current politics is welcomed!

The production runs through March 5. Tickets are $33-$38.50. Call 773-871-3000 for reservations.

The Debt Trap

"Debt service, as a percentage of income, is at a record high. Even with Mom and Dad both working, family expenses exceed income. What can the lumpenhouseholders do but pray for a miracle...file for bankruptcy...or cut back even more?"

by Bill Bonner
www.dailyreckoning.com

The days of cheap energy are over. Kuwait confessed that it has about half the oil it once claimed. And like a fat lady in the pastry section before a snowstorm, China is buying up oil reserves wherever it can find them - in Nigeria, in Ecuador, and in Syria.

Meanwhile, wealth leaks rapidly out of the West and into the East. Bloomberg tells us that China's economy grew at 9.9% last year, overtaking France's in total output. That puts China in the number five position, just behind Britain, Germany, Japan and the United States. Economists expect China to run past Britain this year. Then, it will be snapping at Germany's heels.

The U.S. Empire loses ground against China and the rest of Asia, too. Its domestic economy grew only about a third as fast last year, and not half as well. China is growing, albeit in a reckless and dangerous way, by building more productive capacity. That's real growth...growth that can add to its wealth. America, on the other hand, is "growing" by consuming its wealth, like a man who sells the family business in order to buy a beach condo. He seems richer. He feels richer. He gets a new girl friend and a tan. At least, he looks healthy and happy when he arrives in bankruptcy court.

"The American economy heads into 2006 with a full head of steam," claimed the empire's chief executive. Neither war, nor high oil prices, nor hurricanes could keep it from its rendezvous with destiny, he went on. He is surely right; but how much destiny does a decadent empire have?

According to the LA Times, polls show that half the public "thinks the economy is in bad shape and that Bush is doing a bad job of managing it." One survey showed that 30% of the population believes the United States is in a recession. And the bankruptcy figures show that for many people, the United States might as well be in a slump; they don't seem to be able to make ends meet. After energy, health care, and housing cost increases, they have less than nothing left over. But at least they have plenty of that! They spent more than they made last year. And now comes news that Ford is getting rid of another 30,000 decent-paying jobs.

Oh Alan, Alan ...what have you done? You have lured a whole generation into a debt trap from which they cannot get out. Debt service, as a percentage of income, is at a record high. Even with Mom and Dad both working, family expenses exceed income. What can the lumpenhouseholders do but pray for a miracle...file for bankruptcy...or cut back even more?

And what can your successor at the Fed do? The poor man is already checking out helicopters. He figures he might have to drop $100 bills from the air in order to keep America's bubbles inflated. He's probably right. A credit expansion must be followed by a credit contraction. Under Greenspan's leadership, credit expanded in the homeland even faster than waistbands. Now, the big trend is in the other direction. In terms of real money (gold), asset values all over the world are going down. They may be going up in local currency terms, but gold is going up even faster.

Yes, gold is still edging up toward $560 an ounce. Yes, the dollar fell yesterday. And yes, the latest experiment with paper money is beginning a new phase. It was relatively simple for a central bank to shepherd a paper money when it was rising against real money; the bankers could simply print more of it. Everyone was happy. Now, we will see what happens when the paper money falls. Will investors be so ready to loan out dollars? Will they buy Treasuries at today's low yields? Will housing prices go up when yields rise? Without higher house prices, how will consumers continue consuming?

Alan Greenspan entered the Fed with room to maneuver, for Paul Volcker had broken the consumer price inflation of the '70s. Gold was going down. Consumer debt was less than half what it is today, while asset prices were low. And the esteem in which central banking was held was - let us say - moderate. All he had to do was to make money easy to get. But poor Ben Bernanke comes upon the scene with everything running against him. Money has been too easy...for too long. People already have too much credit, too many debts, and too many expenses. But Bernanke - battling a forest fire with a woodpile - plans to give them more. We are already pulling up a comfy chair and buying popcorn; it will be fun to watch the show.

Well-Appointed Room at Steppenwolf

by Marijo Doody

Richard Greenberg's "Well-Appointed Room" is a pair of one-acts under the title. The couple in the second one-act moved into the apartment vacated by the couple in the first-act. It is premised on, before and after 9/11.

The first piece "Nostalgia" Tracy Letts (Gus) and Amy Morton (Ethel) star as a middle-aged couple with no communication. Dialogue could have been out of an Edward Albee or Henry Ibsen play with dysfunctional family members. "Nostalgia" opens with Amy cooking and the arguments with Tracy, a workaholic writer in the Manhattan apartment.The apartment is great and would go for a pretty penny anywhere.

The second piece "Prolepsis" finds a pair of young lovers, Kate Arrington (Gretchen) and Josh Charles (Mark) who meet at a bus stop in the rain. They fall in love, marry, become rich and she comes with child. As they go to buy a place in New York, 9/11 levels the area and they are forced to find another place to live. She goes mad. When she goes out and meets an older man, Terry Letts, Josh meets an older woman, Amy Morton. In-between much of the play dialogue is fantasy and with Mark off in the shadows sort of denies his character.

Both the men in the productions are presented as having strong dreams and try to mold their relationships. The women have some choices, as Ethel leaves and Gretchen comes out of the pregnancy with a healthy baby.

Robert Brill's scenic design, the title character "The Well Appointed Room" is masterful in period and status. The play runs through March 12. Call the box office at 312-335-1650.

Oak Forest Alderman resigns

by Matt Mayer

Carol Scozio resigned her position as 4th Ward Alderman at the Jan 24, Oak Forest City Council meeting, citing heath problems. Scozio is an Oak Forest Park District employee and is on medical leave. She hopes to eventually return to her position at the Park District. Mayor JoAnn Kelly will now need to make an appointment to fill the empty council seat.

The city council approved a design engineering agreement with Baxter and Woodman Inc for the 2006 MTF (motor fuel tax) road program as well as a purchase agreement with CarteGraph Systems for a computerized work order and infrastructure management system for the Public Works Department. A temporary construction agreement at 5420 W. 159th St and a sanitary sewer easement agreement for facilities at 5420 W. 159th St were also approved. No monetary amounts were revealed. The next meeting is Feb. 14.

Senator Crotty cosponsors ethanol legislation

State Senator Maggie Crotty (D-Oak Forest) signed on to cosponsor legislation introduced in January, that will boost renewable fuel standards, promote ethanol production in the corn-rich state of Illinois, and decrease dependency on foreign oil. The bipartisan effort uses Illinois' resources to develop the next generation of alternative fuels and puts Illinois at the forefront of a growing technology.

As gasoline process have increased over the past several years, the use of a more economical alternate continues to grow. The legislation will build five more plants and makes a $42 million investment in the industry. It has set a goal that by January 2008 all motor fuel must be 10% ethanol and will increase to 15% by 2012.

The measure is an initiative of the Illinois Corn Growers Association (ICGA), the Illinois Farm Bureau (IFB) and the Illinois Soybean Association (ISA).

Orland Park names assistant to the mayor

The Village of Orland Park has announced the appointment of Jack Knight to fill the vacant position of Assistant to the Mayor.

Knight comes from the nonprofit sector and has directed programs that have included partnerships with the Chicago Department of Environment, the Chicago Housing Authority and the Chicago Public Schools.

As Assistant to the Mayor, Knight will provide support to the mayor by serving as liaison with the trustees, Village Manager's office, department directors, staff, committees, community and municipal groups and other organizations. He will also work on issues of importance in Springfield and at the County Building and represent Mayor McLaughlin at various events when the mayor is unable to attend. Knight's duties will also include researching and analyzing issues of short and long-term importance to the village.

Knight, an Orland Park resident, received his Master's of Public Affairs from Indiana University in Bloomington and his undergraduate degree from Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa. Knight interned for the U.S. Department of the Interior at Valley Forge Historical Park in Pennsylvania, in the city of Dubuque and in Monroe County in Indiana.

Mayor Dan McLaughlin said, "As the elected officials' positions are part-time, Jack will be better able to attend meetings that we are unable to. He will then be able to report back to me and the board and provide recommendations. I'm very happy to have Jack join our village team to assist me and the Board members in dealing with the many projects and concerns we have in the village." The mayor added, "Given Jack's background and training, I'm confident that he will be an asset to the village."Mr. Knight began his position at the village on January 18, 2006.

Orland selects METRA Triangle developer

by Matt Mayer

It was announced at the Jan 16, Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting that L.R. Development LLC of Chicago has been chosen from the three bids received for the Main Street Triangle development. The METRA train station is the centerpiece for the recreation of an historic downtown area.

The new train station currently under construction at 143rd St and Southwest Highway is expected to serve 1,700 commuters as METRA increases service from 16 to 30 trains daily. The area will also include the extension of 142nd St to the new 600-slot commuter parking lot.

The high-end mixed-use development project will also include condominiums, as well as retail and commercial space. An additional possible entity is an Arts Center in the Civic Area, which was discussed at the Dec 5, 2005 Board of Trustees meeting. The village is planning a spring town hall meeting to gather public input prior to finalizing a project plan.

The METRA Triangle is being developed as a Tax Increment Finance (TIF) District. A (TIF) uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is free from local taxing bodies; the maximum life of a (TIF) is 23 years.

The development is bounded by LaGrange Rd, Southwest Hwy and 143rd St. At the March 21, 2005 board meeting, Project Manager Chuck Crump of DLP Architecture outlined the plans for the 3,600 square foot station.

Artist renderings depicted the station to be constructed with a lime stone base, red brick walls, woods trim and a 42-foot clock tower rising above the station, which will be visible to north and south bound traffic on LaGrange Rd. Lamps, benches and trash containers will also depict a historical look.

Do Your Best-Let Your Creator Do The Rest

Many people ask the question, "how can I be sure that what I do will please my God, the Angels and the people I share my life with? I am a Virgo born August 26th, maybe there is something in my Karma that will show me what more I can do or what I am being punished for." My answer is this: your Karma is never a punishment. It shows you in some way, through a talent or opportunity, a certain something or someone that you should be doing something with or for. Karma is often associated with learning...something worth cultivating and sharing with others. If you know you are doing your best, just let God and the Angels do the rest. When you absolutely can't...God and the Angels can. But, they won't do for you what you can do for yourself. If they did things for you that you can do, you become a useless nobody. And, you cannot fool them, you see, they know you and your abilities better than you do. Okay, get busy and do one more thing today and everyday after.

Worth discusses TIF district

by Matt Mayer

Residents filled the village chambers a the Jan. 24, Worth Board of Trustees meeting which followed a special meeting regarding citizen input for potential community development projects for the tax increment finance (TIF) district, which includes the former Paul's Plumbing Supply at 111th and Ridgeland Ave as well as several other properties between Ridgeland Ave and the Tri-State on 111th St. A TIF uses revenue to fund improvements with in the district and is exempt from local taxing bodies. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years.

Autoworth Repair owner, Pat Wad, questioned Mayor Ed Guzdziol regarding the village evoking eminent domain - a right a government has to seize property for public use. Guzdziol reiterated, "The board would not use this right for residential propertics, but the board does have this option for commercial properties. However if the board feels that a business is gouging the market for higher than fair market value - we do have the right to use our eminent domain powers, but this would be on a case-by-case basis. It does not mean we're going to use it, it just means we have the option if we feel someone is gouging the market," Guzdziol said.

The board approved an ordinance providing a procedure to be implemented regarding the purchase of certain unused properties if a case should arise where the village would receive equal monetary bids as well as an ordinance regarding the salary of new part time auxiliary police officers. An ordinance authorizing the sale of unused village property located at 7360 W. 110th St with an opening bid of $170,000 was also approved.

EP hosts firefighters training

by Marijo Doody

As a granddaughter of a firefighter family, curiosity got the better of me recently. At the corner of 96th and Kcdzie many pieces of firefighters' equipment were present daily. As I stopped an EP Firefighter to inquire what was happening, I explained my grandfather was a chief in the 1920's and I grew-up chasing firetrucks with my dad.

"Low and behold", he said, because the three buildings were earmarked for demolition, the Village had allowed the EP firefighters training potential. Firehouses from Alsip, Bedford Park, Oak Lawn and other southwest areas sent equipment and personnel to practise firefighting. Of course I wanted to go in, but was told it was dangerous as floors were missing and they had sectioned off other quarters for specific maneuvers. They had numerous 911 calls as persons had seen smoke, therefore we are informing readers of this firefighters drill.

Evergreen Park approves sewer project

by Matt Mayer

A resolution request was approved at the Feb. 6 Evergreen Park Board of Trustees for the 2006 Community Development Block Grant program for $100,000, which will be used for a sewer relining project on 98th St from Harding to Central Avenues. The board approved an ordinance amendment regarding water service connections from a one half to a one-inch pipe for water mains. A public hearing regarding the grant will precede the Feb. 20 board of trustees meeting at 6:30 p.m.

An ordinance for the conversion of a six-unit apartment building to a condominium at 8701 S. Sacramento was also approved as well as a request to extend a heating and air conditioning contract with Air Comfort Co for $14,940 for an additional year. The contract covers the village hall and the police and fire departments

The board approved an amendment to an ordinance, which enables the police to tow any vehicle in which the driver of the vehicle is charged with possession of an unlawful weapon, driving under the influence of alcohol or a controlled substance. This amendment increases the appeal time from 30 to 45 days to have adequate time to flow through the court system. A request from Police Chief Michael Saunders to purchase a 2006 F350 vehicle for $20,281 to transport prisoners was also approved.

Village trustees will act as a zoning committee at the next meeting regarding zoning codes for nursing homes and personal care facilities. March 21-18 was proclaimed Girl Scout Week for the distribution of purchased cookies.

Oak Lawn approves redevelopment agreement

by Matt Mayer

The board unanimously approved an ordinance at the Feb.14 Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting for a redevelopment agreement for the property located at 5000-5020 W. 95th St. The existing building, which was a former Mitsubishi dealership and a short-lived motorcycle dealership, is north of 95th St and east of the Metra railroad. This now revokes the eminent domain, which was placed on the property in 2003 by the previous board. Student Bill; passes Illinois Senate

A bill that would give a seat on the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) to non-traditional students from Illinois' public universities passed the Illinois Senate 58-0. State Senator Edward D. Maloney (D-Chicago) was the sponsor.

Non-traditional students are generally 24 years of age or older, employed on a full time basis, and/or a parent. "There are approximately 160,000 non-traditional students at Illinois' public universities" indicated Maloney. "They have to balance school with family, employment and financial commitments and this bill is important because it sends the message that higher education is for more than 18-24 year old Illinois students."

According to the fifteen-member IBHE a student would be selected to the IBHE Student Advisory Committee and the board would increase to sixteen members.

Wal-Mart contributes to Evergreen Park

In a monetary way, Wal-Mart gave $25,000 to the Evergreen Park Library for new programming, the American Legion Post on Kedzie received $1500. It was reported that the American Legion representatives were the honor guard in the grand opening celebration. Traffic seems to be more congested between California and Western with the opening of the new store. In the parking lot are many cars with shoppers descending for the bargains.

The increase in tax revenue to Evergreen Park should help homeowners in the Park. It was previously reported that over 25,0000 persons applied for jobs at the location for the new store. It shows that a lot of people are out of work and many persons are under employed. The effect of union membership has become a non-factor in job seekers.

Since June 6, 2004, God has given me the opportunity to reacquaint with six good friends from the past of more than 30 years. "Bud" Sylvano from Rolling Meadows was my best friend from second through fourth grade. We walked home from school together everyday. Another person was David Chester who also was in my class from 2nd through eighth grade. Then came Kay Keenan Tucker Riordan, Sharon Gallagher McManigal, Rose Ramirez Kessler who graduated from St. Martin Commercial. Kay and I knew each other since we were 13 years old and Rose and I knew each other since I was 14 years old and Sharon and I knew each other at 15 years old. Wow, I have been in seventh heaven since 2004.

Within the past months, one of my instructors from Moraine Valley Community College in 1978, contacted me. Her name is Judge Pamela E. Hill Veal. Pamela during the late 70's at Moraine was a psychology instructor and one of my favorite people. Judge Veal is running in Cook County for Judge in the Circuit Court.

Honorable Judge Pamela Hill Veal sat with me recently at my home to reintroduce herself as a candidate for judge of the Circuit Court. As it was in 2004, she was appointed to the position of judge in the Circuit Court. She now has to run for office and for her seat, there are three candidates running against her.

After reading her bio, I couldn't help to think this woman is well rounded educationally, as well as background as an attorney.

While we were visiting, her personality was as sincere as she was in 1978 when I knew her. Her thirst for education for herself is as evident as it was in 1978.

For more than 20 years, Pamela Hill Veal has been an educator at Chicago State University and MVCC. She taught Trial Practise and Procedures, Criminal Law, Intro to Law, Intro to Psychology, Basic Speech, Law and the Media, and she authored several workbooks.

Judge Veal graded the Illinois State Bar Examination for several terms. Judge Pamela Hill Veal is liscensed to practise law in Washington D.C., State of Michigan, and of course Illinois. She is also liccnsed to practise before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Her certification and training includes Arbitration Workshop, Alcoholism Education and Prevention, American Sign Language, Rape Prevention, Campus and Community, Training in Crisis Intervention, Training in Grantsmanship for Education, Training in Marriage and Family Counseling.

There is so much more to Judge Pamela Hill Veal, other then her superb education, certificate training, legal experiences or related job experience. She is reachable, humane and sincere. She can be reached at 773-778-0889 or her website www.judgehillveal.com.

My ending includes vote for Judge Pamela Hill Veal, for she did receive the endorsement by the Cook County Democratic Party and the IVO - IPO. If you are choosing a democratic ballot, punch 80 for judges for the primary on March 21, 2006.

As Judge Pamela Hill Veal says, "my colleagues are using check 80, because of the new voting screens, but I still like the old way of saying punch 80."

Since I have always been a Ronald Reagan fan, I would be remised if I didn't remember his birthday. Gov. Rod Blagojevich proclaimed February 6th as "Ronald Reagan Day" in the State of Illinois. Illinois became one of the 40 states honoring Ronald Reagan on that date. The recognition of February 6 honors Reagan as a strong leader and friend of the American people. The late president stated in his last speech that he would leave behind "the greatest love for this country of ours and eternal optimism for its future. The proclamation, issued throughout the nation by Democratic and Republican leaders alike, supports the preservation of his legacy.

"Bi-partisan support in recognizing Reagan's birthday reflects the late president's ability to connect with all Americans," stated Grover Norquist, chairman of the Ronald Reagan Legacy Project. "His leadership left a resounding impact on the lives of citizens worldwide and honoring his birthday is a great reminder to everyone young and old, of his place in history. It is vital that President Reagan's legacy is passed on through generations."

Legislation to protect consumer from mortgage fraud

State Senator Jacqueline Y. Collins (D-Chicago) is sponsoring important legislation that will protect more customers from the dangers of mortgage fraud. Working together with Attorney General, Lisa Madigan, Senate Bill 2349 was introduced.

Mortgage fraud is a widespread problem throughout the nation and many foreclosures have occurred over the past decade in Illinois. In Cook County alone, between 1996 and 2002, filings more than doubled from 8000 to 17,248 mortgage foreclosures and the trend is prominent in other areas.

With the growing number of households throughout the state under financial distress, the number of illicit business known as "mortgage rescuers" has also grown. They take the role of property consultant or purchaser and frequently sell the home to another party, forcing the original party eviction or a loss of assets.

Senate Bill 2349 will create the Mortgage Rescue Prevention Act and aims to fight both unscrupulous consultants and purchasers. They will be required to give homeowners a written contract on all services rendered and state the contract can be canceled anytime prior to completion. Property purchasers will be required to give notice to the homeowner the house is for sale by a specific contract that lays out all terms of the sale. The homeowner will have five (5) business days to cancel the sales contract. If the sale is made, the purchaser must pay the homeowner 82% of the fair market value of the property at the time of the sale. Violations will result in criminal penalties.

Senator Collins says, "the people most adversely affected by mortgage fraud are those who need the most help and those in low income neighborhoods are the highest risk. It is not a problem specific to Illinois and we can only hope other states will make this type of legislation a priority." The Act is modeled on laws in Minnesota and Maryland, though several other states are currently considering similar legislation.

Clerk of Circuit Court's rep presents program at OCS

Jennifer M. Smith, ESQ. the Chief Deputy Clerk Probate Division presented a program representing the Office of Dorothy Brown, Clerk of Circuit Court Cook County. With a captive audience at the recent Senior Council meeting, Smith talked about a number of subjects and fielded questions and answers from the audience

The Probate Division hears proceedings regarding estates, wills, settlements, guardianships and testamentary instruments. A discussion was held on guardianship, administration of estates of decedents, and Durable Power of Attorney on healthcare and finances.

Evergreen Park Historical Commission Chairman Jerry Borch asked several questions on estate topics. Other parties inquired on dual Power of Attorneys with multiple siblings.

It was noted that many things cause a will to go into probate. An individual can file a will without an attorney and there is no fee. An attorney charges a fee. In order to file a will, go to the Probate Division-Will Counter, Room 1202, 12th floor at the main office on Washington Street. . Hours are 8:30am to 4:30pm Monday-Friday. The original will with ink signatures should be filed in person. You will need a date of death when filing a will and preferably a Death Certificate. One can also file at a District Office.

The main office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County is at the Daley Center, 50 W. Washington Street, Chicago and the number is 312-603-5051. The local District 5 office is in Bridgeview at 10220 S. 76th Avenue and the number is 708-974-6500.

State of the Cook County Recorder of Deeds Office

2005 was another successful year for the Cook County Recorder of Deeds Office. We recorded 1.41 million documents for the year and exceeded our projection by 1%. While a 1% increase does not appear to be a major accomplishment in an unpredictable financial market it is. However, our on-line market has proved to be very successful. Our website, www.ccrd.info received over 3.7 million visitors. Sales generated from the website exceeded 500k. We started the year with just twenty (20) on-line accounts. At year-end we have in excess of two hundred (200) accounts and several pending account applications.

Our line database will be increased beginning 2006 and beyond. Our goal for 2006 is to make Plats of Survey and Transfer Declaration available on line. It is a personal goal of mine to increase our database of real estate recordings back to the Chicago Fire. This can not be accomplished within a year or two, but we will annually add years prior to October 1985 to our on line customers. This will be a great achievement. Why you may ask? The earlier year recordings will be a great source for researchers, especially students researching the history of Cook County and Chicago. Professional and lay persons alike will be able to walk through the history of real properties throughout Cook County.

I encourage the public to visit our website and examine their property and make sure there are no strange recordings against their property. Conducting an examination of your property once or twice- a- year can reveal early on any recording errors and aide in an expeditious resolution of the matter

I want to thank each of you for your support and I look forward to recording Moore good deeds.

Respectfully yours,
Eugene "Gene" Moore
Cook County Recorder of Deeds

Construction of the Phase 1 tunnels has already resulted in a cleaner water environment

Celebrating Completion of TARP Phase 1

Since 1889, the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago has worked to protect the water environment. Today, the Board of Commissioners announces that an important milestone has been reached with the completion of Phase I of the Tunnel and Reservoir Plan, or TARP, an innovative and highly beneficial pollution and flood control project. Each time there is a heavy rainfall in the area, the massive underground tunnel system captures and stores hundreds of millions of gallons of combined sewer overflow that otherwise would have discharged to the local waterways.

Thirty years of planning, design and construction of the tunnels and related facilities have paid off in a cleaner water environment and dramatically improved water quality in Chicago and the suburbs. The early results are impressive...

- The number of fish species in the Chicago River system has increased approximately ten-fold
- Recreation and development along the waterways has seen an immense resurgence
- Local waterways are being compared to a second lakefront

What Lies Ahead...

With the completion of Phase 1 of TARP, the District has focused its resources to carrying out Phase 2, which is intended mainly for flood control, but will also provide additional water quality improvements. Phase 2 includes:

- Construction of three large reservoirs that will add 15.6 billion gallons of storage capacity to the 2.4 billion gallons provided in the Phase 1 deep tunnels
- Reservoirs estimated to provide an average of $122 million in benefits each year

The Thornton Composite Reservoir will further improve water quality and greatly reduce flooding in 15 communities and the south side of Chicago

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago is proud of the massive engineering accomplishment of completing Phase 1 of TARP. We look forward to construction of the Phase 2 reservoirs as well as meeting new engineering challenges associated with upgrading our water reclamation plants and providing stormwater management throughout Cook County. The Board of Commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago celebrates Engineering Week 2006 and pledges to continue to protect the water environment.

Deliberate Psychological Hypnosis Conditioning

People are not being told what happens to them when they see a commercial, listen to a religious sermon, or hear about the world economy. They are affected by what their doctor tells them about their own health and often can die from last year's diagnosis. Someone known for some particular expertise often uses some form of hypnosis or mesmerism to "influence or control" their audience into accepting what they say as "golden." We are shown products and are told how well they work, so we buy them. We are told we will go to hell or even be killed if we do not accept this religion or that one. We run in fear and doubt of the many things that touch our lives put there inside our heads and hearts by someone with an "agenda or profit-making scheme." People have fallen under Psychological Hypnosis Conditioning first established, then followed by people who act like sheep and/or become like puppets, who prefer that someone else do their thinking and providing for them.

KATHY'S KALEIDOSCOPE

FIFTY CANDLES

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

By: Kathy Whirity

In a matter of days I will cross the threshold of officially being labled middle age. I'm curious as to how I'll react to reaching the big 5-0, as in 50 years old!

In the days leading up to this milestone I haven't really given much thought to what the numbers mean.

In my heart I still feel as if I'm still 18 though, on second thought, that concept seems rather silly since that would make me 6 years younger than my eldest child.

If turning 50 is a turning point than I guess I can certainly choose to be upbeat as I approach the fifth decade of my existence.

They say that 40 is the new 30, which makes 50 the new 40. Hey, I can live with that. I remember 40 - it was fun; proof that times keep changing for the better.

When my mother was this age she sure seemed a lot older than I feel now. She wore housecoats and listened to Dean Martin croon golden oldies. For fun she sat in front of the t.v, coffee in hand, watching game shows and working cross-word puzzles.

I simply don't feel as though I've reached senior status.

I still enjoy rocking to the music of the Rolling Stones, and it says something for Mick, the 60 something rocker whose music appeals to young and old alike.

Blue jeans are a staple in my closet. No housecoats for this modern mid - lifer.

Thanks to Geritol we are a generation that believes that we're only as old as we feel.

We middle age women do have it made these days. The sky's the limit and the only thing keeping us from reaching our own personal best is our own attitudes.

Whether it's lifting weights or training for marathons, we don't have to give up just because we're growing in years.

My mom grew up in a different era. Women grew old because they felt old.

My goal is to be fit in my fifties. No, I don't want to fool myself into thinking that the years haven't added up to gray hair, wrinkles, and a slower pace from which to continue the journey of menopausal merriment.

In entering into a new decade I'd like to focus on fifty as an adventure - an adventure in growing up gracefully.

Will turning 50 be a fasinating event or a frightful happening? I'll let you know.

What I do suspect is that it will be just what I expect it to be.

On the road to 50 puts me in a reflective mood about all that the years have taught me. I think the most valuable lesson I've learned is to not take myself so seriously.

Life isn't meant to be lived as a burden so if we lighten our thinking we'll enjoy better days.

The big day's celebration will consist of a quiet birthday dinner with my family. That may not sound like much but it's the best gift I could possibly ask for.

It's almost hard to believe that I'm about to be as old as the Walt Disney World Amusement Park, but it's true. And just like the 'kid' in Mr. Disney who never grew up, I will do my best to focus on all the opportunities that are out there for the taking.

As I go full steam ahead to blowing out the 50 birthday candles on my cake my goal is going to be to embrace this more mature time in my life with a spring in my step and a twinkle in my eye.

After the cake is eaten and the presents opened I hope my motto will be—It's nifty to be fifty, for you're only as old as you allow yourself to be.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

Be the change you wish to see. (Ghandi)

Cheap Prosperity

"Consumers, investors, politicians, and businessmen all feel the flush of cash and readily spend some of the wealth they think they've come upon. After a while, they're all giddy from the sewer gas and have forgotten that they have to pay the money back."

by Bill Bonner

Ben Bernanke was sworn in last week, but he wasn't born yesterday. He knows how the central bank works. Or, at least he thinks he does. The secret, he believes, is in the plumbing. You have to keep the money flowing. And when things get a little sluggish, you have to open a few more valves and sluice gates.

Since he can only create "money" and not real wealth, the deeper secret - one that requires hip waders and a nose clip - is that a central banker must hoodwink the public into thinking it has more wealth than it really does. Consumers, investors, politicians, and businessmen all feel the flush of cash and readily spend some of the wealth they think they've come upon. After a while, they're all giddy from the sewer gas and have forgotten that they have to pay the money back.

Under these circumstances, inflation is a dead certainty. The only unknown is how and when it appears. Until now, it has happily gone into asset prices. Stocks - then real estate - rode high on the tidal wave of money, while consumer prices, mostly, stayed put. But the dollar is vulnerable, warned the experts. Bill Gross, who manages the largest bond fund in the worlds, claims it is "doomed." When doom will show up and in what guise we do not know. But we bet that when it does show, it will yank up the cost of living for consumers. Prices of imports - at say, Wal-Mart - will shoot up. Anticipating this unwelcome variety of inflation, the central bank may turn the screws longer than expected.

Maestro Bernanke is now, officially, the world's most powerful central banker, but, from Chicago, evidence is emerging that the great economic tide over which he presides may already have begun ebbing. The Midwestern city reports that almost 25,000 people applied for jobs at a new Wal-Mart opening up nearby. We have heard of thousands of people in India applying for jobs at Google, but that is not surprising; there are millions of jobless people in India...and Google pays well.

But Wal-Mart? The merchandiser is Scrooge-like with its employees, and U.S. employment, supposedly, is at record highs. We are continuously reassured that we have a "full employment" economy. Whence then, cometh these eager jobseekers?

That is the problem with America's prosperity: it has a cheap and gaudy character to it, like too much makeup on an aging tart. The wrinkles show through the cracks in the rouge.

People are lining up to work in Wal-Mart for the obvious reason: they need the money.

Last year, foreclosures rose 25%. Energy and health care costs are soaring. What's a poor boy to do but don a blue jacket and push more consumer junk at "Everyday Low Prices" to people who can't really afford it?

We read in today's press that Britain is ahead of us. Reports vary, but the bubble in real estate prices in the U.K. apparently peaked out a year ago. Since then, bankruptcies have hit new heights. Yesterday, the Financial Times warned that British consumers might be beginning to put their prehensile thumbs to family budget work; they might soon be "pinching pennies," says the FT.

We don't know. But, we wouldn't be at all surprised to see American consumers begin to squeeze their nickels a little tighter, too. True, the present generation has little experience at it, but they might get the hang of it mighty fast, if they had to...

Biograph renovation underway

by Marijo Doody

In 1914 the famous Biograph Theatre was build. It was famous because the moffia had hits their, not in the movie vein. Remember Dillingeer! My mother lived across from there and had stories. She was the hairdresser of Mrs. C. in the 20's.

Behind the scaffolds, Victory Gardens Theater has embarked on the most visible expansion project in its 32-year history. The construction of a beautiful new, $11.3 million mainstage is underway, dedicated to the enjoyment of live theater.

Victory Gardens, the Chicago number one presenter of new works will open the new 299- seat mainstage in September 2006. This is more than 90 seats increase from the current site's mainstage.

Artistic Director, Dennis Zacek and Managing Director, Marcelle McVay, along with Designer, Daniel P. Coffey of Coffey & Associates and the Board of Victory Gardens recently presented a hard-hat tour for media at the cite of the Biograph. One felt like you were in the ruins of the ancient historical world.

Mr. Coffey and the firm were responsible for the restorations of the Chicago, Palace and Oriental Theaters. The new Victory Gardens Theater will add to the Chicago's live theater scene and the Lincoln Park neighborhood.

The next phase of the construction includes pouring concrete footings, walls and trap space. Then underground plumbing and electrical will be placed. In the excavation, no empty vaults were found and no bodies. In the summer the roof will be replaced, a stage will be fashioned inside, the façade and famous marquee restored.

Artistic Director, Dennis Zacek "indicated all the progress has kept two principles, expanding the theater's ability to meet the desires of the playwrights and enhancing the theater's ability to welcome our patrons new and old."

Victory Garden's current production is "I Have Before Me a Remarkable Document Given to Me by a Young Lady from Rwanda." It is a blockbuster and should not be missed. It runs through March 5. Call the box office for tickets at 773-871-3000.

"La Corsaire" will have five performances. It is an exotic Turkish fable of a dashing pirate's love for a beautiful harem girl. It is considered the perfect platform for daring and explosive dance. "La Corsaire" was first staged for ABT in 1998 and filmed for PBS in 1999.

Oak Forest Alderman receives proclamation award

by Matt Mayer

Fourth Ward Alderman Carol Scozio, who had announced her retirement at the previous city council meeting due to health constraints, received a proclamation at the Feb. 14 Oak Forest City Council meeting. Scozio is also an Oak Forest Park District employee and is on medical leave; she hopes to eventually to her position at the Park District.

The city council approved an ordinance for a rear yard set back variance at 14906 Park Ave. as well as an ordinance for a subdivision special use permit for 15153 S. Harlem Ave. A public work request to pay Alpha Construction for estimate four and five from 2006 MFT road maintenance program was approved as well as an agreement with Crowe Chizek and Company for auditing services. A contract was awarded to Advance Communications for upgrades sound system in the council cambers and the Blue Room. No costs were discussed. The next meeting is Feb. 28.

Orland Park approves water system upgrade

by Matt Mayer

The board approved the expenditure of $1.6 million at the Feb. 6 Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting for the improvement of the village water system. The village purchases its water from Oak Lawn; this amount was agreed by both villages and will be paid over a time period. Village residents are not expected to see an increase in their water bills. The monies are expected to be covered in the village's original construction fee.

The project is expected to improve the Harker Pumping Station, Oak Lawn's main water pumping station, as well as a pumping station in Country Club Hills. An additional pumping station will be constructed in Tinley Park. The system provides water to 12 suburbs as well as Oak Lawn. The following suburbs thus far that have agreed to share the cost of the project by paying the following amounts: Tinley Park $1.1 million, New Lenox $500,000, Matteson $632,500 and Mokena $400,000. The project is slated to be completed by summer and presumed to be adequate through 2011. The board approved an ordinance amendment to the village's boundary agreement with Homer Glen, which will allow three-one acre lots to be annexed into Homer Glen's planned 17-acre Hidden Cove subdivision to be located between 167th and 159th Streets. The three lots to be annexed are in Cook County just west of Will -Cook Road, one of the boundary lines. This change is due to a recent request received from Homer Glen officials asking Orland Park officials to redraw the boundary so Homer Glen could incorporate these lots and avert any confusion as to which municipality would serve this small portion of the development, which will have access only from the west.

Wearing safety goggles and swinging sledge hammers, Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin (left) and Village Trustees Kathy Fenton, Bernie Murphy, Pat Gira and Ed Schussler ceremoniously began the transformation of a former carpet and tile warehouse to the new Orland Park Police Department Headquarters

Orland Park "Breaks Blocks" for New Police Facility

Transformation of Carpet & Tile Store to Police Headquarters Begins

ORLAND PARK, ILLINOIS – A new era for the Orland Park Police Department began with the swing of sledge hammers into stacked cinder blocks. On Wednesday, February 15, Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin and members of the Board of Trustees ceremoniously began construction of the new police station for the village's nearly 200 sworn and civilian police personnel.

Located at 15100 South Ravinia Avenue, in a former carpeting and tile store, the new facility has been designed to meet the growing demands of the Orland Park community. Once completed, the new Orland Park Police Headquarters will total approximately 63,000 square feet.

The Orland Park Board of Trustees has approved the "green" design of the facility with the project being designed to obtain leadership, energy and environmental design (LEED) certification from the United States Building Counsel.

Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin is credited with first proposing the former carpet and tile facility's transformation into a new headquarters for the Orland Park Police Department.

"Going 'green' is the right thing to do," the mayor said during the ceremony. "LEED certified buildings create healthier workplaces, conserve energy and protect the environment," McLaughlin noted.

Explaining the "green" concept, Village Trustee Edward Schussler, chairman of the village's Police Committee and part of the new facility planning committee, said, "The LEED design evaluates buildings in five categories, water efficiency, indoor air quality, sustainable sites, energy and atmosphere; and materials."

"With the rapid growth of the village over the past twenty years, it became apparent that a new station was needed to address not only today's needs but also to address the future growth of the village and the department," said Orland Park Police Chief Tim McCarthy.

McCarthy continued, "I believe that the mayor and trustees have made a wise financial decision to build this station to accommodate all future growth and to do it in an environmentally friendly fashion with the green building concept. We will see a return on our investment for many years in savings generated by energy efficiency, water efficiency and other environmentally friendly concepts."

"The men and women of the Orland Park Police Department appreciate this investment and look forward to the day we move in," the chief added.

The architect for the project is Sente, Rubel, Bosman and Lee and the construction manager is the George Sollitt Construction Company.

The Orland Park Police Headquarters will be the first LEED certified building in Orland Park. McLaughlin added, "We hope that our having the first LEED certified building in the community sets an example for future construction in Orland Park."

According to the schedule set by the village, construction is to be completed in January, 2007.

Worth creates deputy police chief position

by Matt Mayer

The board approved the creation of a Deputy Police Chief position at the Feb. 7, Worth Board of Trustees meeting. This position has not existed since 2001 when Police Chief Pat O'Connor took command. The purpose of the reimplementation of this position is to have someone trained in administration to establish a clear chain of command between the Police Chief and the Sergeants especially when the Police Chief is not available.

An ordinance regarding the vacation of property located on the north side of Crandall Ave adjacent 6856 on the west and 6910 on east sides was approved as well as an ordinance approving a lot frontage and lot size variation at 11440 S. Nashville Ave. A resolution. request appropriating $275,000 from the Motor Fuel Tax fund for the maintenance of streets for calendar year January 1 to December 31, 2006 was approved as well as a resolution authorizing an application to the Southwest Conference of Mayors for the funding of the Oak Park street lighting project.

Libido Funk Circus/Members only for $1,500.00 and Kimi Hayes for $1,000.00. Training Center to meet community needs

Moraine Valley's proposed new Instructional and Job Training Center will be a diverse resource for students, employees and management from local businesses, active retirees, community members, and children to participate in a variety of activities and programs.

Residents will be able to benefit from the Active Retiree Program, the Valley Learning Center, and other community service programs. The Active Retiree Program offers a variety of programs for older residents such as painting and using a computer and provides them with important information about insurance and taxes. The Valley Learning Center offers academic and creative programs for children ages 4 and up to pursue their interests through classes and workshops. There is also a wide-range of noncredit personal development classes.

"The Instructional and Job Training Center is a place for valuable real-life learning no matter where you are in life," said Dr. Patricia Bauhs, vice president for Institutional Advancement.

The college also is committed to fostering the community's economic growth and development and to enhance local businesses' efficiency and effectiveness, which impacts their bottom lines and translates into more jobs. For example, Workforce Development helped create and retain 1,544 jobs and generate $53 million in contracts during 2004, but the college currently is limited in serving businesses' other physical needs such as meeting and training facilities.

"A better educated workforce and public positively impact the community's well-being," said Dr. Michael Colky, dean of Workforce Development and Community Services. "The new building will infuse the latest in workforce systems and technology and provide a window into the future of workforces to help businesses compete in the global marketplace."

To continue providing a quality learning and training environment, the college has placed a bond referendum on the March 21 ballot. The proposal will allow the college to build, equip, alter and repair buildings including additional facilities for computer technology upgrades, job training and retraining programs, new and improved science and other instructional facilities, and additional facilities for student services, including child care, and issue $89 million in bonds to pay for the projects. Approval of the referendum would mean an additional $5 per month investment for an owner of a $200,000 home.

The Instructional and Job Training Center will include a full-scale business/corporate meeting center for large conferences or job training sessions. Companies hosting meetings at the center will have access to meeting rooms, workshop breakout rooms, food service, support services such as copying and faxing, and meeting planning and program presentation assistance.

The center will provide job training skills to currently enrolled credit students as a site for academic internships. Students in the Travel & Tourism career program will get hands-on experience in planning and running meetings while Restaurant/Hotel Management and Culinary Arts students will operate the food service, and students in the Business program will learn firsthand about sales and marketing.

Chicago Ridge approves wireless ordinance

by Matt Mayer

A community development block grant (GDBG) hearing was held prior to the Feb. 6, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. Village consultant Rudy Vassar has requested the maximum allowable amount of $300,000 for this years development projects. Fewer funds are being allocated through the GDBG. Vassar estimates that the village will receive half the requested amount given the CDBG has fewer funds to disperse. A second required meeting will be held on Feb. 21

The board approved a business license request for Cavalini's Men's Clothing as well as a licensee for Hot Collections back dated to the stores opening date of Dec 15. Both businesses are located in the mall. A wireless communications tower ordinance, which pertains to the installation and removal of telecommunication towers and includes a provision for an abatement bond fee of $10,000, was also approved as well as a police department request to allow Sgt. Tom Herman to attend Northwestern University for a staff and command-training course for $3,000. A mutual aid helicopter contribution of $1,000, which will be obtained from the narcotics forfeiture fund and donated to the Illinois Regional Air Support Service, was also approved. This contribution allows the police department to utilize the services of the helicopter if needed.

The board approved the following solicitation requests: Girl Scout Week, March 12-18;Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll Drive, September 15 and 16; Salvation Army Donut Days, June 2nd and 3rd and Christmas Kettles from Nov 17 to Dec 24.

Retiring Oak Lawn Police Chief Honored

by Matt Mayer

Mayor Dave Heilmann read a proclamation for retiring Police Chief Robert Smith at the Feb 28, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting. It read in part that Robert Smith began his career with the police department in 1974 as a parole officer assigned to the evidence technician unit. In 1980 Smith was promoted to the detective division and in 1988 he was promoted to the rank of detective Sergeant as well as a member of the hostage negotiating team. During this period he received the United States Secret Service award. In 1992 he was promoted to detective lieutenant and attended the prestigious FBI's National academy. In 1993 he received the Cook County Sheriff's Metal of Honor award and was also promoted to the Chief of Detectives and in 2002 he was promoted to Chief of Police. Heilmann said he was privileged to honor Smith for his 31 and half years of service to the village.

Village Clerk Jane Quinlan said, "My first 10 months in Oak Lawn wouldn't have been what they were without Bob. In public relations Bob you're going to be a tough act to beat". Several police officers praised Smith as well as Trustees, residents and business owners in attendance. Bill Villanova, who is one the police department's three division chiefs, will temporarily replace Smith.

Heilmann also presented a proclamation to Alice Collins which read in part that she has been a faithful citizen of the village since 1962 and has been writing "Cookies and Chaos" as well as "Love and Leftover" for the past twenty five years. She has used her journalistic skills to champion the giving of food, collection of toys, and the raising of money for the less fortunate over the past twenty-five years. She continues to use her newspaper columns to collect donations for our servicemen and woman risking their lives oversees.

Police Chief Bob Smith presented the Medal of Valor award to Sgt. Ross Finnelly, Ofc. Peter Hennessy and Ofc. Bonnie Huff for their bravery and courage when they responded to a disturbance in February. The woman said when she returned home her husband was home and fled the scene just prior to their arrival. At that time four adults ran out, screaming that the house was on fire, at which time the officers entered the house, which was engulfed in smoke and found a baby sleeping. The baby was removed and the baby's life was saved with no ill effects. Early voting in the clerk's office which began Feb. 27, will continue through March 16. Absentee in person voting will take place March 20 - 21 also in the clerk's office.

Evergreen Park approves vacating a portion of 96th St

by Matt Mayer

A public hearing preceded the Feb. 20 Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting.

Whereas Mayor Jim Sexton and Trustees acted as a zoning committee for the village to amend a portion of the municipal code regarding zoning. and deviations in residential districts. Upon completion of the hearing, the board approved the ordinance amending a section of the zoning code regarding nursing and personal care facilities. By approving this change, the village will be in compliance with US Justice Department, which prohibits facilities from admitting anyone with a mental illness. The board also approved a section of the code referring to administration deviations by adding a $750.00 in residential districts so as a petitioner may have a hearing with the Building Commissioner rather that the Zoning Board, since the Building Commissioner has certain rights and powers other that of the Zoning Board.

The board unanimously approved an ordinance to vacate a portion of 96th St, west of Kedzie Ave, for an addition to Chi Tung Restaurant. The vacated space is 20 by 112 feet.

Architect Craig Podalak outlined the 1800 square foot addition, that will consist of six additional tables, which will seat eight and will include an area were the chef will prepare meals at the tables. There will also be a reconfigured entrance due to a wind factor and renovated restrooms.

A resident of 96th said even though resident-only signs were posted. parking problems still remain. Employees continue to park in front of her and her neighbor's homes for 12 hours at a time, resulting in unavailable parking for residents. She said she didn't mind customers parking on the street because it's not for a lengthy time.

The resident was instructed that the only way the residential parking could be enforced is to obtain a petition with enough signatures for Permit Park only for residents and guest of residents. Then the police may ticket and tow the vehicles not in compliance. Mayor Sexton also told Dan Zhao that he would need to get employees to park where they are required to park.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I have recently become aware that there is a movement afoot in Palos Hills which I find rather alarming. A referendum will appear on the ballot in the March primary election that calls for the reduction by half of the City Council. Taken at face value, this may not seem to be a bad idea. Upon reflection on the implications of such an event, however, it would seem to be a very bad idea, indeed.

At present, there are five wards in Palos Hills, each represented by two aldermen. Since the position of alderman is a part-time one - nearly all of them have a day job - it is difficult to imagine that any one alderman could do a job that currently requites the time and expertise of two aldermen.

Even more disturbing is the idea of a narrower perspective on the City Council. While the ten members of the current City Council do not always agree on every issue, they manage, through civilized debate, to reach a consensus, and there are enough of them to bring a broad perspective to the issue in question. Were there only five aldermen, the perspective, in my opinion, would be too narrow.

In addition, people do get sick, go on vacation, or have family emergencies that require them to be absent. Were this to happen, no doubt, many City Council meetings would have to be canceled, often at the last minute, for want of a quorum. Even if there were a quorum, I find it alarming that three people would be regarded as being enough to make important decisions that would affect us all.

Finally, I am disappointed that Mayor Bennett and the current members of the City Council do not appear to be taking this matter seriously enough to educate the residents of Palos Hills about the implications of cutting the City Council in half. If the referendum were to pass, it could spell disaster for the functioning of our local government and, as a result, for the residents of Palos Hills.

One physician at Little Company of Mary Hospital carves weeks out of his schedule to care for patients thousands of miles from home. In a chance encounter, Kym & Dr. Hong were invited by a couple who work and live in Dakar West Africa to help people who could not afford medical care.

The Hongs collected medicine from various organizations including King Benevolent Fund and MAP International. Ms. Julie Servatius works for Ty. Inc. and graciously donated more than 100 Beanie Babies stuffed animals for the Hongs to distribute. Dr. Hong indicated they were the first toys the children owned.

The Hongs have embarked on many medical missions and are touched by each person they meet. His colleagues applaud the tireless efforts used to improve access to medical care throughout the world.

Dr Hong is a board-certified radiologist at LCM with board certification in nuclear medicine. He is part of The Diagnostic Imaging department and his role is vital to Little Company Healthcare.

Now What Do You Do?

"Lower your expectations. Forget about building wealth. In these circumstances, the best you can hope for is that you will be able to prevent anything from knocking down the wealth you have already built."
by Bill Bonner
www.dailyreckoning.com

The five Big Es are reshaping the world: the Empire is peaking out; there's an Exodus of money and power from West to East; the Economic cycle has turned against us; the Experimental money system - with no gold backing - is doomed; and the days of cheap Energy are over. So what? What do you do?

As we wrote a few days ago, we doubt that these big trends are easily tradable. You can't buy stocks in China and relax. Nor can you be sure that energy stocks are not already overpriced. And as for the stock market itself, yes it is bound to turn down. But when? And how? It could be that stock prices remain nominally stable for the next 10 years, while inflation lowers real stock values.

Probably the surest trend is the rise of gold and yet, even gold is not guaranteed to follow any known time schedule. In fact, gold is in "correction" mode right now, or should be. The price could fall to $500, before beginning the next big move upward.

So what do you do?

First, lower expectations. Forget about trying to stay young forever...and forget about making money from your investments. The whole idea is a bit of a fraud anyway. Why should you get richer without working? The best you should hope for is to earn a reasonable amount for allowing someone else to use your savings. You are giving up something: current enjoyment. You deserve to get something in return. Over the last 200 years, the real return from lending savings has been between 3% and 6%. If you are able get that kind of return, you should take it happily.

The trouble is, government notes and bonds don't give you that much. After inflation and taxes, the net return is negative - no matter how far out you go. What's worse, the rising price of gold signals that the currency itself is in jeopardy. If gold were to go to $1,000 an ounce, you would lose more than half the value of your T-note (measured in gold). A fall in the dollar against other currencies could produce similar losses (though they might be more difficult to measure or understand).

Lower your expectations. Forget about building wealth. In these circumstances, the best you can hope for is that you will be able to prevent anything from knocking down the wealth you have already built. One way to do that is by buying things you like with value that is not subject to change. A house you enjoy, for example. Don't worry about selling it. Don't think about refinancing it. Don't even ask how much the neighbors got for their house down the street. Just buy it; enjoy it. Let it go at that.

Likewise, a business - not a stock - can be a decent thing to own. You must understand it and like it. If you do, you can forget about going public...or about selling it. Upon being asked being asked about what a normal life consisted of, Freud allegedly purports: love and work. A business of your own can provide you with the work - and income - you need.

There are also many "assets" that bring pleasure to their owners beyond capital gains: paintings, boats, farms, jewelry, vacation houses, cars, collectibles. Just don't expect to be able to resell at higher prices. On the other hand, many of these things are rare and irreproducible. If wealth really is migrating from West to East, it is possible that these things will migrate, too - at higher prices. We have heard of Chinese and Japanese entrepreneurs buying French châteaux, and then dismantling them, stone by stone, in order to rebuild them in Asia. Increasingly, great works of art are sold to bidders from the Orient. Indian billionaires are building fabulous collections of cars, planes...even locomotives.

Of course, you will need cash to pay expenses. Not knowing the future, all we can suggest is that you keep your cash as safe as possible, so that the future does not steal it from you. Put some in foreign currency CDs, for example, and put some in gold. If there is one big winner as the Big Es evolve, it is likely to be gold. The Big Es are big changes, and big changes come with big risks. When people feel threatened they tend to turn to God, guns and gold. All three might be useful, or even necessary. Gold is likely to be profitable, too.

New e-mail identity theft scam reported

Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan warns of a new scam requesting customers' personal and financial information popping up in e-mail inboxes and indicates do not give out their Social Security (SS) information or bank account numbers if they receive the unsolicited mail.

Madigan's Consumer Protection Division has received reports from federal officials that a new e-mail scam is circulating falsely informing the recipient " that someone illegally is using your SS number and assuming your identity." It directs the recipient to a phony Web site designed to look like an official Social Security web site. "These are copy-cat Web tools to trick consumers into divulging their personal information and Internet users should be wary of online solicitations" said Madigan. The Theft Hotline number is 1-866-999-5630, please report any calls you have received regarding this matter.

Psychic Insights
Questions and Psychic Answers
Knowing

Sometimes people just "know" something and cannot explain why they do. It could link with the unknown gifts we are all born with, such as a good "intuition" or having "psychic ability." Whatever it is, the "knowing" seems to come when most needed, especially when it is used to help others, and is appreciated by it's host. Jeannie R said, "when I need information on just about anything, it comes to me." Bill T tells of having something like a day-dream about someone or something and then whatever was in the "dream" comes true. Sara's grandma told her to "listen" to her sixth sense because it always knows what to do [the sixth sense "is" the knowing!]. I recently met a man named Tony who told me that he gets a "lull" in his thinking just before a brainstorm causes him to get an answer to some question that needs an answer. As for me, I just seem to "know" what needs to be solved or the answer to a question. Everything has an aura, a sound of it's own or a solution if it is sought out with a sincere desire. Even colours vibrate answers.

Houlihan, Margaret M. "Peggy" (nee Conboy), passed away on March 1, 2006, unable to hold out for that promised organ. God only knows why and when it's our time to be with him. Peg, known to many people, was such an energetic person, with a loving personality and disposition. She knew she was dying and yet still maintained her sense of humor and love for each moment of breath she would inhale. She died in Florida being with Jack, Kathleen, Jimmy and the grandchildren.

Her loving husband, who she idolized, is Jack Houlihan and everyone knew Jack and Peg, together started the Houlihan'lrish Hutches.

What people may not know is Peg grew up in St. Leo Parish, where she went to grammar school. In 1953, she graduated from Loretto Englewood High School, got married at St. Brendan and had nine children. But that didn't stop Peg from being ambitious. She always volunteered with cakes and goodies for the children's classrooms and later volunteered to be on committees and even became an officer of the mother's club.

My husband and I met Peg and Jack in the late 60's, before we moved to Oak Lawn. When we got involved in the great St. Gerald days, we only got closer as couples. Anyone who knew Jack and Peg also knew them through volunteering at St. Gerald Parish or later in their life at the "the Houlihan Irish Hutches." Even though most of the children helped in the Kiosks, Mary Jo Houlihan Delles would be the person most would meet.

Kathleen, Susan, Jimmy and possibly Maureen while teenagers all worked at Freshline Store in Oak Lawn. Margaret, the oldest of the nine, was in college when we started to associate more frequently with the Houlihans. Bridget and Elizabeth were in school together at the same time my son, Lance was there. We would see them frequently in band and other extra curricular activities. We also remember the late arrival, Jeannie, when she helped out in the Houlihan lrish Store in Chicago Ridge.

As I saw a poem at the wake, stating that their daughter, Elizabeth has paved the way into heaven for Peg and others, I am sure that my husband, who Peg called Ralph, will be laughing it up along with Jim Gates and others.

The wake was Saturday and Sunday, March 4 and 5th and the Funeral was March 6 at St. Gerald Church.

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day

No blarney! Everyone seems a little bit Irish on March 17. Celebrations are everywhere! Parades, fireworks and food mark the festive day. Here is the traditional feast of corn beef and cabbage.

Corn Beef & Cabbage with red current-mustard sauce

1-1/2 to 3 pounds boneless corned beef brisket
3 ribs celery, cut into 3-inch lengths
2 medium onions, cut lengthwise into quarters
3-1/2 cups water
1 pound green cabbage, cut into 3-inch wedges
1 pound red potatoes, cut into 2-inch pieces
6-8 carrots, tops trimmed, cut into thirds
½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter, melted salt & pepper
red-currant-mustard sauce
12 ounces red currant jelly
& 3 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard

Place jelly in medium microwave-safe bowl. Cover & microwave on high 1-1/2 to 2 minutes or until smooth, stirring then whisk in mustard then cover, microwave on high 30 sec.

Place celery and onion in 4-1/2 to 5-1/2 quart slow cooker, top with corned beef brisket.

Add corned beef seasoning packet, if included and 3-1/2 cps water. Cover and cook on high 7 hours, or on low 9-10 hours, or until fork tender. Remove brisket and cool. Discard liquid and solids.

Place cabbage, potatoes and carrots in 2-1/2 quart microwave safe casserole and add ½ cup water. Cover and microwave on high 15 minutes, or until vegies are tender, stirring once. Drain, add butter and salt and pepper as desired, toss to coat.

Carve brisket diagonally into thin slices and serve with vegetables and red-currant-mustard sauce. Garnish with chopped parsley, if desired.

To cook on stovetop, bring corned beef, seasoning, onions, celery and water to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until fork-tender about 3 hours. Prepare vegetables as directed above.

Nat'l Cattlemen's Beef Assn.

If corned beef does not come with seasoning packet, substitute 1 tsp whole black pepercorn and 1 bay leaf.

Spanish Rice & Beef Soup

1 pound beef cubed steaks
2 tbsp butter
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 package Spanish rice mix
5 cps water
1 can (14-1/2 oz) chili-seasoned diced tomatoes, undrained chopped fresh cilantro (optional)

Cut beef steaks lengthwise in 1 inch strips and crosswise into 1 inch pieces.

In Dutch oven, heat butter over medium-high heat until melted. Add beef and garlic; stir-fry 2-3 minutes until outside surface no longer pink. Remove beef from pan. Season with 2 tsp seasoning mix from rice mix.

In same pan, combine rice mix, and remaining seasoning packet, water and tomatoes and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low, cover tightly and simmer 15-17 minutes or until rice is tender.

Return beef to soup; stir in cilantro and serve.

THE SURPRISE PARTY

by Kathy Whirity

I originally had a plan for what I wanted to write for my post 50th milestone.

A dear and funny friend of mine sent me a humuorous piece of middle age musings, which I planned on sharing with you. And then I got side tracked.

The big day arrived and, just as I expected, I did not feel one bit different. Fifty came knocking at my door and it was welcomed in. Age is just a number, right?

The day's plan had been a simple one. An early dinner with family. It was both relaxing and enjoyable. My husband and daughters promised not to make a spectacle by announcing to the waitress that it was my birthday. Thank goodness they were true to their word. But that is where it ended.

Months before the big event I had my husband promise not to throw a party. I am fairly good at planning and organizing parties, not so good at being the guest of honor.

When he assured me there would be no party I believed him - after all that sort of thing was definitely not his forte and I knew it.

I had invited my sister, Alice, and Bill's sister, Marie, over for cake and that's how I planned to enjoy my special day.

I had no reason to be suspicious when my sister's car was parked across the street from my house.

Hannah, my canine companion greeted me at the door as she always does.

But, why were the lights out in the family room when I know I left them on?

Two seconds later I found out why! Shouts of SURPRISE left me almost speechless, except for the loud shrieks of "How did You do all this?" that kept coming out of my mouth.

Yes, I was in shock. The look in my husband's eyes was of pure victory. He had pulled off the surprise party of my half century's existence. Bouquets of balloons boldly proclaiming the BIG 5-OH created the sparkles for this grand get-together.

I'm not a fan of being caught off-guard like I was on Saturday night, but the love that spawned the perfect plan made it a night I'll treasure forever.

It was all worth it to hear friends share how excited Bill was to execute this plan of action.

I didn't think Bill had it in him. It was no easy task since I'm home 24/7 and, up until that night, nobody could get anything passed me. Guess I can't say that anymore!

Of all my 50 years; 30 of which have been joyfully shared with my loving husband, I am learning that you are never too old to learn something new, as I learned with my sly spouse.

In the beginning of this column I wrote that I turned 50 without feeling one bit different. I have to say that I do feel different. Oh, not about being older. No matter how many candles flicker atop a birthday cake, you truly are only as old as you feel.

I feel different in the sense that with each year's chorus of Happy Birthday I have one more year's worth of being grateful for the gift of family and friends who share these memorable times. It all adds up to a meaningful life, 50 candles and all.

And, since I ran out of space, next week I'll share that piece on aging.

It's sure to bring a chuckle or perhaps a nod of recognition.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

The joy truly is in the journey. (Kathy Whirity)

Bredwell to speak at Aglow International meeting

The featured speaker for the Thursday, March 9th meeting of the Oak Lawn Chapter of Aglow International will be Lynn Bredwell, who will instruct members on how to make crafts. The meeting will be held at Mama Luigi's Restaurant, located at 7500 S. Harlem in Bridgeview.

Lynn has been married for 37 years, had 7 children (I passed away) and has 8 grandchildren. With God's help, the Bredwells have been a home-schooled family. She has been a Christian for 23 years and, with the help of the Holy Spirit, is moving into Prophetic Ministry in their church and Prayer Ministry. Lynn's husband is also part of these ministries.

Over time, she has learned many forms of needlework; some were taught by family and friends, some by taking classes, and others were self-taught. She can sew, knit, crochet, smock, needlepoint, cross-stitch and quilt. The Lord pushed Lynn into a new direction, so she is taking a painting class in a big 'leap of faith.'Members are encouraged to bring a friend to have fun learning something new together.

Dinner tickets are $13, available at 6:30 p.m. at the door. Dinner is served at 7 p.m. Reservations are required by March 7th.

Aglow International is an interdenominational organization of renewed Christian women, with over 2.600 fellowships which regularly hold meetings, retreats, and conferences on six continents.

Aglow holds bible studies and publishes leadership training materials, books, and tracts, reaching out to women in prisons and hospitals, teenage girls, with intercessory prayer groups and support groups.

Aglow's mission is to lead women to Jesus Christ and provide an opportunity for Christian women to grow in their faith and minister to others.

Rosypal to present at the Polish Museum America

The Polish Museum oThe Polish Museum of America, located at 984 N. Milwaukee Avenue in Chicago, is pleased to announce the fifth and last presentation in its inaugural "Lecture, Music and More" Series.

The fifth and last presentation will be held on Sunday, April 2nd in the Great Hall of the Polish Museum of America at 2:30 p.m. Kathryn Rosypal, Executive Editor of Narod Polski newspaper and the PMA newsletter, will present a lecture and slide show entitled, "First Permanent Polish Settlement at Panna Maria, Texas." Ms. Rosypal has done extensive research about this colony, written many articles surrounding the subject and personally attended the Sesquicentennial Celebration of Panna Maria, Texas in 2005. Ms. Rosypal's lecture will focus on why the Silesian groups emigrated from Poland in the 1850's, conditions in Texas when the immigrants arrived, what their lives were like during the initial years, the surprising challenges they had to overcome, and will conclude with the Polish immigrants' involvement in the American Civil War.Much of the material presented is taken from immigrants' diaries and letters written to relatives in Poland, in which they described their lives in the New World. Therefore, a realistic insight into the development of Panna Maria and nearby communities will be presented, rather than mere conjecture.

"It is the human interest stories that intrigued me the most," Rosypal said. "The early immigrants were tough, courageous, determined people. Their stories deserve to be told and retold. This is the way we pay honor to their memory."

Slides include both current structures in Panna Maria, Texas and old-time photos of some of the original settlers from the 1800s. The lecture will begin promptly at 2:30 p.m. and light refreshments will be served following the lecture's conclusion. Tickets cost $15 for Museum Members, $20 for non-members and $10 for students.

For more information, please call 773/782-2720, or visit www.prcua.org or www.prcua.pma.org.

Orland to add three-acre park expansion

by Matt Mayer

Orland Park Board of Trustees approved a resolution Feb. 28 at the Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting to match a $300,000 Community Development Block Grant, which has been applied for a three-acre expansion at the Camino Real Park at 15229 El Cameno Terrance. This expansion will be added to the some 500 acres the village now has as parkland. The current park is one half acre with playground equipment for children ages 3 to 5.

If the village receives the grant, the park will undergo a complete renovation, which will include the addition of a 90- by- 250-foot open area, additional play ground equipment, and a wetland style detention pond with a surrounding walking path. The village owned property at 151 St and Ravinia Ave; the former Consolidated Tile building is 10 acres and the slated new police station will require 6 acres of the parcel. The expanded park will differ from the current village parks because 65 percent of it will have prairie plantings. This uniqueness is expected to complement the "green design" of the new police station, which will have a cistern on the roof that will collect water for irrigation, lawn and landscaping. The building will also have 16-foot high windows as well as skylights and other amenities, which will provide natural light and fresh air inside. The new station is slated to open in June 2007 and the park grant decision is expected to be made by June.

Psychic Insights
Questions and Psychic Answers.....
Knowing

Sometimes people just "know" something and cannot explain why they do. It could link with the unknown gifts we are all born with, such as a good "intuition" or having "psychic ability." Whatever it is, the "knowing" seems to come when most needed, especially when it is used to help others, and is appreciated by it's host. Jeannie R said, "when I need information on just about anything, it comes to me." Bill T tells of having something like a day-dream about someone or something and then whatever was in the "dream" comes true. Sara's grandma told her to "listen" to her sixth sense because it always knows what to do [the sixth sense "is" the knowing!]. I recently met a man named Tony who told me that he gets a "lull" in his thinking just before a brainstorm causes him to get an answer to some question that needs an answer. As for me, I just seem to "know" what needs to be solved or the answer to a question. Everything has an aura, a sound of it's own or a solution if it is sought out with a sincere desire. Even colours vibrate answers.

Chicago Ridge approves CDBG resolution

by Matt Mayer

Village consultant Rudy Vissar outlined the Community Development Block Grant request at the Feb. 21 Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. The slated CDBG projects include street reconstruction on 100th St from Sayre to Nottingham; O'Connell Drive from 99th to Sayre Ave; Nottingham from 100th St to O'Connell Drive in the amount of $140,000 as well as another project on 98th St, which will include the water main from Sayre Ave to Nottingham in the amount of $160,000. The village has requested the maximum allowable amount of $300,000, however the village is expected to receive only half. The board approved the resolution and will process the necessary documents.

Village Attorney George Witous was also requested to prepare a request for Brett Baarstrad to request a Class 6(b) Tax classification with the Cook County Assessor's office for one of his buildings located in the industrial park. This classification provides a reduced level of assessment to properties that are used primarily for industrial purposes where the owner has substantially rehabilitated an existing facility or reoccupied an abandoned one. The property receives a 16 % assessment level for the first 10 years, 23% in the eleventh year and 30 % in the 12th year before returning to the full 36% industrial assessment level in the 13th year. This classification however is difficult obtain. The potential buyer is an established cabinet manufacturer and has 14 employees.

The board approved a business license request for Almaz Salon, a beauty salon at 10135 S. Harlem Ave; and 168 Perfect, and a Chinese massage business due to a location change at the mall. A fire department request for Firefighter Ron Klingensmith to attend a mechanical conference in downstate Bloomington, for $741 was also approved as well as an elevator inspection fee increase from $20 to $30. News at the Lincoln Park Zoo

The recently completed My Kind of Zoo campaign has resulted in a beautiful new state-of-the-art animal habitats. Through the continued Animal Fund support, the zoo is able to focus its attention on exciting science and conservation endeavors, such as the impact of avian influenza in the United States.

At the invitation of Dr. Dominic Travis, veterinary epidemiologist at Lincoln Park Zoo, 30 experts from across the country gathered at the zoo to share latest information on avian influenza. Representatives from the US Department of Agriculture, Centers for Disease control, American Zoo and Aquarium Association and several research universities are collaborating on this issue.

Dr. Travis leads the national vanguard to solidify a plan in which then country's 210 accredited zoos will monitor for signs of avian flu. The research provides much-needed information to maintain health of zoo animals and also to learn more about avian flu and protect humans.

An annual fund has been founded to support the work. Call Kimberly at 312-742-0505, the Director of Annual Giving at the zoo if you are interested in this cause.

by Matt Mayer

An annual resolution request was approved at the March 6, Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting for the maintenance of streets and highways by municipality under the Illinois Highway Code. Village Engineer Tim Klass said the village intends to use the motor fuel tax for this project.

A request from a zoning board of appeals meeting held on Jan. 10, for rezoning and setback variances for property at 9336 S. Clifton Park was also approved. Mayor James Sexton said that the 75 by 125 foot parcel is acceptable to be subdivided into two lots under the village code. Western Ave; Barrister Mortgage, an office at 3574 W. 95th St; Sylvan Learning Center at 3158 W. 95th St; Kirby Vacuum Sales and Service, at 3345 W. 95th St; James O' Sullivan a junker's license; and Sabores Mexicanos fast food restaurant at the Plaza. Recycling director Gail Morales reported that yard waste pick up begins the week of March 13, and spring tree sales began March 3.

Measures to curtail crime at Oak Lawn bowling alley

by Matt Mayer

Oak Lawn Mayor Dave Heilmann said at the March 14, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting that the Brunswick Zone at 103rd and Cicero has agreed per a village request to curtail operations by two hours and close at 12 a.m. for a 60 day trial period. During the last several board meetings, residents complained about crime occurring at the bowling alley parking lot after the bowlers went home. The crimes seem to stem from the bar remaining open to 2 p.m. Residents also reported that perpetrators were parked in cars at the Star Bucks parking lot across the street waiting for someone to strike.

Trustee Tom Phalen (D-6) at the March 1, board meeting read an analysis of a recent report compiled by the police department. There were 309 incidents within a two-year period with the frequency of incidents increasing enormously this year. "There were 47 incidents in the first 46-day's of 2006, fractionally more than one per day", Phelan said. In a Feb.12 brawl with police, it took five police officers and a bowling alley security officer to stop the scuffle. One of the assailants allegedly reached for an officer's gun, attempting to remove it from the holster and one police officer was injured in the altercation.

Brunswick Zone outlined other measures in an effort to curtail incidents such as adding four additional security guards on Saturday nights and three additional guards on Friday nights, leaving the area illuminated as well as changing the type of music. Another incident occurred during broad daylight, where an elderly woman was loading parcels into the trunk of her car at the Jewel parking lot next door. The assailant struggled with the woman to get her purse and also punched her several times. Luckily a man had seen this and came to the rescue of the woman. He fought the perpetrator off and later the perpetrator was located by the police and arrested. The man that came to the woman's rescue received a police commendation award at a prior board meeting and a kiss on the cheek from the victim. Heilmann said that the board would reevaluate the Brunswick Zone matter after the 60 days trial periods concludes and evaluate the outcome. Perhaps this may be best summed up with one word "caution". The next meeting is March 28.

Brosnahan measure on charity moves forward

Jim Brosnahan (D-Evergreen Park) indicated legislation passed through the Illinois House Judiciary Committee on Civil Law requiring all charity contribution collection agents to report their transactions in an effort to reduce questionable practices by third-party companies.

Brosnahan stated, "It is wrong for a third-party contractor hired to collect donations to take an exorbitant amount of the donation and profit from it. This legislation curbs such pitiful practices." House Bill 4315 requires the third-party agent to report details of every transaction to the Attorney General's office as a means to ensure fair and accurate dealings.

It also requires them to register as professional fund-raisers or solicitors. The measure also prohibits anyone who has been convicted of a felony involving monetary matters from registering as a fundraiser. House Bill 4315 now moves on to the full House of Representatives for consideration. For more information call the Brosnahan's constituent service office at 708-499-2810.

Lipinski's hospital price reporting bill to be considered

WASHINGTON, DC - U.S. Congressman Dan Lipinski (D-IL) announce that he will testify at a hearing of the Health Subcommittee of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, regarding his Hospital Price Reporting and Disclosure Act. This bill would require hospitals to provide clear, concise information about what they charge for common procedures and medications. The hearing was scheduled for Wednesday, March 15, 2006, at 10:00 a.m. in 2123 Rayburn House Office Building, and is entitled "What's The Cost? Proposals to Provide Consumers With Better Information About Healthcare Service Costs."

Last July, Lipinski and Congressman Bob Inglis (R-SC) introduced H.R. 3139, the Hospital Price Reporting and Disclosure Act, which would require hospitals to regularly report to the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) the amount they charge for the twenty-five most commonly performed inpatient procedures, the twenty-five most common outpatient procedures, and the fifty most frequently administered medications. HHS would then post this information on the Internet for easy access. Senators Richard Durbin (D-IL), Jim DeMint (R-SC), and John Cornyn (R-TX) introduced a companion bill in the Senate, S. 1827.

"We all want more information available when making health care decisions for ourselves and our families," said Lipinski. "This is especially crucial to the 46 million uninsured Americans. While we work to get coverage for these individuals, we should give them information that will help in their health care choices. We expect to have price information for every other purchase that we make, why shouldn't we have the same when it comes to health care? I look forward to the opportunity to discuss this common-sense, bipartisan bill at the hearing."

Senator Collins legislation promotes financial literacy

State Senator Jacqueline Y. Collins (D-Chicago) legislation promotes financial literacy in schools. The legislation passed out of the Senate Education Committee. It will cover a broad range of topics to help students garner financial skills they can use in the future. Basic issues covered in finance will include information on opening deposit accounts, balancing checkbooks, completing loan applications and computing income taxes.

Issues a factor today included are credit card debt, principals of personal insurance policies, savings and investing principals, and state and federal laws concerning finance.

Senator Collins said, "Education is the key in prevention. We recently had hearings on problems associated with mortgage fraud and through education the children we can effectively solve many problems such as these before they start."

Very disturbing news to me is when I hear of a family in this day and age going hungry. Can you fathom anyone going hungry other then the people on the street? Do you know that it could be a neighbor right on your own block that could be hungry due to an unknown circumstance. We all know that there is no intervention that can take place unless one family member will seek out for the help that is needed. How much need can be assessed by a pastor, commnity or organization if there is resistance.

Recently in a newspaper there was a family in need and a benefactor provided for the family with a donation. This was a great act of kindness and hopefully there are more people doing this very thing for one another.

If by chance, you know of someone in need of food, clothing, toiletries, contact the churches within and sometime outside of your community. There is help also available at a Crisis Center for abused women and children.

In the city of Chicago, there are many homeless shelters, food pantries, clinics, etc. The problem of need out ways the support.

About seven years ago in the Englewood neighborhood at 59th and Green Street, a Nigerian and Nirobi person asked if Village View could help their homeless shelter with a supply of books furniture, computers and office supplies. They even took out an ad for additional requests.

The readers were so generous that within a year their needs disappeared, it was temporary. Food and money was not what they wanted for their shelter, they wanted the homeless to be able to work and share their money as a community. The Africans that helped in that program, knew what they wanted and how to succeed in helping the homeless in Englewood.

There are shelters on the Westside of Chicago that are in desperate need of building repairs.

People can volunteer right here in their own city other than going to New Orleans, Mississippi and or the Southern States. Do not forget to take care of your own. Once we have helped our own family, we can broaden our scope to other villages, other cities and other tribes.

Remember Mother's House 321 N. Mason, Chicago IL 60644, 773-287-8393 or 904 N. St. Louis, Chicago, IL 60651, 773-252-5360. Ask them what their needs are? Their mission statement is "We help mothers to rebuild and restore their individual and family life."

The wait is over for "Evolving Planet"

by Marijo Doody

It has been reported the new exhibit at the Field Museum as a permanent exhibit was 4 billion years in the making. "Evolving Planet" which recently opened, takes people back before the earth could sustain life. The exhibit is so big that it takes more than one time to see it all. A highlight is a 3-D animated view of underwater life 500 million years ago.

The exhibit is divided into six sections reflecting the mass extinction's in Earth's history. One can see what died and why it happened. Even fossils from around the Chicago are here and they date 420 million years ago. Most of Chicago was underwater 340 million years ago.

Richard Kissel is the Field Museum's paleontologist, the exhibit's specialist. A diorama gives patrons an idea what an area looked like during ancient times indicated Kissel.

In the new Genius Hall of Dinosaurs is the earliest known dinosaur fossils, the herrarasaurus. Its bones are on display, next to a model as to what the creature may have looked like. You remember when we got T-rex "Sue"! In Bowman, ND, the folks at the museum were still sore that Chicago got her!

In the hall new windows were installed to give more natural lighting. One of the fossils is a cousin of "Sue" and seemed to be having lunch of another fossil. The concluding exhibit is Homo Sapiens! It is that group reportedly that is responsible for the most devastating of mass extinction. . Kissel indicated, " by conservative estimates we're loosing one species every fifteen minutes and we don't have a handle on what species are out there yet or what is on the brink of extinction."

"Evolving Planet" is included with the general admission to the Field Museum, $12 adults, $7 students, seniors, and children. The museum is open daily 9am to 5pm.

Our spring and garden issue is April 4th. Remember this is also our Easter Issue.

Something old, Something new

Dear Brides to Be:

After your honeymoon upon returning home, be sure to be carried over the threshold of your new home. This guaranties good luck in the marriage as it's been believed since nearly two thousand years ago in Roman times.

Upon returning home, Roman fathers paid tribute to the hearth. A Roman bride was brought in front of the hearth in her new home. This was to help make part of her husband's family. Husbands carried their brides so they would not trip or fall so that there would be no bad luck in the marriage and deposited her in front of the hearth.

I want your wedding to be perfect. A heart that loves bonds. Best Wishes!

Collection of Cells

Sharyn says, "Jacki can your psychic ability tell when life in the womb begins? My boyfriend insists that what I am carrying in my body is no more than a 'collection of cells.' My doctor told me I am 'with child' and I am now faced with what I should believe? I am only 17 years old without parents or anyone to help guide me. I live on my own and I waitress for a living. My birthday is June 19." Sharyn, my insight and guides tell me that life begins the very moment of conception as the beginning of life. You are a Gemini, ruled by Mercury, let's say this is the name of the vehicle you use to get around in [your body] but the driver of this vehicle is Leo, ruled by the Sun or #19. Your birthday comes up twice a day on the clock when you receive Universal Energy to keep you alive. This happens at 19 minutes after 6 in the AM and again in the PM. And for everyone, the month you were born in represents the hour and the day is the minutes on the clock. Sharyn, talk to a clergy person.

History Grinds Away

"Ah, there's the trouble with history. You can only read it after it has been written. We don't even know the title. There are no sneak previews, advance releases, no outlines or summaries."

www.dailyreckoning.com

Well, another week has passed away. What history was made?

First, the U.S. current account hit a new record. American economists brushed it aside, but it is a warning of more history to come.

Neither a person, nor an economy, nor even an empire can spend more than it makes forever.

But what history are we talking about? An epic on the U.S. economy such as: American Wealth: Gone with the Wind? Or, a sentimental narrative of Ben Bernanke's role: Catcher at the Fed? Ah, there's the trouble with history. You can only read it after it has been written. We don't even know the title. There are no sneak previews, advance releases, no outlines or summaries. When we write a book, everyone knows months in advance what it will say. The publisher has the gist of it in his hands even before we begin writing. And then, when the manuscript is completed, we send it around to friends and colleagues to see how they react to it. If they are not too appalled, we send the thing to press.

Not so history. No mortal eyes see it until after the fact, until after it has happened, until after the damage has been sustained. Until then, we just guess and whisper to one another with nothing more to go on than what history has written before. Is this war in Iraq going to be like Britain's war in Iraq of the 1920s? Or like France's war in Algeria of the 1950s? Will the next bear market on Wall Street be like the bear market of 2000-2001 or the bear market of 1966-1982? Yes, like Jacqueline Suzanne or Tom Clancy, history has her favorite plots, her habitual characters, her familiar twists and turns. But, she has to keep us guessing too or we will stop reading.

How will the current account story play out? We look at history's previous works and we find little to help us. Usually, it is a ThirdWorld banana republic that runs deficits of this magnitude not an empire that has gone bananas. When the deficits reach 5% of GDP, the world's investors typically won't stand for it. They sell off the nation's currency and its bonds and vow never to go near the country again, not even for a holiday.

Meanwhile, in the homeland, things turn nasty. In Argentina, for example, the middle class was practically wiped out in the last chapter of that South American classic, Greenspan of the Pampas. The rich had their money in Miami - in dollars. The poor had nothing to lose, but those who trusted the government, its money, and its promises, were cleaned out.

But what's this? Since 2001, the Argentine Peso has risen 7% against the dollar. How's that for a plot twist? Now, whose money is in danger? The American middle class's money, no? The U.S. is running a current account deficit of 7% of GDP - and rising. If we could tell anything from reading history's other financial farces, we would guess that what awaits the U.S. dollar is inflation and then hyperinflation. The Bank of Ben Bernanke is in favor of it. U.S. consumers - deep in debt - desperately need it. So does the U.S. government, also deep in debt. And all over the world, central bankers are doing their level best to create it.

No one wants a rising currency.

That does not mean they won't get it. For here is the dramatic tension in this story: while everyone wants inflation, other factors are working against it. China, India, the Internet, globalization, and Wal-Mart - all are pushing prices down, not up. And we wonder, too, if history would write a story with such an ambiguous moral lesson. Millions of middle-class debtors have borrowed money, confident that they will never have to pay it back. The Bank of Ben Bernanke will make sure of that, they told themselves when they stuck their hands out. The fed chairman has gone on record saying that he would drop money from helicopters, if necessary, in order to make sure that a 2006 dollar will be worth more than a 2007 dollar, which will be worth more than a 2008 dollar.

Yes, that is another illustration of how history grinds away. The dollar was once stable and solid and the Fed was set up to make sure it stayed that way. Instead, the Fed gradually destroys the dollar and provides speculators with an opportunity. Now, they can anticipate the Fed's game and play their own. They can borrow more than they should, knowing that the money they pay back will be worth less than it should. They can join the Fed in cheating the savers and lenders (who, of course, have their own little hustles going). But, will history really let America's borrowers off the hook? What kind of morality tale would it be if the all these gamers, opportunists, and chiselers got what they expected, rather than what they deserved?

We don't know, but in today's news we read that inflation is under control, which will mean an early end to the Fed's tightening cycle. Investors are getting excited about that, says an analyst quoted in the International Herald Tribune. They might be less excited, and more worried, if they could read the next chapter.

KATHY'S KALEIDOSCOPE

By: Kathy Whirity
kathywhirity@yahoo.com

Well, I think we all agree that age is just a number. Keeping that in mind, here, as promised, are the over the hill revelations sure to bring a smile or at least a nod of recognition. Thank you Marie for sending this my way and for making me smile!

MID-LIFE MUSINGS OF A FEMALE MIND

Mid-life is when the growth of hair on our legs slows down. It gives us plenty of time to care for our newly acquired mustache.

In mid-life women no longer have upper arms; we have wing spans.

We are no longer women in sleeveless shirts; we are flying squirrels in drag.

Mid-life is when you can stand naked in front of a mirror and you can see your rear without turning around.

Mid-life is when you go for a mammogram and you realize that this is the only time someone will ask to see you topless.

Mid-life is when you want to grab every firm young lovely in a tube top and scream, "Listen honey, even the Roman empire fell and those will too."

Mid-life brings wisdom to know that life throws us curves and we're sitting on the biggest ones.

Mid-life is when you look at your know-it-all, ell phone, beeper wearing teenager and think: "For this I have stretch marks?"

In mid-life memory starts to go. In fact the only thing we can retain is water.

Mid-life means that your Body By Jake now includes Legs By McNally - more red and blue lines than an accurately scaled map of Wisconsin.

Mid-life means that you become more reflective. You start pondering the big question. What is life? Why am I here? How much Healthy Choice ice cream can I eat before it's no longer a healthy choice?

But mid-life also brings with it an appreciation for what is important. We realize that breasts sag, hips expand and chins double - but our loved ones make the journey worthwhile. I, for one, wouldn't trade the knowledge I have now for the body I had back then. Maybe our bodies simply have to expand to hold all the wisdom and love we've acquired. Now that's a good philosophy to live by.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

May the wealth of wisdom that we've accrued across the miles of maturity shine brightly on these senior years.

Longtime athletic director retires

Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School regretfully announces the retirement of Nancy Pedersen, athletic director, effective June 30, 2006.

In her 23 years of dedicated service to McAuley, Pedersen has built an exceptional athletic program featuring 10 interscholastic sports teams employing more than 30 coaches. Pedersen began her career at McAuley in 1983 as a physical education teacher and head volleyball and softball coach.

She was promoted to Athletic Director in 1994. During her tenure she has led McAuley to nine volleyball state championships, revived the water polo program and established the golf program. She has been named National Volleyball Coach of the Year (1998) and Athletic Director of the Year (1999). Pedersen has been inducted into the GCAC Hall of Fame (2002) and the Chicagoland Hall of Fame (2004). In addition, Pedersen helped found the nationally recognized Nike Volleyball Challenge, McAuley Preview, and she was instrumental in securing funds for the complete renovation of McAuley's softball and soccer fields. Pedersen has been very committed to her career but is now looking forward to the freedom of retirement, saying: "For the past 33 years, education and athletics have consumed my life at McAuley and in Wisconsin.

I have always enjoyed my work, and I look forward to taking a step back and watching some of the athletes I have coached and coaches I have mentored take over and flourish. I thank McAuley for providing me with this wonderful opportunity. I hope to keep in touch with all the magnificent people I have been associated with throughout the years. I may even have time for a lunch or a dinner date!" McAuley is delighted to announce that Pedersen has agreed to serve as transitional consultant to the incoming Athletic Director, to manage the summer programs, and to assist with the Sophomore Junior Varsity Classic, the McAuley Preview, and the Nike Volleyball Challenge Tournament.

A search for a new Athletic Director will begin immediately. Sister Rose Wiorek, R.S.M., president/principal of Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School, said of Pedersen: "Nancy has been a strong and central contributor in building Mother McAuley's excellent athletic programs over these many years.

We are very, very grateful to her and for her. Her tremendous dedication, commitment and love of McAuley and our students has been constant and visible. Nancy's leave taking is a true loss, but I am very happy that she will be able to spend more time with her husband and sons who are so dear to her heart. I am also very grateful that she will be available for a few months to assist the new athletic director and to help insure a seamless transfer of the athletic program leadership."

The two-day celebration began on Saturday evening with an Art Exhibit and Auction featuring student, alumnae and faculty pieces. Other highlights of the evening included a Piano Bar with faculty and alumnae performances, Catherine's Garden, and a Memorabilia Center. Moraine Valley seeking adult tutors to teach reading and writing

Almost 4 million Illinois residents lack the literacy skills needed to comprehend a newspaper article, write a check, complete a job application, or read a product's warning label. Moraine Valley's Literacy Program is helping to curb this problem by recruiting volunteers to tutor adult community residents who read or write below the ninth grade level.

Tutors will commit to teaching basic reading and writing skills to an assigned student for two hours each week for one year. Regular meeting days and times are decided between the tutor and the student. The Literacy Program offers tutoring at local libraries, churches, community centers, and on the college campus, so tutors can choose a location close to their work or home.

Volunteers should be high school graduates over the age of 18. Teaching experience is not required because all volunteers will receive 18 hours of mandatory training during four workshops. The next training session is scheduled for mid- to late-April.

As a member of the Literacy Volunteers of Illinois, Moraine Valley's Literacy Program has been promoting functional literacy for adult residents since 1985. It is free to the 100 students it serves every year.

To volunteer or for more information about Moraine Valley's Literacy Program, call Megan Hughes, literacy coordinator, at (708) 975-5331 before April 1.

For news media inquiries, call Jessica Crotty, College and Community Relations coordinator, at (708) 974-5281, or e-mail her at crotty@morainevalley.edu.

The annual debt service is projected to be approximately $965,000 a year. Collection of Cells

Sharyn says, "Jacki can your psychic ability tell when life in the womb begins? My boyfriend insists that what I am carrying in my body is no more than a 'collection of cells.' My doctor told me I am 'with child' and I am now faced with what I should believe? I am only 17 years old without parents or anyone to help guide me. I live on my own and I waitress for a living. My birthday is June 19." Sharyn, my insight and guides tell me that life begins the very moment of conception as the beginning of life. You are a Gemini, ruled by Mercury, let's say this is the name of the vehicle you use to get around in [your body] but the driver of this vehicle is Leo, ruled by the Sun or #19. Spring Training Begins at the Chicago Botanic Garden

With Antiques & Garden Fair "Spring Opener," Garden Walks, Hit Events and More

GLENCOE, Ill. (March 20, 2006) - Step up to the plate, get in the swing of spring and pick up tips for shaping up your garden. The Chicago Botanic Garden is where garden and nature fans go for "spring training."

Hundreds of thousands of flowering bulbs in 23 display gardens and three natural habitats show off vibrant colors and send forth delicate scents. Warm up with a walk through McDonald Woods – a diverse oak woodland community inhabited by native wildflowers, birds and butterflies. Hit the Esplanade and Crescent Garden in its first spring, where bulbs transition in waves of color down to the water, or advance through hot-colored tulips in the Betty Brown Meadow near the English-Walled Garden. The Gardens of the Great Basin — another year older and looking better than ever – are another home run. On deck at the Heritage Garden are new English troughs with a riotous display of spring annuals and tulips. The cure for "spring fever" is at the Chicago Botanic Garden.

Grand Slam Events

Even Mother Nature wouldn't miss the Garden's spring opener – the Antiques & Garden Fair. The Midwest's largest gathering of antiques and specialty new products under one roof takes place from Friday, April 21 through Sunday, April 23. A preview evening, featuring continental cuisine, exquisite indoor gardens and treasures for the home and garden, is Thursday, April 20.

More than 100 of the finest and most exciting exhibitors from the United States and Europe display an array of magnificent garden statuary, ornament and furnishings, fountains, architectural artifacts and botanical art. Throughout the high-peaked white pavilion are 10 spectacular interior gardens — from the most traditional lily ponds to contemporary and colorful creations – all designed around the theme of water. Large classical fountains, reflecting pools, ponds and water walls are adorned with antique jars, yew hedges, aquatic plants, ferns and flowers.

World-renowned interior designer Bunny Williams shares how she and her husband, antiques dealer John Rosselli, have transformed a well-worn 18-century New England manor house into a weekend retreat for family and friends. Williams' lecture and booksigning is at Ravinia Festival's Bennett-Gordon Hall at 10 a.m. on Friday, April 21 (event fee applies). She also signs books at the fair at 1:30 p.m. on Friday. Exhibitors and experts lead free "booth talks/walks" on a variety of topics at 1:30 p.m. on Friday and at 11 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Antiques & Garden Fair hours are from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. Sunday hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A close-of-fair plant sale begins at 5:30 p.m. For information on tickets and parking, call (1-847) 835-8326, or visit the Garden's Web site at www.ohwow.org.

More than 30,000 annuals, ferns, fruits and vegetables, geraniums, herbs, native wildflowers, ornamental grasses, perennials, roses, shade perennials, shrubs and vines are for sale at the 40th annual "A Bloomin' Sale," sponsored by the Woman's Board of the Chicago Horticultural Society. This year's theme is "Hot Picks," highlighting exciting new plants (identified by a hot pink logo) and hot trends for the garden this season. An athletic trainer will demonstrate exercises to get gardeners in shape. The sale is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 20 and 21. Special members-only sale hours are from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, May 19, and from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 20. "A Bloomin' Sale" catalog will be available online in April. Visitors of all ages delight in the sights and sounds of G-scale (for "garden") trains traversing bridges and trestles, detailed scenes of America's best-loved landmarks and beautiful gardens planted in miniature. A perennial favorite, Wrigley Field features a sing-along with Harry Caray and miniature bleachers, fans and ivy wall. The 7,500 square foot exhibit is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, with special hours until 8 p.m. daily from Monday, June 5 through Sept. 4. Event fee applies.

Developer to rehab Chicago Ridge apartment building

by Matt Mayer

A developer outlined an apartment condominium conversion plan at the committee meeting prior to the March 7, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. The developer has a contract to purchase and completely rehabilitate a 144-unit apartment complex at 10500 S. Brooks Lane. The building owner was cited with 11 counts of criminal housing in December; the owner was also ordered to repair the hundreds of code violations, which the police department has cited over the years. The developer plans on repairing all code violations and will gut the entire complex. All roofs will be replaced as well as new windows, doors, furnaces and air-conditioners. The developer also plans to make a memorial out of the garbage and dirt-filled swimming pool where a child drown in 2004. The units will range in price from $100,000 to $150,000.

The board approved a business license for Avertacard Illinois, an advertising business at the mall. A business license for Nickobees Restaurant, which will relocate in the former Patsby Restaurant at 107th and Southwest Highway, was also approved as well as a Class D liquor license. A resolution for a 6 (B) tax classification for one of the buildings located in the industrial park was also approved. This classification provides a reduced level of assessment to properties that are used primarily for industrial purposes where the owner has substantially rehabilitated an existing facility or occupied an abandoned one. The property receives a 16% assessment level for the first 10 years, 23% in the eleventh year and 30% in the 12th year before returning to the full 36% industrial assessment level in the 13th year. This classification however is difficult to obtain, the potential buyer is an established cabinet manufacturer with approximately 14 employees. The week of March 30 was proclaimed Municipal Clerks Week.

Oak Lawn may discard Waste Management

by Matt Mayer

Trustee Bob Streit made a motion at the March 28 Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting to authorize the village manager, Gus Sundermeier, to reject bids and made a motion to authorize Sundermeier to negotiate a contract with Onyx Waste Midwest, Inc. commencing on April 1 for refuse, recyclables, landscape waste collection and disposal. A motion was also approved for this item to be opened for discussion.

Streit said that the Sundermeier has located a contractor that is willing and capable to provide the services at a savings of over $162,000 the first year and over $416,000 over three years. This sparked contentious discussions among board members, peppered with questions and jeers from the crowd. The debate became ever more heated when sparring between Trustees Jerry Hurckes and Bob Streit began after Hurckes said, " he would like to see side-by-side comparables - such as transfer stations, trucks and fills. I haven't heard of them until 5 p.m. today," Hurckes said. "And questioned how this company could obtain the trucks and personnel by Monday."

"Maybe you have prior knowledge that I don't have and had time to research this, we're also looking at a $9 billion dollar contract and I think we should go out and rebid this", Hurckes said. "Streit shot back by saying no-bid contracts with Waste Management services were not a problem with Hurckes and the previous board in which Streit was among. Streit also said, " there initially was a request by Sundermeier to provide an extension so we could go through a more comprehensive process." "Waste Management originally said that they would extend service and then they withdrew that offer and told us we had to make a decision by today - or they would stop service on Friday," Streit said.

"Waste Management also said that Sundermeier was advised that if the contract wasn't approved tonight they would be referring this matter to their Legal Department. Now I'm not sure that's how you treat a community that's had your service for at least 30 years", Streit said.

On February 23 the Director of Public Works and Quality Control Lynn Krauss submitted a recommendation to Sundermeier for the board to award the contract to the lowest bidder. Out of the three bids received and publicly opened by the village clerk on Feb 21, Waste Management of Alsip was the lowest at $16.75 per month. Then in the eleventh hour, Sundermeier located Onyx. Upon this item becoming well overcooked, the board took a 30-day general consensus vote to allow Sundermeier time to research this further and present a contract to the board for approval.

Onyx currently provides solid waste and recycling services to the following municipalities Batavia, Deerfield, Golf, Hainesville, Highland Park, H wood, Millcreek, North Chicago, Northbrook, Round Lake Park, St. Charles, Streamwood, Vernon Hills, Waukegan, Wilmette, Winnetka, Winthrop Harbor and Zion. Onyx operates four solid waste collection operations; four transfer stations, and two landfills. Two municipal solid waste land fills are located in Orchard Hills and Zion, both of which accept special waste and asbestos waste materials. Onyx also operates four solid waste transfer stations located in Evanston, Melrose Park, Northbrook and Rolling Meadows. Onyx has aspirations of expanding their services to the Southland. The meeting adjourned at 9:45. The next meeting is April 11.

Senator Maloney Honored

Senator Edward D. Maloney of Chicago was presented with the Illinois Association of Park Districts' (IAPD) "2005 Outstanding Legislator of the Year Award" at the organization's annual conference on January 27th in Chicago.

Senator Maloney was nominated for the award by his constituent park districts and the IAPD Board of Trustees.

"The association's legislative successes in 2005 would not have been possible without his leadership," said Dr. Ted Flickinger, IAPD's President and Chief Executive Officer. "We are grateful for his support of park districts and recreation opportunities for the citizens of Illinois."

Senator Maloney earned this honor for his support of legislation benefiting park districts and the people they serve. Senator Maloney has been a strong supporter of funding recreational opportunities for the disabled and has fought for continued funding for the Open Space Land Acquisition and Development program.

The "2005 Outstanding Legislator of the Year Award" was presented at IAPD's annual conference, attended by more than 4,200 park and recreation elected officials and professionals at the Hilton Chicago.

IAPD is a nonprofit service, research and educational organization established to advance park districts, forest preserves, conservation and recreation agencies in their ability to preserve natural resources and improve the quality of life for all people in Illinois.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I have recently become aware that there is a movement afoot in Palos Hills which I find rather alarming. A referendum will appear on the ballot in the March primary election that calls for the reduction by half of the City Council. Taken at face value, this may not seem to be a bad idea. Upon reflection on the implications of such an event, however, it would seem to be a very bad idea, indeed.

At present, there are five wards in Palos Hills, each represented by two aldermen. Since the position of alderman is a part-time one - nearly all of them have a day job - it is difficult to imagine that any one alderman could do a job that currently requites the time and expertise of two aldermen.

Even more disturbing is the idea of a narrower perspective on the City Council. While the ten members of the current City Council do not always agree on every issue, they manage, through civilized debate, to reach a consensus, and there are enough of them to bring a broad perspective to the issue in question. Were there only five aldermen, the perspective, in my opinion, would be too narrow.

In addition, people do get sick, go on vacation, or have family emergencies that require them to be absent. Were this to happen, no doubt, many City Council meetings would have to be canceled, often at the last minute, for want of a quorum. Even if there were a quorum, I find it alarming that three people would be regarded as being enough to make important decisions that would affect us all.

Finally, I am disappointed that Mayor Bennett and the current members of the City Council do not appear to be taking this matter seriously enough to educate the residents of Palos Hills about the implications of cutting the City Council in half. If the referendum were to pass, it could spell disaster for the functioning of our local government and, as a result, for the residents of Palos Hills.

"If there are Light Angels and Dark Angels, then there must be no 'In-between' Angels. This seems to be telling us that we are either good or we are bad people who'll lean to the Light or the Dark angels for help or guidance. We obviously have a choice, right? I ask this because, simply put, I see so much hatefulness, corruption and greed that I can't seem to become optimistic over anything anymore. Please forgive me if I sound like a negative person but I think about such things a lot. I am seeking someone who can help me to deal with this life I came into. Can you offer a little light to someone caught up in darkness?" Janetta Lee.
My answer: You cannot change people, the world, or a mind that is made up to either be or do evil [things]. But, you can do what is right for yourself and those you come in contact with. Inspire others to be kinder, gentler, smarter, healthier and happier, as well as turning back to their Creator. Give past guilt and anger the boot or, they'll control you.

A View from the judge's chair

by Marijo Doody

The technological replacement for "chads" needs a lot of work as we experienced in the recent primary elections. The touch-screen machine in the precinct that I was assigned to be an election judge did not work for the first four (4) hours of election time. By around 4pm and after numerous calls and various persons looking at the machine it worked!

Our concern was that after the close, the card scanner would be able to merge results from both the optical-scanner and the touch-screen. With the paper ballots fed into the optical-scan machine, many were rejected because of frayed edges and in some cases the override allowed the ballots to be counted.

After closing the poll, the absentee ballots processed did not go through the scanner due to frayed edges, and had to be redone with two judges and then processed. Then the fun and waiting came! Five (5) tapes were supposed to be printed! We got one (1) tape and then waited. We did not get another printed tape after a wait of three hours. At least we did not run out of tape as some polling places did as we heard later in the evening.

After 3-1/2 hours after the poll closed, the technical and supply judges left with the blue bag, scanner and card machine along with other documents to the regional headquarters to turn in materials. This was after 10pm and lines were long and other judges indicated it would be a 45- minute wait for processing.

We heard horror stories from other veteran judges on maybe that they should bring back the "chads" and use the non-electronic voting. It was a mess!

At precinct 54, (2) Two State's Attorney visited us and there were no irregularities. We had close to a 30% turnout with 25% using the touch-screen and the remainder paper ballots and scanner. About 10% of the voters came in the handicapped entrance as in the dark they could not see the other entrance sign.

Voters came to exercise their right as an American to vote! Fellow citizens were patient in waiting and in learning how to use the touch-screen, when it worked, with a judge's instructions. The majority favored paper ballots, however they were bulky and maybe could have been two pages.

We heard from other judges in polling places that voters could not get in as some doors locked from the inside and I wonder how many did not vote because of this as they did not want to wait!

Fellow judges, Diane, Colette and Jackie need to be commended for their diligence in applying themselves to the task. It was a long day from 5am to after 11pm when we arrived home. Our hope is they get rid of all the bugs in the electronic system for the next election. Perhaps there will be some economic ramifications in the County seat with funding from the numerous malfunctioning machines.

With the anticipation of a larger turnout for the November election, there should be more training for judges; additional judges and some have advocated higher pay for the judges.

Caring Americans are a political force to be reckoned with and not to be ignored. We need to take a stand on what and on whom we believe. God Bless the USA!

SUNDAY AT MOM'S

by Kathy Whirity

One thing I could always count on was Sunday dinners at Mom's. That was the day our family got together, feasted on a big meal of turkey, or some variety of roast, and afterward we'd play a few games of cards. It was my mother's favorite thing to do.

When Mom became a grandmother all the cousins played downstairs together while we adults enjoyed each other's company.

Today, as I put a turkey in the oven I thought about those days gone by, at my mother's house on Sundays.

It seems as though my family get togethers these days are becoming few and far between. The girls, with their busy schedules, don't have much free time.

Lately we see them long enough for them to catch up on their laundry and then they're off - working, running erands or hanging out with their friends.

I gave them fair notice that I was fixing a turkey today and soon they'll be here for dinner.

I thought coming to terms with our daughter's upcoming wedding would slowly ease us into our new role as empty nesters. Then the youngest informed us that she'll be moving out; into her own apartment. Up north is where it's at for the twenty something set, so with first month's rent and security deposit paid, she'll be moving away from home at the end of the month.

The expression, 'When It Rains It Pours,' is showering my senses with a new reality that is accousting my essence of motherhood.

Just like that, the house that use to boast a revolving door will now slam quietly shut.

I guess if I tried really hard I'd find reasons to celebrate this newfound independence. There will be more dinners for two and less time clearing up the mysterious clutter that nobody makes.

I tell myself that now can be the opportunity to 'find' myself again - to do some of the things I put on hold to raise my kids.

Bill and I can plan mini trips; sight-seeing our way through the senior years.

As enticing as all this sounds I can't help but enter this new phase of life with just a tinge of trepidation.

Sure it will be nice to have some extra closet pace, though I'll miss my daughter taking up space on my bed as we engaged in late night chats.

Today as I set the table and check on the turkey I'm thinking of my mother and wondering if this is how she felt as her own nest emptied out.

My daughters are moving out into lives of their own. But I hope they will find the same comfort in the familiar routine of coming home for dinner as I did many years ago. Today, as I find myself walking in step with my mother, I now know how she felt.

I also know why it was so important to reserve a special day of togetherness while welcoming all the new beginnings that may await me. I'm looking forward to the future when good times will be shared on Sundays at mom's.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

Motherhood — If it was going to be easy it never would have started with something called labor! (author unknown.)

Maloney's Emeralds Park follow-up bill creates a review process

A bill sponsored by State Senator Edward D. Maloney (D-Chicago) that extends the process for screening sex offenders and other violent offenders before they are able to reside in nursing homes or long term care facilities has passes the Illinois Senate.

The legislation also creates a review process for evaluating the individual's criminal history, so that the Department of Health can analyze the nature and extent of the risk, if any presented by the person in question.

Maloney said; "when we created the review process a year ago following the incident in Evergreen Park, we did it because it made sense that you should screen potential residents, before they became residents in order to prevent a situation before it occurs and that bill had a sunset date of 2006"." This bill extends that system indefinitely and provides a review process for evaluating risk. I urge the government to sign it without delay."

Maloney continues, " this is all about finding an appropriate and proportional response, if the resident is 80 years old and stole a car, as a teenager, but does not have any other offense on his record to speak of, then that would be treated in a different manner than a resident who has a history of violence.. In that case, steps would be taken to find a more suitable venue for their care." The bill now goes to the governor to be signed into law.

American Cancer Society letter to editor

Dear editor,

The American Cancer Society congratulates the cook County Board of Commissioners for passing 100% comprehensive smoke-free ordinance that will save lives. While the delayed implementation plan is unfortunate, the content of the ordinance builds on the momentum across the state, the US and the world to embrace smoke-free air and help innocent victims avoid deadly diseases caused by tobacco use.

The American Cancer Society stands ready to assist any municipality that seeks to adopt comprehensive smoke-free policies. We commend the owners of many restaurants, bars and other institutions that aren't waiting for laws; they're adopting smoke-free policies because it is the right thing to do to protect their workers and patrons from hazardous toxins contained in secondhand smoke.

As the leading cancer-fighting organization in Illinois and the nation, the American cancer society remains relentless in our mission to save lives, prevent cancer, and diminish suffering from cancer. We appreciate the commitment by the Cook County commissioners to do just that.

Emilo Barrera, MD., President, American Cancer Society's Illinois Division.

Ed note: The Cook County Board passed the resolution March 15, 2006 and it will go into effect in one year and will exclude municipalities that already have enacted smoking restrictions, including Chicago, Evanston, Skokie, Wilmette, Arlington Heights, Oak Park and Orland Park. What about other towns!

In Trinity's unique program, instructors focus on the importance of having fun while developing self-respect and confidence in their students. The by product of Trinity's approach has been a wealth of success for the school, both in competitions and in a wide array of media outlets.

Founded nearly 25 years ago, Trinity Academy of Irish Dance began with 20 students in a church basement and a gifted teacher with great vision - Mark Howard. Over time, a very clear philosophy of instruction developed into a truly innovative program, which continues to be practiced in each classroom today. Trinity Academy of Irish Dance is one of the most highly acclaimed Irish dance schools in the world. Trinity Academy is the first and only American team to have brought home gold for the United States. Despite its international fame, the Trinity Academy upholds a supportive, grounded program that welcomes dancers of all skill levels and abilities.

A frisky farce is in the Flea

by Marijo Doody

Chicago Shakespeare Theatre 's current production run is a revival of the comedic, classic French farce "A Flea in Her Ear." It has a large cast with many excellent performances, great sets and costuming. Much energy is spent in the 2 plus hours of production.

The farce encompasses adultery and lots of mixed identities. The original script revision from 1907 was done by Georges Feydeau and is now in contemporary form, with the handiwork of playwright David Ives.

The audience can hardly keep up with the pace of action. One dual-character roll, played by actor John Hall, comes in and out with different costuming. In a discussion with Mr. Hall after the production, he indicated there were three (3) dressers for him in the wings for the fast changes. Hall plays both Victor Chandebise and Poche. We had previously met at another CST performance.

In the play, Victor experiences impotency and his wife, Raymonde (Linda Hart) thinks he is being unfaithful. She involves her best friend, Lucienne Homenides de Histangus (Ona Jones) a great performance, who happens to be married to a jealous Spaniard, Don Carlos (Anthony Crivello).

They all end up chasing each other in the second act as the play is set at the three floors Frisky Puss Hotel, a seedy place. Victor's speech-challenged nephew, Camille (Rick Boynton), joins them. He is marvelous!

The actors are sensational, in particularly Ona Jones and Anthony Crivello. There are a great many laughs and it is a fine medicine. No expense was sparred in creating lavish sets and zany costumes. The drawing room takes one back in time!

The production runs through April 23 and tickets are $48-$65. Call 312-595-5600 to reserve.

Orland Park approves Independence Day spectacular

by Matt Mayer

The board approved waiving the bidding process at the March 20, Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting and accept the quote from Record-A-Hit of Elk Grove Village for $6,000.00 to provide children's attractions on July 3 and 4, with a clause for an automatic renewal on the annual anniversary date for two consecutive years, at a cost not to exceed the budgeted amounts, and in accordance with the terms and conditions of the contract-unless the village exercises its right not to renew. A request to waive the bidding process and award a contract to Melrose Pyrotechnics, Inc of Kingbury, In for $23,000 for pyrotechnical services on July 4 was also approved.

Oak Forest purchases fire department equipment

by Matt Mayer

The city council approved a fire department request at the March 28, Oak Forest City Council meeting to purchase equipment for the new fire engine 963; the funds will be obtained from the capital improvement program. A resolution request to update the official City of Oak Forest map dated March 28 was approved as well as a resolution for a development agreement with M.A. Ghalayini Builders and Designers at 5310 and 5240 W. 159th St.On March 28, 2006, The Oak Forest City Council unanimously approved a developmental agreement between the City and developer M.A. Ghalayini Builders and Designers. The Developer had approached the City in 2003 to develop a long standing vacant lot along 159th Street.

In 2005, the developer brought forth a site plan for a self-storage facility. The City noted the project needed to be enhanced due to the lack of sales tax being generated from the proposed self-storage facility. The developer was able to acquire the adjacent property where an oil change operation had been sitting empty for the last several years. The developer redesigned the site plan to include a 7,500 square foot retail center with the self storage facility. After several months of refining the project, the City decided to enter into a developmental agreement that spelled out the conditions and the requirements for the site plan.

The City was able to have the developer landscape the site as well as screen the entire self-storage facility, contribute an in-lieu of sales tax amount that begins at $15,000 a year and escalates by the Consumer Price Index or a three percent minimum, and install streetscape, including ornamental street lighting, brickpavers, and the lighting infrastructure along 159th Street. Once the project is completed, an additional $100,000 of property tax will be generated.

The City welcomes an opportunity of this nature. Though, it had some challenges in the beginning, the results will be enjoyed by all. It is quite clear the City of Oak Forest is beginning to see activity from the development community.

The city council approved a police department request for a stop sign at 156th St. and Waverly Ave. as well as the purchase of four Motorola laptops and docking stations for the public works SCADA system water department pumping stations.

The city council approved a request for a tag day and candy day fund-raiser for Park Lawn on April 14 and 15 and April 21 and 22 as well as a request for a candy day fund-raiser for Misericordia Heart of Mercy Center on April 28 and 29. The month of April was also proclaimed National Donate Life Month and Parliamentary Law Month. The next meeting is April 11.

"If there are Light Angels and Dark Angels, then there must be no 'In-between' Angels. This seems to be telling us that we are either good or we are bad people who'll lean to the Light or the Dark angels for help or guidance. We obviously have a choice, right? I ask this because, simply put, I see so much hatefulness, corruption and greed that I can't seem to become optimistic over anything anymore. Please forgive me if I sound like a negative person but I think about such things a lot. I am seeking someone who can help me to deal with this life I came into. Can you offer a little light to someone caught up in darkness?" Janetta Lee. My answer: You cannot change people, the world, or a mind that is made up to either be or do evil [things]. But, you can do what is right for yourself and those you come in contact with. Inspire others to be kinder, gentler, smarter, healthier and happier, as well as turning back to their Creator. Worth establishes life and safety committee

In order for the creation of the life and safety committee, Mayor Ed Guzdziol appointed the following people,Sue Murawski, Mike McElroy, Gene Meyers, Adelle Benk and Dr. Felfes, at the March 21 Board of Trustees meeting The establishment of the committee is in regards to the environment impact regarding the Army Corps of Engineers proposed deposits of the dredgings of the Calumet-Sag channel into the Locus Berg Pit located on the south side of 111th St, west of Oketo Ave.

The board approved the purchase of a new fire truck from E-One in the amount of $267,572. The purchase will include a $145,000 grant and a $122,572 no interest loan. The truck will be equipped with the Jaws of Life. Steve Dell, General Manager of Kemper Sports, the management firm for Waters Edge Golf Course, addressed the board with the proposed marketing and budget plan for the golf course.

Dell referred to the original budget packet the board had received on March 30, which included the operating budget, marketing plan, capitol plan and business plan. "Upon submitting the first draft, we revisited the budget with the directive of balancing budgets and being responsible for the budget and we comprised version 2," Dell said.

Dell outlined the various planned measures to offset the shortfall in revenue and to balance the budget in the version 2 proposal. Such measures include a payroll reduction from 15 to 12 employees and expense reductions as well as a net revenue increase to $726,000 after all expenses are paid. Also included is an overall revenue increase of $177,000 over the prior season, with a projected round of golf increase of nearly $1,000, food and beverage increases of $91,000, and a food and beverage increase of $50,000 during the winter months with the expectation of having the clubhouse open year round as a restaurant and bar. An effort to stabilize hours to be more consistent with the customers as well as a possible tent next to the pavilion for outings was also included in this proposal.

In response to Guzdziol's request to elaborate on the course and grounds section of the budget, which states day-to-day operations will be altered, Dell responded with two examples. Certain projects such as detail work would have to wait. The greens are currently cut with hand mowers - riding mowers would be used to reduce labor costs.

Trustee Kevin Werner requested and Dell agreed that the board would receive the marketing plan for food and beverages prior to the next meeting so the board would have this information while preparing the budget. The plan is slated to be presented at the next board meeting.

Lipinski works with FAA to increase safety at Midway

Congressman Supports City's Plan to Install Aircraft Arrestor Beds at Ends of Runways

Washington, DC- Today, Congressman Dan Lipinski joined the City of Chicago in an effort to inerease Runway Safety Areas (RSAs) at Midway Airport without expanding its eurrent boundaries. In a request to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the City is seeking approval and funding to eonstruet aircraft-arresting beds (EMAS) along four runways at Midway. After the tragie incident in Deeember, Congressman Lipinski has worked extensively with the FAA and City to move this request forward.

"Addressing safety should be paramount," said Lipinski. "I have met with the FAA, NTSB (National Transportation Safety Board), and Chicago Department of Aviation, and all believe adding EMAS at Midway is a step in the right direction and the most praetieal solution in Midway's urban setting, without the necd to disrupt the surrounding neighborhood by inereasing the size of the airport."

The aireraft arrestor beds being installed are referred to as Engineered Material Arresting Systems (EMAS). EMAS consists of a bed of specially coated eement bloeks engineered to eollapse under the weight of an aircraft's landing gear. These systems have been installed at 14 airports around the country and have averted several incidents of planes overshooting smaller runway safety areas.

"Addressing safety within the confines of the airport is ideal," eontinued Lipinski. "Installing EMAS will extend the runway safety areas, proteet loeal residents and businesses, and meet FAA safety requirements for urban airports like Midway."

"EMAS will minimize environmental impaet to the neighborhood, minimize long term eosts, and upgrade safety at a faster rate than airport expansion," said Lipinski. "I will continue to work with the FAA and the City of Chieago to proteet airplane passengers, as well as those living, working, shopping, and attending school in the area, while not impacting the surrounding eommunity."

Golden Warnings

"We don't know exaetly what it is saying, we don't speak the language, but gold is definitely trying to tcll us something. Yesterday, the metal screamed; the price of June eontraets ran over $600."

by Bill Bonner
www.dailyreckoning.com

"You cannot step twice into the same river, for other waters are continually flowing in," said Heraclitus, circa 500 BC.

Heraclitus, we suspect, would have been astounded at the spectacle of the United States in 2006 AD. Up and down the imperial nation, people insist they can step into the same water, not only this year, but the next year and every year after. They persist in believing that nothing can possibly change...espeeially for the worse. After all, they reason, American jobs have always paid thc most, America's industry and scienee has always led the world; the Ameriean dollar has always been the world's reserve currency. It has always been thus. Will it not always eontinue to be so?

But, our theme this week, as it has been for many, is the delusion of thinking that change - or history - eomes to a shivering halt just because we want it to. With two billions hungry workers in Asia eager for a job, Americans and Europeans must know by now that new waters are flowing in to the river - every second.

But jobs are not the only things in flux today. Other things are changing rapidly too - pensions, retirements, savings...and even life expectancy. We imagine that the landscape is going to look shockingly different on a number of fronts in the few next decades, whether we want to believe it or not.

At any rate, it seems that gold believes it. It has been warning us about something. But what?

According to an expert quoted in the Financial Times last week, the supply of gold might be peaking out...just like oil.

Yes. Mine production is beginning to flatten out and deeline, explains the expert. There's only so much gold near the surfaee. Most of the world has been well explored; there's been no major gold discovery for many years. The low hanging fruit has already been picked. Plus, it costs a fortune to start up a mining operation. Result? The supply of newly mined gold may go into decline - just as the supply of credit, cash, and paper-based capital is exploding. Maybe this is what the gold market is telling us? Or maybe it is warning of inflation...or of reeession and defaults? Or, perhaps the dollar really is on the verge of eollapse.

We don't know exactly what it is saying, we don't speak the language, but gold is definitely trying to tell us something. Last week, the metal screamed; the priee of June eontraets ran over $600.

We bought gold from under $300 up to $500. Each time, we set a target priee...and waited for the price to dip below it before buying. We felt smart. Then, the priee rocketed over $500 and we eouldn't keep up with it. We waited for the correetion to eome. The priee should have dropped below $500. When it didn't, we finally moved our target price to $550...and even that was too low. Gold just didn't want to go down. Now we feel stupid. A hundred dollars was added to the gold price while we sipped our tea and watehed the world's leading eeonomy degrade, degenerate and decline. Didn't we know the dollar was doomed? Didn't we know that gold had to go up? Didn't we say so over and over again?

Yes, but we still don't know exactly what gold is telling us. We know gold is on the move but we don't know how far or how fast it will go. We ean only guess.

Our guess is that gold is looking ahead and seeing a number of things it doesn't like: recession in America, defaults, and a slow-down in the world economy. Normally, these things wouldn't eause the price of gold to go up...but this really is a new era in many ways. Never before have so many people in America been so vulnerable to an eeonomic downturn. And never before have so many foreigners held so much U.S. dcbt. Our guess is that the dollar and the U.S. economy will turn down together, like the two corners of a mouth as it changes from a smile to a frown...

But what to do about gold now? Could it still correct baek to $500? Or will it go to $1,000 or $2,000 first?

Oh, dear reader, ask us something easier! We don't know where the price will go in the weeks and months ahead. But we're willing to guess about where it will be a year or two from now - higher. So, you can try to buy gold smartly - on dips - and take the risk of feeling stupid, when the market doesn't cooperate. Or you can just buy it. Either way, the more you aceumulate, the happier you're likely to be a few years from now.

Publisher's Pen

Due to an error with the printing eompany that prints Village View newspapers, my entire page 2 in April 4, 2006 was miss printed. They reprinted Mareh 7, page 2 instead of the regular April 4th page 2 that I had sent them.

Newspapers are always asked by the public for a correction, now how do we ask for a eorreetion.

I eould have resent the page to them and have them print it as though I just wrote the page or I can dismiss it. It wasn't too difficult to decide what to do. Bill Bonner writes a timely column and I just couldn't see putting his untimely column in from April 7. But wait a minute, didn't I mention that his March 7 column was in the April 4 edition of Village View.

Awfully strange that this would oceur, for I thought I had a special tribute to a well respected individual namely Herbert V. Huskey who passed away March 22, 2006. Gee, that didn't get in either. Hmmm, what could I possibly say now, except mistakes can be very eostly and hurt many people.

It's never to late to say I'm sorry, which I hadn't heard from either my sales rep. or the administration at the printing company.

My eolumn dedieated to Mr. Huskey was important to me, for he was not only a former Trustee of Oak Lawn, but a retired State Representative for many years. Herb served as committeeman for the Worth Township Republiean Party and an elected delegate to the National Republican Convention three times in his lifetimc.

He was my advertising client when he owned Ridgeland Auto Parts in 1974 until he sold the business to NAPA. Now I understand why Herb used the cliche "Let sleeping dogs lie".

Hypnotism Welcomed into the Medical World

By Mary Beth Prosapio, B. A., CI
Certified Instructor and
Certified in Complimentary Medical Hypnotism
National Guild of Hypnotists
(708)636-9238

Altered states of consciousness have been used in healing rites for centuries all over the world . Now hypnotism is finally being utilized more and more in hospitals, doctors' offices and dental clinics.

Although recognized back in the 1950's by both the AMA and the ADA as a legitimate medical and dental procedure, hypnosis has not gained widespread uses in thesc fields until now.

It has been estimated that it takes seventy years for a mcdical breakthrough to reach down into the general population's awareness. Let's remember that back in the 1960's, President Kennedy's physical fitness programs' link to healthier Americans were not widespread. Yct now, most people know about the bcnefits of exercise. Also, some ties between vitamin supplements and health have been known for quite some time, yet the AMA has only recently recognized this. The research on nutrition and health has been noted by the American Heart Assn. and the Cancer Society in recent years, although the research dates back for decades. The healing properties of light (laser) and sound (ultrasound) were researched early in the last century, yet only became more commonly utilized in the past 20 years. Acupuncture dates back four thousand years, yet only now arc more people in America requesting and receiving this ancient art. Half the prescriptions in Europe are for homeopathic remedies, but they continue to remain rarely suggested by American doctors.

The advent of pharmaceutical companies seems to have aborted research into other remedies. Their advertising campaigns have advised us that we can " take a pill" for just about anything that ails us. But more and more people are becoming informed about the unwanted effects of drugs (mistakenly called "side effects," like they're not important). Again, the media reports that millions of Americans are killed or maimed by prescription drugs every year. CNN reported in 2002 that every hospital in America makes forty major mistakes every day! Ralph Nader tells us that "hospitals kill (his word, not mine) 300,000 people every year in our country.

Americans seem to be getting more and more informed about their healthcare options The media and thc Internet make much more information easily available. Estimates range from 33% to 50% of Americans have sought "alternative" resources for their healthcare. This, in spite of the fact that insurance companies often don't reimburse for these services and products.

ENTER HYPNOSIS.....NO DEATHS, NO SIDE EFFECTS, NO DANGER!

Researchers and scientists have begun doing more and more studies about the medical benefits of this perfectly natural phenomenon. The benefits of well-known uses, such as weight loss, smoking cessation and stress reduction are commonly acknowledged to benefit our health. Obesity is now considered more dangerous to our health than smoking or secondhand smoke. The role of stress and health is being documented more and more.

Yet a lot of people are not informed about many other medical applications of this ancient art and science. As we learn more and more about the human brain, hypnosis is being utilized for many other things in the medical world. These include "pre-ops." Research is showing that people who use hypnosis alone or in conjunction with "conventional" medications before and during surgery, have less bleeding, less pain, need less pain medication and shorter hospital stays.

"Hypnobirthing" is being used more frequently, and the results show that labors are shorter, APGAR's are higher for the babies, there is less tearing and little to no pain during contractions. In fact, the word "pain" isn't even used! There was even a study with breech positioned babies that showed that the mothers who utilized hypnosis had a much higher rate of babies that turned head first than would be expected by mere "chance."

Orthopedic doctors refer patients with "hysterical paralysis" to hypnotists. In these situations, there is nothing physically wrong, yet the patient has a limb that remains stuck. While in a hypnotic state, the limb moves normally. The hypnotist can help the client get to the deeper reasons for their apparent paralysis. Subsequently, they can heal themselves in many instances.

The Southwest suburbs have a very special program available. LaGrange hospital is the site of the nation's first hospital based hypnosis cancer treatment facility. Rev. Dr. Scot Giles, the program's originator, reports that there is a eight to nine month waiting list for the program, despite the fact that hypnosis has been regularly been demonstrated to help chemo patients keep their hair and avoid nausea. Furthermore, several studies have found that women with breast cancer who use hypnosis and a support group have a much higher survivor rate, as well as longer life expectancies than those who undergo only "normal" treatments.

Other hospitals, such as Little Company of Mary, Rush-St. Luke's and Advocate Illinois Masonic, have been using hypnosis on a limited basis for years. Other areas of the country have hypnotists on staff in hospitals. The day is coming when we will all have a hypnotist as a regular member of our medical team.

Burn victims have much less pain and heal faster with hypnotic treatments. People with acne and psoriasis heal their skin better and faster. Many who suffer from migraine headaches rid themselves of this affliction learning and using self-hypnosis. Cardiologists are finding that heart attacks can begin in the mind of the victim, and that stressors and aggressions play havoc with heart health. National Geographic reported last year that placebo surgery on the knee was just as effective as real surgery. A Harvard medical symposium reported that hypnosis is the treatment of choice for chronic pain. They also found that hypnosis rated very well for relieving insomnia, which can cause all kinds of medical problems due to lack of sleep.

These and many many other medical situations lend themselves to being alleviated with hypnosis. Does this mean you stop taking your medicine, quit your doctor and seek a hypnotist? Of course not! But you can insist that your doctor and you take a serious look at this complimentary treatment, and begin a more wholistic/ integrative approach. Or find one who will! "We the People" must take charge of our own well-being. "We the People" must start talking to our MD's about things other than "cut, drug and burn." "We the People" must make enough noise and waves to insurance companies and have them follow the lead of other companies and start reimbursing complimentary treatments. The chiropractors did it. Acupuncture made it. Vitamins and supplements got recognition. SO CAN HYPNOSIS! And as stated in National Geographic, "IMAGINE YOURSELF WELL"

My Baby's Future

The baby is yours & how it grows up is really in your hands. Pregnant women should know that they "can" [if they want to] train their baby to have a fuller, happier & healthier life. A baby knows only one thing, & that is "bonding," but, the baby will bond to whomever shows it warmth, love, compassion, and direction, good or bad. Who or what will motivate your baby? It is thought that a life cycle is every 7 yrs, not true! A completed cycle is 9 yrs. Try this: add 9 yrs to your birthdate, and 9 again, and bring it up to the current yr. You can readily identify what were the good or not so good happenings in your life. Who was there for you? Who was not there? I've made a tape/CD for pregnant moms & existent moms [it's not too late] to listen to & apply to the upbringing of their children. Ask about this. Your baby will have a future no matter what you do, but wouldn't you want your baby to be happy & healthy, able to meet this world on an equal basis? Don't simply let "life" engulf your child! Your baby deserves better!

Locked in pain-Spasmodic Torticollis

Spasmodic Torticollis (ST), and/or cervical dystonia are a neurological condition thought to originate in the basal ganglia portion of the brain. Chemical messengers are secreted from the basal ganglia and travel through nerve pathways to the muscles in the neck. It causes the head to be pulled sideways, backward, forward or upright but turned.

No one knows what causes it. Genetic studies are in progress. An accident or trauma of some kind can trigger its onset. In 50% of the ST population there is a family history of hand or head tremors. It is an abnormal muscle tone.

ST can be accompanied by excruciating pain and a devastating, debilitating demeaning to those who have it. For many ST'RS it takes visits to six doctors and seven years for an accurate diagnosis.

Current treatment options are oral medications, botulinum toxin injections, selective denervation and deep brain stimulation (still in its infancy but shows promise.)

At a recent seminar Movement Disorder Society's International Congress, 3-5-2005 in New Orleans, a conclusion reached was ST may be substantially more prevalent in the US population that previously reported. ST is a potentially under-diagnosed and under-treated disorder. The disorder has a considerable impact on the health and quality of life of many individuals. A vigorous approach to identify patients and initiate appropriate treatment is necessary for the improvement of life.

Three Arts Club names Sherwood and Timeline partners

Partnerships Core of the 3 Arts's Planned Restoration and Renovation of Chicago Landmark Building to Create Affordable Artist Community and Public Art Center Under One Roof, are two acclaimed local arts organizations, the Sherwood Conservatory of Music and Time Line Theatre.

This artistic collaboration is part of a planned $23 million restoration and renovation of the 3 Arts building which is scheduled to open in Fall 2007. With the renovation, 3 Arts programming returns to original art forms that defined the name in 1912: music, theater and the visual arts.

3 Arts was designated a Chicago Landmark in 1981 and is listed in the National Register of Historic Places-Gold Coast Historical District. The National Trust for Historic Preservation designated it one of America's Treasurers in 2000.

The first Board of Directors of 3 Arts was founded in 1912 with 35 women from Chicago's cultural and educational scene including Jane Addams. Its charter was to secure a nurturing place for young women art students to live while pursuing their studies. Similar clubs were in Europe and other cities. Only 3 Arts in Chicago remains.

"Twelfth Night" grand at Noble Fool Theatre

by Marijo Doody

Noble Fool Theatricals at Pheasant Run Resort in St. Charles current production is "Twelfth Night" by William Shakespeare directed by Nick Sandys. This is Sandys' first local direction. A splendid cast was assembled including, Rebecca Spence as Viola, Kevin Christopher Fox as Orsino, Brendan Averett as Malvolio, Breon Bliss as Feste, Patricc Egleston as Olivia and F. Martin Glynn as Toby.

Director Sandys took a modern approach into the plot in the foolery, masquerade and topsy-turvy-dom

In this the last of Shakespeare's golden comedies. At some point in the comedy, everyone becomes mad!

Strong performances were given by Viola (Spence), Malvolio (Averett), Feste (Bliss) and Olivia (Egleston). Glynn as Toby seemed slightly young for the character roll. Orsino (Fox) as the effeminate lead was grand.

In perusing actor's bio's it was noted that many were part of the program bringing theater to various school children. That is most commendable.

The costuming, sound, scenic design and staging done by Judith Lundberg, Joshua Horwath, Jackie Banks and Tim Morrison were outstanding. Toby's beard could have fit better!

Actors spoken with, including Spence, Averett, Egleston and James Elly, all indicated it was marvelous to work with Nick Sandys, a demanding, knowledgeable director and they all learned so much.

This is by far the best production done by Noble Fool Theatricals. It has an eight-week run until May 27 on Wednesday through Sunday. Tickets are $27-$37 Call the box office at 630-584-6342.

Chicagoans Urged to Discover Their City

Chicago Architecture Foundation offers 90 different tours. Out-of-towners flock to see the architecture of Chicago, yet local residents express surprise when they experience the city with a fresh eye. The Chicago Architecture Foundation (CAF) offers 90 different tours ranging from Chicago neighborhoods like Bridgeport to suburbs like Highland Park in addition to a varied selection of Chicago loop tours like Downtown Deco and Modern Skyscrapers.

"Even people who work in the loop are often surprised to hear about the history and significance of the buildings," said Maurice Champagne, CAF volunteer docent. "We really want to encourage Chicagoans to discover their own hometowns."

The tours include river cruises, bus tours, on bicycle, walking and on Segways.

All are led by CAF docents. The docents are well trained and provide a running commentary on the buildings, public art and communities they represent. Often the tours are developed and designed by the docent – one who has a love for a particular neighborhood and wants to share it with others.

Most tours depart from the ArchiCenter in the Santa Fe Building, 224 S. Michigan Avenue. For a full listing of tours, times, and departure locations, visit www.architecture.org or call 312.922.3432, x240. Tickets can also be purchased through TicketMaster at 312-902-1500.

About the Chicago Architecture Foundation: The Chicago Architecture Foundation (CAF) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to advancing public interest and education in architecture and related design. The Foundation pursues this mission through a comprehensive program of exhibits, tours, special events, and lectures. CAF's ArchiCenter is located in the Santa Fe Building at 224 South Michigan Avenue at Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, 60604 and is open daily from 9:00 a.m. – 6:30 p.m. and on Sunday, 9:00 a.m. – 6:00 p.m. Closed New Years Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. Crotty's nurse educator legislation in the General Assembly

A measure sponsored by State Senator Maggie Crotty (D-Oak Forest) that addresses the nursing shortage problem in Illinois by creating a scholarship program for nurses in the teaching profession has passed the Illinois Senate.

Senator Crotty says "the average age of a teaching professional nurse is 55 and the average age of an Illinois nurse is 48. We are currently facing a nursing shortage." Over 1,100 applicants were denied application due to not enough nursing teachers. The number of healthcare workers including nurses is projected to decrease by over 4% by 2020, while the population with the Baby Boomers will increase by 31%. So where will the nurses come from?

The scholarship program will allow current nursing educators to receive $5000 in student loan forgiveness per year, up to four years. For every year of student loan forgiveness they receive, they must agree to continue working as a nurse educator. To be eligible, a nurse educator must be a resident of Illinois and have worked at least a year in a nursing program in Illinois.

By enacting these creative solutions nursing [problems, Senator Crotty hopes to help facilitate a better environment for potential nursing students in Illinois.

The measure is now in the House of Representatives awaiting a committee hearing.

Maloney bill makes psychology programs eligible for Health Services Programs

A bill sponsored by State Senator Edward D. Maloney (D-Chicago) which makes psychology programs eligible for Health Services Education Programs Grants has passed the Illinois Senate.

Maloney says, "this bill will help with the high costs associated with getting a degree in psychology, and in tern help the entire mental health care professional by graduating more mental health professionals."

The Health Services Education Grants Act (HSEGA) authorizes the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) to make grants available to non-profit, independent Illinois colleges, universities and hospitals offering programs that educate and train health professionals. The grant helps Illinois institutions meet the high cost of offering health education programs, and is subject to funding availability and final approval by the IBHE. Maloney's bill would clearly make them eligible in psychology.

The major proponents of the change are the Adler School of Professional Psychology, the Chicago School of Professional Psychology, and Roosevelt University. All three offer PhD psychology programs and would become grant-eligible with Maloney's clarification.

The bill now moves to the House of Representatives for further legislative consideration.

National emergency preparedness expert to present at Moraine Valley

Moraine Valley Community College's Health Sciences Department and Global Education Program are co-hosting nationally known speaker and author Elisabeth K. Weber, RN, MA, CEN, and administrative coordinator for Bioterrorism Preparedness at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. She will present "Emergency Preparedness 2006: Mass Casualty to Bio-Threats" on Thursday, April 27, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Moraine Rooms in the college's Student Center, on campus, 9000 W. College Pkwy., Palos Hills. This event is free and open to everyone.

Weber will provide an overview of the current level of preparedness in the Chicago region and state-wide, and she will compare that to national initiatives. She also will illustrate the mass emergency risks we face in Illinois using examples of past disasters such as 9/11 and Hurricane Katrina and will discuss current planning for possible biological threats such as the avian flu and pandemic flu. She will highlight the instrumental role colleges and healthcare students and employees play in planning for emergencies.

Weber has worked in Emergency Services since 1981 as a staff nurse, manager, director, and emergency preparedness coordinator in Illinois, New York, and Ohio. She earned a bachelor's of science in Nursing at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, and a master's degree in Nursing Administration from New York University in New York, NY. Weber is a certified emergency nurse (CEN), advanced practice nurse/clinical nurse specialist, and trauma nurse core course instructor. She has spoken nationally and internationally on topics such as Five Category Triage, Nurse Entrepreneurship and Pediatric Emergency Preparedness.

"Moraine Valley has been designated as a main triage center in this region in case of a mass casualty event, so it's extremely important that we, including our nursing and health science students, are aware of the plans for emergencies and what roles we may be called upon to fill," said Peggy Machon, assistant dean of Career Programs and director of Health Sciences at Moraine Valley. "We're strongly encouraging anyone who is interested in learning more about this very important topic to attend."

For more information about this presentation, call Machon at (708) 974-5484 or visit morainevalley.edu.

My Baby's Future

The baby is yours & how it grows up is really in your hands. Pregnant women should know that they "can" [if they want to] train their baby to have a fuller, happier & healthier life. A baby knows only one thing, & that is "bonding," but, the baby will bond to whomever shows it warmth, love, compassion, and direction, good or bad. Who or what will motivate your baby? It is thought that a life cycle is every 7 yrs, not true! A completed cycle is 9 yrs. Try this: add 9 yrs to your birthdate, and 9 again, and bring it up to the current yr. You can readily identify what were the good or not so good happenings in your life. Who was there for you? Who was not there? I've made a tape/CD for pregnant moms & existent moms [it's not too late] to listen to & apply to the upbringing of their children. Ask about this. Your baby will have a future no matter what you do, but wouldn't you want your baby to be happy & healthy, able to meet this world on an equal basis? Don't simply let "life" engulf your child! Your baby deservcs better!

Crotty's water legislation sent to the Governor

A measure sponsored by State Senator Maggie Crotty (D-Oak Forest) that will allow local governments greater freedom in determining their own water supply was voted out of the Senate Local Government Committee. The bill will streamline the means by which municipalities can enter into intergovernmental agreements in order to cooperate on public water utilities.

Thus there will be a central place for citizens access to communicate their concerns regarding water issues. As elected officials, they are immediately accountable to the people, as opposed to a privately held company, which is some cases was less accessible and less responsive to concerns.

It also allows municipalities to acquire, at a fair price and through the power of eminent domain, privately held water supply companies that supply water to residential customers. Under the plan employees of the private company must be offered the option of staying on with the utility after it becomes a publicly held entity.

The bill was prompted by a situation that saw a dramatic rate increase in the Orland Hills, Homer Glen and unincorporated Orland Township areas. Crotty said, "we have one community that actually is the distributor of Chicago water in Oak Forest and 11 other pipelines. If I have a problem with the bill I can go right to my City hall and have my concerns heard."

Senator Crotty has taken the lead with water issues in the Illinois Senate Local Government Committee and they had hearings last fall in the Southland on water supply and pricing concerns.

The legislation now heads to Governor Blagoevich for further consideration, where it will either be signed into law, or vetoed and sent back to the Senate for further legislative action.

Dear Brides to Be!
How about a brake from tradition and a great idea which people really love is a back yard BBQs catered at a hall where you offer your guests foods, "you want to eat'.
You can make your wedding feast of foods something other than traditional. You can offer.

hotdogs, pizza, hamburgers, bratwurst, etc.
The couple themselves save money and the guests really enjoy themselves. You can hire a DJ and dance the night away.
Barbeque weddings are great in the summer especially during baseball season.
I want your wedding to be perfect. A heart that loves bonds. Best Wishes,
Carlene O'Connor

Manna's career ends on a high note

by Marijo Doody

Marist High School band director Frank Manna concluded his career with the last weekend of concerts with the band. On a Sunday afternoon the parking lot was jammed at the school. When one came into the gym, you were greeted with a table of registrations for alumni band members.

Frank Manna and his family are residents of Evergreen Park and have raised 8 children. All were present with spouses and children for the Sunday concert.

The program began with a stirring rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" It was followed by a new composition by Graham Lloyd called "Fanfare for Freedom." Manna dedicated this to his alumni serving currently in the armed forces. It was most stirring! He said he had heard from many serving in the Mid-East

Robert Smith "Iehon" commemorated the Vietnam and Korean conflict in the piece. It was mentioned war is not good, mothers are still sad for their children no matter what era!

In tributes given the comment was that Manna gave the students life lessons. His oldest student John 47 year- old man was present. 1 met a lady Millie Eckroft, who had 4 sons that played in the band with Manna, and her sons all out of state could not come but sent messages. One of her sons was a friend of John's.

Another party in the audience Betty Geimer had a son and daughter who played in the youth band while in grammar school. Two young men around 30 played in the Marist band and were now successful businessmen.

Chuck Fusco a Chicago Sun Times staff reported contacted Manna as he had been a band member and wrote a glowing piece published. He mentioned many former student band members were successful businessmen in the city and other areas. Music teaches teamwork, laughter, discipline, perseverance and many other qualities needed in the community of life for working, family life and leisure time.

I saw many alumni with instrument cases and I'll bet that was quite a jam session at the reception after the concert. Many have friendships that extended beyond the band room.

Manna has lead the band to numerous college- bowl-games including the Rose Bowl, while preparing thousands for the real world. He directed at Quigley South, numerous grammar schools and formed the Imperial Youth Band, when there were no bands in Catholic High Schools. There has been many alumnae and alumni including Mary O'Neil a music director today from the programs he started: Village View Publications congratulates Frank Manna for all the years of service and wishes him well in his retirement.

Oak Lawn contracts Waste Management

by Matt Mayer

At the April 25, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting, the village board approved a one-year contract with Waste Management with the option to bid out the service. The other contender for the contract was Onyx Waste services, which would not agree to a one-year contract.

Trustees alleged that Waste Management submitted incorrect recyclable figures as well as inflated solid waste figures to the village. The village has a 50/50 split program with Waste Management for recyclables where the company and the village split the proceeds. The contract with Waste Management included a payment of approximately $23,000 to the village for corrected recycling figures. The board also approved an ordinance amending a section of the village code pertaining to garbage collection charges; the amount for a single-family residence is $48.75 per quarter, an increase of $10.95 per quarter effective May 1.

The board approved an ordinance amending the village code in regards to an increase in water rates also effective May 1, which represents an increase in the minimum residential bill of $9.80 per quarter. The residential quarterly rates will be charged as follows: Zero to 12,000 gallons will be charged at $3.220 per 1,000 gallons with a minimum charge of $38.64; the next 18,000 gallons will be charged at $3.056 per 1,000 gallons; over 30,000 gallons will be charged at $2.962 per 1,000 gallons.

The Farmers Market is scheduled to open on June 28 and will be held every Wednesday through October 11 in the north parking lot of the municipal building from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. The next meeting is May 9.

More price transparency needed to help the uninsured

- This week, Congressman Dan Lipinski (D-IL) stressed the importance of requiring hospital price disclosure to address the lack of healthcare price information. He also emphasized the continued need to provide affordable health coverage to all Americans during a hearing of the U.S. House Committee of Small Business Subcommittee on Workforce, Empowerment, and Government Programs.

"We all want more information available when making health care decisions for ourselves and our families," said Lipinski, the top Democrat on the Workforce, Empowerment, and Government Programs Subcommittee. "This information is essential to the 46 million uninsured Americans, and especially for the millions who work for small businesses. While we work to get coverage for the uninsured, it is imperative to give them the information that will help in their health care choices."

Last July, Lipinski and Congressman Bob Inglis (R-SC) introduced H.R. 3139, the Hospital Price Reporting and Disclosure Act, which would require hospitals to regularly report to the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) the amount they charge for the twenty-five most commonly performed inpatient procedures, the twenty-five most common outpatient procedures, and the fifty most frequently administered medications. HHS would then post this information on the Internet for easy public access.

"Most of us would never consider getting our car repaired without first receiving an estimate of the charges, but this is exactly what we do when we need to go to a hospital for treatment," said Lipinski. "It's time to give all Americans the ability to make informed choices about where they seek medical care." Expert witnesses who testified at the hearing, Paul Hense with the National Small Business Association and Dan Perrin a member of HSA Coalition, voiced support for Lipinski's bill.

In addition to the Hospital Price Reporting and Disclosure Act, the hearing's witnesses discussed a variety of solutions they believe could help bring down the cost of health care and provide better access for small businesses. One of the solutions was the creation of Association Health Plans (AHPs). AHPs allow small businesses to work together to provide the opportunity for their employees to purchase affordable healthcare.

"Because of the depth of the healthcare problem, I believe that all options should be considered," Lipinski stated. "But we must make sure that in covering more Americans we do not significantly undermine the coverage or treatment that Americans currently have. Health care that is inadequate or risky cannot be accepted."

Going Broke – In Style

"The economy is going like gangbusters, is it not? And, housing and stocks have soared to near all-time highs. If the government can't break even now, when will it ever break even?"

www.dailyreckoning.com

America is going broke...in style. We say that not to alarm you. It's just one of those certainties in life that you should point out to your children, such as "the dollar will be worthless" and "we're all gonna die."

There's not even any great shame in it. Going bust is what every great empire does sooner or later. Besides, it may not happen for another quarter of a century - or maybe sooner.

Last month, ominously, the U.S. government registered a record deficit of $85.47 billion. That is, for every dollar the Feds sucked in, they managed to burn through a $1.50. But, why run up such hefty losses now? After all, the nation revels in "full employment," does it not? The economy is going like gangbusters, is it not? And, housing and stocks have soared to near all-time highs. If the government can't break even now, when will it ever break even?

If you have to ask the question, you must be out of step with the times. Every policy wonk, number abuser, and budgetary contortionist in Washington knows the U.S. government will never run a genuine un-manipulated surplus. Every Beltway buffoon in a suit is counting on it. Every parasitic politician knows that the positive numbers touted during the Clinton years were a ripe fraud, achieved only by pretending that Social Security was not a government program. Now, even that larcenous legerdemain won't change the ink color; the numbers are red from top to bottom, and getting redder all the time.

Among the seven wonders of the modern world is that lenders and merchants the world over are still not only willing to accept U.S. paper, but they are positively craving it. Last year, China alone racked up more than $200 billion in its trade surplus with the Unitcd States, and what did they do with all that money?

"China is on a buying spree in U.S.," says a headline in the Houston Chronicle.

"See," we can almost hear gorgeous George Gilder whisper in our ear, "the money comes back to us. What's the worry?"

No worry...just an observation. The money leaves home a servant; it comes back a master. The dollars are spent on consumer items. In other words, Americans use paper to buy junk while the Chinese hold on to it as capital and use it to pocket U.S. debt, U.S. factories, and U.S. assets. Americans used to be able to say what they wanted to the Chinese. Now they must say, "Yes sir." And it wouldn't hurt to learn to kowtow; the Chinese like that sort of thing.

Another observation: the dollar is losing ground against the things that aren't junk. The price of oil continues to edge up. A headline in the Financial Times tells us, "Gold could reach $850." That is the top price the metal reached in the last bull market, when Jimmy Carter was still president. Well, duh.

Last week the doorbell rang at my home at 1:15 am. It not only woke me up, but my 91 year old mother. As I opened the drapes, I noticed it was a pizza delivery man, he had gotten into his car before I could speak to him. Therefore I thought he had left. Fifteen minutes later the back doorbell rang. I was frightened, but I looked out the door window, it was the pizza delivery man. I did not open the door, but he spoke and said he had the correct address, but the wrong name of the resident's home. He identified himself from Barraco's delivery. The order taker must have made a mistake.

Nick, one of the owners said he was sorry . I asked if there was any compensation for that intrusion. He said, "I can give you 10% off your next order!"

Dear editor,

Thank you for the recent copy of the newspaper article referencing "A view from the judges chair". I wrote David Orr's officc, Maureen Murphy's officc and the Sun Times and enclosed your item.

At M. Murphy's mecting, many judges discussed various problems. Most were similar and many were more horrendous than we had to deal with.

I received a call from Orr's office as they reportedly read the information sent. I suggested at the meeting at Murphy's that manuals should be available to judges before training classes so they can be more effective.

I have added the Village View's new article to my files on March 2006 Primary Election, and sent copies on to fellow judges.

Sincerely

Joyce Stroh (Technical Judge) Oak Lawn

SENIOR ADS FOR A DATING SERVICE

(Who says seniors don't have a sense of humor?)

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

FOXY LADY: Sexy, fashion-conscious, blue-haired beauty, 80s, slim, 5'4" (used to be 5'6"), searching for sharp looking, sharp-dressing companion. Matching white shoes and belt a plus.

LONG-TERM COMMITMENT: Recent widow, who has just buried fourth husband, looking for someone to round out a six-unit plot. Dizziness, fainting, shortness of breath not a problem.

SERENITY NOW: I am into solitude, long walks, sunrises, the ocean, yoga, and meditation. If you are the silent type, let's get together, take our hearing aids out, and enjoy quiet times.

WINNING SMILE: Active grandmother with original teeth seeking a dedicated flosser to share rare steaks, corn on the cob, and caramel candy.

BEATLES OR STONES? I still like to rock, still like to cruise in my Camaro on Saturday nights, and still like to play the guitar. If you were a groovy chick, or are now a groovy hen, let's get together and listen to my eight-track tapes.

MEMORIES: I can usually remember Monday through Thursday. If you can remember Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, let's put our two heads together.

MINT CONDITION: Male, 1932, high mileage, good condition, some hair, many new parts including hip, knee, cornea, valves. Isn't in running condition but walks well.

Silver Treads Among the Gold

by Judi Giglio

Her hair was silver with threads of gold.
Her face was wrinkled but not yet old
Her eyes were brown, soft light tone.
Her voice was gentle, it never rose nor a harsh word did I ever hear as she spoke to me so very dear.
She wore a dress each day she lived.
Her shoes were black and tied up to the end.
Her heart was generous and warm and she had a peace and serenity I've never seen before.
She rocked me in her rocking chair and sang the lullaby Toora Loora Loora to my many tears. We skipped and hopped to school each day. When I was with her I never wanted her to go away. She was an elegant lady of gracious bliss with charm, poised and gentleness. For she was my Grandmother who I'll always miss. Heaven now holds her kindliness.

Joffrey goes Motown

by Marijo Doody

When the Auditorium Theatre was approached, there were several people looking for tickets. That told me this was a special Joffrey Ballet event! The culmination of the 50th Anniversary Season is "Cool Vibrations."

It showcased three exciting works to contemporary music: the world premiere of "Motown Suite", the new work by Donald Byrd set to Motown hits; "Deuce Coupe", (1973) with choreography by Twyla Tharp and with music by the "Beach Boys"; and "Sometimes It Snows in April" with music of Prince.

When the curtain rung up, the Beach Boys music came on! Suddenly one realized the performance would not have live musicians. Suddenly Heather Aagard appeared shimmering with turns and elegant classical ballet movement. The colorful costumed other dancers arrived. You wanted to dance with the hip crowd, especially Julianne Kepley and partners Brian McSween and John Gluckman in the jazzy dare devil dancing. Many of the dancers were great in the funky feeling in "Alley Oop" including April Daley, Ikolo Griffin, Valerie Robin, Jennifer Goodman and Michael Smith. The conclusion "Cuddle Up" danced by Willie Shives, Calvin Kitten and Suzanne Lopez was most touching. All the memories returned to a time when younger and the dance era of the rock and roll era was evident.

"Motown Suite" began with "Dancing in the Street." The disco beat with high-energy dance was marvelous with the Corp de Ballet. Costuming by Suzy Benzinger was really cool. The Motown era was a time of optimism and idealism in the 60's and the Vietnam War. Music themes were youthful, conveyed unrequited love regardless of race and sang the sentiments of joy and sorrow.

Byrd the choreographer, is known for his edgy style and daring elements and recently did "The Color Purple' on Broadway.

Byrd has taken the advantage of the Joffrey dancers technical powers and skills and created acrobatic, romantic and riveting duets. Evidence is "Where Did Our Love Go" with Jennifer Goodman and Tom Nicholas All the dancers seemed to be having a great time as was the audience.

In program notes, Byrd indicated "I have always had an interest in the place where pop culture and higher art intersect, for the new work for Joffrey, and how the black vernacular dance may link to ballet and to integrate the two."

In "Sometimes It Snows in April" Laura Dean, choreographer, approaches Prince's music and builds a powerhouse finale that sends everyone the flashiest movements of the night. This, thus merges the bill on classical ballet and the pop world. The audience loved it as seen by the standing ovation at the end!

The program runs through May 7 at the Auditorium Theatre. Call 312-902-1500

City of Oak Forest news

The City of Oak Forest has reported progress on obtaining insurance costs; City Clerk, Scott Burkhardt detailed. Working with the newly constituted City Safety Committee and Illinois Public Risk Fund (IPRF), the City's Worker's Compensation Insurance Carrier, the city released figures showing a 91% decrease in Worker's Compensation claim activity. According to IPRE records for December 15, 2004 to March 31, 2005, claims paid totaled $540,000. In the current period of December 15, 2005 to March 31, 2006, claims submitted totaled $47,000.

Historic data shows that for the years 2001 through 2005, approximatcly $2.4 million has been paid out in settled Oak Forest Worker's Compensation cases. Because of the amount of claims, IPRF is now actively working with the City to identify areas were improvement can be made.

Burkhardt said, "the City has taken a proactive stance toward employee safety and it is equally important that safe work practices are emphasized and made part of the every day work habits." City employees and respective Department Heads are involved in additional safety training as well as examining individual incidents at the monthly Safety Committee meeting.

Safety on the job must not be compromised for any reason because if someone is hurt it effects their family and the city. While keeping cost down, it is important to make sure everyone is careful and common sense and existing rules and procedures are followed and all remain safe in the work environment. We are doing a better job now and hopeful the trend will continue."

Where "Miracles" Happen

There is no way to accurately tell how many people ask "if" miracles really happen. I personally know without a shadow of a doubt that miracles do happen, not once or twice in someone's life, but over and over and over again when sought out in a respectful and sincere manner. I hear from people who are desperately seeking a miracle for themselves or someone they love or care about. I know where miracles happen and am willing to tell those who ask me where they can go to find what they are looking for. If anyone out there wants to know where these places are, email me at jackimari@sbcglobal.net or write to me at P.O. Box 802, Oak Lawn, IL 60454. If you write to me please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. I especially urge those of you with computers to tell people you know who do not have computers to write to me. Mother's memory honored through art

Marcia Smat Bradley, Jim Smat (father) Joanne Smat Kagan and Tom Smat (brother) stand near the painting "Angel Pie" donated to the Cancer Center at Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Center in honor of their mother, Shirley Smat.

Two sisters dedication to their mother's memory recently bridged the country's coasts, to bring beautitful artwork to Evergreen Park. Joanne Smat Kagan, now of Durham, NC and Marcia Smat Bradley of San Diego brought six stunning paintings to Little Company's Cancer Center. The sisters are formerly from the Beverly area and donated the artworks in memory of their mother Shirley Smat a former patient.

Shirley inspired the donation while receiving treatment, where her five children were born. She mentioned to her children that it would be enjoyable to see colorful artwork covering the walls of the radiation oncology department.

Kagan said, "it is fitting that in her final days she thought of beauty and art and after a lifetime of service from the hospital that art and my mother could be a part of this contribution to LCM". The donated pieces were selected because of their ability to offer color, peace and the opportunity to dream while receiving treatment LCM has numerous programs for families. Check it out.

Méndez, is currently employed with AT&T and works in Oak Park. He and wife Jo Ann and son Jonathan have lived in Evergreen Park for eight years. His 10-year-old son Jonathan is a member of the local Cub Scouts, Troop Number 3656. In 1987, Mendez received a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Illinois at Chicago. He said his immediate plans are to go on and obtain a doctorate in political philosophy from UIC.

He said he wants to combine his study of economics with his love of political philosophy. "The first principle of economics is scarcity. The first principle of politics is to ignore the first principle of economics," Méndez said, quoting Thomas Sowell, one of his favorite economists.

This is the fairy tale of Peter and Frances and the house that Peter built!

Long ago Peter and Frances married and moved to a far away land where there were few people, but a nice little town in Tinley Park, around 174th and Oak Park Ave.

Frances's two best friends lived in Chicago and thought why would she move away from everything that was accessible to her and her family.

Frances assured them that she loved her new home, for Peter and she would be able to raise a family within a cleaner environment.

Well that is exactly what they had. They raised their own vegetables on a half an acre of land along with fruit trees and their own bees so that they would have honey. Frances loved to can and share her fruits of labor. Carole and I were blessed with living proof that her garden was plentiful.

Peter didn't mind driving 25 miles back and forth to work knowing that on the weekend he would be able to relax in his own back yard by working on the garden, and caring for his bees.

As time went on, the two children attended the schools in Tinley Park. They grew up, one left home after college, got married and even moved out of town. The other child stayed in Tinley Park and even worked in Tinley Park most of his adult life. How convenient and simple life was then.

Frances and Peter renovated their old frame home yearly and even purchased the home next to them giving them a full acre of land.

Along came a monster with a super extravaganza idea serving the community with a multiple screen movie complex theatre, shopping mall, underground parking lot, along with townhomes and condos.

This frighten Peter and Frances, for they knew they were going to lose their home. Peter didn't know what to do about the monster, all he knew was that he was retired and wanted to live the rest of his life on land that belong to him.

People were very kind to him and told him how sorry they are for him knowing that he cannot do anything about his situation.

Peter thanked the people for all their support, but that didn't help him with feeling that the monster is the one making trouble for him. The village is making him feel guilty for not wanting progress for the Village of Tinley Park.

Well as I said the fairy tale didn't end yet.

What if Peter and Frances were offered so much money that they couldn't resist the offer? Would they accept the money, well than the fairy tale would end?

As long as Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dennis refuses any offer there will always be this fairy tale. Oh wait a minute did someone mention the words eminent domain?

Could the Village take Peter and Frances's homc away from them and only give them market value. Oh no, how could this happen! In a fairy tale, it doesn't happen. Not in Tinley Park it doesn't, for Tinley Park officials never had to use eminent domain.

I hope for the sake of Peter and Frances Dennis someone comes knocking on their door and says, "It's not worth using your property for underground parking. Keep your land, and enjoy the fruitsof your labor.

As the fairy tale ends the developer is happy with less acreage, Tinley Park officials work out a deal with the developer, and Peter and Frances have their property.

Saint Xavier Unlversity and Moraine Valley Communlty College agreement

Nursing students benefit from partnership

Chicago (May 8, 2006) – Saint Xavier University and Moraine Valley Community College have signed a dual admission agreement to provide a smoother transfer experience for nursing students between the two schools.

Under the agreement, Moraine students earning an associate in applied science degree in Nursing can complete a bachelor of science degree in Nursing at Saint Xavier's Orland Park campus. Student progress is facilitated through timely completion of program requirements and improved sequencing of learning experiences.

"With the significant national nursing shortage and clear evidence that a baccalaureate prepared nursing workforce is associated with better patient outcomes, our dual admission agreement with Moraine Valley Community College allows students to move quickly into the baccalaureate nursing courses and bring special skills to the patients," said Anne R. Bavier, Ph.D., dean of the School of Nursing at Saint Xavier University.

Participating students benefit from guidance from both institutions, which provides access to a wider array of choices for academic planning to meet students' personal goals, preferences and needs.

"We think that this agreement will benefit our students and graduates of the Moraine Valley nursing program, while responding to the community's need for nurses with advanced degrees in our community healthcare workplaces," said Peggy Machon, assistant dean for career programs and director of health sciences at Moraine Valley Community College.

Saint Xavier University President Judith A. Dwyer, Ph.D., said the agreement is a win-win situation for all involved. "The dual admission agreement in nursing continues our strong relationship with Moraine Valley Community College. It reinforces one of our key values of lifelong learning by guiding students into SXU prerequisites while they complete their MVCC nursing courses."

Students in Moraine's nursing program interested in participating in the partnership program are encouraged to take prescribed prerequisite "bridge" courses in preparation for the RN-BSN. Courses can be taken either at Moraine or Saint Xavier prior to or concurrently with their enrollment in the RN-BSN program.

Students who successfully complete the Associate of Applied Science degree in Nursing with a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.5 out of a possible 4.0 from Moraine and have passed the NCLEX-RN exam will be fully admitted into Saint Xavier's RN-BSN program at the Orland Park campus. Application fees will be waived for participants in this program.

For more information, please contact Saint Xavier University's Robert Weierman at (773) 298-6210 or Carol Yukich at (773) 298-3724.

Mount Assisi's Alyssa O'Connor Named GSBF Scholar

The Give Something Back Foundation, in conjunction with Mount Assisi Academy, is proud to announce that senior Alyssa O'Connor is the recipient of the inaugural 2006 Give Something Back Foundation Scholarship Award. This scholarship award is a four-year, renewable scholarship in the amount of $5,000 per year for up to four years - $20,000 total. Alyssa was selected from a pool of applicants for this prestigious award, with the selection criteria including class ranking (top third), family income. Alyssa, an Oak Lawn Illinois resident, will attend Valparaiso University in fall 2006, and plans to major in computer science with a minor in business administration.

Over the past 10 years, Alyssa O'Connor and her family has dealt with significant health challenges, as her mother has ALS - amyotrophic lateral sclerosis - more commonly know as Lou Gehrig's disease. Mrs. O'Connor was diagnosed when Alyssa was in second grade and the disease has progressed to the point where she is only able to move and communicate with her eyes. In addition to carrying a full class load at Mount Assisi Academy and working part-time, Alyssa assists with her mother's care - cleaning tubes and feeding and many other tasks that a senior in high school could never consider being a part of their day.

"I am totally overwhelmed," Alyssa responded when asked how she felt about the GSBF Scholarship award. "This scholarship removes a huge burden and literally takes the weight off my shoulders when it comes to college this fall. It will help my parents, and provide me with additional incentive to excel in college," Alyssa commented. Alyssa has a younger sister who will help out with care for their mother. During the summer months, Alyssa will continue working her part-time job at G & L Trophies and Gifts in Oak Lawn - and maybe even get a bit of caddying in as well.

The Give Something Back Foundation was co-founded February 1, 2006 by Bob and Jill Carr, both graduates of Lockport Township High School. Their firm belief in the value of quality education drives the foundation's work of not only giving back, but encouraging alumni, parents and eventually students to "give something back" when they have the opportunity to do so.

Miracles Can Happen

Many of you have asked me where those Miracles happen that I wrote about. I thought it best to publish them here in this column after all since, there are so many people needing something good to happen for them. One such place is in the solitude of your own bedroom with no music on, nor television, just quiet! Talk to God in your own words. Ask to receive. Be specific. Then there is a church in St. Anne, IL. It's a place where it is told that people once went to in wheel chairs and on crutches and were able to leave those things there and simply go home. It's off I-57 South East of Kankakee [about 10-15 miles]. You can go to the Carmelite Shrines in Munster, Indiana [1628 Ridge Road]. This place is like a "retreat" with plenty of Quartz Crystals, and I have personally heard from people of the many Miracles that happen when they go there. One more place is where the Tree brings forth Water [I will post this later].

KATHY'S KALEIDOSCOPE

Taking Time To Savor The Memories!

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

The saleslady at the bridal shop didn't mean to do it but her wise words of wisdom caused tears to unexpectedly run down my face. Helping my daughter design her veil brought back some sentimental memories for this, once upon a time, mother of the bride, and she was sharing the best with me.

Her advice was simple. She advised me to make sure and take 5 minutes with my daughter; 5 minutes alone with her, before she walks down the aisle. She assured me, without a doubt, that it will be the last time I'll have her all to myself. Those were the words of experience that caused the tears to fall.

I haven't wanted to think too much about it but time is sure ticking away. Faster than I can say, 'Here Comes The Bride,' the big day will be here.

There are some people who say it's a lot of fuss and expense for only one day. When I hear those words I silently beg to differ.

Sure, calculated by hours, the whole day's activities will be spent within a 24 hour frame of time.

But, how do you measure the memories and dreams that have brought you to this chapter in life?

For 5 years we watched as Dan and Jaime dated and grew in maturity and love. They weathered the storms that came their way and learned to cope with the obstacles evey couple faces.

Their engagement was the wake up call to this mom and dad that our first born would soon be heading in the direction of a new life, with the man she loves.

Yes, the wedding event may only be one day, but the miles logged and the hours spent looking for the perfect dress, for the most comfortable shoes, planning the showers, they are all part of the memory.

There is still so much to do and yet it feels like time is running out.

This one special night is a lifetime in the making. It is a night little girl's dream about and father's dread.

For mother's it is perhaps a time of reflection - a precious little baby is placed in your arms one day and you whisper into her tiny ear that you'll love her and be there for her, no matter what. All too soon I found myself placing my arms around a grown-up daughter, reassuring her everything is all right as I choked on my own tears. For a split second I remembered the day my little girl walked through the doors of Kindergarten and I realize that this is yet another one of those milestones that we mothers must face and embrace. It won't be long now. All the love, joy and commotion that have led us to this one day will be upon us.

Looking back on the night both families came together to toast our children's engagement, some of the wiser adults who've 'been there done that' told us that the days would fly by.

The calendar boasted a full 15 months to the nuptials. I wasn't too worried. Right off the bat we got the most important things taken care of - the church, the hall, photographer, flowers, trolley and wedding dress.

It was this mother's hope that by forging ahead with these arrangements we would all have time to savor the memories of her upcoming marriage.

Well, like it or not, the time did fly by, with little warning.

Did I really think I'd be organized enough to have everything ready so as to have the luxury of basking in the sentimcnt of this most meaningful day?

There are so many last minute things to take care of, but I'm trying not to worry about that.

No matter how busy or chaotic the day - when the wedding day dawns I will keep the wise words of the salesclerk in my heart.

Before my sweet daughter takes one step down that aisle I will take my 5 minutes with her - just her and I - And, just like the day she was born, I will hold her tight and whisper in her ear, 'I will love you always and be there for you, no matter what.'

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

In the book of life, deposits of memories will become the riches of your soul.

(Kathy Whirity)

Portfolios of seniors at Queen of Peace High School

For Queen of Peace High School seniors, the nearing of high school's end can usually be signaled by one event: portfolio sharing. Every Queen of Peace student compiles a portfolio of her best and most meaningful work in all subjects beginning in her frosh year. The purpose of these portfolios is four fold: it provides evidence of student achievement of mission-inspired learning priorities; it gives students a means of identifying and collecting their best work in each discipline; it gives students standards and criteria for excellence against which to evaluate their work; and it gives students a systematic opportunity for reflection and self-assessment of academic and personal growth, thus fostering an appreciation for the intrinsic value of change.

At the end of her senior year, each student shares select pieces from her portfolio with a classroom of frosh, sophomores or juniors and discusses how she and her work have changed over the last four years. In her presentation to a group of sophomores, senior Meghan Biernacki (Oak Lawn) commented, "Queen of Peace and this portfolio have helped me see where I've been, where I stand now and where I'm going. It challenged me to go beyond what I thought I could do." Senior Terese Bostick (89th & Aberdeen) agreed: "I have to learned to love learning."

Senior Lia Zainelli (60th & Massasoit) talked about her growth in allowing others to review her writing. "I have learned to appreciate the diversity of people's ideas. I understand that everyone's opinions counts and matters. I have become a person that values creativity and other opinions."

Senior Patricia Delgado (86th & Escabana) used a metaphor to explain how she has grown as a scholar. "I have been a caddie for the last four years," she noted, "so I have seen a lot of people just starting to golf. When you start, you think your goal is to hit the ball as hard as you can. You learn, though, that the goal is to hit the ball well, not just far." Delgado went on to note that being a student is much like the process of becoming a skilled golfer. "You start off thinking you know it all, but you learn as you go and you have to be willing to take criticism along the way." She added that the work to become successful does pay off, as it has with her caddy work, which earned her a Chick Evans Scholarship for four years of college tuition.

After filling out evaluations for the senior presenters, the frosh, sophomores and juniors were asked to write a reflection, which will become a part of their own portfolios in progress.

Table Grapes Are In Season

(NAPSA)-If you thought table grapes were the same all year round, it's time to have a taste test. The year's best crop is fresh from Mexico. From May through July, the finest harvest of green, red and black grapes will begin to hit supermarket shelves.

These grapes' bright color and crisp texture signify the end of winter, when fresh, new harvests begin arriving from the Mexican state of Sonora. Grapes for wine and brandy have been grown in Sonora since the days of the Spanish missionaries almost four centuries ago. Out of this tradition, growers in Sonora began growing fresh grapes that are enjoyed across the world. Sonora grapes are coveted for their notably sweet, juicy flavor.

With more than 30,000 acres of vineyards, Sonora supplies 300 million pounds of grapes for U.S. consumption.

Grapes offer several benefits. Not only are they a handy snack, but they're a unique addition to many summer dishes, including green salads and fruit salads. They enhance the beauty of these dishes as well as their nutritional value. One and a half cups of grapes provide 25 percent of the Daily Value of vitamin C, as well as fiber, vitamin A, calcium and iron.

Over 60% of grapes Americans eat this time of the year come from Mexico.

Sandburg High School Class of 1996 to Hold Fund-raiser

"The Carl Sandburg High School Class of 1996 will host its ten year reunion on Veterans" Day of this year. However, before the class officially gathers to mark a decade since its graduation, the class is holding a benefit to help a favorite charity of one of its own.

On Saturday, May 20, the Sandburg Class of 1996 will hold a fund-raiser to benefit the Brain Injury Association of Illinois (BIAI) at Murphy"s Steakhouse and Pub, 10160 West 191st Street in Mokena.

"We chose to hold a pre-reunion event to benefit the Brain Injury Association of Illinois because one of our classmates has suffered a traumatic brain injury in the last few years," said Erin Murphy-Kmiecik, president of Sandburg's Class of 1996 and one of the organizers of the event.

Brian Kelly, of Orland Park, was seriously injured in a crash on December 26, 2001 and is now an activist for those with brain injuries.

Proceeds from the fund-raiser will benefit more than a quarter million children, teenagers and adults living in Illinois with a brain injury. The Brain Injury Association of Illinois is a statewide non-profit 501(c)3 organization dedicated to creating a better future for persons with brain injuries through prevention, research, education and advocacy.

According to BIAI, someone in the United States suffers a brain injury every 21 seconds. An estimated 5.3 million Americans live with disabilities from brain injuries. "This is a cause that's dear to my heart," Kelly said. "The proceeds from the May 20 benefit will help to send those with brain injuries to camp," he explained. The BIAI offers two camps, the Wilderness Endeavor for adults and Camp FunZone for children.

After graduating from Sandburg, Kelly attended Moraine Valley Community College and Illinois State University. After being named to the Illinois Student Assistance Commission by former Illinois Governor Jim Edgar, he left school for a short time to serve on President Clinton's Advance Team, oversaw media logistics for Gore-Lieberman 2000 and was a researcher for NBC News in New York.

While home to return to school to complete his degree, Kelly's car was hit head on while stopped at a red light on December 26, 2001. After years of therapy, Kelly is now living temporarily in Omaha, Nebraska, where he is a resident of QLI, an independent life learning facility. Kelly will return to Orland Park to attend the fundraiser.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," Kelly said. "Not only will I get to see people from my graduating class, I will also be helping to raise funds for one of the best charitable organizations in the state — the Brain Injury Association of Illinois."

Mick Kelly, Brian's father, explained, "This will be the first fundraiser ever held at Murphy's Steakhouse and Pub. Brian Sweeney, one of the restaurant's owners, is a fourteen year traumatic brain injury survivor."

Tickets for the May 20 Brain Injury Association Fundraiser at Murphy's are $25.00 per person and include pizza, domestic beer and Margaritas. Local businesses have been contributing door prizes for the evening raffle.

CST goes back in time with Hecuba

by Marijo Doody

The current production at Chicago Shakespeare Theatre (CST) goes back to the Trojans. Not the football team! 5th century Greek playwright Euripides wrote "Hecuba". The classic figure survived the death of her husband and children in the Trojan War and is now a slave to the conqueror King Agamemnon (Victor Ertmanis).

CST has brought this version by Irish playwright, Frank Mc Guiness to a more modern concept. Mc Guiness has lived through numerous scuffles in Ireland. War is war, wherever, it is bloody, hurts people and not a solution!

In modernizing "Hecuba" characters are in suits and ties, all bloody! "It is the same issues through out history of war, loss of children, justice and "war not necessarily answers the question," noted actress Marsha Mason, who plays the role of Hecuba. Mason plays the demanding role that is a challenge.

Moviegoers may remember Marsha Mason in "The Good-bye Girl" and "Chapter Two" and on Broadway.

Marsha indicated "it is a physically demanding role and I admire Frank Mc Guiness and director Patrick Mason (no relation). I was honored when they thought of me for the role, agree to do it and it is not often that a great part comes along."

As the play progresses, revenge consumes Hecuba. She becomes the unspeakable honor she must endure. Her only daughter is to be sacrificed in tribute of the fallen Greek hero and her only son is murdered for gold.

In 2004 the world premiere of Mc Guiness's "Hecuba" performed in London to rave reviews. Now Americans can see it at CST.

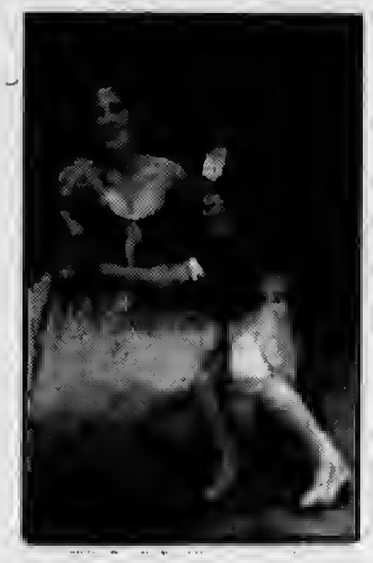
A British critic spoke with Frank Mc Guiness and asked what drew him to Hecuba? He answered, "the play is set in war-there is no such thing as the end of the war-the war is never over. When I started the play, the Iraq War, the war in Palestine and Israel were going on."

CST's production stars besides Marsha Mason, Monet Butler, Alana Arenas, Ana Sferruzza, Niall Mc Ginty, Windy Robie, Juan Chioran (excellent) James Harms, and Mark Dold.

Costuming and scenery are stark! One sits on the edge to grasp every word! It is compelling. We feel the sympathy for Hecuba, a victim and her revenge. The audience will either hate or love it! That's what tragedy is all about! Do not miss it!

"Hecuba" runs through June 18 at CST on Navy Pier. Tickets are $42-$56. Call the box office at 312-595-5600.

"Power" presented at Remy Bumppo



by Marijo Doody

The last 2006- year production at Remy Bumppo Theatre is Nick Dear's powerful, no pun intended, play "Power." The play centers on Louis XIV. He reinvents the role of monarch as he learns about boardrooms, bedrooms and various demands.

The play is a great inside look at the rise of France's "Sun King" and the creation of Versailles. The American premiere is set off with royal fireworks, a superb cast, and marvelous costumes. (Helped by a grant, so I was told).

This is a captivating production and is smart and lovely with its scenes and décor. Characters are the Queen Mother played by Annabel Armour, King Louis (Steve Haggard), Fouquet, the financial secretary (David Darlow) along with Jean-Baptiste Colbert (Arron Christenson), he could be Tartuff! The femfetal are Phillipi the gay brother (Greg Anderson), Henrietta (Krissy Shields) and the mistress Rachael Sondag.

Louis assent and Haggard and Darlow brilliantly note the fall of Fouquet with riveting performances. It was a delight to watch these performers. Queen mother was perfectly thorny and tries her darnest to manipulate her son.

The production runs through June 4 at Victory Gardens, 2257 N.Lincoln. The box office number is 773-871-3000. Parking is available at the Children's Memorial Hospital parking lot.

Oak Forest removes resident requirements for Metra lot

by Matt Mayer

The city council approved an ordinance at the April 24 Oak Forest City Council meeting amending the municipal code regarding permit-parking policies at the 159th and Cicero Metra parking lot. The amendment eliminates the residency requirement for the $75 quarterly parking permits. This amendment is in compliance with an agreement made with Metra in 2000, which required the city to issue permits to whomever requested one until the lot reached full capacity. Commuters received a mailing regarding the proposed changes.

Current permit holders will have the opportunity to renew their permits prior to the remaining slots being sold on a first come first serve basis. Starting July 1 nonresidents will have the opportunity to purchase parking permits. Compliance with this agreement may improve the chances for a new Metra station as well as other improvements at the intersection. The parking lot has an operating capacity of 535 parking spaces - permits hold currently 515 spaces.

The city council approved a public works request to award a contract to Alpha Construction for the 2006 Motor Fuel Tax road program as well as a request to award payment to metropolitan equipment company for the emergency replacement of the automatic transfer switch at the main pumping station.

An ordinance to increase the rate charged for water consumption as well as a rate increase changed for wastewater collection was approved as well as an agreement for a health reimbursement account for Dental and Optical care with Flexible Benefits Corporation for city employees. An ordinance requesting a site plan and business use for Potenzo Auto Repair at 15324 S. Cicero Ave and a site plan and business use for Giddy -Up Saloon at 15711 S Cicero Ave. was also approved.

Miracles Can Happen

Many of you have asked me where those Miracles happen that I wrote about. I thought it best to publish them here in this column after all since, there are so many people needing something good to happen for them. One such place is in the solitude of your own bedroom with no music on, nor television, just quiet! Talk to God in your own words. Ask to receive. Be specific. Then there is a church in St. Anne, IL. It's a place where it is told that people once went to in wheel chairs and on crutches and were able to leave those things there and simply go home. It's off I-57 South East of Kankakee [about 10-15 miles]. You can go to the Carmelite Shrines in Munster, Indiana [1628 Ridge Road]. This place is like a "retreat" with plenty of Quartz Crystals, and I have personally heard from people of the many Miracles that happen when they go there. One more place is where the Tree brings forth Water [I will post this later].

Oak Lawn approves additional traffic signage

by Matt Mayer

The board approved an ordinance creating additional traffic regulations at the May 23, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting. The ordinance regulation is written as follows: No left turn southbound and no right turn north bound (9 am to 3 p.m) on 52 nd Ave at narrow street; Northeast bound narrow St to northeast bound Museum Drive (after 2 p.m.) northbound Museum Drive to westbound 95th St;

One way northbound on Tully between 96th St and Museum Drive/narrow St, northeast bound Museum Drive between Tulley and parking garage; northbound 50th Court between 96th St and alley; Change yield to stop sign northbound Tulley Ave at 96th St, westbound 96th Pl at 49th Ave, east and westbound 97th St at 49th Av, westbound 97th Pl at 49th Ave.

Remove no left turn and replace with dead end left arrow southbound Lacrosse Ave to eastbound 96th St. The board concurred with the traffic review board recommendation to remove the traffic barriers at the north end of Brandt Ave just south of 95th St. and to prepare an ordinance for "residential parking only" sign at 9825 S. Tripp Ave.

In other business the board approved an ordinance providing for the tax reduction or abatement for the corporate bond and interest fund for fiscal year beginning Jan 1, 05 and ending Dec 31, 05. The board also approved an ordinance authorizing the issuance of not to exceed $6,000,000 waterworks and sewage revenue bonds, series 2006, for the purpose of interim improvements to the Southwest Water Transportation System. The improvements include increasing the pumping capacity of the Harker Station and installation of a new booster pump station in the City of Oak Forest. These improvements will benefit outside users on this line. This bond issue will be paid entirely by the outside communities benefiting from these improvements. The actual amount of the bond issue is dependent upon the final bid opening and whether one outside community decides to pay upfront for their share. This information was provided to the board in a memo prepared by Gail Paul, Director of Administrative Services. The meeting, which followed a special TIF public meeting at 7 p.m., adjourned into executive session at 11 p.m. The next meeting is June 13.

Eight members of the Oak Lawn Community High School cross country team, along with a number of fellow runners from the community, are taking part in a charity run to help Oak Lawn students fund a service trip to Kenya, Africa this July (July 7, 2006-August 4, 2006).

The 166-mile run is entitled "Ken-Ya Run Across Illinois" and is supported by family and friends.

The event will begin in Clinton, Iowa at approximately 5:00pm on June 8, 2006 and will conclude on the track of Oak Lawn Community High School at approximately 5:00pm on June 9, 2006. During this 24-hour period, each student will run nearly 6 miles as part of a relay-style format.

This process will continue, unimpeded, until the last runner enters the Oak Lawn city limits. At this time, all runners will gather and participate in the last mile of the run. After a final lap on the Oak Lawn Community High School track, a welcome party will take place that will feature music, refreshments, and a short program.

In order to reach their financial goal of $40,000.00, these eight students created a service group almost two years ago known as "Cross Countries". Since that time, they have been fundraising for their trip and promoting the need for aid in Africa.

Currently, the students have raised nearly $35,000.00 through events and publicity and hope to increase this number by $3000.00 with "Ken-Ya Run Across Illinois".

"The Overfed Head"
by Rob Stevens

Rob and his thought provoking self help book, bring to mind all the diets I have tried! Rob the founder of Thintuition states not to count calories, but do exercise! Eat only when hungry and thoroughly enjoy what you eat. Take your time and have a sensual fixation with your food and walk away from it when your hunger is satisfied.

You must know that the difference between real hunger or a growling stomach. If you are like me, as long as I am concentrating on a long term project or engrossed in my job, I really don't get hungry. If I went swimming, walking or to a theatre, believe me I can get hungry.

Rob has the right idea for teaching the reader to get to know your body better. His chapters are bout results not typical, how dieting make you fat, the overfed head, inaccurate eating, satisfying your hunger, and thoroughly enjoy what you eat. "Did you ever watch a thin person eat," said Rob. Well they enjoy what they eat and only consume enough to fulfill their needs. They can easily walk away from the table.

The art and skill of Thintuition.

The teacher teaches feelings of thin people when eating food and comparing those feelings with overweight people, when they eat food.

How unique this book is and how simple it would be to lose weight without dieting. This is one book that I recommend that Rob calls a self help book. He told me that this book can help anyone who is sick of diets. I believe him, but the only thing is to reread the chapter on Satisfying your Hunger.

You can purchase the book at Borders, Waldens or ask at any personnel in the Self Help Section in the book stores. You may contact Rob at www.thintuition.com or by writing to him at Thintuition Publishing, Inc. P.O. Box 180182, Chicago, IL 60618.

Senator Maloney took the opportunity to praise public libraries and their role in the educational process. "They provide opportunities for citizens of all ages from preschoolers to seniors to improve themselves and broaden their horizons" said Maloney.

Parakeets Don't Sing! "My sister told me she would make my Parakeets sing if anything bad ever happened to her. Well, Parakeets don't sing! I laughed it off. But, o September 30, 1965, I had an awful dream. I saw myself, in the dream, driving a white car with a red interior. I had crashed into something like an invisible wall. I somehow got out of the car and was screaming for someone, anyone, who could help me, because I could not find my legs! I could see only half of me. Needless to say, this dream terrified me.

On October I, 1965, about 11 o'clock at night, my Parakeets sang like canaries! Then the phone rang. I just knew something had happened to my sister. It was the hospital calling to tell me about my sister being in an accident. They would not tell me on the phone that she was dead. I later learned that she had been riding in a white car with a red interior. She and a boyfriend were victims of a police chase, where the pursued kids crashed through the car she was in at 100 mph into the car, cutting it in half, and my sister too!"

This a true story Beyond Logic

In fact, this is one of my stories. She was my sister, Carolyn! And, to this day I have never heard that Parakeets sing!

If it's not one TIF, it's another

by Matt Mayer

The village chambers were overflowing into the halls and down the stairs as people gathered for the public hearing held at 7 p.m. prior to the regular Board of Trustees meeting on May 23, regarding a proposed 111th and Cicero Ave Tax Increment Finance (TIF) District. Mayor Dave Heilmann and acting Village Manager / Fire Chief Ed Folliard were not present. Trustee Steve Rosenbaum was president pro-tem and Lynn Krauss, Director of Quality Control and Public Works was presiding as Acting Village Manager. Trustee Tom Phelan (D-6) first proposed the concept of a TIF for the creation of a life style center, which would include high-end retailers, shortly after taking office and remains a strong proponent of this concept. Mayor Heilmann has also shown interest in this project. The boundaries for this project are 111th St to the south, the residential property lines of the former Dominick's and Automation to the north. Cicero on the east, and the residential subdivision on the west.

Robert Rychlicki of Kane, McKenna and Associates, Inc, who was retained by the village to perform the TIF study, prepared the TIF plan and eligibility report. There are 13 blighted factors to qualify for a TIF; 5 or more factors need to be present for eligibility.

Rychlicki outlined 6 factors that Kane, McKenna had identified - they are obsolescence, deterioration, excessive vacancies, inadequate utilities, lack of community planning, lag or decline in equalized assessed valuation (EAV). James Klenk with the law firm of Sonnenschein Nath and Rosenthal LLP, which is representing K-Mart, addressed the board and disputed the TIF eligibility report. Klenk said K-Mart has been at this location since 1974 and employees 134 people. He also said that K-Mart has 17 more years left on their lease and has two stores in the village. This particular store has in excess of $20 million in sales per year.

"We do not believe that it's possible to find a blight, I'm not going to stand here as a lawyer and make these arguments. I have brought a certified land planner, Allen Kracower, who has more than 35 years experience in matters like this. He began working with Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in the 1960's on these issues and has reviewed thousands of developments of this nature," Klenk said. Michael Lach a professional engineer and Steve Weiss an architect were also present for questions.

Kracower addressed the board and opposed the TIF by saying none of the 6 factors claimed for the TIF "Blight" test are met here. He outlined each one of the factors by saying: "There is no major defects in structure or pavements sufficient to meet the deterioration standard; the existing buildings are not obsolete. Vacancies are not excessive throughout the area, and do not have adverse influence on area. The utilities are in good shape and are not inadequate. The EAV factor is overstated and ignores substantial revenue to village from K-Mart and other businesses in this area and there is no adverse incompatible land uses." He also said that the village's flooding information is also inaccurate.

"K-Mart has spent over $612,000 in the past several years fixing up their property - it's really in good condition," Kracrower said. "Harley Davidson has spent $1.5 to $2 million dollars for improvements. Flap Jacks Restaurant has spent $200,000; Automaton has spent $3-$3.5 million for improvements; and A &D Tile has invested some $400,000.

There is no need for any public expenditure of funds and absolutely no need for the taking of these properties. Clearly that is not blight," Kracrower said. K-Mart managers, business owners, employees, patrons and residents also voiced their opposition.

Klenk followed up by saying, "K-Mart is committed to this location and Oak Lawn. And we'll be all the way to the court house if necessary."

June 6, 2006=The dreaded 666

Well, folks, 6-6-06 is just another date on the calendar. Or is it? With Dan Brown's DaVinci materials seemingly so convincing, one can only assume that we might have something to worry about or guard ourselves against. Will the devil be loosed? Will evil take over the world? Numerology says "add 'em up to a single digit" and you get 6+6+6 which is first 18 then a 9. On the positive side in numerology #9 represents "endings," but endings to what? Perhaps it means endings to grief, to greed and sorrow. Maybe endings to corruption, war, poverty and health concerns. But, it is also thought that a child born on this day might be the evil one. These are not the Medieval times however, and people should stop and reason out how many prophesies have not come true about the "end of days" and evil "will collect" many souls on 6-6-06. Your own Faith will carry you through. Believe in your Creator, walk by those "still waters, unafraid" you see, evil needs your permission to corrupt your life. Evil has its restrictions too.

Recently, Ralph, a dear friend of ours, shared the following story with us that I, in turn, would like to share with you. It is a story you may find yourself remembering in times of trouble - a reminder that not all dire and hopeless situations are what they seem. I know I find myself reflecting on this sensible sentiment.

I HEAR YOUR HORSE RAN AWAY

Once there was an old farmer who had a horse and a young son. One day the horse ran away. A neighboring farmer hearing this , came over to the farmer and said, "I hear you had a bit of bad luck, your horse ran away." The old farmer was very wise, and he said, "We'll just have to wait and see." It may be good. It may be bad.

A few days later the horse returned and with it came a mare. When the neighboring farmer heard this , again he came to the farmer's house. He said, " I hear you've had a bit of good news." Your horse has returned and brought a mare with it. Now you'll have two horses" The old farmer again told his neighbor, "We'll have to wait and see. It could be good. It could be bad."

Weeks passed, and one day while the son was hooking up the plow to the mare, and the mare was startled and kicked the son in the leg. It severely harmed the leg, causing the son to be lame. When the neighbor heard this he came over and said to the old farmer, "I hear you've had a bit of bad luck. Your son was crippled by the mare." The farmer again told his neighbor, "We'll just have to wait and see. It may be good. it may be bad."

A few years passed and a great war came to the land. All the young men were asked to go off into the army, including the neighbor's son. But not the old farmer's son because he was crippled. During the great battle the neighbor's son was killed. The neighbor went to the old farmer and said, "I hear you're pretty lucky. Your son did not have to go off to war and die like mine" And the old farmer said, "We'll have to wait and see." It may be good. It may be bad." And the story goes on and on from that - Good and Bad, Good and Bad.

Marist athletes sign letter of intent

Just an hour before receiving their high school diplomas, five recent Marist graduates signed National Letters of Intent, confirming they will be members of college athletic teams.

Bridget Bentley (West Beverly) was accepted to the highly competitive United States Military Academy at West Point (West Point, New York) where she will compete in track and field. "Bridget will do great at West Point," Marist girls' cross country head coach and assistant girls' track coach Pat Quinn said. "She has an incredible athletic prowess and is a great young woman, too."

Mitchell Bouie (Markham) will attend Division I school Central Connecticut State University (New Britain, Conn.), and play basketball. Bouie served Marist's squad as a small forward and will do the same for the Blue Devils. "Mitchell is strong and exceptionally athletic and will fit in well at the Division I level. He's done an exceptional job preparing for this opportunity both on the court and in the classroom," boys' basketball head coach Gene Nolan '92 said.

Bridget Boyle (Oak Lawn) will attend Coastal Carolina University, a Division I school, in Conway, South Carolina, to play on the women's soccer team. Boyle is a defensive midfield stopper/stopper and has been an integral part of Marist's soccer success. "Bridget is a player that can take control of the game at any time and she is someone we can build our attack around, and we quite literally did that this season," Marist girls' soccer head coach Sean Maxwell said.

Maureen Downs (Mt. Greenwood) will attend Loyola University and play basketball. Marist girls' basketball head coach Mary Pat Connolly has called Downs the "building block" of Marist's girls' basketball program. "Not only has Maureen set scoring and rebounding records, but off the court, she emulates what every female athlete should be," Connolly said.

Kate Grunauer (Mt. Greenwood) will attend Lake Forest College and play basketball. "Kate has had an incredible career at Marist. With her selection to all-conference and all-area teams, she has put Marist on the map as one of the top girls' basketball programs on the South Side," Coach Connolly said.

Founded by the Marist Brothers in 1963, Marist High School is a private Catholic school serving the young men and women of southwest Chicago and the surrounding suburbs. The school offers 24 athletics programs and competes in the highly regarded East Suburban Catholic League.

Networking And Volunteering Is Key For Career-Minded College Students And Graduates

(NAPSA)-College students and recent graduates seeking to get a foot in the door in the working world can gain valuable experience through volunteering. The key to success is in thinking beyond traditional jobs to find volunteer opportunities and resources that will jump-start a meaningful and fulfilling career.

Volunteering experience can be a significant asset to the resumes of college students and graduates. Many recruiters now look for volunteer service on resumes as a telltale sign of strong moral character, good work ethic and proven leadership skills. Not only does volunteer experience show potential employers that a candidate is a responsible citizen of the world, but it also provides networking opportunities, a critical component of the business world that may be a new concept for those in college or recently graduated.

Kiwanis International, a global volunteer service organization, and Circle K International, a Kiwanis service leadership program for college students, created the Career Contacts program and job board with the link between volunteering and networking in mind. Designed to promote career development by encouraging college students to interact with Kiwanis members, the program offers opportunities for students and recent graduates to introduce themselves to key decision-makers across a wide variety of professional fields. Kiwanis members support the program in many ways; as career mentors, hosts for a "day at the office," participants in a campus career fair or mock job interview, or just by being listed in the business directory.

"We created this program in hopes of educating today's youth on the process of job searching and providing them with opportunities vital to success in today's working world," said Casey Keller, director of Circle K International. "Career Contacts is an excellent resource for both potential employees and employers to find prospects with similar, service-oriented interests and backgrounds."

For other ways to build a circle of professional contacts and gain valuable volunteering experience, consider the following tips:

- Join a service organization or start your own local club.

Actively seek out volunteer opportunities, job fairs and professional networking events related to your field.

Ask to job shadow a professional contact met through volunteering.

Utilize volunteering and networking Web sites to meet like-minded individuals.

Participate in your school's local chapter of a larger professional organization.

For more info on Kiwanis International, Circle K International and the Career Contacts program, please visit www.kiwanis.org or call (800) KIWANIS.

Making Summer Reading Fun And Exciting

"A Treasure's Trove" (Treasure Trove, Inc.) by Michael Stadther is one such book to consider. A beautifully illustrated fairy tale suitable for children of all ages, it became a New York Times best-seller, captured the hearts and imaginations of children and families and, through clues hidden in its pages, inspired a nationwide treasure hunt. At the request of teachers and librarians, the author has read it to children at hundreds of schools throughout North America and at the annual White House Easter Egg Roll.

The story, which appeals to both boys and girls, takes place in the Great Forest and tells a sweet (and sometimes sad) tale of friendship and greed, good and dark fairies and how love can overcome fear. There is plenty of action and suspense, plus beautiful fairies and romance. The book is all about family values, love and cooperation, loyalty and friendship. It teaches children the importance of saving the forests, about working together to accomplish their goals and that they need not be afraid of the dark.

"This book's value is truly in the words and excitement on the kids' faces," said Katie Mullins, a 3rd grade teacher at Degan Elementary School in Lewisville, Texas.

Now Available:

Free Teachers' Guide & Books

Because children quickly and easily gravitate to the book's characters and themes, teachers asked the author if he could provide additional "Treasure Trove" material for classroom use. In response, "A Treasure's Trove Teachers' Guide," developed in conjunction with a panel of leading educational advisors in the U.S., is now available for download at www. atreasurestrove.com/schools.

Intended as an enrichment tool, it is chock-full of puzzles and activities in such subject areas as reading comprehension, poetry, music composition, map reading and drawing, problem solving and critical thinking. The first 1,000 educators to register online for the new guide will receive free copy of "A Treasure's Trove," "A Puzzle Book Companion" and the "Official Solution Book to A Treasure's Trove."

In September 2006, the book's sequel, "Secrets of the Alchemist Dar," will be released-this time accompanied by a world-wide treasure hunt. Once again, Stadther will visit schools to read the book to students in grades 3 and up. Teachers and principals interested in having the author visit their schools should sign up early by visiting www.atreasurestrove. com/schools.

"A Treasure's Trove" is available in hard- and softcover at major bookstores and Amazon.com. To learn more, visit the Web site at www.atreasurestrove.com.

Valerie Harper stars as Golda

by Marijo Doody

Four-time Emmy Award-winner Valerie Harper stars in "Golda's Balcony" about legendary Prime Minister Golda Meir in the National Tour of the Broadway smash "Golda's Balcony" at the La Salle Bank Theatre (The Old Shubert) through June 11, 2006.

Golda spans life 1898 to 1978, was from Milwaukee and has a Midwest United States background indicated Ms. Harper. Americans took to Meir because of that.

William Gibson's one-woman play "Golda's Balcony" showed many different things. Not only was it a history lesson on the Israel situation but also reminded us that war is in our own time.

Golda's rise from a Russian school- girl to Israel's Primc Minister is one of the most thrilling stories of the 20th century. Gibson's play ran 15 months on Broadway to sold- out crowds!

The play chronicles the public and private life of Israel's Prime Minister Golda Meir. She was the 'founding grandmother' of Israel! She was truly a modcrn woman, who married, had children and had a rewarding career!

Her life was such a part of the creation of the Jewish state, from the early Zionist pioneers from the 1920's to the displaced persons as a result of the Holocaust and the founding of the state in 1948. The Yom Kipper War of 1973 was the major crisis with the future of Israel and the world hanging in the balance.

In the play, she deals with all the major powers of the time: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger of the United States and Jordan's King Abduallah.

The play presents two view of the balcony; the first from her apartment in Tel Aviv with the sea view and the other from the secret nuclear facility the Israeli's built Did the French help them!

Harper using her Milwaukee accent gives a sterling performance. Her clothing is the traditional Meir's trademark. How one can remember so many lines! Her interplay with the mcn surrounding showed energy and projection. However somc words were lost. Perhaps a smaller theater would benefit. I wondcred about the last row of the balcony's hearing!

Noble Fool Theatricals presents Ruthless

Tina is destined for the spotlight in Noble Fool Theatricals presentation of Ruthless. Move over Shirley Temple, because no one is going to get in Tina's way to stardom. Not her pushover mother but also her relentless agent, addlebrained teacher and certainly not her talent less competition.

The murder-musical farce parodies the child-star-gone-wrong moments like in Gypsy, All About Eve and The Women to get what they want.

Britney Spears appeared on stage in the Off-Broadway in 1992 and the play ran for 102 performances. In the cast are Natalie Berg, Vaneessa Greenway, Katie Jeep, David Kortemeier, Renee Matthews, Wendy Mortimer, Courteny Rioux and Marissa Swanson.

Blue Island Senior News

by Les Catlin

The line of anxious visitors to the King Tut exhibit at the Museum are very vocal in the approval as they exit the display. No wonder, because the fantastic display of gold is what has caused many collectors to prize each and every piece of gold they own. And every piece of gold is the same gold that was discovered in 1922 by English archeologist Howard C. Carter.

Tut was the first of the romantic Kings who valued beauty more than treasure, so his tomb is full of artifacts prepared by his artisan in loving memory of this boy King. It is with amazcment that it took so long for the tomb to be found.

So when you visit the display keep in mind that this was not stored as financial wealth, but as the mind set of a great Pharaoh who valued beauty above all else.

Collins' Mortgage fraud legislation signed into law

Springfield, IL - Legislation sponsored by State Senator Jacqueline Y. Collins (D-Chicago) has recently been signed by the Governor. Senate Bill 2349 targets illicit businesses called "mortgage rescuers" that fraudulently promise to "save homes" for individuals, but often charge a fee for providing no service or assume the deed to the home, evicting the original owner.

Senate Bill 2349 is the result of a Senate Financial Institutions Committee hearing last year on mortgage fraud convened by Senator Collins, the chair of the committee. During the hearing, the issue of "rescue fraud" was brought to the attention of the committee.

"During the hearings held by my committee last summer, I heard terrible stories about families forced out of their homes by unscrupulous bailout companies. I'm proud to have sponsored this important legislation to protect Illinois families," said Senator Collins.

The number of "mortgage rescuers" has grown as home foreclosures have risen in Illinois. These businesses are consistently targeting homeowners whose homes are at risk due to delinquent mortgage payments, foreclosure proceedings, or unpaid property taxes.

Illicit mortgage "rescuers" are known to run one of two deceptive scams at the expense of homeowners: purchasers offer to buy the home and sell it back to the owner when he or she is financially able to pay, or consultants offer their services in exchange for a fee. Often, homeowners are taken advantage of in both instances, either by way of paying the fee and receiving no service in return, or by the loss of their homes entirely after deeding it to the "rescuer" who gave a fraudulent promise to sell it back to them.

The bill requires "distressed property purchasers" to provide homeowners a written contract that lays out all of the terms of the sale and clearly states that the home is actually being sold, while it requires "distressed property consultants" to provide homeowners with a written contract spelling out all of the services to be performed.

"Finally, families won't have to worry about running scared to companies that may not be legitimate," said Collins. "All homeowners will now enjoy more security and peace of mind in getting help selling their homes when in financial trouble."

Collins said that real estate investors who are actually performing rescue jobs nobly are not affected by this legislation. With the Governor's signature, the law goes into effect immediately.

June 6, 2006=The dreaded 666

Well, folks, 6-6-06 is just another date on the calendar. Or is it? With Dan Brown's DaVinci materials seemingly so convincing, one can only assume that we might have something to worry about or guard ourselves against. Will the devil be loosed? Will evil take over the world? Numerology says "add 'em up to a single digit" and you get 6+6+6 which is first 18 then a 9. On the positive side in numerology #9 represents "endings," but endings to what? Perhaps it means endings to grief, to greed and sorrow. Maybe endings to corruption, war, poverty and health concerns. But, it is also thought that a child born on this day might be the evil one. These are not the Medieval times however, and people should stop and reason out how many prophesies have not come true about the "end of days" and evil "will collect" many souls on 6-6-06. Your own Faith will carry you through. Believe in your Creator, walk by those "still waters, unafraid" you see, evil needs your permission to corrupt your life. Evil has its restrictions too. Alyn & Jacki

Orland Park Theatre Troupe to Perform "Dirty Rotten Tricks"

Summer Show Addresses Age Old "Teen Paybacks"

ORLAND PARK, IL – High school is a time of dances, sporting events, prom, graduation, parties and more. It can also be a time of double crossing, thievery and the ultimate revenge.

The Village of Orland Park Theatre Troupe, under the auspices of the Recreation and Parks Department, will perform "Dirty Rotten Tricks" June 9 through 11 at the Orland Park Civic Center, the William R. Vogel Memorial.

"Each summer, we offer a show geared toward teens and our high school population," said Orland Park Theatre Troupe Executive Producer Irene Buikema. "This particular show illustrates just part of the high school experience," Buikema said.

Written by R. Eugene Jackson, "Dirty Rotten Tricks" tells the tale of Trixie Mindstem and her plans to get even with the deceitful Mark Toppledander.

Orland Park Resident Producer/Director Frann Carnivele-Sidlow is directing this production with Ashley Herbold serving as assistant director.

"Our teen show always follows a theme of good triumphing over evil," Carnivele-Sidlow said. "I like to choose shows that offer a lesson, whether it's subliminal or jumps out at the audience," she added.

In an on-line interview, Playwright R. Eugene Jackson explained, "There is a feature in Cosmopolitan Magazine in which women explain how they were taken advantage of by men and what they did for revenge." "Readers vote on whether the response was appropriate or not. In one of the stories, a former fiancée was angered when her boyfriend later planned a wedding with another woman. I decided to apply that idea to a typical teen situation," he said.

Stephanie Owens, of Orland Park, portrays the protagonist Trixie Mindstem while Gabe Hoerger of Oak Forest is her nemesis, Mark Toppledander. Gina Burnett, also of Orland Park, is Trixie's sidekick, Quits.

Other Orland Park residents appearing in the show include Gianna Esposito, Alyssa Fralich, Joey Germino, Lauren Hagy, Sabrina Mangan, Christina Pacini, Jose Perez, Melanie Roehl, Michelle Sargis, Rich Struzik, Melissa Trentacoste, Bryce Valach, Krissi Witte and Stephanie Witte. The cast also includes Christina Flores (Tinley Park); Tony Palermo (Burbank); Alice Trull and Randy Trull (Bedford Park) and Jan Wittenmeyer (Oak Forest).

The Village of Orland Park Theatre Troupe will perform "Dirty Rotten Tricks," by R. Eugene Jackson, Friday, June 9 and Saturday, June 10 at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, June 11 at 2:00 p.m. Advance tickets are available at Orland Park's Loebe Recreation Center, 14650 South Ravinia Avenue. A limited number of tickets may be available at the door. For more information, call the Orland Park Recreation and Parks Department at 708/403-PARK.

Bill to create speed limit for parks

A bill sponsored by State Senor Ed Maloney (D-Chicago) that would create speed limits for parks when children are present has been signed into law.

The legislation would create speed limits adjacent to parks where children play, similar to the speed zones that already exist for schools.

"Children are safer at school from errant motorists because of school zones. They tend to frequent parks after school and on holidays when there is less adult supervision. This new law creates speed zones for parks and ultimately produces a safer pedestrian climate around parks," said Senator Maloney.

Governor Blagojcvich signed the measure into law.

Worth approves tax levy for golf course

by Matt Mayer

A special meeting of the Worth Board of Trustees was held on May regarding the abatement of this year's property tax for Waters Edge Golf course. The board postponed this vote at the previous regular board meeting on May 16 so as Mayor Ed Guzdziol and village treasurer Joe Murray could meet with Founders Bank President Thomas Bugielski to inquire whether the village would be able to obtain another loan so a portion of the remaining balance could bc applied to an existing $500,000 line-of-credit as opposed to levying the tax.

Gudziol and Murray both said due to the villagc debt, the village was unable to obtain a loan. Murray said of all the financial sources contacted, they all agreed that it would to the village's best interest not to abate the taxes and levy the tax; this would place the village in a better position for future borrowing.

The board approved the tax levy for the municipal golf course, which will result in an estimated $58 next year based on a home with an assessed valuation of $200,000.

Oak Lawn EMT'S received Outstanding Call of the Year Award

by Matt Mayer

The following Emergency Medical Technologist -Paramedics were honored at the June 13, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting, Firefighters-Paramedics James Casper, Steve McKenna, Dan Roony and Mark Cesario, for receiving the Outstanding Call of the Year Award from Advocate Christ Medical Center Emergency Medical Services department. on June 6.

The crew responded to a call for an unconscious patient suffering anaphylactic shock reaction to medication and respiratory failure. This is the severest medical emergency allergy, according to the Gell and Coombs allergy classification. This severe and sometimes fatal systemic reaction is susceptible to individuals upon exposure to a specific antigen (such as wasp venom or penicillin), characterized especially by respiratory symptoms, fainting, itching, arcadia, sudden decline in blood pressure and swelling of the throat. This patient's throat was swollen shut Intubation, which in medical terms is the placement of a tube used to denote tracheal intubation where a tracheal tube is passed through the mouth, through the larynx, and into the trachea. However this wasn't possible due to the patents throat being swollen shut. Fire chief Ed Folliard said. The crew then performed a needle cricothyrotomy, which is a 12 or 14 gauge cannula, a slender tube usually occupied by a solid shaft for strength - with a syringe attached - and is introduced through the cricothyroid membrane - until air can be aspirated. The cannula is then advanced off the need down the trachea. The hub of the cannula is then connected to an oxygen supply. A needle cricothyrotomy will ensure a supply of oxygen for a maximum of 10 minutes. This allowed the patient to receive oxygen, while the crew restarted the patient's heart, saving her life.

According to Fire Chief Ed Folliard, the doctors at Christ Hospital said they had never seen this procedure performed in the field. Division Chief and EMS Coordinator Peter Lombardi was also presented with the Nancy Pasieta Excellence in EMS Management Award. Mayor Dave Heilmann said their response to the call demonstrated their sprit of professionalism.

The life saving techniques and dedication to their skills as emergency medical professionals afforded the patient the best possible care. The crew received a standing ovation. There was no vote needed on this one.

Congressman Dan Lipinski Garners Federal Funds For Local Transportation and Community Development Projects

WASHINGTON, DC - Today, the House of Representatives passed the Transportation, Treasury, Housing and Urban Development Appropriations Bill which includes over $1 million for critical transportation and infrastructure projects in Chicagoland totaling $1.05 million as requested by Congressman Dan Lipinski. Additionally, Congressman Lipinski offered an amendment to this bill that would have added $30 million to the Capital Grants Rail Line Relocation Program, which would enhance rail safety and alleviate rail congestion in Chicago. With Congressman Lipinski's support, the Fiscal Year (FY) 2007 Transportation, Treasury, Housing and Urban Development Appropriations bill, passed by a vote of 406 to 22.

"These federal funds represent my continuing efforts to ensure that the taxpayers of the Third Congressional District get their fair share back from the federal government," explained Lipinski. "Should this bill become law, the $1,050,000 in federal funds will go towards important projects that will improve the quality of life in our communities."

The FY 2007 Transportation, Treasury, Housing and Urban Development Appropriations bill includes funding for the following projects requested by Lipinski:

· $550,000 for an intermodal transit facility, Berwyn
· $400,000 for Pace Suburban Bus Mobile Data Terminals
· $100,000 to continue construction of a community center serving the Archer Heights Community

The Senate has not yet voted on a FY 2007 Transportation, Treasury, Housing and Urban Development Appropriations bill, therefore the above figures have not been finalized and are subject to change.

Lipinski seeks funding for Rail Line improvement grants to aid communities

Lipinski Offers Amendment to Fund Rail Program at $30 Million

Washington D.C. - Today, Congressman Dan Lipinski offered an amendment to the Transportation-Treasury-HUD Appropriations bill. This bipartisan amendment would appropriate $30 million for the Capital Grants Rail Line Relocation and Improvement Program, a federal grants program that would invest in rail infrastructure by addressing congestion, safety, and quality of life issues, including the building of railroad underpasses and the creation of quiet zones.

"Railroads are a vital mode of transportation in the United States, and the federal government continues to severely under invest in our rail needs," said Lipinski during floor debate. "Railroads provide numerous public benefits, including efficient freight shipment, fuel conservation, pollution reduction, traffic congestion relief, and economic development."

"The Third District has great needs for rail improvements and these grants could provide a great assistance by building railroad underpasses, improving safety at crossings, and helping to implement quiet zones in our communities," said Lipinski.

Lipinski's amendment reflected bipartisan support from across the country and would provide much needed investment into local rail projects. During the debate today Rep. Lipinski said, "This money would be vital in funding projects that will not only help economic development and create jobs, but also alleviate adverse effects of rail traffic on our communities."

"With Chicago as our nation's premier transportation hub and the meeting point of many of America's major rail lines, investing in rail infrastructure makes sense for the Third District. It will improve our local economy, reduce our road congestion, and improve our overall quality of life."

"As I have discussed with Ranking Member Olver, this is an important program critical to improving rail infrastructure in this country. I will continue to work with the Ranking Member to see that this program gets included in Conference," said Lipinski.

Something Old & Something New

Dear Brides to Be:

When people look at you the first thing they remember is your smile. You want it to be photographed at its best on that special day.

You may want to have your dentist whiten your teeth several weeks beforehand with an in office whitening procedure such as "Britesmile".

I want your wedding to be perfect. A heart that loves bonds. Be Happy!

Best Wishes,
Carlene O'Connor

Psychic Insights Questions and Psychic Answers
Scammers

James B. of Oak Park asks, "can people learn to develop and use their own intuition or other powers we hear that we are all born with?" The answer to this is a resounding "yes!" But, the problems most people run into are the so-called teachers of the occult, who may be scam-artists, gurus and pretend-mediums. You find these people often operating in association with Psychic Fairs where they collect from the person they are talking to and then have to share their fee with the manager or promoter. It can be big business! Quite often they tell every third person the same things. Most have no background or skill in dealing with people and their needs. Jennifer of Tinley Park says, "my friends and I went to a Psychic who had a sign out on her lawn. She told each one of us, in a different way, that we were cursed but could end the curse by lighting candles at the cost of ( ) per candle. Two girls fell for it. The next cost of the candle burning was triple the first cost." This is what I am talking about...Jacki Mari & Alyn

Beyond Logic+

"But...it was supposed to work!" Well, it didn't, even though all logic was in favour of it being a simple thing as it had been for thousands of others. I went to the dentist and had a root canal. First my eye swelled nearly shut, and then the rest of my face swelled up and I developed some pockets of thick fluid in my gums. I was told [of course] that I was the only one this ever happened to. I was sick to my very core. I lost sleep, and I lost business and could not be seen by my client's because I really looked really weird. But when taking everything that happened to me into consideration, this whole experience must surely be Beyond Logic! Alyn

It is logical that when something falls or drops, it falls or drops straight down from where it was, on a shelf, in a hand, etc., and not outward first and then down. Since R.J. moved into the house she is still in, things don't fall or drop straight down, they fall outward [sometimes 2-3 feet] before going down! Things seem to get slapped right out of her hands and she is often "pushed forward" by an unseen force.

...write to me about your own Beyond Logic experience.

Memories and Marriage Vows

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

Many months ago, when our eldest daughter became engaged, she made me promise not to focus future columns on her upcoming wedding. She's not all that fond of being the topic of conversation, in print.

I guess I can kind of see her point. I blew it right from the get go. When I wrote about the adventures of shopping for the perfect bridal gown, I happened to mention her dress size. Don't ask me what I was thinking - probably that I'd kill to be that size again! Well, she didn't appreciate the public declaration.

It also didn't help that I submitted an engagement announcement for publication in the newspaper. That caused her to accuse me of crossing the line. She said I should have asked her permission - I insisted it was my parental prerogative.

I think I've held up pretty well with my promise not to mention every memory that's been mine to cherish.

But, as the wedding day quickly approaches how can I not write about what's been in my heart for so many months? The butterflies are beginning to stir and the tears are just waiting to fall as I come to terms with what this all means to me emotionally.

In the months leading up to this special day my daughter and I have shared some good laughs, shed a few sentimental tears while pouring over photo albums, and, on occasion, came to blows when we disagreed on how some things should be handled.

As hard as it has been I've learned to just shut up and and let her call the shots when I knew something was especially important to her. And, as close as she is to walking down the aisle, it's not over yet. I'm sure there will be a few more arguments, a few more tears shed and loads of laughs as we look back on all this merry madness.

My very wise husband says it hasn't hit me yet. It probably won't dawn on this empty nester until the newlyweds are on their honeymoon.

Daughters get married everyday - nothing extraordinary about that. But, when it's your own, when you look back on all the memories that make up the journey that gets you to the church on time, your heart bursts with love, pride, and gratefulness for the gift of a darling daughter about to embark on life anew as a married woman.

All of these emotions remind me of a moment in the life of a little old lady that lived in a nursing home where I worked many years ago. It was over 30 years ago but I remember it as if it was yesterday. Her name was Agnes Ryan. She was a tiny lady with snow white hair and the spunk of a teen-ager.

She had been my patient that long ago Saturday afternoon, and one of my duties was to get her ready to attend a great-grand daughter's wedding.

Agnes was so excited it was hard not to get caught up in her joy and enthusiasm. As I wheeled her down the hallway she attracted the attention of everyone within her sight - insisting that everyone come along, and as we walked in the direction of the lobby, where her family waited to take her to the wedding, I'll never forget what she said - "Come be a part of this memory with me, it's what life is all about."

On June 24, 2006, at 5:15 in the evening, we will witness the marriage of our daughter, Jaime to her longtime love, Dan Farrell.

And, so it is, with the sentiment of a sweet little old lady named Agnes Ryan, I invite you all to come and be a part of the making of a memory; to share, with our family, this happy, joyful event.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

There are no short cuts to any place worth going. (Beverly Sills.)

Child Development Lab School has openings for summer fall

Year-round preschool provides nurturing environment for community

Chicago (June 16, 2006) – Saint Xavier University's Child Development Laboratory School still has positions open for summer and fall classes for children ages 3 to 5 years old.

The lab school provides a nurturing, safe environment that is child-directed, inquiry-based and play-centered. Located at the United Methodist Church of Mount Greenwood, 11000 S. St. Louis Ave, Chicago, the school offers full-day preschool services for children of the community as well as students, faculty, staff and alumni of Saint Xavier.

"We help teach children how to become lifelong learners by engaging them in the types of activities that foster relationships with others, providing hands-on exploration and following the children's own interests," said Kelly O'Brien, lab school director.

Open year-round, the lab school utilizes Creative Curriculum, a play-based developmentally appropriate plan of activities for preschool-aged children that focuses on the environment. Programs are available from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily with a choice of two-, three- or five-day schedules. A one-time annual registration fee of $35 is due with application.

Mothers McAuley breaks ground for new Catherine's garden project

To commemorate the anniversary of 50 years as Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School and 160 years of Mercy Education in Chicago, McAuley has undertaken a landscape renovation project for the front of the campus.

This "Catherine's Garden" project will span the front of the building located along 99th Street and include two brick gardens, brick and granite paths, beautiful plantings, lighting and seating.

The plan for the project is three-fold: to strengthen McAuley's Mercy and Catholic identity; to create a welcoming outdoor space for prayer and contemplation for students and community; and to raise funds for Financial Aid, the Learning Resource Program and Faculty/Staff Pensions.

With the support of generous donors who have helped underwrite the cost of creating Catherine's Garden, brick donations will go directly to these three significant needs. And, as an ongoing project, the Garden ensures they will have a long term revenue stream. Catherine's Garden offers donors a variety of ways to contribute to this important renovation.

Opportunities include engraved bricks available in either 7x8 or 8x14; engraved seating capstones placed in Mercy Circle and the Tribute Garden; tree and decorative lampposts with bronze dedication signs; as well as special areas within the garden that can be named in tribute or memory of an individual or family.

The Garden will also feature plaques displaying quotes by Catherine McAuley, foundress of the Sisters of Mercy, so students and visitors will be reminded of her living mission at Mother McAuley.

If you would like more information or would like to purchase a Catherine's Garden item, please contact Kathryn Heise, vice president for development, at 773-881-6557.

You may also visit our website at www.mothermcauley.org for information and to watch the progress of this exciting project.

City of Oak Forest First in State of Illinois to implement City-wide water distribution leak detection system

Oak Forest, IL – Public Works Director Troy Ishler announced today that Mayor JoAnn Kelly and the City Council have approved a new city-wide water leak detection system called MLOG by Flowmetrix of Maynard, MA. The Oak Forest Water Department will soon be able to automatically find hidden underground water leaks during the night, while residents sleep.

The MLOG leak-detection sensors will be attached to water pipes in 750 locations across the city. Pronounced em-log, MLOG's are stand-alone battery powered units that contain both a sensor and a small computer, says Director of Public Works Troy Ishler. "The sensors wake up and record vibrations for a four hour period of time in the quietest part of the night." The readings from several units can localize leaks to a one block area. Public Works water plant operators will then be dispatched to pinpoint the location using a digital correlation unit to within a few feet.

Oak Forest is building upon the research of one the largest water service providers in North America, American Water. American Water serves more than 18 million people in 29 states and three Canadian provinces. Research conducted by American Water is now proving that utilities can detect, find and stop water leaks long before big problems bubble up in the streets.

A pilot study conducted by American Water in Connellsville, PA found numerous leaks through the MLOG sensors which would have never been discovered before because of where they were located. Connellsville is estimating that since implementation of the MLOG system that it is saving approximately 350,000 gallons a day. According to Ken Moore, Chicago area representative for Midwest Meter, "Due to the success of the pilot study, American Water is requiring the use of the MLOG system in the areas it serves in the state of New Jersey. They have tested MLOG and will fully deploy it as they change-out more than 600,000 water meters across the state."

Public Works Director Troy Ishler hopes to realize a similar level of success – "The new MLOG leak detection system coupled with our water meter change-out program will greatly improve service while plugging leaks and cutting losses."

The City of Oak Forest is continuing to improve water systems operations and the accountability of the Public Works Department. In May 2006, the department began utilizing CarteGraph's Work Director and Call Director software to computerize resident requests, generate work orders, and track and improve service quality.

Recent capital projects include the new 159th Street sanitary sewer lift station, a new city-wide SCADA (supervisory control and data acquisition) system to monitor and control the potable water distribution system and the sanitary and storm water pumping stations, and four new variable frequency drives and improvements in standby electrical power at City's main pumping station.

Additional water system capital projects slated during 2006 include upgrades to the backup generation power for the water distribution systems pumping stations, and painting of two the City's water towers. Both a complete city-wide water distribution system study and a sanitary sewer system study is nearing completion according to Steven Amann of Baxter & Woodman Consulting Engineers.

$3.1 Million ComEd Projects to Add Capacity, Improve Reliability
In Growing Mokena/Orland Park/Palos Heights Area

Orland Park, Ill. (May 10, 2006) – To meet growing electrical demand in Mokena, Orland Park and Palos Heights, ComEd is nearing completion of two projects totaling $3.1 million to provide new distribution capacity and maintain system reliability for area customers.

The projects consist of expanding local electrical capacity by installing a new distribution line and extending another one. The new four-mile line is being installed along 191st Street in Mokena, adjacent to an existing ComEd transmission line between 191st Street to 183rd Street in Orland Park. The line will increase local capacity by eight megawatts and serve about 1,500 residential and commercial customers in Orland Park and Mokena.

The other line extends for three-quarters of a mile west from LaGrange Road along 131st Street. It will increase local capacity by 7.5 megawatts and serve up to 2,500 residential and commercial customers in Orland Park, Palos Heights and Palos Park. Both lines will be completed by the end of this month and will reduce the number and duration of local outages – especially during peak summer usage periods.

"Investing in our system to meet demand in growing communities is an important way we fulfill our commitment to keep the lights on and provide reliable service," said John Costello, ComEd's executive vice-president and chief operating officer. "Our customers depend on us to deliver power when they need it most. This and other projects will help us do just that."

Since 2001, ComEd has invested more than $3 billion to expand, upgrade and maintain the reliability of its system serving the company's 3.7 million customers in Northern Illinois.

In addition to infrastructure investments, the company performs regular maintenance work to ensure reliable electricity supply, such as vegetation maintenance to free electrical lines from interference, system engineering to achieve optimal equipment operations, and regular visual inspections of above ground electrical lines.

Psychic Insights Questions and Psychic Answers

Scammers

James B. of Oak Park asks, "can people learn to develop and use their own intuition or other powers we hear that we are all born with?" The answer to this is a resounding "yes!" But, the problems most people run into are the so-called teachers of the occult, who may be scam-artists, gurus and pretend-mediums. You find these people often operating in association with Psychic Fairs where they collect from the person they are talking to and then have to share their fee with the manager or promoter. It can be big business! Quite often they tell every third person the same things. Most have no background or skill in dealing with people and their needs. Jennifer of Tinley Park says, "my friends and I went to a Psychic who had a sign out on her lawn. She told each one of us, in a different way, that we were cursed but could end the curse by lighting candles at the cost of ( ) per candle. Two girls fell for it. The next cost of the candle burning was triple the first cost." This is what I am talking about... Jacki Mari & Alyn

"But...it was supposed to work!" Well, it didn't, even though all logic was in favour of it being a simple thing as it had been for thousands of others. I went to the dentist and had a root canal. First my eye swelled nearly shut, and then the rest of my face swelled up and I developed some pockets of thick fluid in my gums. I was told [of course] that I was the only one this ever happened to. I was sick to my very core. I lost sleep, and I lost business and could not be seen by my client's because I really looked really weird. But when taking everything that happened to me into consideration, this whole experience must surely be Beyond Logic! Alyn

It is logical that when something falls or drops, it falls or drops straight down from where it was, on a shelf, in a hand, etc., and not outward first and then down. Since R.J. moved into the house she is still in, things don't fall or drop straight down, they fall outward [sometimes 2-3 feet] before going down! Things seem to get slapped right out of her hands and she is often "pushed forward" by an unseen force.

...write to me about your own Beyond Logic experience.

Worth residents voice anger over TIF

by Matt Mayer

Emotions ran high at the public meeting for the proposed 111th Street /Tollroad Tax Increment Finance (TIF) District. The standing room only crowd in the village chambers overflowed into the hallway, down the outside staircase and outside into the parking lot. Beth Ruyle of Ehlers and Associates of Warrenville, the company the village hired to do the TIF eligibility study, outlined the study results, which determined that the village meets the blighted eligibility requirements for the creation of a TIF district.

At a December 2005 village board meeting, the board voted to commence with the formal TIF eligibility process. The focal point, which prompted the TIF eligibility study, was the abandoned Paul's Pluming Supply building at 111th and Ridgeland Ave.- this is the boundary to the east. In April the board expanded the boundaries, which includes a small portion of homes. The remainder of the TIF district is roughly bounded by 112th to the south, which includes a condominium building as well as a park and other property.

The boundary to the west is I-294. The north is bounded slightly north of 111th Street and includes some additional businesses including Krapil's Steak House. The total bounded area is some 16 acres. State law requires that a public hearing must be held before a TIF district can be established. A TIF district uses tax revenue to finance improvements within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years.

Mailings sent to resident's homes by opponents of the redevelopment plan angered homeowners who demanded that no homes be sacrificed for this project. "I don't know who putting this stuff out," Guzdiziol said. "I'm the guy, that's been going around - my name and phone number is on 90 percent of this stuff," said avid opponent Jack Mc Garth. Residents also asked whether the village would evoke eminent domain. "We're not out to bulldoze homes," Guzdziol said. "Alsip did it," Mc Garth bellowed.

Trustee Kevin Warner said, "We have some bad news here people - we have some real economic problems in this town - we're broke, people and I support the mayor in this project. This TIF project is absolutely essential for economic growth." Fielding repeated concerns of residents losing their homes. "We're not going to bulldoze houses - we're not going after any residential property. We're not trying to take anyone's home. No one on this board is interested in taking people's homes, but if we're going to be on equal footing with other communities, such as Oak Lawn, it's the only way to compete." Guzdziol said. One resident asked, "What happens if there is a different board."

Chicago Ridge CVS presentation

by Matt Mayer

At the June 6, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustee meeting, CVS representative, Lee Winter, outlined a proposed building at the southwest corner of 111th St. and Central. Construction on the building is slated to begin in November 2007 and the store is slated for completion by June 2008.

In other business, the board approved the purchase of the Hawkinson Ford new car storage property in the industrial park as well as the acceptance of a TSC contract not to exceed $5,500 for four borings samples of the lot for an updated environmental evaluation. Negotiations have begun to possibly house the new fire station on the property.

Mr. Roche has been cited to clean up his property over some eight years and has failed to comply. He is continuing to rent space to unlicensed vehicles. Roche attended a village board meeting approximately one month ago and set his own deadline of June 1 for compliance. At such time village officials said that if he didn't comply, he would be cited. Police Chief Tim Baldermann has been checking the property and Roche has received some 30 citations, averaging a daily cost of $250.

Roche continues to operate the property without a business license and the board directed Baldermann to shut down the business until Roche has complied with all codes and the fire, police and building departments complete and approve their inspections. Village engineer Chris Burke also stated that there has been no grading and blacktopping done. There are old tires, leaking oil, which possess environmental protection agency 9 EP violations.

A public works request to hire part time summer help was approved as well as a landscape trailer for $2,000. A request to purchase two weed whips for $539.90 was also approved.

The board approved the following business license requests: Hi-Tech Auto Clinic at 10127 S. Harlem Ave. law office of Mona Naser and Harlem Realty Group at 10139 S. Harlem Ave; Triple Transportation at 9982 Anderson-Unit A, E. R. Defoggio and Sam Plumbing at 5712 W. 111th St and Torrid at the Mall. A request to pay paid-on-call firefighters Muntz, Estes, Hide, Hardel, Eklund, Aguirre and Balson was approved. A police department request to hire two part time officers and Hank Dropkowski, who received the oath of office as a full time officer was also approved. This is lateral move for Dropkowski, who was formerly with the Posen police department. The next meeting is June 30.

Psychic Insights Questions and Psychic Answers
Scammers

James B. of Oak Park asks, "can people learn to develop and use their own intuition or other powers we hear that we are all born with?" The answer to this is a resounding "yes!" But, the problems most people run into are the so-called teachers of the occult, who may be scam-artists, gurus and pretend-mediums. You find these people often operating in association with Psychic Fairs where they collect from the person they are talking to and then have to share their fee with the manager or promoter. It can be big business! Quite often they tell every third person the same things. Most have no background or skill in dealing with people and their needs. Jennifer of Tinley Park says, "my friends and I went to a Psychic who had a sign out on her lawn. She told each one of us, in a different way, that we were cursed but could end the curse by lighting candles at the cost of ( ) per candle. Two girls fell for it. The next cost of the candle burning was triple the first cost." This is what I am talking about... Jacki Mari & Alyn

"But...it was supposed to work!" Well, it didn't, even though all logic was in favour of it being a simple thing as it had been for thousands of others. I went to the dentist and had a root canal. First my eye swelled nearly shut, and then the rest of my face swelled up and I developed some pockets of thick fluid in my gums. I was told [of course] that I was the only one this ever happened to. I was sick to my very core. I lost sleep, and I lost business and could not be seen by my client's because I really looked really weird. But when taking everything that happened to me into consideration, this whole experience must surely be Beyond Logic! Alyn

It is logical that when something falls or drops, it falls or drops straight down from where it was, on a shelf, in a hand, etc., and not outward first and then down. Since R.J. moved into the house she is still in, things don't fall or drop straight down, they fall outward [sometimes 2-3 feet] before going down! Things seem to get slapped right out of her hands and she is often "pushed forward" by an unseen force.

...write to me about your own Beyond Logic experience.

The kids play at the miracle field

by Marijo Doody

The old theme of the Chicago White Sox a few years ago was the kids can play! We all know what the kids did last year in bringing the World Series trophy to Chicago. Through the Sox, White Sox Charities also funded the Miracle Field in Mount Greenwood in a 1 million- dollar complex.

The field is flat and rubber and doesn't present obstacles for people in wheelchairs or who are visually handicapped.

It has been reported that recently there was a "Miracles Can Happen Double header." Started by two ladies Katie Kettering and Nancy Cranston, little Charlie ran around the bases while balloons and posters were put around for the games at Miracle Field in Chicago's Mount Greenwood, the field designated for special needs children.

Around 50 children participated along with orange-clad T-shirted volunteers. Most of the volunteers were from Mount Greenwood. The umpires were Mount Carmel baseball team players and eight graders from St. Christina Catholic school. Volunteers served as buddies to the kids if needed.

Kettering and Cranston said "we received significant support and response from the community, every kid hits, everybody makes a base and everyone scores a run. The staff at Mt. Greenwood Park was very supportive."

Charlie Kettering and Dan Cranston both have Down Syndrome, but Miracle Field is a place where their disabilities do not matter. Every kid likes to play baseball and some may need a little help. Even little Rob Marciano (3 years) the games youngest player was thrilled. His mom Eileen said "he watches the White Sox with his dad. We salute the White Sox charities for this program. Lets play more ball!

St. Patrica's Hickory Hills Junior Varsity Boys won the Championship of the Soutwest Catholic Soccer Association Monday, June 5, 1 - 0 over Incarnation. On Tuesday, June 6 they won 4-0 over Incarnation The Junior VarsityTeam went undefeated the whole seasonl Coaches for the team were Pete Reed, Paddy Conway and Bert Connolly

In other business, the board approved the payment of dues for the Southwest Conference of Mayors. A board discussion took place regarding changing the number of times the board will meet in July - no decision was made at this time.

The board approved the following business license requests: A-1 Screen Printing for a new location for screen printing/ retail clothing at 3841 W. 95th St; Airbrush n Things, Inc for screen printing, embroidery, airbrushing and letter transferring at the Plaza.

Lipinski Meets with Polish Foreign Minister Fotyga

[WASHINGTON, DC] Congressman Dan Lipinski met Monday, June 19, with Polish Minister of Foreign Affairs, Anna Fotyga and the Polish Ambassador to the United States, Janusz Reiter, to discuss relations between the United States and Poland.

"Poland is one of America's closest allies and has continually shown a commitment to the US-led reconstruction of Iraq and the global war on terrorism," Lipinski said. "It's important that we increase economic and cultural ties between Poland and the United States, and strengthen our already close relationship."

Ms. Anna Fotyga is the new Minister of Foreign Affairs of Poland and was appointed by the Polish President Kaczynski on May 9, 2006. Previously a deputy foreign minister and a Member of the European Parliament representing the Polish Law and Justice party, Fotyga was in the United States to discuss current relations between the United States and Poland, including the Visa Waiver Program.

"Including Poland in the U.S. Visa Waiver Program would not only benefit Polish citizens wanting to visit the United States, but would also make it easier for millions of Polish-American citizens to see their families and friends," Lipinski said.

Congressman Lipinski has cosponsored legislation to add Poland to the Visa Waiver Program which covers 27 countries, including Slovenia, Brunei, France, Germany, Australia, Singapore, and Japan. In 1991, Poland unilaterally repealed the visa requirement for the United States citizens traveling to Poland. The U.S. Senate recently passed an amendment to immigration reform legislation that adds Poland to the Visa Waiver program for a two years probationary period, and allows Polish citizens to travel to the U.S. for tourism or business for up to 60 days without needing to stand in line to get a visa.

Nearing Retirement visit social security online

By John Flynn, Social Security District Manager

As much as the Internet has become part of daily American life, the age group that has been slowest to adapt to Internet use for everyday business and information needs has been Americans age 65 and older. According to a recent report by the PEW Research Center, only about a third of those over age 65 use the Internet, compared with more than twice that number of those age 50 to 64. Most of this latter group are baby boomers, and they will be retiring (and planning their retirements) in large numbers over the next few years.

If you are one of these Internet savvy baby boomers, Social Security wants you to know that we are open for business at www.socialsecurity.gov <http://www.socialsecurity.gov>. Whether you are just planning your retirement, or are actually ready to apply for Social Security retirement benefits, here are the Social Security online services you may want to consider:

Social Security Benefit Application: When you decide to take the plunge and actually retire, you can apply for your retirement (or spouse's) benefits online.

Retirement Planners: You can estimate your future benefits and also use links to outside websites that discuss other sources of retirement income and post-retirement concerns such as housing and medical care.

Even if you are not yet ready to use these Social Security online services, I urge you to visit our website at www.socialsecurity.gov and check them out, so that when you are ready you will know just what help is available to you.

Understanding the ABC's of the Windfall elimination provision

By John Flynn Social Security District Manager

The Windfall Elimination Provision, or WEP, can affect the Social Security benefits of tens of thousands of American workers, and it is one of the least understood aspects of the Social Security program.

So here are the basics about the WEP and how it could affect you, a family member, friend or coworker.

Who is affected: If you work in a job that is not covered under Social Security (such as some federal, state or local government jobs), any pension you get based on that work may reduce your Social Security benefits.

Why: Your Social Security benefits are reduced because Social Security benefits were intended to replace only a percentage of a worker's pre-retirement earnings. The way Social Security benefit amounts are figured, lower-paid workers get a higher return than highly-paid workers on the wages they earned while working. For example, lower-paid workers could get a Social Security benefit that equals about 55 percent of their pre-retirement earnings. The average replacement rate for highly-paid workers is about 25 percent.

Before 1983, people who worked in jobs not covered by Social Security received benefits that were computed as if they were long-term, low-wage workers. They received the advantage of a higher percentage of benefits in addition to their other pension. Congress passed the windfall elimination provision to eliminate this advantage.

A 'safety net': If you get a relatively low pension, the reduction in your Social Security benefit cannot be more than one-half of that part of your pension based on your job from which Social Security taxes were not deducted.

Plan ahead: Many people do not know about WEP and could experience the unpleasant surprise of learning that their retirement income will be reduced at a time when it is too late to adjust for it. In the future that is unlikely to happen because, as of last year, public employers are required to notify each new employee about WEP, and get each new hire's signature on a document attesting to having been notified. In the meantime, employees can quickly find out if and how their future Social Security benefit could be affected by WEP. Social Security has an easy-to-use online calculator at www.socialsecurity.gov/gpo-wep <http://www.socialsecurity.gov/gpo-wep> that allows you to estimate your Social Security benefit if you have a pension from work not covered by Social Security. You'll also see an online fact sheet and other information about WEP at our website: www.socialsecurity.gov <http://www.socialsecurity.gov>. Anyone who doesn't have access to the Internet can call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) and ask for the Windfall Elimintion Provision fact sheet.

Movin' Out

Moving' out, the Tony Award-winning new musical conceived, choreographed and directed by Twyla Tharp and based on 24 classic songs by Billy Joel, makes its triumphant return to Chicago, where the production first premiered before selling out on Broadway and on tour across the nation. Movin' Out moved in to the Auditorium Theatre June 28 until July 9, 2006.

Elizabeth Parkinson and Keith Roberts return to Chicago to reprise their roles as "Brenda" and "Tony". Part of the original pre Broadway and Broadway cast, both received Tony Award nominations for their performances in Movin' Out.

Told through the choreography of Twyla Tharp and more than two dozen of Billy Joel's hit songs, Movin' Out is the story of lifelong friends through two turbulent decades that change them and the world around them forever. Songs like "It's Still rock and Roll to Me." "We Didn't Start the Fire," and "Pressure" all come together to weave a musical backdrop which beautifully complements tharp's innovative choreography. The songs and dance take audiences through a poignant narrative comprised of three main elements: post World War II idealism, the Vietnam War and its subsequent unrest, and finally, survival.

Movin' Out is produced by James L. Nederlander, Hal Luftig, Scott E. Nederlander, Terry Allen Kramer, Clear Channel Entertainment and Emanuel Azenbeerg. Musical continuity and supervision is by Stuart Malina, Movin' Out feature a scenic design by Santo Loquasto, costume design by Suzy Benziger, lighting design by Donald Holder and sound design by Brian Ruggles and Peter Fitzgerald.

Freedom Is Not Free!

From somewhere above comes a message to all of us who want Freedom. "Many people are confused in thinking that the word Freedom 'means' Free!" Since America began, men & women have died [the greatest price of all] so Americans & others can live in & enjoy freedom. But freedom also means taking "responsibility" for ourselves & our families. "Equality" means the taking of responsibility for ourselves. Equality is also a part of this thing called "Freedom." We possess the right to earn a living, to purchase things we want, to worship as we please, & so many other things people in other countries do not have the rights to do. Still, there are some people who seem to think that they can walk in & take what they want & not have to earn or be responsible for what they take. Some people think they can put the burden of their debts & needs on others simply because they want to. Now, some people want to make us all one Religion or we must die. So, if Freedom is important to you, you had better know it does not come cheap…ever."

Wedding Memories

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

The big day has come and gone and, like the day after Christmas, there is a slight disbelief that it could all be over.

As I write this, my daughter and her new husband are honeymooning, while Bill and I are trying to adjust to the quiet. This is quite a difference from the days leading up to the wedding.

I can now say, from experience, that no matter how much you plan and organize, the week before a wedding there are always last minute mishaps that you simply cannot foresee. Take for instance the photo frames used to hold the guest's seating place cards. We picked them up from the printer and happily sat down to fit them into the silver frames.

We quickly discovered the lettering was a bit too large. A trip back to the printer and a prayer she could redo them in one day, and we were back to work.

The special day dawned sunny and bright - a picture perfect day to get married.

The beautiful bridesmaids and super excited flower girls gathered around the beaming bride while the photographer snapped away.

The trolley seemed to be here much too early but actually it was right on time. I had been warned that this day would go by in a blink of an eye but it must have been the tears of joy that clouded my perception. An all too quick ride on the trolley and we were all delivered to the church with only a few minutes to spare.

With God's blessing, and surrounded by family and friends and the sounds of trumpets and flutes, our little girl became a wife.

We parents of the bride and groom waltzed into the reception as if walking on air; truly a moment in time for us. The energy in the room was electric and the excitement contagious.

The applause for the new married couple was so loud and enthusiastic that the music of the bag piper was barely heard.

The rest of the night went by in a whirl of dancing as it seemed like every guest was up on the dance floor, swinging, swaying, or jumping up and down to the beat of the music. And then it was over. The lights were turned up, the music turned off and, like a dream, I wondered if this special day had really come and gone this fast.

Today it feels a little like the day after Christmas. For so many months the dining room table was wedding central and now it's just empty and bare.

The champagne has gone flat, the flowers are wilting, and the house is really much too quiet, but that will take some time to get use to. Today is a day to remember. Before leaving the reception one of the waitresses shared her opinion that weddings are wasteful. She was right, I suppose. I think she was referring, in part, to all the cake that was left over and the party favors still left on some of the tables. Her ideal wedding, she said, would be to give her daughter a ladder and a check, which I assumed meant she hoped her daughter would elope. Well, not me. If I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't change a thing.

The gift I'm keeping with me is the awesome memories of a celebration that was 15 months in the making.

And, hopefully, the memories will be as ceremonious when it's time for my youngest daughter to say, "I Do."

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

No matter where you are in life always believe the best is always yet to come. (Kathy Whirity)

Talk to the animal

Make an appointment to see Dr. Dolittle, staged by and starring Tommy Tune, in Chicago at the Cadillac Palace Theatre for a limited engagement July 18-30, 2006. The Internet, video games…These days, all this "interactive" entertainment can get in the way of actually interacting with your kids. Why not shut down the computer, turn off the TV, and introduce your family to the magic of live theatre…with Dr. Dolittle, the Musical!

Tony Award-winner Tommy Tune stars as Dr. Dolittle in a show so imaginative your family won't believe their eyes! Filled with enchanting singing and dancing, a charming story about a magical veterinarian who can talk to the animals, and a witty score including "When I Look in Your Eyes," "I've Never Seen Anything Like It" and the Academy Award-winning song "Talk to the Animals," it will show your kids what interactive entertainment was meant to be.

Tune is proud to usher in a new generation to experience the thrill of live theater. He explains, "This is an ideal show to introduce children to the world of musical theater. It's an enchanting production that sparks a child's imagination, a wonderful treat for the entire family to enjoy together."

Throughout his prolific career, Mr. Tune has garnered many prestigious awards, including The National Medal of Arts presented by the President in 2003, nine Tony Awards, eight Drama Desk Awards, two Obie Awards and two Fred Astaire Awards. The multi-talented performer, choreographer and director has many credits to his name including Grand Hotel, The Will Rogers Follies, A Day in Hollywood/A Night in the Ukraine, The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas and the original production of Nine.

Mr. Tune will be joined on stage by Dee Hoty, who will play Dr. Dolittle's love interest Emma Fairfax. Hoty has been honored with three Tony Award nominations for Best Actress in a Musical for her performances in The Best Little Whorehouse Goes Public, The Will Rogers Follies and Footloose. Other Broadway appearances include City of Angels (Outer Critics nomination), Me and My Girl, Big River, The Five O'Clock Girl and Shakespeare's Cabaret.

Twelve year old newcomer Aaron Burr was handpicked by Tommy Tune to play Chee-Chee the chimpanzee. This past summer, Burr won the Greatest Dancer competition on ABC's "Good Morning America," judged by Tune and a handful of other celebrity judges.

Filling out the cast are Joel Blum, Amanda Braddock, Jessica Leigh Brown, Kristin Dawn Calgaro, Matthew Crowle, Sandi DeGeorge, Jack Doyle, Mike Erickson, Joe Jackson, Lesley M. Klose, Scott Leindecker, Allan Mangasser, Lisa Morris, Amanda Rose, Jonathan Sandler, Sally Ann Swarm, Elisa Van Duyne, David F.M. Vaughn, Erin Webley, Steven Wenslawski and Jessica Wu. Adam Cates and Denise Payne are the dance captains and swings.

This new production is based upon Leslie Bricusse's 1967 Oscar-winning movie of the same name, as well as "The Doctor Dolittle Stories" by Hugh Lofting, and features music and lyrics by Leslie Bricusse, a writer-composer-lyricist who has contributed to numerous musicals and movies during his career. The book is by Lee Tannen. The show's clever and witty score includes the Academy Award-winning song "Talk to the Animals" and a flock of other tuneful delights, including "When I Look in Your Eyes," "I've Never Seen Anything Like It" and "After Today."

Dr. Dolittle is staged by Tommy Tune, choreographed by Patti Colombo (Peter Pan), features costumes by Dona Granata, has set design by Kenneth Foy (Gypsy) and lights by Ken Billington (Chicago). Michael Biagi is the musical director, Larry Blank did the orchestrations and Gordon Harrell arranged the dance and incidental music.

This whimsical tale first wowed audiences in the critically acclaimed 1967 movie starring Rex Harrison. It earned an impressive eight Academy Award nominations, winning several Oscars.

Dr. Dolittle is produced by Pittsburgh CLO, Nederlander Presentations, Inc., Independent Presenters Network and Columbia Artists Theatricals.

Dr. Dolittle will play the Cadillac Palace Theatre, 151 West Randolph, July 18 through 30, 2006. Letter to the Editor

Chicago Alderman William Beavers (7th Ward) may be good at backroom political deals but he's a lousy historian and a poor persuader of public opinion.

In referring to the manipulative efforts by himself, Ald. Todd Stroger (8th) and others to slide the light weighted Stroger into his dad's spot on the ballot, Beavers keeps speaking of the entitlement of this position to be given to an African American. If someone declared that this position had to go to someone who was white or Polish or Italian, they would correctly be called a racist. The same is true in reverse.

Beavers also seems entitled when he says, "Hynes, Madigan ... all the rest of them did it..." Dan Hynes was twice nominated and elected State Comptroller having graduated Magna Cum Laude with an economics degree from Notre Dame. Lisa Madigan was nominated and elected to the Illinois State Senate before being nominated and elected Illinois Attorney General. Mayor Richard M. Daley was twice nominated and elected Cook County State's Attorney before being nominated and elected the fifth mayor to succeed his father. While clearly benefitting from their political families, none of them were anointed or inherited a ballot position while the parent office holder was having medical information withheld from the public for months.

When Beavers says: "Why can't we do it? That shows unity among black folks which white folks don't like," he shows contempt for all people as he tries to pass corrupt politics off as black unity. If John Stroger is to be replaced on the ballot, the obvious choice should be the second choice of the voters of Cook County: Democratic County Commissioner Forrest Claypool got 48% of the vote. He is infinitely more qualified than Todd Stroger, as are Commissioner Bobbie Steele and U.S. Rep. Danny Davis.

Tinley Park proceeds with Walgreen relocation

by Matt Mayer

The board overturned the objections of the planning commission and area residents at the June 20, Tinley Park Board of Trustees meeting and unanimously approved the creation of an ordinance to rezone the property at 171st St and 84th Ave. from single family residential to general commercial business so Walgreens could relocate from their store at 171st St and 80th Ave and build a 14,000 square foot stand alone box store with a drive thru window. This site is also slated to include a 6,000-squre foot shopping center and a common parking lot. An ordinance for the parking variance was tabled and will be addressed at a future board meeting.

In other business the board approved an ordinance amending a section of the village municipal code regarding a parking lot regulation agreement between the village and Amber Meadows at Timbers Edge homeowner association. This amendment will allow for police enforcement of parking lot use, parking of motor vehicles and control of vehicle traffic at this location. A public works request to purchase a rubber wheel Caterpillar 928GZ loader from Patten Caterpillar of Joliet for $96,390.00 was approved as well as a request to purchase a Holland B95 Back hoe loader from Martin Implement of Orland Park for $62,582.00..

A payment to John Burns Construction Company for $214,828.65 for work completed on the 2006 water main replacement program was approved as well as a payment to Steve Spiess Construction Company in the amount of $397,778.40 for work completed on detention pond modifications for Ridgegate units 5 and 6. A request from the Kiwanis to conduct a fundraiser on September 22nd and 23rd was also approved.

Enjoy Professional Village Sponsored Fireworks Displays

The Orland Fire Protection District is calling on all area residents to avoid home fireworks displays and instead attend those hosted by area municipalities.

"We're hoping to reduce the number of tragedies associated with home fireworks," said Orland Fire Trustee Patty Corcoran. "Nothing is more heartbreaking than to see a child who's been seriously injured by store bought fireworks," she added.

According to the National Safety Council, in 2002, nearly 9000 people were treated in emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries to the fingers, hands, eyes and legs.

"The best way to safely enjoy the holiday is to watch a public fireworks display,"said Orland Fire Chief Don Bettenhausen, adding that the Village of Orland Park will host its fireworks display after 9:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 4 at Centennial Park, 15600 West Avenue.

Mayor Stricker celebrates the grand reopening of Holiday Inn

Candace E. Passi appointed dean of students

Advocate for students drawn by University mission

Saint Xavier University has appointed Candace E. Passi, Ph.D., as its new dean of students.

"I am very excited and grateful for the opportunity to be a part of a wonderful department and institution," Passi said. "As I learned about the Dean of Students Office mission and Saint Xavier's mission, I felt that this would be an excellent fit for me. I love working with students and look forward to meeting them at orientation and as they arrive on campus."

In her new role at Saint Xavier, Passi will be an advocate for students. She will assist in their academic and out-of-class development and ensure that student service programs are designed and carried out to support students and complement the academic mission of the University. "Candace brings a wide range of experience in student affairs work to the Dean of Students position at Saint Xavier," said John Pelrine, vice president for student affairs. "In particular, she has great experience with many different types of students, which will benefit our diverse student body."

Passi, who succeeds Pelrine in the position, comes to Saint Xavier from Midwestern University where she served as dean for student services for seven years. Previously, she served as program manager of the Master of Science Program at Northwestern University's School of Education and Social Policy.

Passi, of Orland Park, earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in biology from Loyola University Chicago and a master of science in education degree and a doctorate in education and social policy/higher education from Northwestern.

Freedom Is Not Free!

From somewhere above comes a message to all of us who want Freedom. "Many people are confused in thinking that the word Freedom 'means' Free!" Since America began, men & women have died [the greatest price of all] so Americans & others can live in & enjoy freedom. But freedom also means taking "responsibility" for ourselves & our families. "Equality" means the taking of responsibility for ourselves. Equality is also a part of this thing called "Freedom." We possess the right to earn a living, to purchase things we want, to worship as we please, & so many other things people in other countries do not have the rights to do. Still, there are some people who seem to think that they can walk in & take what they want & not have to earn or be responsible for what they take. Some people think they can put the burden of their debts & needs on others simply because they want to. Now, some people want to make us all one Religion or we must die. So, if Freedom is important to you, you had better know it does not come cheap...ever."

Anesthetic or Ghost

Cynthia shares this: "My mom and I were never very close, and she often told me that I was an 'unwanted' child. I had not seen or heard from her in more than twenty years. I had to have some very serious surgery and I had no one with me, I went to the hospital by myself and went through the ordeal. During surgery I saw my mom standing at the side of the surgical table and she smiled and put her hand over mine. She whispered, 'I'm so sorry I was so mean to you, please forgive me.' I woke up feeling very weird about what happened and just knew it was a dream or the anesthetic playing tricks on me. A few days later, a floor nurse asked me who the lady was that simply walked into the operating room and had to be told to leave because she could not be in there. I had no answer for her. A week after I went home, a cousin informed me that my mom had passed away on the day of my surgery. But, I was not the only one who saw her...she was there! All things have come right for me since then just knowing she came to me when I needed her the most."

How To Recognize and Treat Heat Exhaustion
From Rod Brouhard, Your Guide to First Aid.

Heat illnesses (heat exhaustion and heat stroke) are caused by an increase in core body temperature often coupled with fluid loss (dehydration).

It's important to recognize heat illness early and seek treatment as quickly as possible. It does not need to be hot outside for heat exhaustion or heat stroke to occur. Many victims develop heat illness just from exertion.

Heat illnesses can cause permanent brain damage or death if not treated in time.

Here's How:

Stay safe! If the environment is hot enough for the victim to get overheated, then it's hot enough for the rescuers.

Move the victim to a cooler environment immediately. Shade is better than sun, air conditioning is better than outside, etc. The cooler the better.

Remove the victim's clothing to encourage heat loss.

If the victim is conscious and able to follow commands, he or she can drink fluids to rehydrate.

Worth creates first TIF district

by Matt Mayer

Once again a standing room only crowd filled the village chambers at the June 20, Worth Board of Trustees meeting with residents overflowing into the hallway, down the outside staircase and into the parking lot. And once again emotions ran high as did at the public meeting on June 6. State law requires that a public hearing must be held before a TIF district can be established [illegible]'s Steak House.

ing, Beth Ruyle of Ehler and Associates of Warrenville, the company the village hired to perform the TIF eligibility study, outlined the study results, which determined that the village meets the blighted eligibility requirements for the creation of a TIF district.

The main concern at the public hearing was residents losing their homes and the possibility of the village invoking eminent domain. Mayor Edward Guzdziol responded to a question why residents were located in the TIF district. "The TIF was created for the blighted corner on 111th and Ridgeland, the former Paul's Plumbing Supply, which has been empty for two years. The apartment buildings south of Paul's have not been addressed by developers however they could be possibly be replaced with a mix use development where condominiums are built on top on businesses," Guzdziol said.

The board proceeded with a unanimous vote to create the tax increment financing TIF district; a TIF district uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years. After the vote, the board approved Guzdziol's request to hire another consultant to help with potential developers interested in the district. Guzdziol projects the cost to be some three thousand dollars. As Trustee Kevin Waqrner stated at the public hearing "we have some bad news here people we're broke and the TIF project is absolutely essential for economic growth." In April the board expanded the boundaries, which now includes a small portion of homes. The TIF district is roughly bounded by 111th and Ridgeland Ave to the east I-294, to the west slightly past 112th to the south and slightly north of 111th St, which includes some additional businesses including

Freedom Is Not Free!

From somewhere above comes a message to all of us who want Freedom. "Many people are confused in thinking that the word Freedom 'means' Free!" Since America began, men & women have died [the greatest price of all] so Americans & others can live in & enjoy freedom. But freedom also means taking "responsibility" for ourselves & our families. "Equality" means the taking of responsibility for ourselves. Equality is also a part of this thing called "Freedom." We possess the right to earn a living, to purchase things we want, to worship as we please, & so many other things people in other countries do not have the rights to do. Still, there are some people who seem to think that they can walk in & take what they want & not have to earn or be responsible for what they take. Some people think they can put the burden of their debts & needs on others simply because they want to. Now, some people want to make us all one Religion or we must die. So, if Freedom is important to you, you had better know it does not come cheap...ever."

Oak Lawn postpones 111th Street TIF vote

by Matt Mayer

At the July 11, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting, the village chambers overflowed into the hallways and down the stairwell and continued out the front doors with residents, employees, and business owners to voice their objections to the proposed 111th St Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district. The boundaries for the 25-acre project are Cicero Ave to the east, LaVergne Ave to the west, 111th St to the south and residential property lines to the north. A large portion of retail space has been vacant since the closure of the Dominick's store in 2004. Along with the largest employer, K-Mart, which has been at this location since 1974 and employs 134 people, other affected businesses were also present.

A petition drive sponsored by K-Mart employees collected thousands of signatures; two mailings went mailed out to registered voters of Oak Lawn in the past several weeks. The last mailing just prior to the meeting urged residents to stop the TIF project. The letter stated that Flap Jack's Restaurant, Automotion, A&D Tile and Harley Davidson have recently spent a combined amount of over $6 million in improvements.

A letter from Flap Jacks owner, Nick Stamos, was also enclosed which outlined in great detail the negative impact the TIF district would have on the area, residents and legal ramifications.

At the May 23, TIF public hearing, K-Mart council, James Klenk of Sonnenschein, Nath and Rosenthal LLP, addressed the board and disputed the TIF eligibility report prepared by Kane, McKenna and Associates Inc and outlined by Robert Rychlicki. Klenk said, "K-mart is committed to this location and we'll be all the way to the court house if necessary.

Trustee Tom Phelan (D-6) was the first to propose the TIF for the creation of a life style center, which would include high-end retailers and restaurants, shortly after taking office and remains a strong proponent of the project. As support for the passage of the ordinances for the TIF began to wane, Mayor Dave Heilmann said that the vote to create the TIF would be postponed until August. Phelan said the extra time would be an opportunity to address inaccuracies and misrepresentations by the business community. Phalen also said he hopes to persuade more residents and businesses to endorse this development. The next meeting is August 8. The location will be announced on the community channel.

Bridgeview agrees to land swap

by Matt Mayer

On June 9, 2006 Chicago area Toyota dealers agreed to a $10 million deal for 10 years to pin their corporate badge on the new home of the Chicago Fire which will officially be named Toyota park, this was just in time for first game on June 11- when the Chicago Fire played host to the New England Revolution in a public safety match, which was open only to season ticket holders and Bridgeview residents. The 20,000-seat stadium, at 71st street and Harlem Avenue can also seat 28,000 for venues on of which was the B96B Bash,

At the June 21, Bridgeview Board of Trustees meeting a land swap deal with Bedford Park was approved. A deal was finalized with Bedford Park to acquire the property next to the stadium, in exchange for $2 million and 15 acres of property at Archer Ave and Roberts Road. The property is slated to be used as a practice soccer field, a park and possibly some businesses. The board also amended an ordinance, which will allow tailgaters to drink alcohol, and approved an agreement with Summit to share stadium-related traffic control.

At the base of the bridge, once stood the 3M Company sign. What was once 3M's manufacturing and office complex will now be paved and used as a parking lot. The stadium resides on a portion of the former Consolidated Freightways Trucking Service. Both companies provided the area with well paying jobs. In the early 1980's when the steel mills were shutting down for example and unemployment at one point reached 10 percent then President Ronald Reagan said that the country was moving from a manufacturing to a service economy. Well perhaps the country now is moving from a manufacturing and a service economy to a sports and entertainment economy. It's certainly the case for 71st and Harlem Ave. The upshot is that the stadium wouldn't be off shored and will provide a good revenue source for Bridgeview, as long as companies provide jobs for the spectators.

Military News

Air Force Airman Thomas W. Ehrlicher has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations. In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force. Ehrlicher is the son of Jason and Maureen Ehrlicher of S. Melvina Ave., Oak Lawn, Ill. He is a 2005 graduate of Oak Lawn Community High School..

Air Force Cadet Sean D. Walsh has graduated from the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. The graduate received a bachelor of science degree and was commissioned as a second lieutenant. The academy offers a four-year educational program of instruction and experience designed to provide cadets the knowledge and character essential for air and space leaders, and the motivation to serve as Air Force career officers. The curriculum provides a balanced program of military training, academics, physical training, athletic conditioning, and character and ethical development. The courses of study allow cadets to acquire a broad education in the basic and engineering sciences, social sciences, the humanities, including additional elective courses needed to complete requirements for one of 25 major areas of study. The new lieutenants go on to serve as pilots, navigators, engineers, maintenance officers, professionals in various management and technical fields, and some attend medical or graduate school with special scholarships, while others go directly to nonrated Air Force-wide assignments. The officer is scheduled to attend undergraduate pilot training at Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Okla. Walsh received a degree in Management. He is the son of Michael and Jozelle Walsh of Michaele Drive, Oak Forest, Ill. In 2001, he graduated from Oak Forest High School.

Air Force Airman 1st Class Sergiy Maslovsky has graduated from the First Term Airman Center at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho. The center assists first term airmen to transition from the controlled environment of basic military training and technical school to a self-disciplined, mission-oriented environment at their first duty station. The center provides a streamlined process for base and unit in-processing to help airmen understand how they fit in at their duty station. For 30 days, the airmen are mentored and supervised at the center by staff leaders who help airmen with schedules, in-processing appointments, and ensure attendance to all mission-oriented briefings, meetings, training and tours. The staff leaders also advise on military protocol, personnel and professional matters and provide counseling when disciplinary actions are warranted. The airmen also spend five to seven days conducting work details, including base clean up and baggage handling. After 30 days, the airmen receive a certificate of accomplishment and report to their duty section ready to be trained in their job specialty without interruption. Maslovsky, a medical laboratory apprentice, is assigned to the 366th Medical Support Squadron, Mountain Home Air Force Base. He is the son of Anatoliy and Jalina Maslovsky of 158th St., Oak Forest, Ill. The airman is a 2004 graduate of Oak Forest High School.

Bravo Italia (Italy)

We congratulate all the Italian Americans on Italy winning the World Cup in soccer! The game seems to be catching on more in the United States.

There are more soccer camps and now the astute mayor Steve Landon of Bridgeview brought soccer on the south side with a stadium for the Chicago Fire.

Village View sends deepest regrets to our staff member, Brigid Somodji on the passing of her Grandmother.

We also would like to remember Elizabeth R. Houston, mother of E.P. resident, Betty O'Connell. Mrs. Houston was the mother of six children, grandmother of 26 and great grandmother of 36 children. She lived a grand life of 98 years in her home with a niece. Mrs. Houston was the former secretary of St. Basil Parish. Mrs. Houston was buried July 12th, 2006 from McGann's Funeral Home to St. Mary's Cemetery.

A big surprise took place recently at St. Bede's Festival. While enjoying the band Sloppy Joe, Betty and Bob Sobcek, The Russells, and Paul Lausch and a few more people stopped to say hello. Bob Sobcek mentioned he has been appointed laison person for the Village of Oak Lawn. Bob would like to interact with the Oak Lawn Seniors within the center and within other senior group organizations. He will help assess the interests of seniors in Oak Lawn and help them to formulate their own interest groups within the structure of the Senior Center and their commissioners.

Well, it sounds like a mighty big job, but you have to meet Bob. We would like to have a column from Betty and Bob in the Village View Newspaper.

This is only the beginning for Oak Lawn Seniors. Get with it and get going on a new venture Oak Lawn Seniors. You can do it. At one time there were 160 independent senior groups under the Oak Lawn Senior Center umbrella. Rumor has it there are only 16 such groups at the present time. Are we waiting for the Baby Boomers? Let's get with it!

Letter to the Editor

Access to Affordable Housing vital to Illinois Seniors: New law will create and preserve affordable housing for seniors and other low- income Illinoisans (184 words) Access to affordable housing is one of most critical elements to Illinois seniors maintaining their independence. Often the most affordable housing option is for a senior to remain in their own home. For many seniors this means the retrofitting of their home to address their changing needs. This spring the Comprehensive Housing Planning Act was introduced by Illinois state Senator Iris Martinez (20th District) and state Representative Julie Hamos (18th District) to make permanent Illinois' State Comprehensive Housing Plan, which was created in 2003 by Governor Blagojevich's executive order. The Act will create and preserve affordable housing, including the retro-fitting of homes for seniors and persons with disabilities, by coordinating the efforts of state agencies providing housing programs. AARP supported this legislation and worked with Senator Martinez to ensure that advocates for seniors, persons with disabilities, and low-income persons would be included in the development of affordable housing plans. This legislation becoming law will help ensure the continued independence of countless Illinois seniors. AARP commends the Governor and the General Assembly for their commitment to addressing the critical housing needs of all low-income residents. Sincerely, Ralph Yaniz Regional Director AARP Midwest Region 773-714-4712 mailto:ryaniz@aarp.org

Lipinski Calls On Congress to fix medicare prescription drug program

GAO Report Finds that Even Medicare Providers Cannot Explain Plans

Congressman Dan Lipinski, speaking on the floor of the House of Representatives, called on Congress and the Administration to help seniors by fixing the Medicare prescription drug program. Lipinski cited a new General Accounting Office (GAO) report that found that call centers run by private Medicare drug providers give inaccurate and incomplete information much of the time.

"It is absolutely inexcusable that providers seem to be incapable or unwilling to provide beneficiaries with good information," said Rep. Lipinski. "Our seniors should not be treated like this. Medicare must guarantee that these providers give accurate and complete information.

The GAO found that in most instances, drug plan providers were unable to give accurate information in response to simple questions about plan costs, low-income coverage, plan formulary procedures, and plan utilization management techniques. Specifically, the GAO found:

·The phone centers operated by private Medicare providers gave inaccurate or incomplete answers to two-thirds of the beneficiaries who called. Two Medicare plan providers gave bad information at least 75% of the time.

·Medicare drug plan providers were unable to provide critical cost information for seniors to choose among plans. Two GAO questions focused on which of the drug plans would provide seniors with the lowest out-of-pocket costs, and what these costs would be. Medicare providers failed to give accurate or complete answers to these questions over 70% of the time. In one case, the costs were underestimated by $6,000.

·Medicare providers often furnished conflicting answers, giving one answer on one call and a different answer on a second call. For example, some plans said that one of their plans was the least expensive on one call and then said that a completely different plan was the least expensive on a separate call.

This is the second GAO report analyzing the drug plan information available to Medicare beneficiaries. In May 2006, the GAO analyzed the information provided to seniors by the federal Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services, concluding that this information was frequently confusing, inaccurate, or incomplete. The new GAO findings show that the private plans are also failing to answer seniors' questions, leaving millions of seniors unable to get accurate answers to their questions about the Medicare drug plans.

"These findings also demonstrate another problem," continued Lipinski. "If Medicare providers do not yet understand these plans, how can we expect seniors to understand them? Congress must act to give seniors more time to sign up for a drug plan without suffering the lifelong penalty that is now being imposed. Seniors should also be given the option of changing plans immediately if their current plan is not working for them."

The Greatest Power (Pass this forward)

Some people insist that the "greater power" on Earth is God. Some say it is Love. Some say it is Electricity or Water. And, some truly believe it is Forgiveness. But, no one stops to reason that there is a power even greater than these. Without it, not one of us can realize living life itself. There is a greater power! Nothing can exist without it. You who are reading this column today have this power and use it everyday in every way. It makes you equal to others & responsible for how you use it, not only to yourself, but to those others who share your life or come into your life even if they are only in your life briefly. The most powerful force on Earth was given to you at birth…you carry it with you wherever you go, & share it too with everyone you know. It's stronger than Diamond, iron or steel. It's there somewhere inside you & difficult to conceal. It is your Power of Thought, & it is lighter than a Feather. It is weightless. Without it you cannot reach God, love, or, do even the smallest task. Jacki Mari & Alyn

Here we go again!

It seems I may have spoken too soon. Within hours of our eldest daughter becoming a married woman, I prepared for the slump I was sure would follow the wedding festivities.

The planning, the anticipation, it was all behind us now. So it was, with great pleasure, that we accepted an invitation from our youngest daughter Katie and, her boyfriend, Seth to meet with them at Navy Pier, along with Seth's parents, Mike and Cecelia, for a scenic boat ride. His brother Nick, his wife Becky and their darling little girl Katie, were also in town, visiting from Kentucky and joining in the fun of a holiday boat ride.

Seth and Katie met while both working for Shoreline boat company, so spending time cruising out on the water has become a special past time of theirs.

Navy Pier was wall to wall people that hot and sunny day - not all that surprising since it was the weekend before the 4th of July.

We boarded the boat and prayed for relief from the heat, by way of a cool breeze off Lake Michigan.

The double decker cruise ship was filled to almost capacity. As we soaked up the sun while drifting out to open waters we enjoyed the company of Seth's parents as we snapped pictures of the breathtakingly beautiful skyline as well as a few snap shots of a smiling Katie and Seth.

We listened intently as the history of Chicago's landmarks was being shared by a voice coming from the front of the vessel.

All too soon our leisurely boat tour was coming to an end but, unbeknownst to us, a celebration was just about to begin.

As we approached Navy Pier, I caught a glimpse of another boat that appeared to be heading straight toward us. Bill was the first to notice what seemed to be two supersized stuffed animals waving furiously in our direction.

His first reaction was to get Seth's little niece's attention. Little Katie was delighted when her 'Pops' picked her up to give her a better view.

Earlier on the Pier we saw many people with their pet companions so it seemed to make sense - this must be the 'Man's Best Friend' canine cruise. Or so we thought.

It only took a few moments for this other double decker sight seeing ship to line up with ours, side by side. As it slowly glided past, what did our unbelieving eyes see? A written message, as big as life, hoisted over the side wall of the sister ship that read, in big, bold letters - KATIE, WILL YOU MARRY ME?. Before we could open our mouths to speak, Seth was on bended knee, placing a sparkling diamond ring on our daughter's finger.

We parents shouted, laughed and cried as the enthusiastic passengers clapped and cheered for the newly engaged couple.

After the kisses, hugs and congratulations were doled out I jokingly thanked Seth for giving me a week to recuperate.

With the two mascot resembling mongrels still waving and jumping for joy, I had to ask Seth what was the purpose of the costumed, playful pooches.

Katie, he explained, has been bugging him to get a puppy for some time now. Seth is wise enough to know that since they live miles apart and Katie's landlord does not allow pets, a puppy for Katie equals a puppy for Seth to raise. Still, he kept her request in mind as he remembered a conversation they had when they talked about 'someday' getting engaged. According to Seth, Katie hoped there would be a puppy involved in the proposal.

We are finding out that our future son-in-law is romantic, funny and quite creative. Technically, he fulfilled her wishes. The furry, 7 foot pups were priceless.

It won't be long and the wedding paraphernalia will once again cover the dining room table. Thinking of all the things that will have to be organized and planned I can't help but also look forward to the year's worth of memories yet be made.

Hand in hand, Bill and I are hanging on for dear life as we now know, from experience, that the next 12 months will fly by in a flurry of shopping trips and family get together.

As reality sets in we're feeling blessed by a growing family, and so it is with happy hopeful hearts that we share this wonderful moment ~ Here We Go Again!

Something Old & Something New

Dear Brides to Be:
Music is very important in any reception or party. A good love song can really brighten the moods of all the couples attending and bring back memories or create new ones.
A good love song to play is "All You Nced Is Love" by the Beatles.

An Inconvenient Truth shows global warming

by Marijo Doody

"An Inconvenient Truth", a movie of Al Gore lecturing on global warming might sound dull and boring, but this documentary by Davis Guggenheim is hugely dramatic. It argues the world governments have little more than a decade to avert a planetary disaster.

Ocean temperatures are rising, ice is melting on the glaciers and more water is projected to be on the land! Gore is speaking to a small audience in black-box theater with a giant screen behind him. He shows a series of photos, charts, and graphs that clearly show how the earth's rising temperature fostered deadly heat waves and tropical storms that will only worsen if we do not curtail our use of fossil fuels.

Animated polar bears are trying to find ice, schematic ice glaciers are dropping into the oceans and there is more and more water. It shows half of California and Florida under water, India and China with massive floods and millions of peoples displaced. Why is not this movie playing on the south side!

While the movie-documentary shows some of Al Gore's life, in particular his sister's death due to smoking, and the effect on him. We all have known someone who died from smoke and its effect on us. The movie is compelling, passionate and committed. Gore is better than when he was in office.

The movie clearly shows the superiority of foreign made automobiles in better fuel consumption and the like. Perhaps that is why more buy them! I did just that years ago! A friend of ours had a favorite saying "see the world before you half to get off of it." We may not have an opportunity, as the world will go away from us! See the movie!

New DePaul program will enable business professionals to succeed in the Chinese market

With an economy that has averaged a brisk 9.5 percent annual growth during the last 25 years, China is projected to become the world's top trading nation within 10 years. As Chicago-area businesses seek partnerships to tap into this market, understanding Chinese business culture is becoming an essential skill for business professionals.

This fall DePaul University will offer a new certificate program, "Succeeding in the Chinese Market," which will help area professionals gain this valuable knowledge. Offered by DePaul's Management Development Center (MDC) in partnership with the consulting firm China Business Sources, the eight-session course will orient students to the cultural, political and economic environment of contemporary China.

The course will cover Chinese business operation models, consumer psychology and behavior, business etiquette and relationships, government procurement, sourcing and supply chain issues. Participants also will receive a general Chinese language overview for basic business purposes. "Trade between the U.S. and China has grown to $300 billion, resulting in an increased demand for programs that teach American business people how to work and communicate effectively in the Chinese business environment," said Gayle Landuyt, director of the MDC.

"DePaul's program offers practical knowledge that will prepare business people for the challenges and opportunities of doing business in China." Landuyt said the program is especially timely because of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's May trip to China to promote Chicago business and the city's plans to open a Chicago business development center in Shanghai this year. "Succeeding In The Chinese Market" classes will meet Wednesdays from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. for eight weeks beginning Sept. 27 on DePaul's Loop Campus.

For information and registration, contact Eilish McDonagh at (312) 362-5295 or emcdonag@depaul.edu, or visit the MDC Web site, http://www.learning.depaul.edu/about/centers/mdc.asp. DePaul's Management Development Center is a leading provider of management programs for individuals in need of focused learning and organizations wishing to increase the knowledge and skills of their employees. These pragmatic programs include both open enrollment and customized on-site programs covering a variety of traditional and current business topics.

Chicago Fire Department shares fire safety program with community

Children learn fire safety through the Survive Alive House

Saint Xavier University's S.T.A.R. Learning Academy invites the community to participate in the Chicago Fire Department's fire safety program from 10 a.m. to noon on Tuesday, July 25, in Lot 1 at the University's Chicago campus, located at 3700 W. 103rd St.

Members of the community are encouraged to experience the Survive Alive House, an interactive and instructional facility. It simulates a house fire using special effects like non-toxic, artificial smoke, heat panels in bedroom doors and a street corner meeting place. Statistics show that since 1989, children who have participated in the Survive Alive House have contributed to a dramatic drop in fire-related deaths.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact Saint Xavier University's S.T.A.R. Learning Academy at (773) 298-3485 or www.survivealivehouse.com.

Mid- to later-life career changes are on the rise in the United States. As the baby boomers get close to retirement age, a large percentage of them are thinking about winding things down. Still, a significant number of boomers plan to continue working. In fact, according to a recent Merrill Lynch survey, roughly three-quarters of all boomers plan on working past the traditional retirement age. Many of these boomers want to make dramatic changes in their careers. Some lucky boomers may even find their "life's calling" at this stage.

Carol R. Baldwin, a sixty-something grandmother of 11, is one of these "late bloomers." She began her second career ten years ago after being inspired by a startling dream. After being prodded by her husband and her son, Michael, Baldwin decided to sit down and begin her second career.

"One night after my husband went to bed, I put pen to paper, and, like a hole suddenly blown in a dam, the book came pouring out," Baldwin says. "Sitting at a table between the kitchen and the living room, I pounded the keys for sixteen to seventeen hours a day while life went on around me. By the time the book was completed, I had lost twenty-five pounds and had eyes like a raccoon."

Until that moment, Baldwin had never once in her life considered becoming a writer. "I never even thought about it remotely," Baldwin says. "The cool thing about it is that once I started, the words just flew. It was like it was something I was meant to do and I have never enjoyed anything as much."

As she was deep in the writing of her book, The Outlaw, she realized that the Outlaw that she dreamed about was really her husband of over 45 years, Robert. Building on the essence of her dream, Baldwin created a story filled with hair-raising adventure, suspense, and romance. In the grand tradition of Constance O'Day-Flannery, Baldwin takes her readers back to the Northern Foothills of Texas in 1872. She delivers a fast-paced time-travel adventure of the American West.

Already hard at work on her third book, Baldwin is happy and comfortable in her new chosen career. "I consider myself to be very lucky to have finally discovered my love of writing," says Baldwin. "There is no telling where I might go from here."

Remy Bumppo celebrates ten years

by Marijo Doody

On the exciting theatre scene, Remy Bumppo Theatre has announced it celebrates its tenth year of think theatre. Under its Artistic Director, James Bohnen, it has been presenting thought- provoking plays since its founding in 1996.

Remy Bumppo at the Victory Gardens Greenhouse Theatre was invited to be the resident anchor- company in the newly renamed Victory Gardens Greenhouse at 2257 N Lincoln Avenue.

Victory Garden is slated to open at the Biograph Theatre north of the current location and will currently run the other location. Remy Bumppo will continue to run shows in the traditional second floor performance space.

Managing Director, Kristin Larsen says, "We are grateful to Victory Gardens Theatre for providing us with a venue for our work for the past nine years. We especially appreciate Artistic Director Dennis Zacek and Managing Director Marcelle McVay's generous vision of fostering new theatre companies. We believe the stability of an established residence will better position us for growth as we enter our second decade."

The 2006-07 season will include the following productions: "The Best Man" by Gore Vidal; "The Real Thing" by Tom Stoppard and "Mrs. Warren's Profession" by George Bernard Shaw;

As a nation we seem to be loosing our innocence, but at this juncture a crucial question wc must ask ourselves. What kind of person makes a good leader? What do we value or better yet, what should we value as a President? "The Best Man" by Gore Vidal; provides the perfect launch pad for that discussion.

In "Mrs. Warren's Profession" by George Bernard Shaw, forging an ethical framework for ourselves when young is a challenge. When choices contradict a parent, critical steps toward adulthood are evident. Vivie Warren is forced into such an ethical cul-de-sac in the Shaw comedy.

In the contemporary play, "The Real Thing" by Tom Stoppard, when an adult, learning to love well and dceply while accepting all the complications and contradictions of a partner can be most challenging, but fulfilling work.

The plays, comic and heartfelt all, ask us to demand of ourselves and our country to shed the shied of innocence and grow up. To purchase tickets at the Victory Gardens Box Office, call 773-871-3000. For further information on Remy Bumppo visit the web at http://www.remybumppo.org.

"Seussical" presented at CST

by Marijo Doody

In the program notes for "Seussical" presented at Chicago Shakespeare Theatre, the shows creator, Stephen Flaherty and Lynn Ahrens (who collaborated with Eric Idle, in this adaptation of the works of Dr. Seuss) "almost had as many lives as the Cat in the Hat."

The production opens with E Faye Hunter (The Cat in the Hat) jazzy making her entrances and conducts the orchestra, wagging her tail. It gets the story telling off to a great start. Mitchell Hollis the Boy is easily understood. His trip in the bathtub is marvelous. What an imagination!

The story heart is both Horton the Elephant (Bernie Yvon) and Gertrude McFuzz (Brandy McClendon). She steals the show, whether singing, comedy or pleading her case of unrequited love. She is a hoot It's too bad she will only be with the show until July 23.

Many of the actors in the production are making their CST debut. Of those spoken with at the reception afterwards are Devin DeSantis (no relation to Tony, he gets asked all the time), Alexandra Billings (great comedic energy), and Jeff Award Winner, Rebecca Finnegan. Finnegan understudied a few rolls at CST.

The production has hand and finger puppets to add to the kingdom of joy. It is a delight for audiences young and not so young. It runs through August 20. Call 312-595-5600 for tickets.

At the reception, there was an ice crème social for all kids! One lady indicated her four- year- old child was too fussy so that was a year too young for the theatre.

If you are interested in a family outing- go to Navy Pier. There is something for both adults and kids.

Take public transportation! It is great.

President Judith A. Dwyer in American Executive Magazine

Featured in "Corporate Spotlight" column

Saint Xavier University President Judith A. Dwyer, Ph.D., was featured in the June issue of American Executive Magazine, discussing fund-raising efforts, the master campus plan and investments in technology.

In a story titled "Strong Campaign" in the magazine's Corporate Spotlight section, Dwyer discussed the challenges of fundraising for a midsized school in a big city.

"The projects we have put together are extremely ambitious and will require a significant amount of money. It's always a challenge, especially in Chicago, because there are so many universities and cultural centers with capital campaigns and fundraising efforts going on," Dwyer said in the article.

The magazine notes that fundraising efforts have been a top priority at the university to help support a dynamic 10-year master campus plan, which includes upgrading many of the university's facilities. The plan calls for a new library and science building as well as renovated space for the music and arts department, among other things.

"We want to provide our students and faculty with the most state-of-the-art opportunities. We can't start all of these projects at once, but we decided that constructing a new library and science center was where we wanted to begin," Dwyer stated in the article.

To complement Saint Xavier's master campus plan, Dwyer is heavily investing in technology, the article states. The university spends $4 million of a $70 million operating budget each year toward funding technology labs as well as wireless areas on campus.

"In fairness to our students, we need to prepare them for the world in which they will be working, and to do that, they need to have a good understanding of technology and the opportunity it provides," Dwyer said in the article.

Tinley Park approves letter of understanding

by Matt Mayer

The board approved a letter of understanding between the Village and the Cook County Highway Department at the June 27, Tinley Park Board of Trustees meeting for a judicial transfer of roadways (Oak Forest Avenue, Ridgeland Avenue and 175th street

This letter of understanding is in response to previous discussions regarding a jurisdictional transfer of portions of these roadways. Authorization was given to the village staff to negotiate the terms for a jurisdictional transfer of the designated Cook County Highway Department roadways at a meeting of the public works committee on February 7, 2006.

The first step in this process is to define the responsibilities of each party through a letter of understanding. Prior to acceptance each section of the roadway will need to be reconstructed by the Cook County Highway Department to meet village standards.

The Cook County Highway Department will be responsible for the cost of reconstruction, which is estimated at $5,000,0.00. The relocation and /or reconstruction of village infrastructure such as water, sanitary sewer and street lighting beneath the designated sections of roadway will then be the responsibility of the village at an estimated cost of $1,200,000.

The approved fiscal year budget includes $604,800 for the first phase, which is water replaccment work. The projected annual cost of $12,500 will be added to the $1,750,000 pavement management program for maintaining the additional roadway; the remaining work will be considered in next year's budget. .

The board reviewed an ordinance at the for rezoning of property from R-3 (single family Residential to a B-3 (General Businesses and Commercial District) for a 14,000 square foot Walgreen Pharmacy and an approximate 6,000 square feet of retail space Walgreen's has agreed to modify the original proposed facade to match other existing structures in surrounding communities. Such upgrades would include pillars, additional stone work, dormers and face brick. Upon meeting with surrounding homeowners, Walgreen's has agreed to move the development further west which will allow the structures to be located closer to the 171st Street and 84th Avenue intersection.

The Greatest Power (Pass this forward)

Some people insist that the "greater power" on Earth is God. Some say it is Love. Some say it is Electricity or Water. And, some truly believe it is Forgiveness. But, no one stops to reason that there is a power even greater than these. Without it, not one of us can realize living life itself. There is a greater power! No thing can exist without it. You who are reading this column today have this power and use it everyday in every way. It makes you equal to others & responsible for how you use it, not only to yourself, but to those others who share your life or come into your life even if they are only in your life briefly. A new theatre at the Chicago

The Chicago Theatre Downstairs is an intimate new 281-seat venue located on the lower level, The Legendary Chicago Theatre. The space enhances The Chicago Theatre's mission to increase the vitality of the Loop Theatre District and to produce and present a wide variety of first class entertainment.

It's quite cool in the downstairs to see the old photos, play bills and various memorabilia from days gone by. I have fond memories of old stage door waiting for some past stars that appeared at the Chicago Theatre live stage.

The space currently occupied by the Chicago Theatre Downstairs has seen many uses in its history. It includes a lounge, ice cream parlor, an in house electric shop, an usher training room, a live radio station and recently the theatre's executive offices.

The new theatre must have performers! Howard Perloff, producer, has brought in the two man show called "The Big Bang." It premiered off-Broadway in 2000. It is a musical history tour with non-stop laughter! From the creation to the current events in history, one splits their side! The play runs through August 20, 2006. Tickets are available at Ticketmaster. Call 312-902-1500. The play runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday. They are $37.50.

The theatre is easily accessible by public transportation. Get off the round the loop elevator at State and Lake or on the Red Line. For information on the theatre visit the web at www.thechicagotheatre.com.

Worth postponed vote on consulting services

by Matt Mayer

The Worth Board of Trustees postponed to the next meeting an agreement with Ehlers and Associates of Warrenville for finance consulting services for $21,500. Beth Ruyle of Ehlers and Associates is from the same firm, which the village hired to perform the eligibility study for the tax increment finance TIF district that was unanimously approved at the June 20. Worth Board of Trustees meeting. The newly created Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district was created for blighted corner on 111th and Ridgeland Ave, the former Paul's Pluming Supply, which has been empty for some two years. In April the board expanded the boundaries, which now includes a small portion of homes.

The TIF district is roughly bounded by 111th and Ridgeland Ave to the east I-294 to the west slightly past 112th to the south and slightly north of 111th St, which includes additional businesses. A TIF district uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies such as schools and libraries. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years.

In other business, newly appointed Village Treasurer Barbara Maziarek endorsed a final budget proposal, which reveals a $50,000 surplus for fiscal year May 1 to April 30. The budget includes a one-year salary freeze for department heads as well as an increase a 3.8% increase in water rates and a 10% increase in contractor fees.

Sertoma Fantasy Baseball Camp

Thanks to Sertoma Speech and Hearing Center and a grant of $6500 from Cubs Care, a fund of the McCormick Tribune Foundation, 18 boys and girls were given a chance to learn the fundamentals of America's favorite pastime, baseball.

Sertoma Speech and Hearing Center Fantasy Baseball Camp started on Friday June 23 with a picnic and game between the Windy City Thunderbolts and the River City Rascals. Eleven of the campers and their families and friends showed up to cheer the Thunderbolts.

Board members, Gregg Jarman and Ron Molinets sat pondering how many years Sertoma Speech and Hearing Center has been sponsoring this event and finally settled upon 13 years.

Coach "Rock" Santiago of Plainfield, who also uses sign language interpreters, has been head coach of the camp for four years.

"Coach Rock is so kind and patient with these kids, he has such an even temper," said Dawn Leyden, mother of Bran, Eddie, Charlie and Sammie. Bryan, who has a hearing disorder, and the rest of his family have enjoyed and attended the camp for the last 4 years. "All the coaches are great," adds their Gramma Roberta, as the camp is primarily taught by volunteer high school baseball players. This year's coaches were John Nickas and Patrick Gleason from Stagg High School.

Speech pathologists, Rebecca Marks, thought the camp was a great opportunity for these children to have fun and interact socially outside of their designated school programs.

"I was excited to volunteer my time to facilitate communicating on the field using sign language for those who needed it. I had a lot of fun!" Marks said.

P.R. and marketing director, Kathie Gans comments, "Each year we add a little to it more. This year we had a closing ceremony where each camper received a certificate, metal and a goodie bag. I think it showed them how much they had accomplished in the week."

Sertoma is very proud of this program and how it has developed over the years. Campers and volunteers continue to come back year after year.

Sertoma is the only non-profit community based speech and hearing center in the south and southwest suburban area. They have been serving the community since 1978. For further information of Sertoma's Fantasy Baseball Camp, or to volunteer for next year's camp, contact Kathie Gans at 708-599-9500 or visit the website www.sertomacenter.org.

The Greatest Power (Pass this forward)

Some people insist that the "greater power" on Earth is God. Some say it is Love. Some say it is Electricity or Water. And, some truly believe it is Forgiveness. You who are reading this column today have this power and use it everyday in every way. Oak Lawn approves revised development plan

by Matt Mayer

The board approved a revised plan at the July 11, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting for the vacated 95th St Tax Increment Finance (TIF) district property for the Town Center. A TIF district uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies such as schools and libraries.

The original plan was for a seven and eight story building, which would have been 85 feet high and included 190 condominiums, with retail space of 10,000 square feet. The new version will include two six-story buildings at a height of 56 feet and 130 units with retail space of 18,000 square feet. The original agreement with the developer Mid America also had a clause which stated that any condominiums built that were fewer than the 120, the village was also required to pay the developer $20,000 per unit.

Thought the negotiating efforts of Mayor Dave Heilmann and the village manager with the developer Mid America and Morningstar Group, the village was able to remove the clause requiring the $20,000 payment, bringing the cost for the village down to zero. The total amount in savings negotiated for the village is $1 million dollars.

Beginning in 2007, the village is required to begin payment of $725,000 per year to pay off the bond debt for the maximum life of the TIF, 23 years, unless the TIF is paid off sooner.

Carl L. Rosenbaum, Chairman of the Board at Prospect Federal Saving Bank, passed away Sat. July 22, buried July 26 from St. Catherine of Alexandria Church to Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

He was a person of a quiet demeanor, but yet very well known within his Oak Lawn community of 43 years.

Carl served the 51 Stockyard Kiwanis and honored with a 30 year plaque. He was a devoted member of Worth Township Republican Organization for more than 35 years.

He raised his only child, Steven to know the value of conservative thought in government.

Steven Rosenbaum, President and Director of Prospect Federal Savings Bank and Trustee of the village of Oak Lawn, will sorely miss his dad, his best friend.

Carl also enjoyed baseball, he held a perfect attendance for his grandchildren games and was known to be their best cheerleader.

Lastly, his dear wife Mary was rarely without her husband. Surely, Mary will miss the engrossed conversations that the two usually shared before and after their nights out. Mary and Carl were an outgoing couple with a lot to offer to friends and family.

My deepest and sincere sympathy is extended to Mary, Steven and his lovely wife Sharon and their children for the loss of such a wonderful person as Carl.

My deepest regrets are extended to the family of Vely from Veli's Kofy Cup.

My neighbor received a phone call while in Wisconsin that Vely had passed away.

Sorry we didn't hear from Ollie or Mohammad but now we know.

I first remembered Veli when he owned Dimpys, located in the now parking lot of the Chevrolet Dealer on 95th, or where the bank parking is now located near it. Dimpy's was really a greasy spoon hang out, but I went there in 1974 and '75 when I was a salesperson for Village View.

It was so nice when Vely first opened the new Veli's Kofy Shop, which now also is nonexistent. Again, I spent most of my mornings at the coffee shop, before it became a larger restaurant. Vely was our customer and friend and surely he will be missed. "My tribute to Vely is the Albanian National Anthem which (Bob) would sing to him each morning."

MWRD hired study of secondary sewage treatment at each districts plants

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago has complete the preliminary phase a study to determine if the secondary sewage treatment at each of the District's Plants can reduce the number of antibiotic resistant bacteria that leave the water reclamation plan in the final effluent. Introduction of antibiotics to the urban water environment in this area is thought to result mainly from human excretion and from irresponsible disposal of those drugs via flushing into the sewers.

Terrence J. O'Brien, President of the Board of Commissioners said, " This report shows that the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District's secondary treatment of sewage is protecting the water environment in Chicago and Cook County.

We intend to continue to study the problem of antibiotic resistant bacteria in our plants and in the waterways as there is still a great deal to be learned about this issue.

In the meantime, we encourage everyone to dispose of all unused prescription drugs properly. Unused, unwanted or expired pharmaceuticals should be securely wrapped and put in the garbage, not down the drain or flushed into the sews.

O'Brien stated we need the help of the citizens of Cook County.

Don't miss an issue!

The other day while walking through Wildlife Park in Oak Lawn, a policeman was ticketing young people. They were caught smoking in the park and were under age. A comment was made that the place is a serene site and should be preserved for all seniors and young to enjoy. Hooray for law enforcement!

The RTA reduced fare permit is available to seniors 65 and over. It offers us seniors and qualified disabled persons to ride the RTA at reduced rates. The service includes PACE buses and Metra trains in the six county area served by the RTA. One needs to get a photo ID and it is done at various places such at the Worth Township headquarters, 116th and Pulaski.

Dan Hynes, State Comptroller, has put out a communication on Cemetery and Funeral Consumer Education. It is to educate the grieving family, and in particular low-income families, about the process for making final arrangements for a loved one. Families should know that the funeral home and cemetery are most often two separate entities and two contracts are needed. At the home ask for the license, price list of services or merchandise before death occurs and get a contract. Visit the cemetery, talk to the staff, and see about grave locations, prices and services. Ask for cemetery rules and regulations and the contract. Prearrangements can be done. Call Mr. Hynes's office at 1-877-203-3401 for added information.

The other night at the Cadillac Theatre, we met a real live four- time Tony Award winner. Tommy Tune who is 67 by media records starred in "Dr. Doolittle." A child in the audience said my grandpa who is younger could not move that fast! We found Mr. Tune most delightful in signing autographs, posing for photo shots with the kids and remembering Debbie and Carleton as this writer did.

Make a report with the law enforcement in your jurisdiction. Contact creditors by phone and letter and enclose a copy of your police report. If checks were stolen, report to the check verification companies (Check Rite 888-766-0008); (Chexsystems 800-428-9623); (Cross Check 707-586-0551); (Equifax 800-437-5120); (SCAN 800-262-7777) or (National Processing Co 800-526-5380) Stop payment and cancel accounts. If your driver's license is obtained, contact your local Department of Motor Vehicles and ask to put a fraud alert on the license. The Identity Theft hot line is 1-877-438-4338.

Call the provider if a mistake is made. They may have the wrong Medicare Number! The Office of Inspector general maintains a hotline at 1-800-447-8477.

Thought IS The Most Powerful Force Is Earth

Got a very angry call from a reader of this column disputing that "thought" is now and has always been the most powerful force on Earth. The person insisted that the most powerful force on Earth is God. Without the ability to think, one would not even know there is a God or that there isn't a God. Without thought one would not know about love, or if they are hungry, sick, or talented. They wouldn't be able to believe in anything without thought, no, not even God! God exists in Heaven, a place we all hope to rise up to at the time that we pass forward.

The Gift of Grandchildren

They say that grandchildren are God's reward for not killing our kids in the process of raising them.

They are the grand reason that makes being empty nesters a bearable transition, for we all know that soon after marriage vows are taken, our babies will soon have babies of their own.

Recently our friend, Denise Esposito was awarded the precious gift of surviving parenthood.

With the birth of her grandson, Denise is dancing on clouds of blue and singing a merry tune only grandmas can sing.

In search of the best sentiments of grandmotherly advice, I searched the internet and here is what I found:

WHAT A BARGAIN GRANDCHILDREN ARE!

I give them my loose change and they give me a million dollars. (Gene Perret)

Perfect love sometimes does not come until the first grandchild. (Gore Vidal.)

Never have children, only grandchildren. (Ogden Nash.)

When grandparents enter the door, discipline flies out the window. (Marcy DeMaree.)

You do not really understand something unless you can explain it to your grandmother. (Dave Barry.)

One of the most powerful handclasps is that of a new grand-baby around the finger of a grandfather. (G.Norman Collie.)

The best baby-sitters, of course, are the baby's grandparents. You feel completely comfortable entrusting your baby to them for long periods, which is why most grandparents flee to florida. (Alex Haley.)

My grandchildren's sobs are mightier than the sword. (Kathe Campbell.)

Grandma always made you feel she had been waiting to see you all day and now the day was complete. (Lois Wyse.)

Nobody can do for little children what grandparents do. Grandparents sort of sprinkle stardust over the lives of little children. (Joy Hargrove.)

Grandparents are similar to a piece of string - handy to have around and easily wrapped around the fingers of their grandchildren. (author unknown)

Grandmother - grandchild relationships are simple. Grandmas are short on criticism and long on love. (author unknown.)

And finally.....

Grandmothers are just antique little girls! (author unknown.)

CONGRATULATIONS SAM AND DENISE ON THE NEWSEST ADDITION TO YOUR FAMILY. GOD BLESS YOU ALL!

Letter to the Editor

Ref: What Oak Lawners's want!

We Want What?

We Oak Lawn residents want to have our Oak Lawn politicians take our money, so that they can give our money (bonds & or money for incentives) to developers and hand picked store owners for the 111th & Cicero Ave. TIF?

Since when have politicians done us much good? Their specialty is raising and creating taxes. Now why are they in real estate and the developing business again. Look at our track record on our other TIF's.

We will be paying more IF: 1) The TIF is a success for land will become more valuable and your property taxes will go up. Michael Stillman, President of the District 218 Board of Education for Richards HS and lawyer for the OL Planning and Development Commission states, "as a member of the Board of Education of one of those taxing bodies, I and my fellow board mem bers were convinced that the TIF and its development will not only help Oak Lawn but will act to increase all property values in the area, which in turn positively affects all taxing bodies by resulting in more tax revenues." If I read right, that means more taxes. OR 2) The TIF is a failure and the bonds will then be paid by us the residents.

We want a TIF so that we can go shopping? Be careful for what you want as you may get it. Dominicks was the anchor of a TIF in Oak Forest and pulled out leaving chaos for a good long time, not to mention debt. Dominicks also wanted to go into a south suburb and wanted a TIF and was told no by the town. Dominicks located in that town without a TIF.

How about private development under the old free enterprise system doing their thing when the economy is ready for it? OR Maybe you and I can become a developer or store owner with incentives and capitalize on the greed and we can get that million dollar house we always wanted! Just my opinion!

Medicare Steps up to Help the Chronically Ill

Medicare recognizes that often our sickest citizens fall through the cracks and do not receive the coordinated care that has been proven to help maintain health and quality of life. To address these concerns Medicare Advantage Special Needs Plans (SNPs) for the Chronically Ill were created through the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003.

A "special needs plan" or SNP is a unique approach to healthcare. Each SNP is contracted with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid to provide services to a specific segment of the Medicare population. There are SNPs for people who are institutionalized and SNPs for people who have specific medical problems. Some focus on diseases of the heart, lungs and kidneys. Other Chronic SNPs focus on diabetes, cancer, HIV, etc.

A lot of money over a lifetime

People with chronic illness represent the highest-cost and fastest-growing service group in healthcare. Roughly eighty percent of all Medicare dollars is spent for about twenty percent of Medicare beneficiaries. The majority of this twenty percent suffer from chronic disease. And, it is expected that medical costs for people with chronic conditions will nearly double by 2050. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services responded with the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003 which created the SNP model as well as many other improvements in the management of Medicare dollars.

What is a "chronic illness"?

To qualify for a chronic Special Needs Plan, a physician must certify that the illness or condition is present. And, the illness or condition must be considered "chronic." The U.S. National Center for Health Statistics defines a chronic illness as one lasting 3 months or more.

A person needn't be suffering or experiencing the effects of the illness on a daily basis to qualify for a chronic SNP. For instance, let's consider a chronic SNP which has contracted to serve people with heart or lung disease. If someone had heart bypass surgery years ago, and feels better than ever, they would qualify. If a person with COPD (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease) is managing the condition well and is fairly active they would also qualify. And, the same with CAD - coronary artery disease (hardening of the arteries). A person with CAD can feel perfectly fine, but they still have a chronic condition as CAD lasts a lifetime.

Since many other illnesses can make a Medicare beneficiary eligible to join a SNP, it is best to contact the plan to assist in determining if there is a qualifying condition. With authorization for release of information, the plan representative or nurse would speak with the beneficiary's physician to obtain medical information about the condition.

Save money and get more benefits

SNPs include options that cost the beneficiary less and provide coverage that goes beyond Medicare's standard benefits. These additional benefits almost always include the new Part D prescription drug coverage and can also include preventive care and transportation to and from medical appointments, but always include care coordination - usually by a registered nurse. The nurse acts as the patient advocate ensuring the member has all the resources to maintain their health and quality of life.

And SNPs are complete health plans because they provide insurance for virtually all your healthcare needs, not just for your qualifying illness.

How can a SNP reduce costs?

The answer is through the caring involvement of a personal nurse assisting in the management of the illness.

A chronic SNP nurse is very involved in the members' healthcare, working closely with the member and physicians to:

·ensure access to ancillary services,durable medical equipment and home health services,

·assist with treatment compliance.

·educate on life-style changes to improve the management of disease.

·coordinate the care received from the different specialty physicians involved in the treatment.

·help the member understand the health plan benefits.

Who can Enroll?

Chronic Special Needs Plans are unique in that any Medicare beneficiary with a chronic illness can enroll any time. Many beneficiaries are well aware of a "lock-in" period in which beneficiaries are not allowed to change their health plans. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid made an exception when they created chronic SNPs realizing the value a chronic SNP can bring to a chronically ill beneficiary.

Currently there is only one SNP available to residents of Cook County that is specifically designed for those with chronic illnesses. As more are added and as their networks grow, these types of plans will offer more options to residents in more communities.

CMS Administrator Mark B. McClellan, MD, PhD said in an April 2005 Medicare News release, "Medicare Advantage plans are able to provide more benefits at lower costs by focusing on high quality, better-coordinated care with up-to-date benefits and proven approaches to keep people healthy. This is especially true for our beneficiaries with chronic diseases."

Something Old & Something New

Dear Brides to Be:

As the day draws near, you do not want any loose ends to spoil the wedding, for you want everything well planned.

Therefore, one month before the big day, make yourself a check list and make sure that you complete all details on that list.

Call the bridal shop and have a final fitting and also have the girls do the same.

It's a good idea to have a guest book and gift book to keep track of things.

Don't forget to check with the restaurant regarding the room size, food and bar. You can also check with the Chef and the Bar Management personally.

Pick up your wedding rings, call the DJ, call the florist and the photographer as well as the video person to coordinate the schedule. If you have extra services, please contact them.

Make place cards for the tables. I want your wedding to be perfect. Be Happy. A Heart that loves Bonds.

Best Wishes,
Carlene O'Connor

How Do You Cope When A Pet Dies?

Death is an inevitable part of life and it is something that all pet-owners will have to face eventually. Here in the United States, the number of pet owners continues to grow every year. Right now, over 290 million Americans own nearly 378 million pets. With a $36.3 billion dollar pet industry in full swing, it seems that people aren't bashful about spending money on their pets, either. In fact, 55% of dog owners and 37% of cat owners even buy their pets gifts during the holiday season. The growing attachment that we seem to have to our pets means a growing number of people suffer great emotional distress at the loss of their pets.

One of the hardest things in life to deal with can be the loss of a pet. People of all ages develop strong emotional attachments to their pets. After Hurricane Katrina, it was widely reported that many hurricane victims refused to be evacuated because they simply did not want to leave their pets behind. It's clear that pets are valued as beloved companions and family members, and their loss can cut every bit as deep.

"When a beloved animal companion dies, we are faced with a profound sense of loss, and our faith and belief in God and our religion may even be tested," says Diane Pomerance, Ph.D., grief counselor and author of the new book, Finding Peace:

After the Loss of a Loved Animal Companion (Polaire Publications, 2006). "For many of us, the loss of our one true and constant friend—one who is pure of heart, faithful, and full of love—can somehow be the most devastating and disturbing loss of all."

As a certified Grief Recovery Specialist and the owner of fifteen dogs herself, Dr. Pomerance truly understands what animal-lovers go through after losing a pet. "The pain can be numbing and immobilizing," she says. Dr. Pomerance stresses that your grief is not trivial and should not be treated as such.

The loss of a pet can be especially difficult because there are so many people who don't understand how significant the bonds between pet and owner can be. People often struggle with the grieving process because there are no public comforting rituals such as funerals, memorial services and wakes held on behalf of animals. People often wonder how to express their grief in an acceptable manner.

"It's absolutely healthy for us to acknowledge openly and honestly and to express all of our feelings, and that we are missing and grieving the loss of one we dearly and truly loved," says Dr. Pomerance. "We should never be embarrassed to express our true feelings to friends and family members who are sympathetic and empathetic.

Dr. Pomerance's latest book, Finding Peace, represents the culmination of her four previous books that dealt with our relationship with our animal companions and the remarkable gifts and profound lessons they bring to us.

It is her sincere hope that the book will serve as both a spiritual resource as well as a practical guide to help people cope with and recover from the grieving process and life's adversities."

It's important to know that we can recover from our losses and ultimately find the peace that we need to move on," she says. In addition to helping people recognize and confront their grief,

Dr. Pomerance wants to help people find their way through and beyond grief and loss of any kind.

Village of Orland Park to Host Taste of Orland Park 2006

The Village of Orland Park has announced a mouth-watering menu for its third annual Taste of Orland Park. Eighteen Orland Park restaurants will sell a variety of food and drinks during the three-day village sponsored event, August 4, 5 and 6, at the Orland Park Village Center, 14700 South Ravinia.

Orland Park Recreation Program Supervisor LeeAnn Fisk is again coordinating this year's event with Gira. "We have fine tuned the Taste of Orland Park, making it a wonderful collection of food, live entertainment, kids' activities, community groups and friendly competitions," Fisk said. "And, the weekend's festivities will culminate with a fireworks display Sunday evening," Fisk added.

Orland Park Health Inspector Sue Wagner is coordinating the restaurants' participation. "This year's menu is full of wonderful summer time favorites," Wagner said. "One of the best features of Orland Park's Taste is that nothing costs more than $3.00 a dish," Wagner added.

Two stages will offer continuous live entertainment throughout the weekend with the main stage showcasing a number of Chicago area bands playing all types of music. The community stage will feature children's entertainment, local organizations and a return performance of the Village of Orland Park Adult Comedy Improv Team Friday evening from 6:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

Other highlights: regarding a traffic signal at 183rd and Wolf Road, the board approved a budget adjustment for $31,119.20 with IDOT for the engineering portion reimbursement of 70/30 for the engineering services; A contract was also awarded to McDonough and Associates, Inc of Chicago for engineering services and construction of a traffic light 183rd in an amount not to exceed $31,119.20

Burke Engineering LTD. of Rosemont for engineering services for the structural inspection of site-specific flood protection elevation determination for flood-prone homes for $7,500. Tinley Park's North Street project may be dead

The board set a deadline at the July 25, Tinley Park Board of Trustees meeting regarding the North Street Development project. Negotiations between the village and L&H, the North Street developer, have reached an impasse. "Part, if not all of the North Street project, could be curtailed if we cannot close the impasse", Trustee Pat Rea said.

The debate is how the village and L&H would split the potential debt. The slated $65 million development at North Street and Oak Park Avenue would include 115 condominiums, a two-story, 11-screen theater and 40,000 square feet of retail space.

Opponents of the project have collected some 2,000 signatures. Opponents also said talk of the possible collapse is evidence that the village should be pursuing a smaller development of less potential debt. One staunch opponent said if they scale the project down it would be less of a risk. The bottom line, he said, is that it's going to fall on the taxpayer's laps if the project crashes. North Street supporters, however, are optimistic that the two sides will reach an agreement. The next meeting is Aug 8.

Thought IS The Most Powerful Force Is Earth

Got a very angry call from a reader of this column disputing that "thought" is now and has always been the most powerful force on Earth. The person insisted that the most powerful force on Earth is God. Without the ability to think, one would not even know there is a God or that there isn't a God. Village of Orland Park warns of Emerald Ash Borer Beetles

The Village of Orland Park is joining communities throughout Northern Illinois, calling on the public to learn to recognize and identify the emerald ash borer beetle (EAB).

The emerald ash borer is a small, metallic-green beetle native to Asia. Its larvae burrow into the bark of ash trees, causing them to starve and eventually die.

"It's estimated that nearly sixteen million ash trees have been killed in Michigan in the last year," said Orland Park Public Works Director Pete Casey, adding that thirteen counties in Michigan are quarantined.

"Orland Park is doing what it can to make residents aware of what to look for," said village Parks Director Frank Stec. "We've learned that the emerald ash borer kills trees relatively fast, affecting white, green, black, pumpkin and several horticultural varieties of ash, whether they're healthy or stressed," Stec added.

"The most important thing for Orland Park residents to do is to absolutely refuse to move firewood or purchase ash wood," Casey stressed. Residents should use only local firewood — even when traveling. Do not bring firewood or logs from other states or any areas that may become quarantined in Illinois.

Area residents who suspect that a tree has been infested with the emerald ash borer should call the University of Illinois Extension Cook/South Suburban Unit at 708/720-7500. The Illinois Department of Agriculture offers a toll-free hotline at 1-800-641-3934 for extension confirmed infestations.

Roche given two more weeks to comply with building codes

by Matt Mayer

Business owner Michael Roche, along with his attorney, appeared before the board at the July 25, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. Roche has been cited with numerous violations over the years for his property located in the industrial park at 10008 S. Anderson Ave.

Roche has been at this location for nearly nine years and still doesn't have a business license. There are tractor-trailers and containers housed on the lot; auto related businesses also rent space.

However, recently Roche has made the most progress since he was first given a list at a December 2004 board meeting. This progress consisted of cleaning up his property, repaving the parking lot, removal of junk and debris and removing the housed trailers and containers. Officials are concerned in regards to what is being kept in the remaining trailers and containers, which he rents to trucking business owners. "In this day and age you need to be concerned, we need to know what is being stored in these units," Trustee Bruce Quintos said.

Roche was given an additional two weeks to finish the repaving of the lot. He was also ordered to remove the remainder of the debris, junk cars and clear a junk-packed area in the back of the lot in order to comply with the fire lane ordinance.

Mayor Eugene Siegel gave Roche a deadline of Aug. 8 to bring his property in line with village codes or face a permanent shut down of his business.

Worth proceeds with TIF

by Matt Mayer

The board approved a contract at the July 18 Worth Board of Trustees meeting with Ehlers and Associates for $21,500 to negotiate with a developer for the Tax Increment Finance district. Mayor Edward Guzdziol said the project for the village is very vague, with some retail space and some business space. "We have a rough idea and the project will be presented by Ehlers at this board. .Ehlers will perform the negotiations and will deal with assessors. They will also do all the negotiations for us. They will also come before the board and present their project proposal and suggest what would be a fair incentive amount to fund a developer," Guzdziol said.

Other highlights: An ordinance request to increase all business licenses by 10-percent was approved as well as an ordinance increasing all contractors licenses by 10-percent. An ordinance request to increase water rates by 10-percent was also approved. This increase is to help offset the loss of the water the village pays for, such as when a water main bursts.

The board also approved an agreement with Medinah Black Horse Troop for $800 and an agreement with Blade Runner Lawn Care for $700 for Worth Days.

Letter from Recorder of Deed

Have you seen your deed lately? An interesting question when you consider that deeds are only examined at the time of purchase and the time of sale. A letter asking that question is being circulated primarily toward senior citizens. It implies that there my be something amiss with the ownership of your home. Thus, the question " have you seen your deed lately." The writer offers to provide you with a certified copy of your deed for the sum of $150.00, they do provide you with a certified copy of your deed. The problem is that the cost of deed and other documents acquired via the Internet have been reduced to 95% or .50 a copy. The author of the letter profits a hundredfold. If you get such a letter disregard it. The second document, Quite claim Deed can be dangerous if ignored. Quitclaim Deeds should only be executed and used under appropriate circumstances with the advice of an attorney. While a Quitclaim Deeds intended used is not to transfer a fee title, it can convey title. For that reason the Recorder of Deeds office now notifies the grantor upon the filing of a quitclaim Deed to insure that he or she signed and executed the deed for its intended purpose. This policy will reduce elder abuse in regard to Quitclaim Deeds and notify victims of the filing of Quitclaim Deeds. Should you receive a letter concerning your deed contact our office at 312-603-5050. Eugene Moore, Recorder of Deeds.

Hickory Hills welcomes Ace Hardware

by Matt Mayer

At the Hickory Hills City Council meeting, an Ace Hardware corporate representative, along with the new owner of the Ace Hardware store to be located at the southwest corner of 95th and Roberts Road in the Hickory Palos Square shopping center, addressed the council.

The representative for new store development in the Chicago area presented a corporate profile of the company and explained that Ace is not a franchise, Ace is a dealer-owned cooperative, which began in 1924, when a small group of hardware stores in the Chicago area pulled their buying efforts together. The Oak Brook based company now has grown to some 4,800 stores coast to coast and internationally.

The owner-operator of the new store said they have been working approximately one year to secure a site in Hickory Hills. He said his father started the 4,000 square foot Ace Hardware building in 1956, which they currently operate at 104th and Kedzie Ave. in Mt. Greenwood.

The Hickory Hills store will be some 14,000 square feet. There will be approximatcly 20-25 employees, 3-4 full time and the remainder part time. He said they would strive to satisfy all the needs of the community. Occupancy is expected to take place by Jan. 2, 2007 and the store is slated to be operational by early March of 2007. They will also be taking employment applications in December or early January. City officials welcomed Ace to Hickory Hills.

Oak Lawn has new Police Chief

by Matt Mayer

Acting Police Chief William Villanova received the oath of office as Police Chief at the Aug. 8, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting. He has been acting police chief since the retirement of Bob Smith in March. Prior to becoming acting police chief, Villanova was the Director of Detectives. "During his 29 years with the department, he has gained a reputation of being a cop's cop, who was not afraid of getting his hands dirty", Mayor Dave Heilmann said.

After the ceremony, Villanova thanked his predecessor, retired Police Chief Bob Smith for being his mentor and former Police Chief Frank Gilbert for appointing him Director of Detectives. In attendance were his wife Linda, his three children and three grandchildren as well as other family members and friends. Heilmann said that Villanova came up through the ranks, and has respect for the department as well as the trustees. "The village is in good hands with his dedication to the department and keeping the village safe," Heilmann said. A standing ovation followed the ceremony.

The three ordinances necessary for the creation of the 111th and Cicero Avenue Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district were postponed until Aug.16 at 6:30 at the Oak Lawn Senior Center 5330 w. 95th Street. This will give the board additional time to consider their votes - the agenda is available on the community channel. Trustee Marge Joy suggested the appointment of a task force to explore other alternatives for the 32-acre site other than a TIF. Vehicle stickers are on sale at the village hall, weekdays betwcen 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. and on Saturday Aug 12. from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Stickers must be affixed to windshields by midnight Aug. 15, to avoid a citation.

Cemetery visitation safety guidelines

The Cook County Sheriff's Office, Michael F. Sheahan, Sheriff is issued an advisory to area residents, warning them to be aware of a recent string of thefts at local cemeteries.

"At no time has violence of the threat of violence ever been used in any of the reported incidents but anyone visiting a cemetery needs to take some common precautions to avoid being victimized."said Sheahan. Now with weather letting up a bit, the following guidelines are cited:

1. Lock all car doors and do not leave any valuables in plain view in side the automobile.
2. Lock purses and other valuables in the trunk while visiting grave sites.
3. Do not make yourself a target by carrying your purse to the grave site.
4. Avoid visiting the cemetery alone.
5. Note the surroundings before exiting the vehicle. Report any suspicious vehicles or activity to the cemetery attendant or police.

For further information, contact the Cook County Sheriff's Police Department at 708-865-4700.

Corporate America Family CU salutes Frank Citro

Corporate America Family Credit Union recognized Frank Citro Sr. of Woodridge for 46 years of service to the credit union industry with nearly five decades of service to the south suburban Chicago area. His most recent position was Business Development Liaison for the credit union's Burbank Illinois branch.

In May 1960 with an initial contribution of 25 cents, Citro became the first member and Treasurer of Chicago Federal Credit Union, established to serve members of Consolidated Freightways (CF) trucking company. That company grew big and he retired from driving after 31 years although he managed the credit union. He became full time and it had more than 2500 members and $7.2 million in assets before it merged with Corporate America Family CU in May 2004.

At the retirement party, it was said "pioneers like Frank are one of the many influential reasons the credit union movement has remained unique in the highly competitive world of financial services" indicated CEO Richard Wellner. "Making a meaningful difference in the financial lives of our members' each and every day, and I am honored to wish him the very best from his credit union family as he retires with our gratitude,"

It was a packed house

by Marijo Doody

Bob Brodsky recently had the final curtain. At 67, Bob passed from our presence due to liver cancer. He was gone in less than one month after the first indication of a health issue. I saw him only three weeks ago at the 99th Street Theatre and heard the news at the Oak Lawn Park District recent production.

At the funeral, Rabbi Caplan, delayed the start because of the huge outpouring of love by an overflow of mourners that was not expected. A second room was opened to accommodate everyone so they could be seated. The ceremony was both in Hebrew and English with the 23rd Psalm included by the cantor.

It was pointed out that Bob was an organized person who prioritized his days. An analogy was given with rocks, pebbles and sand in a bottle as to the important things in his life and to reprioitize at each stage of life.

He was married to Anne Marie for 37 years and his legacy was two sons and five grandchildren. He loved being 'grandpa.' His number one priority through his life was feeling family love. His company the family business included his sons since 1997.

After he retired, his warmth and encouragement were visible to those he touched in the athletic world as track coach at Mother McAuley High School and as photographer with the Beverly Arts Center (BAC), 99th Street Summer Theatre, Oak Lawn Park district, local high school and other community endeavors.

In his photography hobby all family events were documented and each son was given a starter photo album by Bob to treasure.

It was noted that only three months ago Bob was jogging 50 miles a week. His track hobby led him to be with the youth in the community. At the funeral many of his students and former track members were present. Bob would have loved the packed house at Temple Anshe Sholom. The procession of over 200 cars to the traditional Jewish burial showed evidence of all of Bob's treasures left behind.

Life is a journey! Sholom!

Robert J. Brodsky of Evergreen Park is survived by his wife Anne Marie, his children, Paul (Maria) and David (Cheri), grandchildren, Adam, Nathan, Lauren, Jared and Natalie and his brother Harvey (Barbara).

Memorials can be sent to the Temple or the BAC.

Chronic Kidney Disease

(National Kidney Foundation)

Do you know ...

Having chronic kidney disease (CKD) increases your chance of premature death. People develop heart and blood vessel disease the number one cause of death among kidney patients.

More than 20 million Americans have CKD and do not even know it. More than 20 million others are at increased risk for developing CKD.

Early detection and treatment can keep it from getting worse and prevent complications like kidney failure, heart disease and death.

Your doctor should check to see if you are at increased risk and have some simple tests.

How do you know if you are at increased risk for CKD...

Your doctor or clinic should check to see if you have any of these risk factors for CKD and they include diabetes, high blood pressure, a family history of CKD, older age. CKD is also more common in African Americans, Hispanic Americans, Asian or Pacific Islanders and American Indians.

What you should do...

See your doctor and get tested which should include blood pressure, a simple test for protein in your urine and a simple blood test for creatinine.

The National Kidney Foundation (NKF) provides a free community-based health program called the Kidney Early Evaluation Program (KEEP. It includes tests for early detection of CKD.

Call your local NKF affiliate. The toll free number is 1-800-622-9010 to find out the program in your community.

Most people do not have severe symptoms until the disease gets worse.

However you may feel more tired, have less energy, have trouble thinking clearly, have muscle cramping, swollen feet and ankles, puffy eyes in the morning and a need to urinate more frequently, especially at night and poor appetite and trouble sleeping.

All Welcome -16 Years and Up

Letter to the Editor:

Dear Editor, August 5, 2006

I am responding to Mr. Pete Doherty's letter about me and I hope your will print it without editing it. There are several aspects that need to be addressed, but I will concentrate on the most important ones now. It is clear to me that his letter is intended to ridicule, demean, embarrass, and intimidate me. As one person said, she is taking the heat for daring to disagree with the public officials. I have quoted research that states "Study find that cities without TIF's grow faster" www.igpa..uillinois.edu, etc. Mr. Doherty uses words like rantings, whining, bitter, empty, angry, sore losers, as though they deal with ideas and issues. Ridicule, intimidation, etc, is another way to repress free speech and dissemination of ideas. There is no democracy without a free exchange of ideas.

"Equal time for free speech" was my point when I stated that Mayor Heilmann would not let the Kmart attorney speak during the BOT meeting as he let the consultants for the TIF speak at length during the meeting. The only time that the Kmart attorney was allowed to speak was when she signed in before the meeting to speak in the 3 minute time limit before the BOT meeting.

Neither Mr. Doherty's letter nor mine would have been necessary had the Board of Trustee meetings been televised on our public government station. The BOT meeting should have been put on TV from day 1 of this administration's term beginning May 2005. That, to me, makes more sense than Email from day 1. The BOT meetings and 3 minute public speaking should be broadcast live and again the next morning so that all residents have a chance to view them. Copies of the BOT meeting should be available so that residents can check them out at no charge. All residents have the right to see on TV what is going on in the Village. Many people cannot make the meetings for a variety of reasons. There is no reason that they are denied the right to be informed in this day and age. That also means there will be no spin from anyone.

Longtime Orland Park Resident and Business Owner Mourned

Horse Drawn Caisson to Lead G. Merrill Cooper's Funeral Cortege

" One of Orland Park" longest living residents passed away on Tuesday, August 1, 2006. G. Merrill Cooper, 89, died of complications from congestive heart failure at his Union Avenue home in Old Orland.

"Merrill" Cooper, as he was known, was born and raised in Orland Park and the name Cooper has long been associated with the village's history.

According to the Orland Historical Society, Thomas and Ellenor Cooper married in 1845 and came to the Orland area from Wisbech, England around 1850. The Cooper Farm was located at 153rd Street and West Avenue.

George Merrill Cooper was born to Raymond Merrill Cooper and Hattie Adele Cooper on April 20, 1917.

"My dad was born in the white farmhouse that still stands at 151st and West Avenue," said Bruce Cooper.

Merrill Cooper's father, Raymond, died from complications from a car accident when Merrill was seven years old. His mother, Adele Cooper, was the first female to serve on the Village of Orland Park Board of Trustees, serving as Village Clerk from 1930 to 1941.

Merrill Cooper attended school through tenth grade at Orland Park School, 143rd Street and West Avenue, hitch hiking to Parker School in Chicago for grades eleven and twelve.

"Merrill began his first business when he was just seventeen," recalled longtime family friend Carole Binder. "He had an ice cream shop at 143rd Street and Union, where the Oasis Restaurant is now," she added.

"Along with the ice cream, he sold fireworks for the fourth of July each year," Bruce Cooper said, noting that people came from all over the area to buy fireworks, which were legal at the time.

During World War II, Merrill Cooper served in the Confidential Services for the Air Corps and was stationed in Orlando, Florida. There he met Ohio native Mildred "Sally" Spitler, who was working as a nurse. The pair married in 1946 and settled in Cooper's hometown of Orland Park. Sally and Merrill Cooper built their family home on Union Avenue in 1949.

Cooper is remembered for the number of area businesses he owned, including Cooper's Grill, Orland News Agency, A-1 Tours and Travel, Rockin' Chair Lounge, Cooper's Carpet Warehouse, Cooper Furniture, Indiana Ruff Stone, M. F. Cooper Builders and most recently, M. Cooper Supply, which Merrill Cooper owned from 1946 until he sold the company in 1998.

Cooper was a partner in Cooper Show Ford in Frankfort and was a founder and board member for Lincolnway Savings and Loan. Cooper was also a farmer, owning 350-plus acres in Kokomo, Indiana with his son where the family farms corn and soybeans. Cynthia Thompson, Cooper's daughter, recalled, "One of my dad's favorite sayings was "always look forward and never look back."

Agreeing, Binder said, "He never stopped. He may have been ending one project but was quickly moving onto the next. When he smiled, he had a twinkle in his eye."

A world traveler, at the time of his death, Cooper had visited 162 countries. As a young man, he hitch hiked across the United States and Canada. He celebrated his 89th birthday on April 20 in China, accompanied by his wife Sally, their children and friends.

Binder recalled smiling, "We were in China for a week and we celebrated Merrill's birthday with a Chinese cake."

Both Sally and Merrill Cooper were very involved with the Community Center Foundation in Palos Park, where the pair wed in 1946.

"Reverend Paul Sanders, the founder of the Community Center Foundation, was my dad's boy scout leader when he was a kid," Cooper said. "Both he and my mom have stayed involved with the Community Center through the years," he added.

Cooper's civic involvement spans decades as he chaired the Village of Orland Park's Zoning Board of Appeals for 30 years. He was also a charter member of the Rotary Club.

Cooper was a member of the 40 & 8, Orland Memorial American Legion Post #111, the Elks, Moose Lodge and the Masons.

"My father loved life. He loved his family. He loved to travel and he enjoyed each and every day of his life," Bruce Cooper added.

"His business sense was amazing and he was never afraid to try something new," the son said, adding, "He touched a lot of people's lives and is someone that you'll never forget."

Merrill Cooper is survived by his wife Mildred (Sally) (Spitler) Cooper; daughter Cynthia Thompson (friend Bob Merkur) of Gold Coast, Australia; son Bruce Cooper (friend Carole Binder) of Orland Park; grandsons Scott (fiance) Kristie Tobin and her son Ryan); Brian (Jaimie) Cooper and great grand daughter Brooklyn Victoria Cooper.

On Monday, August 7, the cortege left the funeral home at 10:00 a.m., with Mr. Cooper's casket being carried on a horse drawn caisson to the Orland Park United Methodist Church at 9955 West 144th Street.

The funeral began at 11:00 a.m., followed by the caisson carrying Cooper's casket to the family plot at the Orland Memorial Cemetery, 15300 West Avenue, in Orland Park.

The cemetery is across the street from where the Cooper family originally settled in Orland Park in 1850.

Longtime Orland Park resident and business owner G. Merrill Cooper died in his Old Orland home on August 1. Cooper's family first settled in Orland Park in 1850.

Galena showcases stone cottages to Queen Anne homes

There is nowhere lovelier than the Galena area in the fall, and no event that speaks of the history of this charming 19th-century town like the September Tour of Historic Galena Homes. In its 39th annual home tour, the Galena–Jo Daviess County Historical Society will showcase four beautiful private homes, plus the Galena History Museum, housed in an 1858 mansion. From a stone cottage to a magnificent Queen Anne, the residences will be open to the public Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 23 and 24, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine. Tucked away in a quiet, wooded setting on Galena's east side, the 1850s Federal-style brick Hillside House is easy to miss. Two additions and extensive terracing and gardens give this home an unusual layout and an eclectic ambiance. Dining room windows look onto a private grotto, and the family room has a dramatic, massive wall of natural bedrock stone. Victorian and Eastlake family pieces furnish the formal living room and cottage-style bedroom. The rest of the house features primitive pine furniture and a vast collection of Norwegian antiques and heirlooms, reflecting the owners' ethnic heritage. The owners, in authentic Norwegian costumes, will be on hand to greet you as you experience this first-time tour home that's a feast for the eyes. Situated on a quiet lot at the northern reach of Park Avenue is the Ridd House. Built in 1891, it was one of the first homes in the west to feature steam heat throughout, with the radiators still in use today. Much of the fine millwork created at the family-owned sash and door factory can still be seen today at the Queen Anne Guest House, as the home is now known. As they tour its four guest rooms, visitors will experience the elegance of Victorian times among the many antique furnishings in this grand Queen Anne-style "Painted Lady." Wonderfully secluded on two large private wooded lots, the 1847 Fullington-Duffin Cottage is steeped in African-American history. Built by Elizabeth Fullington, this cottage adjoined the AME (African Methodist Episcopalian) Church built in 1844 (gone by early 1870s). Unlike the majority of her race in those days, Fullington was born of free parents, never knew slavery and received an education. Her brother, James C. Embry, was converted to her faith while visiting his sister in Galena in 1855, licensed to preach in 1856, became a bishop and was one of the most prominent men of colored race in America. Fullington married freedman John Duffin in 1864. At the time of her death in 1891, she was the oldest "colored" resident of Galena, having lived here since 1844. The current owners purchased the cottage in 2004. Their artistic stenciling and fine primitive antiques make this cozy cottage a delightful first-time tour home. The Fahrig-McGuire House was built in 1853 on property used as a stone quarry. The small, two-story stone cottage was in a sad state of disrepair until the current owner acquired it in 2001. Four years of restoration followed. An addition, nestled partially into the hillside to minimize its visual impact, is connected to the original stone house by a small breezeway, making the stone portion stand out on its own and not be overwhelmed. Remnant details from the stone house were used to replicate doors, windows and millwork for the addition. Restoration glass and reconditioned 150-year-old interior hardware maintain the spirit of the original stone house. Furnished primarily with 19th-century American antiques, with a few 17th- and 18th-century English pieces added to the mix, the historic Fahrig-McGuire House, with its sensitive modern addition, will surely delight the public in its home tour debut. Free admission to the Galena History Museum will be part of the tour and will include a behind-the-scene guided tour of the mansion/museum's non-public areas. The September Tour of Historic Galena Homes is sponsored by the Galena

It Does Not Mean It's Not True

Sonja from Orland says, "my family really thinks I'm crazy or soon will be nuttier than a fruit cake and here is my story because it's Beyond Logic. First, I began having things burn, & they were not even on fire, yet the edges of papers were charring and clothing smelled like they were burned too. My cell phone began ringing, a phone that had no battery or wires attached anywhere and had not worked for more than a year. Whenever I went to answer the phone, it went dead again. Then one day it rang and I heard a voice, I swear I heard the voice of my dead sister." She said, "Sis, I told you all things are possible!"

From project manager to teacher Queen of Peace teacher finds his place

When he graduated from the esteemed Ateneo de Manila University in the Philippines with a BA in Mathematics, Jose Gamboa never expected that one day he would stand in front of a classroom. In fact, from the moment his grandfather gave him his first Lego set, Gamboa knew he was a builder. "I loved planning, building, and the satisfying feeling of realizing a finished product," he notes. Gamboa became an engineer.

However, when the Japanese company he worked for shifted its focus from building to demolition, Gamboa decided to move on. He remembers fondly the day that forever changed his life path. On March 23, 2003, Gamboa left the Philippines to visit his sister and nephew in Chicago. During his stay, Gamboa tutored his young nephew, who was having difficulty in math at the time. "When I saw the sparkle in my nephew's eyes after he began to grasp some of the concepts, I couldn't help but feel inspired." Gamboa had found his calling. No longer would he build structures; instead he would build young minds.

Having completed his MA in Teaching Secondary Education with a concentration in Mathematics at National-Louis University, Gamboa worked for the Chicago Teaching Center. His experience leading year-round math programs for Chicago-area high-school students, namely Upward Bound and BLAST (Building Leadership and Success Together), made him even more aware of the importance to prepare and encourage high-school students to pursue college.

As Queen of Peace continues to focus on improving students' abilities to think critically and solve problems under pressure, Gamboa is eager to use his experiences in ways that show students how to approach real-world challenges.

"As a Construction Management Engineer for 16 years, I used math in reading architectural plans, estimating project costs, scheduling phase deadlines, and in figuring the logistics of man-power, equipment, and materials on any given project.

Whether one is an engineer or not, math has very practical applications in all of our lives and that's something I want to show the students."

Excited. Delighted. These words don't quite capture how Gamboa feels as the rush of a new school year takes flight. "Indescribable expectations" is more like it!"

Enjoying the sizzle of Summer

Every summer it's the same old song. We look forward to the chance for more fun in the sun and then, it seems, two things happen. Heading into August we reach temperatures in the 90's and the very sun-worshipers who couldn't wait for these lazy, hazy days, are now complaining of the stifling heat.

Another thing that happens is that , with the 4th of July barely a memory, there are people sadly announcing that summer's over.

I'm finding that these are the every people living in a state of seasonal limbo.

They are the ones who long for warmer days when the first snowflake falls to the icy ground. and, just when the newscasters broadcast the beginning of bikini wearing weather they long for the chill of cooler climates.

Well, I refuse to be pessimistic and see this picnicking time of year as over just because the fireworks festivities have been officially celebrated. In my opinion there is still a whole month of summer to savor and enjoy.

Sure, right now the weather has us feeling like we're in meltdown mode, but I'm not ready to give up the watermelon just yet. There is still so many fun things to see and do.

Recently, Bill, his sister, Marie, and I sat on the back of the old Explorer devouring our first Rainbow cones of the summer. As we sat laughing and licking the luscious treat, it came to mind that there are quite a few things we haven't crossed off our summertime 'to do' list.

There is still time for long bike rides along the lake, and evening walks through the park. There are concerts under the stars and neighborhood festivals to attend.

Water parks still beckon with the refreshing blue water of wave pools - such fun for young and old alike.

Though the temperature is hovering in the 100's, with the heat index, it can help to get our minds off the meltdown by singing a merry tune like, 'Frosty The Snowman', to mentally cool things off.

Here's to the glorious season of summer! It is far from over. Imagine the possibilities with August still here to enjoy.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK ~

Moraine Valley's honors program upholds students' love for learning

Are you a high school or college student looking for more challenging and rewarding opportunities for yourself in the classroom? If so, Moraine Valley's Honors Program is the place for you.

The college's Honors Program is a specially designed academic path exclusively for high-achieving students. Honors-only sections of key courses are smaller than traditional college classes, and emphasize critical thinking and interpretation skills with creative problem solving. The students' love for learning is nurtured throughout the program, giving them a rewarding experience that prepares them for the future.

Honors courses don't simply give students additional work—the work itself is different to fulfill the students' different needs. Traditional lecture classes are taught with more student interaction, and more focus is put on the students' responsibility toward their own learning. In addition, these methods of teaching provide opportunities for students such as the ability to assist in teaching others, as well as participating in service and learning opportunities outside the classroom.

Potential transfer students concerned about how their GPA will be affected can be assured that grades are decided based on the same standards as in traditional courses. The only differences are the classroom experiences?experiences that will demonstrate the ability to succeed at a transfer institution as a junior. In addition, students enrolled in Moraine Valley's Honors Program are given assistance in building a portfolio to help the transfer process, and special recognition for their participation in the program is documented on their transcripts. Social events with other honors students and faculty members also are offered to students in the program.

"The Honors Program is a great program to be involved with for many reasons," said Jessica Machen, a Chicago Ridge student enrolled in the program. "The teachers are fantastic, and because of the small class sizes, you have a chance to have more help from your professors. As a student in the Honors Program, I feel that you learn more, and discuss things on a deeper level than in regular classes. And because the classes are so small, you get to know the other students better and can get help from them easier."

Courses offered in the Honors Program for fall 2006 include Speech Fundamentals; Western Civilization I; College: Changes, Challenges, Choices; General Sociology; Composition 1; and Introduction to American Music. Prerequisites for the new enrollees in the honors program include a 3.2 high school GPA, an ACT score of 25 or SAT score of 1050 (composite), completion of at least one AP course with an A or B (AP score 4), or having graduated from high school in the top 10 percent of the class. Current Moraine Valley students need to have completed nine hours of coursework at the college level with a 3.2 GPA or obtain a letter of recommendation from an instructor. Because the college has open enrollment, applications to the Honors Program can be submitted with the actual college application.

For more information about the Moraine Valley Honors Program, visit morainevalley.edu/honorsprogram/faq.htm on the Web, or call Rita Kribs, coordinator of Non-Traditional Learning and the Honors Program, at (708) 974-5643, or e-mail kribs@morainevalley/edu.

Something Old & Something New

Dear Brides to Be:

Living in the Chicagoland area gives a Bride and Groom so many opportunities for a beautiful wedding.

Downtown Chicago on Lake Michigan, cruise ships are lined up and you can contact various cruise lines to help with ideas for that great wedding. You could have your wedding vows performed on the ship. It would be a great way to have a reception and give your guests a special added attraction and treat.

The cost is not much more than the traditional banquet style reception at a nice restaurant.

If you have a small bridal party and would like to keep them together, it would be a great idea to hire a limo from your house for pictures downtown and the driver could escort you to the cruise boat.

I want your wedding to be perfect. A heart that loves bonds.

Be Happy, Best Wishes,
Carlene O'Connor

Students from the British School of Chicago (BSC) recently invaded Toyota Park, home of the Chicago Fire, to commemorate the BSC's new soccer program and serve as a patriotic salute to Britain's love affair with soccer. Before the game, students paraded around the field dressed in Chicago Fire gear and accompanied Chicago Fire players during their introduction to the crowd. During halftime, two teams of students took to the field and competed against each other.

Mother Courage presented at the Theatre Building

The Vitalist Theatre's production of Bertold Brecht's play "Mother Courage and Her Children" runs from September 11 to October 22, 2006 at the Theatre Building located 1225 W. Belmont in Chicago.

Bertold Brecht's seminal creation considered "one of the great plays of our time" is given new life by David Hare, "Britain's leading contemporary playwright" is a powerful, gutsy, comic, colloquial and extraordinary adaptation. It was first performed in 1995 at the National Theatre in London. The London Independent called it "a superbly combative new version that bristles with paradox, irony and skepticism."

The enterprising Mother Courage confronts waste, greed, profiteering, indifference, hypocrisy, arrogance and catastrophic loss in her resilient journey for survival. From her hodgepodge of trinkets and wares from her canteen wagon she supplies she follows a series of faceless armies across a battered terrain. One by one her children are lost to the violence which she profits. Brecht wrote" In the dark times/will there also be singing? Yes, there will also be singing about the dark times."

Vitalist 's cast of eight and live band brings its signature ensemble approach to an intimate, gritty, and roisterous production of Brecht's timeless antiwar play. How timely!

Artistic Director of Vitalist is Elizabeth Carlin-Metz and draws from experience in Los Angles, England and Chicago in both traditional and experimental theatre. Vitalist Theatre, with its distinctive fission of physical theatre, psychological dynamism and magical-realism, has received an impressive array of critical accolades on numerous productions including, Anna Karenina, Lear, and the Three Lives of Lucie Ccabrol.

The production runs at the Theatre building on Friday-Saturday at 8pm and matinees on Saturday and Sunday at 2:30pm. Call the box office at 312-327-5252. Tickets are $20.

Making your dollars do the work

Five strategies to having a retirement fund when you need it

What is your idea of retirement? Lounging in the backyard after working on the garden and having lunch with friends? Taking a trip to Europe, hitting every museum and monument you've ever wanted to see? Maybe you'd be content with just having the grandkids over on weekends and taking them to the park. No matter what your perfect retirement includes, worrying about money is probably not part of it.

"Financial concerns diminish your quality of life, distracting you from the things you enjoy most," says Nancy Coutu, president of Money Managers Advisory. "Many seniors worry about how they'll maintain their current lifestyle and the financial responsibilities their heirs will be left with."

Coutu says although most people at or near retirement may not focus on directly increasing income, they should look at strategies to maximize the dollars they already have. Here are Coutu's five smart strategies that may help you find those retirement dollars you need.

Strategy #1 Maintain a Long-Term Horizon – With life expectancies growing and continuous medical breakthroughs, many Americans can expect to live well into their 80s and beyond. But this benefit comes with a challenge: Making your money last your entire lifetime. Fixed-income vehicles, CDs and money market accounts, provide a steady, but usually low growth. Stocks are for people who can handle the risk of losing, a chance most seniors can't afford. One alternative is the equity indexed annuity (EIA). It may be an investment option for those seeking growth, a guaranteed principal and a long-term outlook. The guarantees are based on the claims paying ability of the issuing company.

Strategy #2 Be Sure to Account for Inflation – Inflation is loss of purchasing power caused by rising prices. Although inflation has been tame lately, historically it has averaged around 3.5 percent per year. At that rate, in 20 years the purchasing power of $50,000 will fall to $24,520 – less than half! Keeping a portion of your retirement assets in growth-oriented investments may help offset the unavoidable growth of inflation.

Strategy #3 Reduce Your Income Tax Hit – Many people have been unpleasantly surprised to find out even their Social Security benefits are taxed. Legislation of 1983 and 1993 allows up to 85 percent of your benefit check to be taxed. Taxation depends on the amount of income. Fortunately, there are ways to potentially reduce your taxable income.

Strategy #4 Supplement Your Income – If you still have the time, energy or interest to continue working – perhaps pursuing a second career, or turning a hobby into a business – it's much easier than ever before. Social Security income limits have been raised. In 2003, retirees below full retirement age (currently 65 and 2 months) that receive benefits and continue to work, can earn up to $11,520 before Social Security benefits are reduced. For those who haven't started collecting benefits, the earnings limit is up to $30,720 in the months prior to reaching full retirement age. After full retirement age, benefits aren't affected regardless of income.

Strategy #5 Establish a Living Trust – Although the estate tax exemption has been raised, the recent strong gains in the real estate market might leave you liable for estate taxes. Estate planning isn't just for the "superrich" anymore! One option for married couples that allows them to avoid probate and save money on taxes is the AB Trust, also referred to as a living trust with marital life estate. This option lets couples pass the maximum amount of assets to their beneficiaries.

So before planning that trip to the mountains or remodeling your kitchen, think about how you can make your retirement dollars work harder. Once that's done, you'll be able to sit back and relax. Then you can spend your time worrying about the important things, like how you're going to get nine holes in before lunch. If you want to learn more about how to make your dollars do the work, contact a financial advisor who is experienced with the needs of seniors. He or she can help you make the best decisions for your financial situation, so your retirement fund is there when you need it.

Orland Park Seeks Names of Residents' Loved Ones Killed In Vietnam

The Village of Orland Park will host the Moving Vietnam Wall October 5 through 8, 2006. During the wall's visit, local Vietnam Veterans — both deceased and alive — will be honored. Orland Park is seeking the names of current residents' loved ones who died in Vietnam.

"We've waited a long time for the wall to make its way to Orland Park," said Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin, adding that the village first applied a few years ago. "The wall coming this fall is especially significant because it will almost be one year ago that the village won the Governor's Hometown Award for its veterans' programs," the mayor said.

"The Directory of Killed In Action in Vietnam lists three people from Orland Park," said Orland Park Veterans Commission Secretary Gail Blummer. Orland Park residents who died in Vietnam include Marine Lance Corporal Michael Richard Reber; Marine Private First Class George Dennis Stiehler; and United States Army Captain Ronald Lloyd Zinn.

"We'd love to hear from the families of these young men and from current Orland Park residents who lost loved ones in Vietnam — whether they lived in Orland Park at the time or not," Blummer said.

As of January 1, 2003, there were 58,228 names listed on the memorial. Approximately 1300 of these are still unaccounted for prisoners of war and those missing in action. The names of eight women appear on the wall, all of whom were military nurses.

McLaughlin said, "We're looking forward to honoring all of the Vietnam Vets who live in the community. We want to get the word out now so that people know the wall is coming to the Orland Park Village Center in October."

Orland Park Veterans Commissioner Joseph Kelbus was a Combat Squad Leader and Sergeant in the First Calvary Division Airmobile, the 1st of the 9th Regiment (Reconnaissance). He is a life member of Orland Park's Reber-Tesmond Memorial VFW Post #2604; president and life member of the Sheridan's Cavalry Chapter of the 1st Cavalry Division; life member of The Bullwhip Squadron (1/9 Regiment); and a life member of The Purple Heart Association.

Of the wall coming to Orland Park, the army infantry combat veteran said, "It's very emotional and it brings out deep, strong feelings." Kelbus has been to the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C. four times.

"I cried each time," he said, adding that the names are not engravings. "It's more than a piece of granite. These are people I shared meals with and laughed with," Kelbus said.

Ironically, the first weekend in October offers Kelbus two reunions. "The same weekend the wall will be in Orland Park, my Army Regiment Reunion will be held at Fort Rucker, Alabama," Kelbus said.

"I will see my Vietnam buddies who survived and fought with me in combat 38 years ago at the reunion in Alabama, and I will return to Orland Park Sunday night to the Moving Wall to remember my Vietnam buddies who died," he explained.

The Vietnam Traveling Wall requires 24 hour coverage with a minimum of four people per shift during the late night hours and eight to ten volunteers during the daytime shifts and on weekends. Volunteers are asked to serve a two hour shift. Civic groups that would like to work together as a team are welcomed to volunteer. Specific days and times will be assigned as the dates get closer.

Local veterans and military organizations are invited to be a part of the Honor Guard. Two veterans, active service men/women or police/fire personnel will be at the wall 24 hours a day while it is on display. Individual Honor Guard volunteers will be assigned to a team of four members who will take turns with the shift for a four hour period.

"We have a number of people who have already volunteered to be here when the wall is here," Blummer said. Those interested in being a part of the vigil are asked to contact Blummer.

Area residents who know of Orland Park residents who died in Vietnam or current residents who lost loved ones in Vietnam are asked to call Blummer at 708/403-6203 or send an e-mail to gblummer@orland-park.il.us.

Tinley Park approves North Street financing

by Matt Mayer

The Tinley Park Board of Trustees unanimously approved the mix use North Street project, which is slated to have 115 condominiums, underground parking, 40,000 square feet of retail space and a two story, and a 11- screen 1,930 seat movie theater. The board is expected to finalize the project at the next meeting on Aug. 22.

The developer and the village have been in negotiation for the past seven weeks regarding the $100 million plus financing package. The village has agreed to pay $38 million, $21 million of which will be financed. The developer L&H Real Estate Group will pay $65 million for construction of the buildings, which is slated to include expansion of Zabrocki Plaza, doubling its size and construction of an underground parking garage under the new public park. A reconfiguration of the Central Middle School site for an interim parking lot is also included in the village's share. The village has agreed to utilize $4.5 million from the Tax Increment Financing District for the expansion of water and sewer lines as well as other public improvements.

The village is confident that the debt obligation will be met and if not, the village has rainy day funds. The village has also agreed to pay $2.5 million annually over a 20-year period for its financial portion of the project as well as taking other measures such as increasing its rate stabilization funds, which will be used to insure the bonds in order to keep the taxpayers from absorbing the costs.

Orland Park Sportsplex offers Pilates reformer training

The Village of Orland Park Recreation and Parks Department offers a unique style of Pilates training at the village's Sportsplex. Orland Park is the first community in the region to offer training on the Pilates Reformer.

Pilates workouts were first introduced in the early 1900s incorporating the concepts of Yoga, meditation and martial arts. Pilates conditions the entire body while increasing flexibility and strength by focusing on a series of precise, controlled movements instead of emphasizing repetition.

The Pilates Reformer is a sliding, bed-like platform anchored at one end of its frame with resistance springs. The platform moves along a track by either pushing off a stationary bar or pulling on ropes. In advanced workouts on the reformer, balancing on a sliding platform is used to increase the challenge.

"Pilates Reformer training is unique to the Orland Park area," said Village of Orland Park Fitness Manager Deborah Graham, a certified Pilates Reformer instructor.

"While many communities offer Pilates classes, Orland Park was the first town to offer training on the Pilates Reformer," she said. Personal training sessions on the reformer are available through a certified instructor.

Graham, who holds a Master of Science Degree in Kinesiology from the University of Illinois at Chicago, is nationally certified to train clients on the Pilates Reformer.

"My certification is through the Physical Mind Institute, one of the top programs in the country," she explained. Graham received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Exercise Science from Illinois State University.

"The Pilates Reformer is great for both men and women," Graham noted. "It strengthens the core muscles — the abs and lower back, as well as the extraneous muscles, namely those in the arms and back," she said. "This is one of the best ways to increase flexibility and endurance," Graham noted, adding that a number of professional baseball players use the reformer as part of their training programs.

"The Pilates Reformer sessions at the Sportsplex are focused on the individual needs of the client, enabling the instructor to design the workout more accurately and producing optimal results," she added.

Pilates Reformer users need not be Village Sportsplex members. The facility offers different rates for village residents, nonresidents and Sportsplex members. Classes are six weeks long and begin the week of September 10. Both individual and group training for the Pilates Reformer are available and the Sportsplex is offering a free 20 minute trial this month. Registration has begun. Call 403-6285 for additional information.

One hour Pilates Reformer sessions are available in increments of one, five, ten or twenty sessions. Training is available at the Village of Orland Park Sportsplex, 11351 West 159th Street. Dates and times vary and gift certificates are available. For more information call 708/645-PLAY.

Roche's attorney presents progress report

by Matt Mayer

Prior to the Aug. 1, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting, business owner Michael Roche, along with consul Robert Mancker appeared before the board. Mancker presented a progress report on the Roche's property located at 10008 S. Anderson Ave. in the industrial park. Mancker said that since the last meeting, Roche had made a number of improvements in compliance with what the board requested.

"The parking lot in front was paved, containers have been reorganized and numbered; we are going to provide a list of what the numbers are to the people. We have provided disclosure to the tenants allowing the containers to be demystified. Every parking spot has either a letter or a number, which corresponds to the information in the disclosure books that were given to the officials. Information, such as the drivers licenses of the truck drivers who park in the spaces, will be available so if either the police or fire chiefs have a problem they can move in and take care of it. Roche has agreed to keep them updated so there is always current information", Mancker said.

Mancker responded no to Mayor Eugene Siegel questions - Are any businesses operating out of those containers and do those people have offices in the building. "That is against the code-our ordinance states that we don't allow people to operate out of containers useless they have they have a business that's under roof," Siegel said. Village engineer Chris Burke said that the lot on the property has been striped, containers have been inventoried, a list of the parking has been provided and eight trees were planted. "The only thing from the list that I provided last meeting that was not done was the fire lane. Prior to the meeting, we talked to Fire Chief Grossi and they are going to meet and figure out what land they need; they will try to work out an agreement to establish a fire lane with some type of paving", Burke said.

Mancker said, "It's not really an employee parking lot for a large factory. This is an industrial lot it - has containers, trucks moving in and out, operating businesses store steel outside, and store their extra cars. I don't suppose it well ever be as manicured as a parking lot for passenger cars." Siegel responded, "Whether it's an industrial zone or not, we don't allow junk yards and the other concern that we had was the talk about terrorism. We don't know who these people are. We have a bunch of truckers here - we don't know what they're hauling and I thing that's the concern of the police department."

Police Chief Tim Baulderman said "Martins Auto Repair buys junk cars and picks them for parts, leaving a pile of junk. Other auto repair shops buy the parts that are needed for repair. Martins is the one that is going to have to clear that junk out of there to make room for a 20-foot fire lane in the back. Village officials want all the junk removed from the premises for two reasons, it's against code and there needs to be access for a fire lane in the in the rear of the property. " Roche will appear again at the next meeting on Aug. 21.

Worth approves OptiCom System

by Matt Mayer

At the Worth Board of Trustees meeting, the board approved a contract with Brown Traffic Devices for $46,395 for the OptiCom system. The OptiCom system, designed by 3M, is a traffic control system that provides a green light, and therefore intersection right-of-way, to emergency vehicles. Equipted vehicles have an emitter, which broadcasts a visible light or invisible infrared signal to a receiver, which is mounted on or near the traffic signal. When the receiver detects a recognized signal, the notifier (a floodlight mounted on or near the traffic signal) is activated as the traffic signals change to allow priority access as requested.

Other highlights: the board approved an ordinance to place a referendum on the Nov 7, general election ballot regarding the increases of sales tax in the village. An ordinance to increase water rates by 10-percent and an ordinance to increase business and contractor license fees by 10-percent were also approved.

The District with the highest bond rating

Commissioner Terrence J. O'Brien, President of the Board of Commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago, has announced that the bond rating agencies of Standard & Poor's, Moody's Investors Services and Fitch have all given the District their highest possible ratings. The District is one of only four wastewater and water agencies in the country to have the highest possible bond ratings from the three largest rating agencies.

President O'Brien stated that "these ratings are good news as the District prepares to sell $350 million in General Obligation Capital Improvement Bonds." Moody's Investors Services cited the District's conservative budgeting and reliance upon stable property tax revenues and the essential service provided by the District as a reason for the high rating. Moody's also stated that they believed the District's financial plans will remain strong.

President O'Brien went on to say, "careful fiscal planning and sound investmcnt practices mean the District is committed to maintaining the excellent bond ratings-AAA from Moody's Investor's Services, AAA from Fitch and AAA from Standard and Poor's."

The M.W.R.D. of Greater Chicago collects and treats wastewater from more than five million people and the industrial equivalent of another 4.5 million people in Cook County. The District's 2006 budget is $1 billion. Visit the District's wcb site at www.mwrd.org.

It Does Not Mean It's Not True

Sonja from Orland says, "my family really thinks I'm crazy or soon will be nuttier than a fruit cake and here is my story because it's Beyond Logic. First, I began having things burn, & they were not even on fire, yet the edges of papers were charring and clothing smelled like they were burned too. My cell phone began ringing, a phone that had no battery or wires attached anywhere and had not worked for more than a year. Whenever I went to answer the phone, it went dead again. Then one day it rang and I heard a voice, I swear I heard the voice of my dead sister." She said, "Sis, I told you all things are possible!"

From project manager to teacher Queen of Peace teacher finds his place

When he graduated from the esteemed Ateneo de Manila University in the Philippines with a BA in Mathematics, Jose Gamboa never expected that one day he would stand in front of a classroom. In fact, from the moment his grandfather gave him his first Lego set, Gamboa knew he was a builder. "I loved planning, building, and the satisfying feeling of realizing a finished product," he notes. Gamboa became an engineer.

However, when the Japanese company he worked for shifted its focus from building to demolition, Gamboa decided to move on. He remembers fondly the day that forever changed his life path. On March 23, 2003, Gamboa left the Philippines to visit his sister and nephew in Chicago. During his stay, Gamboa tutored his young nephew, who was having difficulty in math at the time. "When I saw the sparkle in my nephew's eyes after he began to grasp some of the concepts, I couldn't help but feel inspired." Gamboa had found his calling. No longer would he build structures; instead he would build young minds.

Having completed his MA in Teaching Secondary Education with a concentration in Mathematics at National-Louis University, Gamboa worked for the Chicago Teaching Center. His experience leading year-round math programs for Chicago-area high-school students, namely Upward Bound and BLAST (Building Leadership and Success Together), made him even more aware of the importance to prepare and encourage high-school students to pursue college.

As Queen of Peace continues to focus on improving students' abilities to think critically and solve problems under pressure, Gamboa is eager to use his experiences in ways that show students how to approach real-world challenges.

"As a Construction Management Engineer for 16 years, I used math in reading architectural plans, estimating project costs, scheduling phase deadlines, and in figuring the logistics of man-power, equipment, and materials on any given project.

Whether one is an engineer or not, math has very practical applications in all of our lives and that's something I want to show the students."

Excited. Delighted. These words don't quite capture how Gamboa feels as the rush of a new school year takes flight. "Indescribable expectations" is more like it!"

Cross Countries accomplishes their goal

by Annette Dixon

Two years ago a coach, by the name of Chris Repa, had an idea for eight of his track and cross country runners, male students from Oak Lawn High School. They decided they were going to Africa. Their mission was to service the people in Meseno, Kenya through an organization called Youth Encounter, supported mainly by the Lutheran Church.

I have been in contact with three of the eight boys and have been given the same response, which meant they were really busy working for 19 days in Africa.

Andy Paluck is in Milwaukee attending school at Milwaukee School of Engineering, so his mother got permission from Andy to review his diary with me.

Andy was one of the few boys that could carry water on his head. They had to walk a half mile downhill to the stream and carry a bucket of water a 1/2 mile uphill. Andy learned to use his head. Seems the people enjoyed his Kenya style of carrying the water for they really laughed when they saw him.

Dan Buys is attending North Central College in Naperville, studying Science /History. The briefing in Minnesota was scary but helpful for some people did get sick from the outhouses. The boys stayed at the Theology College, and obeyed the rules and curfew.

All three boys mentioned about helping in the hospital and helped a widowed woman with building her mud hut.

It was challenging not having plumbing, no running water, just outhouses, but the people are so happy always smiling and giving of themselves. One person gave her last bit of food to welcome the boys. Yet she was happy and smiling. "Although there was poverty, families were always happy and the peace within them was great for us to see. What I took back with me is to know that people were friendly always taking time for other people. They were making the best of the circumstances and making the best of what they have." It seemed the safari trip they had after 19 days of working was mentioned by all the boys. They saw all the animals and loved every minute of it.

Matt Miller, attends St. Xavier University. He stated, "he had a preconceived notion of what Africa was! Everyone was poor and they would be begging. It was different, they do not have anything but their culture doesn't allow them to feel poor. They have an inner peace which make their faces glow with happiness," said Matt.

Matt also spoke about the smearing of mud to help with the widow's home. After her husband died, the custom was that she could not live with her in-laws, so she and her children needed a new home. The boys also made mud with their feet and they would carry it in their arms. Sounds like an experience. I didn't ask anyone if they would want to return to Africa.

Evergreen Park reports first West Nile case

by Matt Mayer

Mayor James Sexton, at the Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting, announced that an 80-year-old woman, who is recovering well, contracted the first case of West Nile Virus. This was the first confirmed case by the Cook County Health Department. Even with great strides made in eliminating the virus, there still remain isolated cases. The worst year was 2002 - Illinois had 884 human cases of West Nile and 67 deaths. Last year, which was another bad year for mosquitoes, 252 cases were reported and 12 deaths. As of Aug 24, the Cook County Department of Public health has confirmed five additional cases of the virus, for a total of nine cases within the Suburban Cook County region.

The latest cases include a 47-year old Mt. Prospect woman; a 48-year -old Arlington Heights woman; a 73-year-old man from Des Plaines; a 64-year old man from Palatine and an individual from Oak Park. Other cases include a 26- year -old woman from Rosemont, a 68-year -old man from Chicago Heights, and a 79-year -old Willow Springs woman.

Those seeking information regarding the West Nile Virus may visit the Cook County Public Health Department Website at www.cookcountypublichealth.org. Information is also available by calling the Illinois Department of Health at 1-866-369-9710.

A CURE FOR HICCUPS

Dill has been used as a hiccup remedy. A tea made with Dill can relax the diaphragm and provide fast relief. Pour 1 cup of boiling water over 1 tsp.of dried dill leaves. Cover the cup, and let the tea steep for about 10-15 minutes. When cool, drink the tea slowly with small sips.

FACTS ABOUT DILL

The Dill leaves contains some vitamin C. The seeds are rich in calcium and iron, and also essential oils. The essential oils in dill help calm a nervous stomach and bloating. Dill seeds also make excellent breath fresheners. The essential oils disinfect the mouth, helping to kill the bacteria that gives you the bad breath. Chew a small amount of seeds between meals

KITCHEN HINTS ON DILL

Fresh cut dill can be stored in a foil pouches in the freezer for up to 4 weeks.

HEALTHY TIPS ON PARSLEY

Parsley purifies the blood. And aids digestion. The herb can also ease bloating, stomach cramps, and nausea, and can relieve arthritis symptoms. Eaten regularly, it reduces heart rate and lowers blood pressure.

To keep your breath fresh, chew on fresh parsley leaves.

And for treatment of kidney stones, brew up some parsley tea.

Pregnant women should avoid eating large quantities of parsley. But after the baby is born parsley can help tone the uterus.

The herb supplies important vitamins and minerals. Don't cook parsley because the heat destroys valuable vitamins and minerals. Add to pot the last minute before the dinner is done.. Dry parsley is less tasty and healthful..

Keep parsley fresh wash, dry, chop and then but in freezer bags or plastic containers and then freeze them.

Rainbow Therapy Dogs popular at Health Fairs

At the Saint Xavier University annual Health Fair the Rainbow Therapy Dogs were popular among the attendees. Students enjoyed interacting with the dogs, as many had pets at home. The Rainbow Therapy Dogs and handlers/trainers were so well received that Jenny Kjos, event coordinator, has invited them back for next year's fair.

Advocate Hope Children's Hospital held their Kids' Health and Fun Fair and Rainbow Therapy Dogs were a featured attraction for kids 12 and under. The dogs delighted several hundred children with their tricks and of course the kids enjoyed hugging and petting the dogs. Both handlers and dogs enjoyed the participation and look forward to future events.

The next class in Evergreen Park for training potential therapy dogs in the Rainbow Animal Assisted Therapy Dog program begins Tuesday, September 19, 2006 at 10am with four sessions. Rainbow Therapy Dog and handler partake in programs with special needs children and adults usually one hour twice a month visiting a local facility.

The class teaches you how to train your dog to become a therapy dog. Upon completion of the class the dog will receive a Canine Good Citizen Award and be eligible to continue in the process of becoming a Rainbow Therapy Dog. For more information call Dorida King at 773-736-9021 or Nancy Lind at 773-736-9021. Classes are available in the Chicagoland area.

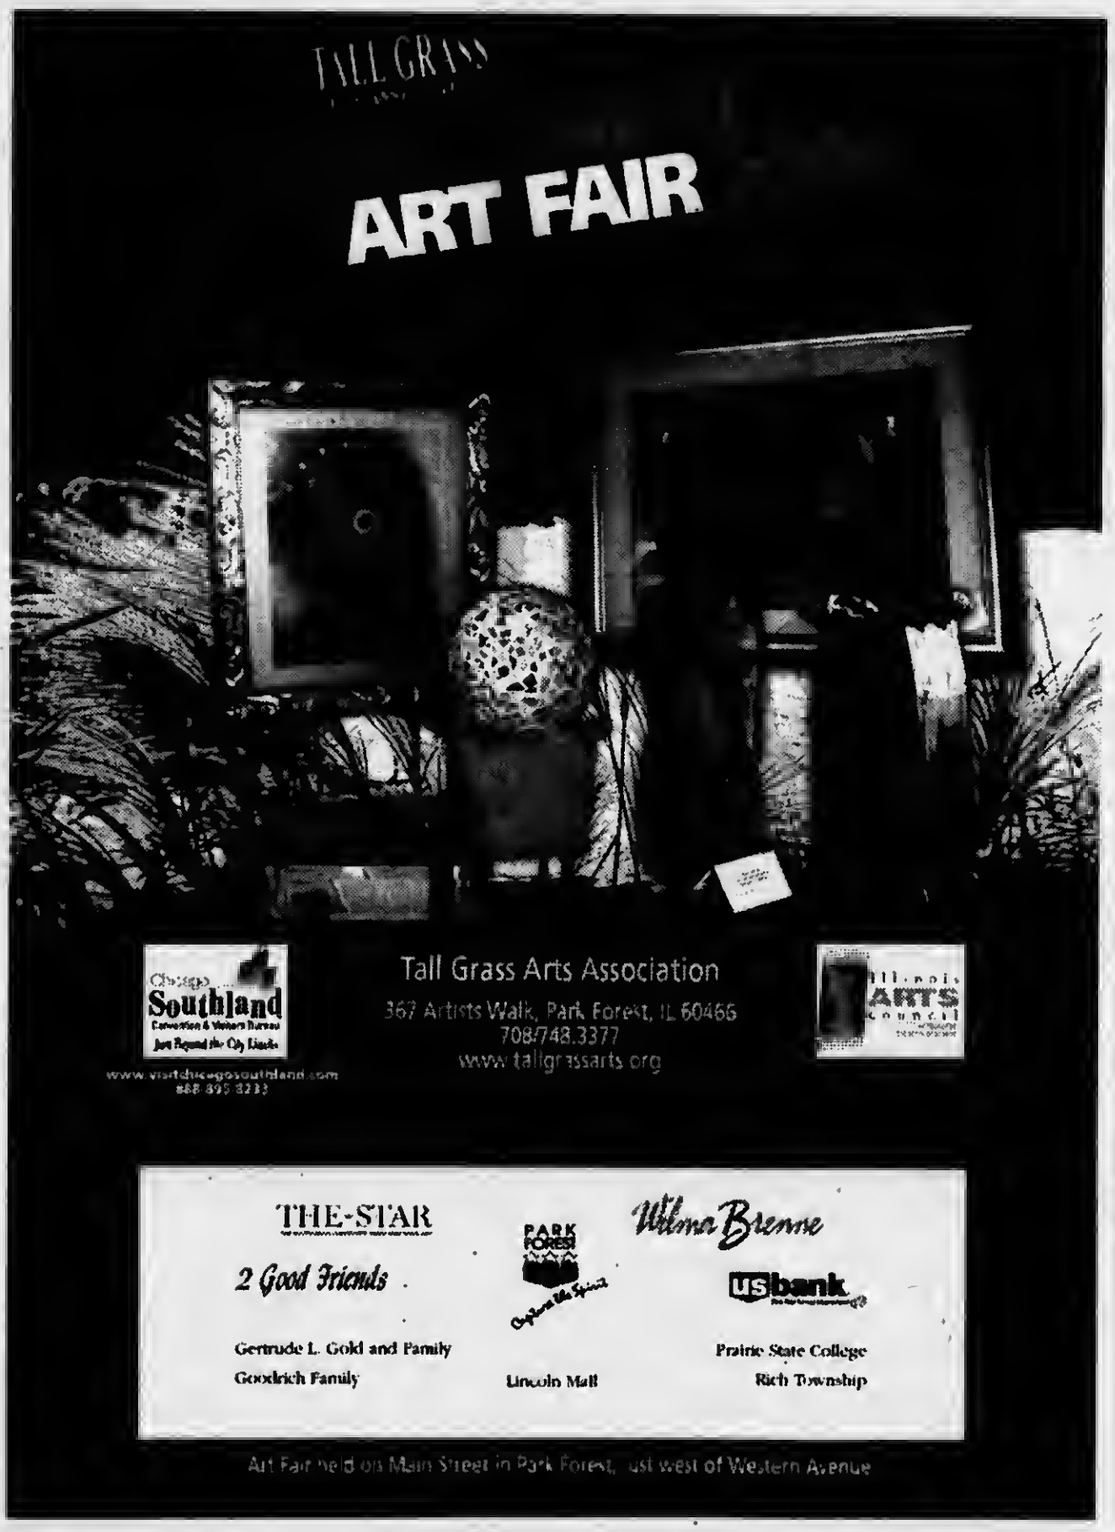
An Irish wake at Jenny's

by Marijo Doody

Evergreen Park resident, Dickie Doody's wish was to have an old fashioned wake at his favorite restaurant. "He loved parties and sports and did not want the fun to stop after his death", said his lifelong friend, Carl Courtright, owner of Jenny's Restaurant in Chicago Ridge. We remember Jenny's from the old neighborhood in Avalon Park, the original neighborhood from the Richard Doody family. They had the five 'D' as children. Dick had sisters, Deeda, Donna, and Dixie and a brother Denny.

"Trading austere rooms of a traditional funeral parlor for other venues such as zoos, museums and even a restaurant is becoming a new trend" said Shelly Murray, a funeral director at Andrew J.McGann & Sons, who provided services. It made the whole thing



Dear Brides to Be:

When "Good Taste" is of the utmost importance, you have to select your wedding cake carefully. It is one of the main attractions of the decorations and certainly of refreshments for your guests.

You can be as creative as you wish, your bakery will show you how to accent the cake with flowers fountains, staircases and waterfalls. A nice touch is to have a cake by itself fo pictures. It stands our and people can admire it from all angles.

Some couples have two cakes, a sheet cake for the guests and a tier cake for the wedding party. A tradition is for the top layer of the cake to be frozen and eaten by the bride and groom on their first anniversary.

Another tradition is to have a separate groom's cake. That's usally dark chocolate or a cake with fruit filling. The groom cuts the cake and gives a piece to each single bridesmaid. The girls place the cake under their pillow that night for dreams of their future husband.

If you can afford it, you may want a sweet table. Shop around bakeries and sample sweets to et he best look and taste and price available.

The cutting of the cake at the reception is a special moment. The groom places his hand over the brides and they share the first piece of cake together. It symbolizes their willingness to share the rest of their lives together.

Your wedding is the most important day of your life. A heart that Loves, Bonds. Be Happy!

more personalized and everyone had a great time!

Thanks to Chicago Ridge Mayor Gene Siegel, who determined the celebration would not violate any codes, he gave the ok. At Jenny's in a year old new addition, in the back, the closed casket was set up with an ern and photo of Dick and Jane. A podium held the registry book and memorial cards. There was a steady stream of well wishers through the evening. Even Mayor James Sexton (Evergreen Park) said, "this could be the start of a new trend." Probable several hundred came to the wake. It is a big family and there were lots of extended family and friends. There are 29 first cousins in this Doody clan.

My cousin Dick was an uncle to many as his sisters provided children: including Tim, Kathy, Suzie, Lisa, Ed, Danny, Peggy, Tommy, Wally, Debbie and the late Matt and Nancy. He had a special lady, the late Jane Conte, in his life and her daughter, Liz (Jerry Kenny), was like one to Dick and her children, Jane and Mike Kenny, had an almost grandpa Dick was seen in the neighborhood at Ken, Jenny's and other local spots. I usually saw him at White Hen.

His family and friends will miss him, but we'll always remember his send off at the old time Irish wake. He will be routing on the favorite Chicago teams. Slanta! To a successful man Dick Doody!

"Sorry" is only a Band-Aid

Some people think that saying "I'm sorry" after doing or saying something that really hurts another person is all that needs to be done. But, the offended person has to live with that nasty remark or dastardly deed done to them because once something is said or done it is indelible in the mind of the one who was offended. Yes, what was said or done can be forgiven but never forgotten! You see, memories never lose their emotion & this is why "hatred" exists & can grow into serious or violent acts. "Sorry" is only a band-aid placed on the hidden but deeper wounds of someone's remark or action. It is wiser then to think before you say or do some- thing that may offend another Jacki Mari & Alyn

The Powers of Love

By all accounts, the Powers household was like any other in the Mt. Greenwood community. With five daughters close in age, and a son, there was, no doubt, never a dull moment for their patient parents. And I thought having two daughters less than two years apart was a challengel

Like any other family overflowing with females, they fought, snuck each others clothes and, in coming of age years, shared the all important teen-age secrets. They supported each other in bad times and shared the laughter in happy times.

Not much has changed in the years since they have grown into adults.

I recently read an empowering story about the Powers women. They have joined forces to fight breast cancer with what they call Team KA-POW. Membership to this team includes many friends and family who support Annie Powers Gruber and Kathleen Powers Cecil, both cancer patients who are dedicated to raising funds to find a cure for this dreaded disease.

Breast cancer is not the only medical affliction affecting women in the Powers family. Along with her mother, Debbie Powers Quinn frequently fights the painful flare-ups that Rheumatoid arthritis brings, but it doesn't divert her efforts to support the cause of cancer research on behalf of her sisters.

But perhaps there is another side to this story, an inspiring show of their sisterly love that is a profound example of sodality in overcoming adversity.

Kathleen was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2001. Her sister Annie would also be diagnosed with the same disease, one year later.

Sadly, in 2005, Kathleen's cancer was found to have spread to her pelvis and spine, while Annie's breast cancer had also returned.

Through the demands of dealing with cancer and undergoing the rigorous chemo regiments to treat it, a story of pure love and hope is born amid the medical challenges. For Annie the desire to become a mother never faded though it seemed unlikely. Medications and cancer treatments would prevent her from becoming pregnant. And then, the Powers of love shone brightly on a promising situation.

Annie wanted a baby of her own but wouldn't be able to carry one. But, her sister Mary could. Mary became a surrogate mother for Annie, an unselfish act of love that not many women would be able to commit to.

Little Mary Elise Gruber was born July 2, 2006, lovingly named after the aunt who carried her, allowing her to grow right below her heart. To her mom, Mary is a wee angel of pure love, an answered prayer from God above.

Sisters, they share many things throughout a life time. They celebrate good times and hold each other up when bad times threaten to knock them down.

When family ties are sewn securely within the heart - there is nothing that can't be done or overcome. In writing this column I am reminded of an old __expression - "It's not what life hands you but how you handle it that counts." The determination of these women is a gift of inspiration to us all and a true testament to their parents, Marilyn and Gene Powers,who can be so proud of raising such loving, caring and compassionate daughters.

There is no denying the Powers of sisterly love.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

If I can bring joy into the world... then I'll be successful. (Bobby McFerrin.)

GOD BLESS AMERICA
USS New York

With a year to go before it even touches the water, the Navy's amphibious assault ship USS New York has already made history. It was built with 24 tons of scrap steel from the World Trade Center

USS New York is about 45 percent complete and should be ready for launch in mid-2007. Katrina disrupted construction when it pounded the Gulf Coast last summer, but the 684-foot vessel escaped serious damage, and workers were back at the yard near New Orleans two weeks after the storm.

It is the fifth in a new class of warship - designed for missions that include special operations against terrorists. It will carry a crew of 360 sailors and 700 combat-ready Marines to be delivered ashore by helicopters and assault craft.

"It would be fitting if the first mission this ship would go on is to make sure that bin Laden is taken out, his terrorist organization is taken out," said Glenn Clement, a paint foreman. "He came in through the back door and knocked our towers down and (the New York) is coming right through the front door, and we want them to know that."

Steel from the World Trade Center was melted down in a foundry in Amite , LA to cast the ship's bow section. When it was poured into the molds on Sept. 9, 2003, "those big rough steelworkers treated it with total reverence," recalled Navy Capt. Kevin Wensing, who was there. "It was a spiritual moment for everybody there."

Junior Chavers, foundry operations manager, said that when the tradecenter steel first arrived, he touched it with his hand and the "hair on my neck stood up." "It had a big meaning to it for all of us," he said. "They knocked us down. They can't keep us down. We're going to be back." The ship's motto? - 'Never Forget'

Queen of Peace teacher helps rural America

Queen of Peace High School Instructional Technology Coordinator and Physical Education teacher Mary Pat Pearson looked forward to spending a week of her summer vacation building front porches and repairing roofs – just as she did last summer.

Pearson and Peace Service Coordinator Kristine Owens led six Queen of Peace students on a cross-country drive to Nazareth Farm in West Virginia. Nazareth Farm is a Catholic community of volunteers that operates on the cornerstones of prayer, community, simplicity and service.

Their mission notes: "We are devoted to developing relationships and eliminating sub-standard housing through home repair in rural West Virginia. We provide a communal experience of Church as a center of action and prayer."

Indiana Beach brings sunshine all year to all

Traveling to Indiana Beach and Southern Indiana can be fun for the whole family. With the cost of gas and traveling with the family can be very expensive. If you are looking for an enjoyable weekend keep reading, you just may want to try Lake Shafer, Indiana Beach.

"Founded on the shores of Lake Shafer, Indiana Beach is an unexpected oasis in the heart of Indiana farmland."

There is an old fashioned boardwalk and amusement park, however, that isn't at all what Indiana Beach is about.

There is also a sandy beach for swimming a slide and for just sun bathing and relaxing. If staying overnight admission is free into the park and on the beach. What is an additional charge would be the five roller coasters, a water park with six water slides, over thirty rides and attractions, dining, shopping.

Two water fun attractions are new additions for 2006. Indian Beach is introducing Splash Battle, an interactive family water ride, and splash bash, a zero depth water play area within the water park.

Indiana Beach provides a summertime vacation value. At Indiana Beach, the park entrance fee is only $2.50 per person, if you are not staying at one of the parks for overnight accomodations. Indiana Beach offers a variety of overnight guest lodging options including two camp resorts, an inn, a motel, and the new Hoosier Pointe Cottages.

Indiana Beach is loaded with endless entertainment options. Fine dining is available at The Skyroom Restaurant, live music fills the air at the fun Roof Garden Lounge, and guests of all ages will enjoy a paddle boat tour of Lake Shafer aboard the mighty Shafer Queen. On Friday evening a live DJ spins music on the Boardwalk Funway and on Saturday nights, the Indiana Beach Ballroom hosts a Teen Dance Club. Bring the boats for you can enjoy fishing, boating, water skiing, jet skiing, and much more on the exciting shores of Lake Shafer and Lake Freeman. There's even two 18 hole golf courses near the vacation paradise.

Indiana Beach Amusement and Camp Resort is located in northwest Indiana on beautiful Lake Shafer in Monticello, Indiana. Visitors can receive additional information about Indiana Beach at www.Indianabeach.com or by calling 574-583-4141.

Lawrence County in Southern Indiana

While visiting an Indiana Tourism Expo recently, I came across a county I didn't visit nor did anyone present this county to me.

Jennifer presented a slide presentation in which I was quite impressed. She started out with mentioning that the limestone from this county supplied the Empire State Building and the Pentagon. The two level, 500 foot exhibit shows visitors tools, murals, maps, fossils, historical new account and archival and architectural photographs that also demonstrates how this natural resource helped develop a 19th century rural Indiana county into a booming national industrial center. This exhibit is house in a 1926 Beford limestone building that is listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Exhibit hours are 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Admission is Free.

This is the home of 4 astronauts including Virgil I. Grissom. There is a Center to learn about the Hoosier who pioneered outer space. See Grissom's suit and the Gemini capsule that he flew in orbit, and learn about the tragic event that ended his life on the Apollo launch pad in 1967.

There is also an underground river here, it's Bluespring Caverns. These limestone caverns are Indiana's greatest natural wonder. More than 20 miles of explored passageways and flowing streams converge to form the underground river traveled by electric tour boats on the "Mystery River Voyage." Bluespring Caverns is one of the twenty largest natural caves in the U.S. and contains the nation's longest navigable underground waterway.

For the Doll lovers, did you know that the Turner Doll Factory is probably the only doll factory left in this area.

Virginia Turner and her staff produce about 10,000 collectible dolls every year.

Let's not forget Spring Mill State Park. This is an all inclusive recreational destination, because it's an 1800s pioneer village, complete with a working grist mill; guided boat tours through the Twin Caves; and a space museum and memorial dedicated to astronaut Virgil "Gus" Grisson.

Well, if that isn't enough there is an unexpected haven for fine arts nestled with corn fields. The Mitchell Opera House was completed in 1906 as a county meeting hall. Then years later, show business stirred up this sleepy Midwestern town when the hall became a stop on the Vaudeville circuit.

Tinley Park approves redevelopment project

by Matt Mayer

Residents near the Oak Park Metra Station opposed to the Tinley Park Place redevelopment project attended the Aug 22, Tinley Park Board of Trustees meeting and voiced numerous criticisms against the $100 million redevelopment project slated for the area near 173rd and Oak Park Avenue. Their concerns were that the project will take away from the historic character of the area, it would be too dense and increase traffic.

The board proceeded and unanimously approved an ordinance and resolution necessary for the adoption of the redevelopment project also know as the North Street project in an effort to lure people into the downtown area and increase local businesses. The project is slated to include 115 condominiums, underground parking, 16, 000 square feet of office space, approximately 43,000 square feet of retail space, and a two-story 11-screen 1,930-seat movie theater.

The developer, L&H Real Estate Group, will pay $65 million for the construction of the buildings, which will include expansion of Zabrocki Plaza, doubling it's size, and the construction of an underground parking garage under the new park. A configuration of the Central Middle School site for an interim parking lot is also included. The village will utilize $4.5 million from the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district for the expansion of water and sewer lines as well as other public improvements. A TIF district uses tax revenues to finance improvements within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies, such as schools and libraries. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years. The village is confident that the debt obligation will be met and if not, the village has a rainy day funds.

"Sorry" is only a Band-Aid

Some pcople think that saying "I'm sorry" after doing or saying something that really hurts another person is all that needs to be done. But, the offended person has to live with that nasty remark or dastardly deed done to them because once something is said or done it is indelible in the mind of the one who was offended. Yes, what was said or done can be forgiven but never forgotten! You see, memories never lose their emotion & this is why "hatred" exists & can grow into serious or violent acts. "Sorry" is only a band-aid placed on the hidden but deeper wounds of someone's remark or action. It is wiser then to think before you say or do some- thing that may offcnd another

The Witness performed under the stars

by Linda Steiner

I have talk to alot of our customers who have summer homes out in the Arkansas area, or customers who have come to visit Hot Springs, Arkansas. I suggest you all come to Arkansas not only for the hot spring baths but to see a wonderful live play, titled "The Witness," performed Under the Stars with live animals. This play is for all ages.

Last Friday, August 25,2006, I was invited to see the play and was surely surprised with the professional actors, playing the live seenes. The actors where all volunteers, and ranged from the baby to adults, in there 90's, altogether, approximately 125 people, who helped to put on this production. They had fabulous voices that you would pay to hear at the opera.

The day I went it rained most of the day, but that evening you could see every star in the sky while the beautiful music, singing and acting was take place. The costumes where bright in color, like they where brand new for each scene.

The Witness is a musical - drama of the birth, life, death and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth and sung by the Apostle Peter [the witness] with accompaning chorus of the Galilean Villager with the setting between the Arkansas mountains and wooded valley.

The Witness has open their 26th season this year, and has seating for a 1000 people. The play started about 8p.m. every Friday and Saturday evening through Oct 7,2006.

All groups are welcomed and for general admission tickets, just eall 501-623-9781 or visit their website at www.witnessproductions.com

I enjoyed the play so much, next weekend we are planing to take a few or our friends who are coming to visit Hot Springs, to see the play. I ean hardly wait to see the play again. It is worth seeing more than onee, and I give it a 5 star performanee.

"Sorry" is only a Band-Aid

Some people think that saying "I'm sorry" after doing or saying somcthing that really hurts another person is all that needs to be done. But, the offended person has to live with that nasty remark or dastardly deed done to them because once something is said or done it is indelible in the mind of the one who was offended. Yes, what was said or done can be forgiven but never forgot'
You see, memories never lose their emotion & this is why "hatred" exists & can grow into serious or violent acts. "Sorry" is only a band-aid placed on the hidden but deeper wounds of someone's remark or action. It is wiser then to think before you say or do some- thing that may offend another

Evergreen Park waives library fees

by Matt Mayer

The board moved swiftly through the brief meeting of the Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting. The board approved a request to waive all license and construction fees associated with the library renovation. Mayor James Sexton said the money for this project is coming from sales tax dollars from retailers such as Wal-Mart and therefore no property tax dollars will be used.

The library construction commenced Sept. 5. Due to a rigorous construction schedule, the hours of operation were modified until further notice. The schedule is as follows: Monday -Thursday, 1:00-9:00 p.m.; Friday 1:00-5:00 p.m.; Saturday 9:00-5:00 p.m. and Sunday 12:00-4:00 p.m. The library renovation is slated to increase the children's area to three times larger that its present size, which will include a program room; a young adult area; triple the amount of computers; three group study rooms; a quiet reading room; a public meeting room for library programs and community functions and a conference/exhibit room. Functionally, there will be a brand new 23,000 square foot library.

The month of Sept. was proclaimed National Save a life Month and the week of Sept 17 was proclaimed Constitution Week.

Oak Lawn-Burbank ambulances to have 12-lead ECG's

by Matt Mayer

Acting Village Manager/ Fire Chief Ed Folliard said Advocate Christ hospital elected to donate two $25,000 12-lead pre hospital ECG machines to Oak Lawn and one to Burbank. One ECG machine will be in each life support ambulance at the two fire stations. "This is cutting edge technology and we are the first in our area for this. I know this experimental program will be a success", Folliard said.

Due to the skill of the of the paramedics in Oak Lawn and the significantly higher rate of heart attacks than other surrounding municipalities, The Emergency Room Director Nancy Pasieta contacted the village regarding this program. "Regular meetings then followed with Pasieta, Oak Lawn EMS Director Peter Lombardi and myself", Folliard said.

The 12-lead ECG allows the transmission from the ambulance to a handheld computer at Christ Hospital allowing a cardiologist the ability to view ECG's electronically. And if the cardiologist determines that a heart attack is occurring in the field, the ER will then notify the cardiac catheterization lab, which then will be present in the ER eliminating a substantial amount of time. The pre hospital 12 lead ECG decreases the time to lytic therapy by 25-36 minutes, a critical factor in saving heart muscle. The 12-lead ECG's will also provide a comparison to previously performed ECG's and also provide the ER a tracing to compare with the ECG that will be preformed minutes after the patients ER arrival. The pre hospital ECG's improve patient out comes and help save lives.

On June 6, 2006 Firefighters-Paramedics James Casper, Steve McKenna, Dan Roony and Mark Cesario received the Outstanding Call of the Year Award from Advocate Christ hospital Medical Center emergency Services Department. The crew responded to a call for an unconscious patient whose throat was swollen and was in respiratory failure due to suffering an anaphylactic shock reaction to medication. The crew then performed a needle cricothyrotomy through the cricothyroid membrane - until air can be aspired. This procedure allows the patient an oxygen supply and in this case saved her life. The Emergency Medical Technologist-Paramedics were honored at the June 13 Board of Trustees Meeting, at which time Chief Folliard said that the doctors at Christ Hospital had said they had never seen this performed in the field.

America's Promise

Competition Spotlights Communities That Are Great Places to Grow Up

Alexandria, VA, September 13, 2006: Mayors from cities large and small today were challenged to take part in America's Promise – The Alliance for Youth's second annual competition that honors the 100 Best Communities for Young People in America.

The winners earn the right to brag that their communities ensure that their young citizens have the necessary resources they need to succeed. "Mayors who do not apply for this award are missing out on a chance to share recognition they deserve for making children a priority and learn about other best practices nationwide," said Providence, Rhode Island Mayor David N. Cicilline, whose city was named one of the 100 Best for 2005 and which served as host for a regional forum on youth development this past July.

"This competition gives me a national platform to share Providence's success story. No mayor should pass on this opportunity!" More than 1,000 communities took part in the inaugural 100 Best Communities contest launched in 2005 by America's Promise, its Founding Chairman Colin L. Powell, USA (Ret) and current chair Alma Powell.

The 100 Best Communities competition helps outstanding local programs get the attention they deserve and provides localities across the country with models to emulate. Capital One Financial Corporation is the presenting sponsor for the 100 Best Communities for Young People. "We want to recognize the energies, the best practices that work for children and youth across America," said General Powell. "This competition inspires communities to showcase how they help their young people succeed and share their successes with the nation.

The 100 Best contest shows we always have something to learn from our neighbors." Community leaders will have until November 3, 2006, to join together and apply for the honor through the America's Promise Web site at www.americaspromise.org/100Best.

Winners will be selected by a distinguished panel of civic, business and nonprofit leaders and announced in January. "We know Louisville is a great place for young people and families," said Mayor Jerry Abramson. "It's encouraging to know that other people are noticing the groundbreaking efforts taking place in our hometown.

This award is a testament to the fact that our community truly cares about having all of our children succeed, and I would encourage other cities to take advantage of this opportunity." In addition to the support of Capital One, members of the America's Promise Alliance have participated in the development of the 100 Best competition, including United Way of America, YMCA of America, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Forum for Youth Investment, Communities In Schools, Search Institute, the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National League of Cities, and many others.

About America's Promise-The Alliance for Youth: America's Promise is a broad-based alliance whose members work together to ensure the well-being of children and youth. Alliance partners focus attention and resources to help every child receive the Five Promises essential to success: caring adults who are actively involved in their lives; safe places in which to learn and grow; a healthy start toward adulthood; an effective education that builds marketable skills; and opportunities to help others.

Founded by retired General Colin L. Powell, following the Presidents' Summit for America's Future in 1997, the America's Promise Alliance includes nonprofit, corporate and community groups as well as individuals across the nation. Alma J. Powell currently serves as chair.

Lipinski seeks increased use of technology to secure our borders

At a hearing today of the U.S. House Science Committee, Congressman Dan Lipinski heard testimony from Department of Homeland Security (DHS) officials and other security experts on technology options for improving the security of U.S. borders.

"Securing our borders is critical for national security. Technology is a vital component in our toolbox for protecting our borders, and we need to be doing more research, development, and deployment of technology for border security," stated Congressman Lipinski.

Currently, the DHS Border Patrol is charged with securing roughly 7,500 miles of U.S. border, much of it in remote and rugged terrain, with a limited number of border patrol agents on the ground. Current research is working to create a virtual fence using sensors and imaging techniques linked in an information network, which would provide the relatively small number of agents in the field with a tool to locate and track intruders. But systems and protective methods are not currently linked together. In fact, surveillance cameras currently cover only about 5% of the border and are not linked to the sensors, often resulting in inaccurate and inconclusive data.

"What I heard today is that securing our borders is possible," said Lipinski. "But I was also told that it is going to take a large and sustained investment to get the job done. We need to be committed to dedicating the resources to protect our borders and our citizens. That is a critical responsibility of our government."

Cook County Recorder of Deeds, Eugene "Gene" Moore

Recorder announces new procedure to prevent fraud

Cook County Recorder of Deeds, Eugene "Gene" Moore announces that his office will begin mailing postcard notices to homeowners the instant a Quit Claim Deed is filed on their property. The new procedure is an effort to prevent fraudulent property transactions. The postcard notification program began September 15, 2006.

The Quit Claim Deed is a document used by many homeowners to add their spouse to the title of their property. Seniors also used the Quit Claim Deed to add children to their title so the property is not lost in probate in the event of the senior's death. But lately, Quit Claim Deeds have become the document of choice for thieves and scam artists intent on taking property. "Unfortunately," according to Record Moore, "unsavory characters are using documents like Quit Claim Deeds to start a process of ripping off some of our most vulnerable citizens and homeowners. We will now mail a postcard to the resident as soon as a Quit Claim Deed is filed on that property," Recorder Moore says. "If the resident is unaware of the filing, we have a hotline number directly to my office (312-603-5053), where we can put people in touch with agencies that can help.

It is still a good idea, even if they are aware of the transaction, for the homeowners to check the transaction at the Recorder's website at www.ccrd.info and make sure the information his office has on your property is correct," Recorder Moore urges residents.

"My office will continue to be proactive against property fraud and we will continue to work with the State's Attorney, area police department, the Attorney General and other agencies to close the door thieves use to get access to your property."

LST the landing ship in World War II

In preparation for the D-Day invasions, LSTs (Landing Ship Tanks) were designed in World War II with a flat bottomed hull to allow for successful sea-to-land delivery of tanks and other military equipment. Eventually, they were used for much more, earning them the nickname, the "Workhorses of the Navy." The 330-foot ships could land on the beach to unload their cargo and head out to sea - often carrying wounded soldiers or prisoners of war.

During World War II, the Evansville riverfront was transformed into a 45-acre shipyard to produce LSTs. At its peak, the Evansville Shipyard employed a workforce of over 19,000 and completed two of these massive ships per week, becoming the largest inland producer of LSTs in the nation. Although the Evansville Shipyard was originally contracted to produce 24 ships, 167 LSTs and 35 other vessels were built in Evansvillc. The last one was launched down the Ohio River to the Gulf of Mexico on December 12, 1945.

History of the LST 325
LST 325 was launched on October 27, 1942, from Philadelphia, Pa. The ship operated in the North Africa area and participated in the invasion at Sicily and Salerno, Italy. On June 6, 1944, LST 325 became part of the largest armada in history by participating in the D-Day invasion at Omaha Beach. The ship continued to run supply trips between England and France before returning to the United States in March 1945.

LST 325 was decommissioned in 1946 and sent to Greece on September 1, 1964, as part of the grant-in-aid program. The USS LST Memorial, Inc., a group of retired military men, acquired the LST 325 in 2000. They paid their way to Greece, made the necessary repairs to the ship and sailed it back to the United States, arriving in Mobile Harbor on January 10, 2001.

In 2003, the LST 325 made a scntimental journey up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. The 10-day stop in Evansville allowed more than 35,000 people to take a tour. In June of 2005, she sailed up the east coast under her own power for a six-week tour in Virginia and Boston.

LST 325 is the last navigable LST in operation today. She has been fully restored and is in tip-top shape, according to her crew. On October 1, 2005, her new home address will be Evansville, Indiana. We couldn't be happier to call her our own.

Guided tours led by military veterans or trained volunteers, allow 30 minutes.

This authentic WWII warship will celebrate its first anniversary as a resident of Evansville this fall. In that time, over 20,000 visitors have toured the ship that saw action in Normandy on D-day and in Sicily during the Italian landing. Veteran military and navy men conduct the tours, complete with personal stories of their experiences during WWII. This is a popular attraction for veteran and military groups but is also very appreciated as a cultural heritage experience for families with kids and grandkids. This truly is a one of a kind attraction in Indiana.

The ship is open for tours daily, except Mondays.

Something Old and Something New

You have found thc man of your dreams, now you have to find the photograher who will say it all with photography! Trust in the professionals.

When you choose a studio, look for the work of each photographer. Request your photographer because of his or her style is the most important factor for selecting someone. Ask alot of questions. Ask him or her how long they havc been working weddings. Many photography studios have numerous photographers, so you will have to judge one on the basis of style, number of weddings they shot, and personality.

Meet with thc photographer bcforehand to work out any details. Also make sure you like his or her personality and that you can work with them and discuss the type of photos you want taken and quantity of photos you want from the church, house and reception.

The biggest complaint about photographers is that they are "too pushy"on the wedding day. The bride and groom must enjoy themselves because it is their special day. Some said they could not enjoy themselves, because of the unnecessary pictures. To avoid this mistakc, give a list of how many pictures you want taken and special effccts if any.

Don't forget instant camcras for each table so that guests can take thcir own snapshops!

Your wedding is the most important day of your lifc. A heart that loves bonds.

Be Happy!

Me-Me-Me's

There are so many people who seem to think that they are the only ones on Earth who count for anything. Katie L. says, "Paris Hilton is an example of a Me-Me, & according to her publicist she never does anything wrong. It's always someone else's fault if she gets into trouble. The rest of us are expected to act responsibly & to think of others, forgive others, & do our best & let God do the rest. The Me-Me's of this world actually cause others to resent them & want them out of their lives. They do nothing or as little as they can & expect everything & as much as they can get!" Well said, Katie, well said. Pass this forward to the "affected ones."

Fly the Flag Never Forget

by Kathy Whirity

For weeks we've been reminded to fly our flags in remembrance of 9/11. The stars and stripes, a symbol of our unity as we remember all that was lost on that fateful day 5 years ago.

Fly the flag in honor of all those innocent victims who lost their lives when our own air planes were used as missiles to destroy the Twin Towers, striking fear and uncertainty in all Americans.

Who could ever forget the vulnerable vision caught on tape of the Towers burning, and while people ran out of the buildings, to safety, it was the brave firemen and policemen who rushed into the chaos, toward certain death and destruction that was waiting for them.

Fly the flag for the unbelievable courage shown on that horrific day. America stood strong in the face of terror that caught us off guard, and changed our lives forever from that day forward.

It has been 5 years since we stood glued to our t.v. screens, crying tears of unimaginable disbelief at what was happening to our country.

5 years later we now know what's at stake - our freedom and our country's existence as we know it.

Fly the flag with pride for all that it stands for. Liberty does not come cheap. The steep price paid is witnessed in the fallen soldiers who paid with their lives so that we may continue to live in the land of the free.

These past 5 years we have watched, often times in frustration, as America has to not only defend itself from terrorists but also from some of our own news media who, more often than not, portrays our military and their endeavors in a negative light.

Fly the flag for the ideals of Americans who have no choice but to endure and win this fight. We've learned that it's not always in our best interest to be politically correct when our enemy is out to annihilate us.

We mourn all that was lost that September day, 5 years ago. But in the sorrow we also draw on the blessings that brought people together and gave us hope that America will not waver in her quest to win this war on terror. Out of the rubble that use to be The World Trade Center is a forever reminder that our beloved citizens didn't die in vain.

Fly the flag for the heroes of 9/11. With heavy hearts we remember their sacrifice. Almost immediately after the murderous terrorists attacks, American flags flew from everywhere, waving in the wind as far as the eye could see.

9/11 has changed us forever, but hopefully we will never let it change who we are. America must never forget the day we were brought to our knees - a day we learned what it truly meant to stand up and be united as one.

Keep those flags flying as proof of our patriotic pledge to never give up all that this great country stands for. It's a star spangled banner that still waves, through good times and troubled times; through peaceful times and times of war.

God Bless America and the flag that flies for freedom - our symbol of heart, soul and sincerity.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK ~

All the darkness in the world cannot put out the light of one small candle. (Author Unknown.)

Military News

Army Sgt. Don C. Purley has been mobilized and activated for a future deployment to an undisclosed overseas location in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. Operation Iraqi Freedom is the official name given to military operations involving members of the U.S. armed forces and coalition forces participating in efforts to free and secure Iraq. Mission objectives focus on force protection, peacekeeping, stabilization, security and counter-insurgency operations as the Iraqi transitional governing bodies assume full sovereign powers to govern the peoples of Iraq.

Members from all branches of the U.S. military and multinational forces are also assisting in rebuilding Iraq's economic and governmental infrastructure, and training and preparing Iraqi military and security forces to assume full authority and responsibility in defending and preserving Iraq's sovereignty and independence as a democracy. Purley, an infantryman with 11 years of military service, is normally assigned to the 178th Infantry, Chicago, Ill. He is the nephew of Archie Alexander of W. 100th St., Palos Hills, Ill.

Letter to the Editor

I would like to respond to the recent political attacks in the newspapers on Oak Lawn Trustee Jerry Hurckes. I have lived in the village of Oak Lawn for fourteen years, many of which were spent in Mr. Hurckes's 1st. District. From a resident's perspective, I have seen the village of Oak Lawn grow and prosper in business, services, fire and police protection, and education.

Our Oak Lawn Renaissance did not happen by accident. It came from dedication and hard work by Trustees like Jerry Hurckes. Jerry set aside special time to meet and talk with his constituents every month at the Johnson Center, home and board meeting room of Westside Baseball of Oak Lawn. There, I saw and heard, in person, Jerry Hurckes's passion to help the people of his district and village. I witnessed the countless offers of help and aid to his senior citizens in need, the after hours sifting through unresolved resident letters and notes, the desire to make Oak Lawn the best place to live, and best of all, in his words, the desire to, "Do things for our kids." Jerry was always there for Westside Baseball. He helped the kids by clearing the way for a badly needed equipment room, a field maintenance garage, and donating his precious time to coach for a number of teams.

In conclusion, I am very disappointed by these one-sided news columns that attack Jerry Hurckes's character, image, and values. It is easy to beat down on an incumbent political figure when a new regime gets voted in. The future looks bright for the future of Oak Lawn, thanks to the great job that Jerry has done and will continue to do for the people of our community.

John Kappel.

Queen of Peace teacher comes home

When Mary Greco took a two-year sabbatical from teaching at Queen of Peace, she knew it wasn't good-bye. An educator for 22 years, a mother of 7, and a grandmother of 2, Christian Living teacher Mary Greco has returned to Peace this year for her ninth year. When asked how she felt about her return, Mary replied gleefully, "I love it. Peace is my home away from home. The students are the best. I truly believe that."

After 12 years of owning and operating a preschool, Mary decided to take up teaching full time. She received her Bachelors in Pastoral Ministry and English from St. Xavier University at the age of 40. She began at Peace in 1995, but her presence had been felt there long before.

Mary is not only a Peace teacher but also a 1972 graduate. She found that she was "so satisfied with the educational and spiritual growth" she felt as a student, Mary wanted her family to be able to experience the same personal growth. All three of Mary's daughters are also alumnae. Currently, one of Mary's nieces is a senior, while another gears up to enter as a frosh next year.

"Tradition and continuing the Peace mission means everything to me. In my experience, there is no better place for a young woman. I've seen the end results. Young women come out of here, go on to wonderful things, and become even more successful, caring, and socially conscious. They are Women of Peace."

On her return, Mary says that she looks most forward to teaching again and opening the students up to new worlds of thought. "Plain and simple, I love teaching. I get to talk with these young women about spiritual issues. Their insight is just profound." For Mary, "Peace is about the people: the students, the teachers, and those that work so hard for our students. On so many levels, it really means something to be a Woman of Peace."

Queen of Peace Teacher Mary Greco is all smiles on her return to Peace after 2 years.

Mount Assisi Academy's Varsity Softball Team Wins Sportsmanship Award

The South Suburbs Officials Association (SSOA) has honored Mount Assisi's Varsity Softball team with the 2006 SSOA Softball Sportsmanship Award.

This is the first year Mount Assisi has received this prestigious honor. Only fourteen area girls' softball teams from nine different high schools were selected for this annual nomination.

Brad Reynard, the Head Coach of Mount Assisi's Varsity Softball team for nine years, said he was surprised when he learned about MAA's selection. Reynard said that being placed in the company of other schools with solid sports programs is outstanding.

"To be honored is great recognition for the team and the school," Reynard said.

Sr. Mary Francis Werner, OSF, Principal of Mount Assisi Academy, stated that she is extremely proud of the softball team and coaches. She also said receiving this award is a "tremendous honor for the sports program."

"This award serves as good role modeling for our entire school community," Sr. Mary Francis said.

Members of the 2006 Varsity Softball team are seniors Emalee Kay, Brittany Hennigan, and Laura Oliver all from Chicago; juniors Jessica Kelly of Worth, and Nicole Altobelli, Katie Tully, and Mary Tully all from Chicago. Graduates who were also varsity team members include Jenny Cummings, Bianca Kuta, Trish Reed, Megan Stroh, Nicole Barth, and Mallory Price.

The Softball Sportsmanship Awards focus on high school teams from the south suburbs as well as the south side of Chicago, and recognize those schools that provide and promote a positive sporting experience for athletes, coaches, spectators, and officials. The SSOA has presented this award since 2003 and was developed as part of the Illinois High School Association's "Sport a Winning Attitude" program.

A comprehensive rating system is used by SSOA officials to select winners. Sportsmanship is evaluated in three key areas - players, coaches, and fans - from the spring 2006 softball season.

For more information about Mount Assisi Academy, please contact Stephanie Iannotta at (630) 257-7844.

Mother Courage is for any war

by Marijo Doody

Vitalist Theatre mounts Bertoit Brecht's epic anti-war and antiestablishment play now! How interesting, it is at this time of conflict in the world? His original protest was during the Third Reich with WW II and the Dadaist movement -the antiestablishment movement.

"Mother Courage and her Children" addresses relationships between capitalism, war and the destruction of her children. As we entered the Vitalist Theatre, you go through the Dadaist exhibit with assorted things and explanations.

In the theater as we sat down, actress, Kelly Lynn Hogan, who plays the mute daughter Kattrin, introduced herself. It was quite cool to observe her with movement and mime during the compelling production.

The set design, Craig Choma (designer), with the box effect placed musicians atop much like "Stomp."

In "Mother Courage" we see daily existence in the buying and selling in capitalism and chaos in war. That was the 30 year war in the 17th century, but it could be any one.

Anna Fierling (Mother Courage), Lori Meyers early on tells a young man going into battle he will die! Mother Courage is the ultimate survivor. She looses two sons, the thug, Eilef (Jeremy Clark) and the simpleton Swiss Cheese (Christopher Hibbard) in different scenarios. Katterin her much abused daughter will die as a martyr.

Courage's relationships with Peter the cook (Winston Evans) and Chaplain (Ron Barkhardar) flourish in attraction to the cook and a rejection to the Chaplain

War- time can be profitable and Courage just hauls her cart with stuff for the next battle. Lyrics to the song "The Story of Capitalization" remind us of rebellion and youth and they get over it. Speaking of music, composer, Gregor Mortis was charming and he and Kevin O'Donnell's original score is a sound all its own. One wanted to climb up and drum also!

Vitalist Theatre is noted for the boldness in combining music and movement and Director Elizabeth Carlin-Metz, a teacher at Knox College, has come every fall to foster this. Producer and Director the Metz's have used the vivid translation by British playwright David Hare in a splendid piece of work.

Lori Meyers is responsive as a younger Courage. She has the vocal assurance, stamina and charisma to drive the huge theatrical wagon. A Marvelous visual was watching Kelly Hogan mime the hooker with putting on the boots and hat!

Ann Sheridan Smith played many rolls of hooker to an officer's wife. What a great voice! Courage is full of satire and there were numerous snickers from the audience most times when war was mentioned.

When we met Kelly Hogan after at a reception, I inquired "was she a dancer?" She said "I favor movement combined with drama and that is why I have been a part of Vitalist for ten years." Next year she will teach at Knox College.

"Mother Courage and her Children" is playing until October 22, 2006 and is worth seeing! The production is at the Theatre Building 1225 W Belmont in Chicago. Tickets are $20. Call the box office at 773-327-5252.

Southland hotel occupancy up for six months

Hotel occupancy, room-rates and revenue per available room has improvcd consistently in Chicago Southland hotels since January 2006 according to an independent hotel research firm. Average occupancy January-July was around 59% and in the traditional travel months June and July rates were up to 70 and 73% respectively. Room rates are slightly over $78 per room.

Prcsidcnt/CEO (Chicago Southland Convention & Visitors Bureau) Jim Garrett indicated figures are very encouraging for Southland hotel operators and our region and the visitors are spending money in our restaurants, filling the cars with gas and shopping in our retail stores and doing business in the area.

Hotel located along the region's major interstates give travelers convenient lodging near Chicago at reasonable prices and aggressive marketing by sales staffs brings more groups into the Southland, increasing occupancy. Every day event planners are selling groups on the Southland.

In 2005 alone, visitors to Southland hotels accounted for approximately $93 million in room sales.

The Village of Orland Park is pleased to announce the winners of the 8th Annual 2006 Garden Contest. Sixteen amateur gardeners submitted their properties for consideration in the contest.

The First Place Award will be presented to Sandy and Roger Prietz in the Catalina Subdivision whose beautifully landscaped yard featured a spectacular pond with a railroad traveling over and around it. Second Place will be presented to John Radecky in Wedgewood Estates III whose yard features a variety of colorful flowers in a perfectly manicured setting. Phyllis and Michael Smith of Brook Hills will receive the Third Place award for their creative use of potted flowers and plants on the pool deck and a colorful landscaped rear yard.

Also receiving awards in the 2006 Garden Contest are Susan and Dieter Fleischhauer for "Best Use of Landscaping on a Hill;" Lora Lee Gelles for "Best Use of Annuals and Perennials;" Dawn Korolenko for "Best Use of Landscaping in a Natural Setting;" Lilly and Don Idzik for "Best Overall Maintained Landscaping;" and Dave Heniff for "Best Water Feature."

The Garden Contest was initiated by Trustee Brad O'Halloran in 1999 to recognize Orland Park residents for their work in beautifying and maintaining their property. Trustee O'Halloran stated, "We've had the pleasure of seeing so many outstanding gardens in town since the contest began. We're proud to give these awards to such talented amateur gardeners and encourage more residents to enter the contest each year."

Phyllis and Michael Smith of Brook Hills took third place honors.

In judging the gardens, consideration was given to overall appearance and maintenance, use of color and texture, use of native plants, variety and combination of plants and flowers, suitability of plants and landscaping and special or unique features. Judges included Master Gardeners Judith Jacobs and Diana Husband, and Jim Melka of Jim Melka Landscaping and Garden Center.

Awards will be presented at the Village of Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 18, 2006.

Oak Forest to perform Metra parking lot survey

by Matt Mayer

The city council approved an engineering agreement with Baxter and Woodman to perform a survey of the city owned Metra parking lot at 159th and Cicero Avenue at the Sept. 12, Oak Forest City Council meeting. The amount of the contract was not revealed. An ordinance for amendments pertaining to the subdivision code was also approved as well as a ordinance which allows for the city to participate in the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Joint Municipal Auction and Garage sale, to auction surplus city vehicles on Sept. 16. Additional information may be obtained by calling the city hall at 708-687-4050.

An ordinance of a sole source contract with Finkbinder Equipment Company for repair of the public works departments Grand All Machine engine was approved as well as an engineering agreement with Baxter and Woodman for the 151st Street improvement project from Cicero to Central Avenues. An engineering agreement with Baxter and Woodman for the painting of the Kilbourn Avenue and Oak Park Avenue water towers was also approved.

Sept. 15 and 16 were proclaimed Poppy Days for the Veterans of Foreign Wars as well as a proclamation recognizing the 40th anniversary of the Community and Economic Development Association of Cook County, better known as (CEDA). A request to proclaim the week of Sept. 17 Constitution Week in recognition of the 219th anniversary of the drafting of the Constitution of the United States was also approved. The next meeting is Sept. 26.

Don't forget to send a message in our classified for your sweetheart. Call 708-423-9754

The eight page survey was mailed on September 20 and is requested to be returned no later than October 6. "We hope to have the survey analysis completed before Thanksgiving" said City Administrator Steve Jones. "Once the information is available, we will present it to the City Council and make it available on the web site for all to see."

The Mayor and City Administrator feel that the survey will help the City learn how to better serve the community, and provide information regarding the strengths and weaknesses of City services. According to Kelly, "We have over 28,000 customers who rely upon City services daily. I think we need to hear how we are doing?"

Zabrocki Plaza development slated for 173rd & Oak Park

Village officials discussed the development of South Street at the Sept.5, Tinley Park Board of Trustees meeting. The development concept would consist of two buildings, which would include 70 condominiums, underground parking and some 36,000 square feet of first floor retail space. This is a joint venture between the developer Robert Hansen and Tinley Park architectural firm Arete 3 Ltd., which will submit preliminary, plans for the development.

Hanson also constructed Tinley Point at 183rd Street and Convention Center Drive, which is a smaller version of the proposed South Street project. This follows the controversial $100 million North Street development project that was approved at the Aug. 22, Board of Trustees meeting amidst opposition from residents located near the Metra Station. Their concerns were that the project would take away from the historic character of the area and will be too dense and increase traffic.

This development is slated for the area near 173rd Street and Oak Park Avenue and will include 115 condominiums, underground parking, 16,000 square feet of office space, approximately 43,000-squaqre feet of retail space, and a two-story 11-screen, 1,930-seat movie theatre. Construction also will include expansion of Zabrocki Plaza, doubling its size, and the construction of an underground parking garage under the new park.

Oak Forest interested in what residents think

The City of Oak Forest is interested in what residents and business owners think!

Following four months of planning and preparation, the City has mailed a community survey to all addresses in Oak Forest. The survey seeks to determine what the community feels about issues ranging from City services to quality of life. Once the surveys are returned, the responses will be provided to Northern Illinois University for data entry and analysis.

The survey was prepared by City staff and members of the Citizens Advisory Commission. According to Mayor JoAnn Kelly, "The City needs to actively encourage the community to tell us what they think. This is an opportunity for our residents and business owners to help shape the future of Oak Forest."

Me-Me-Me's

There are so many people who seem to think that they are the only ones on Earth who count for anything. Katie L. says, "Paris Hilton is an example of a Me-Me, & according to her publicist she never does anything wrong. It's always someone else's fault if she gets into trouble. The rest of us are expected to act responsibly & to think of others, forgive others, & do our best & let God do the rest. The Me-Me's of this world actually cause others to resent them & want them out of their lives. They do nothing or as little as they can & expect everything & as much as they can get!" Well said, Katie, well said. Pass this forward to the "affected ones."

Worth approves golf course expenditures

by Matt Mayer

The board approved capitol improvement expenditure at the Sept 5, Worth Board of Trustees meeting which entails the borrowing of $36,000 for a number of landscaping and maintenance projects at the Waters Edge Golf Course at 115th and Harlem Avenue.

Other highlights: The board accepted with regret the resignation of Hank Benck from the Senior Citizen Commission and approved the appointment of Rose Sorci to the commission.

A resolution for the improvement by municipality under the Illinois Highway code for sidewalk construction on Harlem Avenue from 115th Street to the Cal Sag Bridge for $30,000 from the Motor fuel tax funds was approved as well as a request from the Worth Lions Club to conduct tag days on Oct. 13 and 14.

A request from Misericordia to conduct tag days on April 27 and 28, and a request from Colleen Martin to hold a walk- a-thon as a fundraiser on the walking path on Sept 24, were also approved.

Roche fails to appear before Chicago Ridge Board

byMatt Mayer

Neither Michael Roche or his attorney Tom Lynch or Lynch's associate Robert Mancher, appeared before the board at the Sept. 5, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. Roche who owns the property located at 10008 S. Anderson Avenue, in the industrial park, was to appear back in regards to a continuous major issue of junk on the property, Police Chief Tim Baldermann has consistently said that Martin's Auto Repair, which is located on Roche's property, buys junk cars and picks these cars for parts, creating piles of junk.

Village officials instructed Roche that Martin's was going to have to clear out the junk to make room for a 20-foot fire lane in the back of the property. Lynch had told the board that the junk would be removed and a paved fire lane would be completed sometime in mid-September. Roche has been cited with numerous violations over the years; he has been at this location for nearly nine years and still doesn't have a business license for renting property.

The property must be brought up to village code before Roche is able to apply for one. The board approved mailing a letter to Roche's attorney Tom Lynch stating that the junk needs to be removed from the property so as a fire lane may be designated and paved in the back of the property. If Roche doesn't comply by Sept. 19 village board meeting, the village will then shut down the operation of the property.

Other highlights: A police department request to hire two part-time officers for the desk and bookings was approved. The board approved a business license request for 2nd Wind Exercise Equipment upon approval of all inspections. A solicitation request from Misericordia to solicit in the village April 27 and 28, 2007 was approved.

Katie L. says, "Paris Hilton is an example of a Me-Me, & according to her publicist she never does anything wrong. It's always someone else's fault if she gets into trouble. The rest of us are expected to act responsibly & to think of others, forgive others, & do our best & let God do the rest. The Me-Me's of this world actually cause others to resent them & want them out of their lives. They do nothing or as little as they can & expect everything & as much as they can get!" Well said. Katie, well said. Pass this forward to the "affected ones."

Oak Lawn approves 95th Street retail development

by Matt Mayer

The Sept. 26, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting commenced with Police Sergeant Arthur Clark and Sergeant Melvin Clark receiving the oath of office as Lieutenant and Joseph Garrett and Glenn Brothen receiving the oath of office as Police Sergeant. Steven Harrison also received the oath of office as Patrol Officer.

The board concurred with the Planning and Zoning Commission and approved a request for variations from landscaping and setback requirements at 5020 W. 95th Street, the former Max Matson Mitsubishi dealer.

The triangle lot is north of 95th Street adjacent to the Metra railroad tracks and is part of a Tax Increment Finance (TIF) district.

National 95th Street Associates LLC Developer Harry Major purchased the property in 2002 for $675,000. However after Major purchased the property, the village strived to acquire the property through eminent domain for additional commuter parking.

After the development of the Metra parking garage Mayor Dave Heilmann agreed to drop the lawsuit in February.

A development agreement was then worked out between the village and National 95th Street Associates LLC that involves a land swap in which the village keeps the triangle portion where the World War 11 tank resides.

Major, along with acquiring the store property, will also acquire a portion of Sproat Avenue, which passes through the property. Major isn't interested in the in TIF incentives, therefore the property shall return to the tax roles.

Improvements are slated to include substantial demolition and renovations of the existing building as well as a 50 by 50 foot addition 1,607 square feet of interior parking lot landscaping. Major said if construction remains on schedule, a David Bridal shop is slated to occupy the 10,000 square feet of retail space by fall of 2007.

The village leaf bag sale began on Oct. 2. The bags may be purchased at the municipal building Monday through Friday from 8:30a.m. to 5 p.m. until Nov. 22 at a cost of $7.50 for 20 bags. The yard waste bags will be pick up beginning Oct. 16 and conclude on Nov. 25.

The village hall will be closed on Oct. 9 in observation of Columbus Day. Oct. 10 is the last day to register to vote in the Nov 7, election.

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) is hosting a household hazardous waste disposal day on Saturday, October 21, from 8:00 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This will be held at the Midlothian METRA Train Station's south parking lot at 147th Place and Waverly Avenue.

Additional information may be obtaind by contacting the MWRD at 312.751.6633.

The week of October 1 was proclaimed International Hispanic/Latino Mental Health week and the month of October was proclaimed Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

The next meeting is Oct 19.

Doodlings

by Marijo Doody

The five- year anniversary of 9-11 has come and gone and we all were reminded of that horrible time in history when our country was attach at thc World Trade Center. For my recollection, that was my last week of working as a chemist before retirement.

I still remember the comments of the women who had grandchildren, whose little people wanted to know if their classmates would be sent away because they were the eastern faith. The children heard stories-at- home that is what happened to Japanese in WW II. We all must learn tolerance and compassion for all peoples.

At US Cellular Field prior to the 9-11 anniversary at a Saturday night game, there were lots of fireworks for the Sox's players who hit home runs. However, when the Jumbo-Screen showed the members of US Navy personnel in the 500-level there were resounding cheers every time the men and women were shown. Hooray for the CWS, who invited the service personnel from Great Lakes as guests on their tribute to the Navy! This was the second time I have been present in the White Sox parks as they honored the US Navy. As Americans we must keep our service men and women in our thoughts and prayers for safety.

My nephew, Matt Duffy, is career Navy. Five years ago he was in the first Navy helicopter that flu over ground zero to evaluate for survivors. He was on the carrier USS Kennedy at the time and that ship was to be a hospital source. Alas there were no survivors. .

Matt's career and life has led him to a Distinguished Service Medal Award from the President. A masters program at Navel War college, teaching at Top Gun School in Nevada, at Lieutenant Commander rank now and a future marriage at Annapolis next month and next year service on the USS Truman carrier

In a recent notice (Gannett News Service) the US Navy is holstering the F-14 Tomcat, the top gun in its Cold War arsenal and one of the most recognized war planes in history. Maintenance costs for the F-14 have soured and a more versatile cheaper-to-keep, replacement, the F/A-18 Super Hornet, has taken its place. The F-14 has already attained its legendary status by the 1986 film "Top Gun" staring Tom Cruise.

The Navy will mothball some F-14's in the Arizona desert and ship others to aviation museums. Admiral Michael Mullen says "there is something about the way an F-14 looks and something about the way it carries itself." Lets hope we get one at the Museum of Science and Industry.

The only other country still flying F-14's is Iran and they are starved for parts and struggle to keep them in flight.

With pride we salute all our military service personnel.

Governor announces grants to protect endangered species

Governor Rod R. Blagojevich announces more than $1 million in grants to protect threatened and endangered species. The Grants will help fund up to 80 projects in the Lower Sangamon River Watershed and Alton Bluffs area to restore and enhance habitat for at-risk species. This grant will support a large grant from the US Fish and Wildlife Service. Grants are funded through the Landowner Incentive Program (LIP).

This is an example of landowners and state government working cooperatively together to conserve native habitat and will benefit generations to come indicated the Governor. The LIP program gives landowners an incentive to work cooperatively with the state and help meet some objectives identified as being critical to the state's habitat conservation efforts indicated Acting Director Natural Resources, Sam Flood.

The LIP program was first offered to states on a national level in 2002. Two levels of funding are available Tier I, which is up to $180,000 annually for administrative, associated with program development and implementation. Tier 2 funds are available for project implementation, monitoring and assessment and are determined from year to year.

The federally-funded LIP program is administered by the USFWS, and implemented on the state level by the IDNR. Illinois LIP has received nearly $2 million in funding for projects. This year, nearly $20 million in funding was awarded to 42 states across the United States.

Something Old and Something New

Dear Brides To BE:

Your honeymoon is the start of new life together. You want it to be romantic, perfect, and of course fit into your budget.

As long as you are together., you can be on the beach or in the mountains or maybe more economically plan a wcekend away in Michigan or Wisconsin.

You can still enjoy timc together and this way be able to afford an apartment or house of your own. You can always go on a cruise.

When making travel arrangements, be sure to ask about bonuses which can savc you money such as night flights, midweek flights, and off season hotel rates.

Sometimes a bonus may include a car and other specials for honeymoon couples. Remember travel agencies do not charge a fee for helping you with all your plans.

Pack your suitcases for the place you are going to and don't takc too many clothes. Be sure to take things that consider the climate at all times of the day. Even if you are going to a tropical climate evenings are cool. Take a jacket or sweater. Don't forget aspirin, medications, sunglasses, an extra pair of sunglasses, contact lens, camera, film, plastic bag for dirty clothes.

These are just some of the little things brides forget when in love and in the midst of all that planning.

Make sure you take sunscreen lotions and your don't forgct to confer with your wonderful man about the list of things to bring. He'll love you for it: Don't forget a heart that Loves, Bonds, Best Wishes, Carlene O'Connor

ESP - Psychic Ability

I was recently asked if Extra-Sensory Perception is the samc as Psychic Ability by a reporter from another local paper. I told them that Psychic Ability is a "complctcd circuit, electricity with thc Univcrse." A true Psychic can sense future happenings. ESP happens when people are on the same spiritual, mental, emotional or physical level. ESP lets a person "listen in" to other people's thoughts at some samc &/or specific t . [Not mind-reading however.] ESP comes & gocs out Psychic Ability stays & grows. I once had a sister [Sally] ESP giftcd. Shc often wore the same colors I would choose to wcar at the very same timc or would listen to thc same music I was listening to at the same timc.

Evergreen Park Youth Commission news

by Jim Feltz (Director)

With summer winding down and the kids eager to return to school, the Evergreen Park Youth Commission ran three mini-bus trips to Space Mini-Golf in Orland Park, Tinley Park Roller Rink and a Tour of White Sox Park.

The kids said this Sox Tour was the best as they were escorted from "Ozzie's" interview room to the Stadium Club, then to the Announcer's Booth and down to the playing field where they sat in the White Sox Dugout and finished up in the Sox Bullpen. The 1/1/2 hour tour was both fun and very informative indicated the children.

Kathy's Kaleidoscope

Singing the School Bell Blues

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

by Kathy Whirity

Don't mind me if I'm feeling a little melancholy at the moment. With school already in full swing, another one of my wee pals is leaving behind her diaper brigade days to join the big kid ranks of Kindergarten.

Many, years ago I got my first taste of saying good bye to my own little one at the door to Kindergarten. Little did I know that the day care business would bring me right back to when I was a young mommy - cutting the heartstrings each and every time one of my day care darlings leaves these days behind.

Most have come into my care as infants. From the moment I rock them to sleep, coax a smile from their tiny lips, or share a laugh, a bond is born.

Days and weeks go by; months turn into years, and before I can even ponder life without them they are on their way to a new adventure.

I've learned what's really important when teaching toddlers - like having the loudest cheer when little peepers successfully master the big potty. I also know that, above all else, it's a tender voice of reassurance that builds confidence when accidents sometimes cause the tears of disappointment to flow.

This school year it is Kristen who will leave the day care nest. Like any other job, providing child care does have its drawbacks. Sooner or later you must let them go. From one school year to the next, faces change and schedules get rearranged. And, the little munchkins that will go on to live in my memory won't even remember these days of tea parties, playing beauty shop and just hanging out, but not so for me.

There are bright spots to this September scenario. Children may grow up and away, but it's refreshing to welcome a new faces to the flock.

As long as there are children placed in my care, I will have reason to wait for their arrival, in the wee hours of the morning , these children who will ultimately pas through the revolving door to my heart.

Knowing you can make a difference in the life of a child is a reward that stays with you long after they move onto the real world of reading, writing and homework.

That's pretty much what motivates me to continue on, looking forward to the daily dealings of the diaper brigade.

And, until the next school years I'll do my best not to focus on future good-byes and just enjoy the preschool journey and the joy it brings to me.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

What really matters is what you do with what you have. (Shirley Lord.)

Annie is timeless with a new audience

The recent Broadway in Chicago offering of Annie was delightful and spans all time. There is now a new audience for the ageless production. The cast was fresh, the music, as always, pleasurable, the story relevant and Mrs. Hannigan was the original actress from Broadway.

Some of the trivia from Annie is as follows: Who originated the role of Annie? What "Sex and the City" star played the part of Annie on Broadway? When did it appear first on Broadway? What are the names of the seven orphans? On what comic strip is the musical Annie based and who wrote it? When did it appear? What US President appears in both media? What is the name of Annie's furry companion? During what historical time does Annie take place?

Trivia answers: Andrea Mc Ardle, Sarah Jessica Parker,1977, Annie, Duffy, Tessie, July, Kate, Pepper and Molly, Little Orphan Annie, Harold Gray, 1924, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Sandy and The Great Depression the 1930's.

Steppenwolf brings back McDonagh

by Marijo Doody

Steppenwolf's artistic director, Martha Lavey became familiar with Martin McDonagh's works over ten years ago. He is a master story- teller. The 31st season opened with "The Pillowman" by McDonagh and was directed by ensemble member Amy Morton. In "The Pillowman," the dexterity of character treatment, plot and language leads us to question the artist's dark zones in human nature.

Lavey has noted McDonagh's plays have been questioned: does their black humor add to our understanding of human conditions? Does the violence startle us into wakefulness on humanity or is it cruelty? Are their limits?

In a totalitarian state, a writer, Katurian (Jim True-Frost) is questioned by police about his nightmarish stories and their similarity to murders that occurred in the town. In another room Katurian's mentally impaired brother Michal (Michael Shannon) is questioned also and the police procedure takes an unforeseen twist and turns. We never find out why they are being questioned. The police are good cop and bad cop played by Tracy Letts (Ariel) and Yasen Peyankow (Tupolski). The Tupolski's character certainly shadows the actor's own life.

The theme is a series of two's, namely, brothers, cops, rooms in duality. Even Jim True-Frost character is a double name Katurian Katurian. The parents of the men certainly have a dual environment as is seen in the play. Perhaps that torture caused Katurian to become a writer, his first love. In the play the pairings are always the good and the bad, the real and imagined, the fright and delight, the parent and the child, the intelligent and the naïve, the totalitarian and the unlicensed and the public and the private.

Katurian is recounting the incidents of childhood to whom, to the audience, to the police? The play is a great storytelling and you always wonder is he mad, is it true, fact, fairy-tale or a great-yam! It makes one think! There are interesting twists.

True-Frost is fine in the series with his brother, Shannon, especially when he pleads for salvation of his stories. Although you may not be convinced his life is in jeopardy. Shannon is terrific, even though he has an itch!

The sets of Loy Arcenas's are terrific and that helps the confusion or does fiction and reality set in. There are both the mainstage and the proscentium.

The Pillowman runs through November 12 at Steppenwolf located 1650 N Halsted. Call the box office at 312-335-1650 for tickets. The theatre is accessible to public transportation.

Hubbard Street Dance fall program worldly

by Marijo Doody

The fall 2006 Hubbard Street Dance (HSD) program is out of this world! Its theme is "Global Tapestry" and movement and music were spectular. Two world premieres were presented in the programming at the Harris Theatre for Music and Dance.

"Lickety-Split" was choreographed by Alejandro Cerrudo(a HSD dancer) to the music of Devendra Banhart. The dance was for six dancers, three men and women in pairs. Robyn Mineko Williams, Jamy Meek, Cheryl Mann, Terrence Marling, Sarah Cullen Fuller and Tobin Del Cuore were marvelous. The dance was initially developed as part of the "Inside/Outside" of HSD 2006 Choreographic Workshop and is a representative of the most multi-faceted artist in the dance world.

Japanese choreographer Toru Shimazuoka to music by the Australian group Dead Can Dance choreographed "Bardo". It featured twelve dancers. Sterling performances were by Shannon Alvis, Jamy Meeks, Cheryl Mann and Tobin Del Cuore. The dance movements and the running were most grand!

Japanese choreographer Toru Shimazuoka has been featured in the international sites of The Polish Dance Theatre, Swiss Ballet Grand Theatre de Geneva, Japan's National New Tokyo Theatre and the Matsuoka Reiko Ballet Company. He is a professor at Japan Kobe University.

The programming also included HSD member Brian Enos's "Dipthong" with music by the Belgian based Zapa Mama band that was danced by six artists. HSD Artistic Associate Lucas Crandall's playful duet "Gimme" was set to Norwegian group Bla Bergens Borduner. Cheryl Mann and Tobin Del Cuore sorred in the dance. Spain was represented by "Cor Perdut" by Nacho Duato with music sung by Maria del Mar Bonet and passionately and romantically danced by Shannon Alvis and Jamy Meeks.

The spring series of HSD is in April 2007. Tickets are available at the Harris Theatre.East. Randolph Street.

Sporadic individual leaf fires usually don't cause any major pollution, but multiple fires in one geographic area can cause concentrations of air pollutants that exceed federal air quality standards. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), several leaf and yard waste fires burning simultaneously in a particular locale can cause air pollution rivaling that from factories, motor vehicles and lawn equipment.

Purdue University consumer horticulture specialist Rosie Lerner says that composting leaves is the most eco-friendly alternative to burning. Dry leaves alone will take a long time to break down, she says, but mixing in green plant materials, such as grass trimmings, will speed up the process. Sources of nitrogen, such as livestock manure or commercial fertilizer, will also help. "Mix the pile occasionally to keep a good supply of air in the compost," she says, adding that a compost pile should be a minimum of three cubic feet and will generate soil conditioner within weeks or a few months, depending on conditions.

Another option is to shred leaves for use as mulch for your lawn or to help protect garden and landscape plants. Lerner suggests adding no more than a two-to-three-inch layer of leaves around actively growing plants, chopping or shredding the leaves first so they don't matt down and prevent air from reaching roots.

As to using leaves as mulch for your lawn, it is just a simple matter of mowing right over the leaves with the lawnmower and leaving them there. As with leaves used for garden mulch, this will provide many benefits, including weed suppression, moisture conservation and moderation of soil temperature.

EARTH TALK
From the Editors of E/The Environmental Magazine

Dear EarthTalk: Now that autumn is here the leaves are going to pile up in my yard again. Is it really that bad to burn them? Why is it illegal to burn leaves in so many places now? —Jeffrey Edwards, Westport, CT

Burning fallen leaves used to be standard practice across North America, but most municipalities now ban or discourage the incendiary practice due to the air pollution it causes. The good news is that many towns and cities now offer curbside pickup of leaves and other yard waste, which they then turn into compost for park maintenance or for sale commercially. And there are other burn-free options as well.

Because of the moisture that is usually trapped within leaves, they tend to burn slowly and thus generate large amounts of airborne particulates—fine bits of dust, soot and other solid materials. According to Wisconsin's Department of Natural Resources, these particulates can reach deep into lung tissue and cause coughing, wheezing, chest pain, shortness of breath and sometimes long-term respiratory problems.

Leaf smoke may also contain hazardous chemicals such as carbon monoxide, which can bind with the hemoglobin in the bloodstream and reduce the amount of oxygen in the blood and lungs accordingly. Another noxious chemical commonly present in leaf smoke is benzo(a)pyrene, which has been shown to cause cancer in animals and is believed to be a major factor in lung cancer caused by cigarette smoke. And while breathing in leaf smoke can irritate the eyes, nose and throat of healthy adults, it can really wreak havoc on small children, the elderly and people with asthma or other lung or heart diseases.

Crotty announces monetary awards for bike trails

State Senator Maggie Crotty (D-Oak Forest) was recently notified that nearly $400,000 is to be awarded to develop area bicycle trails in the Southland. She is pleased the Illinois Department of Natural Resources has awarded this and the grants promote recreation that is pollution-free and good for the environment. It encourages a family-friendly activity to bike in a safe environment.

The grants include $197,000 for the Village of Orland Park to develop nearly two miles trails connecting the Tinley Creek Forest Preserve and the trail system at the eastern end. Also $200,000 for Frankfort Township to construct over two miles of trail along St. Francis and Frankfort Square Road and 80th Avenue, directly linking up with a recently completed segment completed by the Frankfort Square Park District.

Orland Park strives to reduce traffic congestion

by Matt Mayer

The board approved the purchase of two tracks of land at the Sept.18 Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting. One is from Pep Boys at the southeast corner of 159th Street and LaGrange Road for $366,000.

The other parcel purchase is from Marriott Senior Living at 16051 S. Lagrange Road for $34,900. This acquisition is referred to as a quick-take procedure in which a Cook County judge sets a preliminary just compensation for the property. The village then gives this amount to the Cook County Treasurer who in turn deposits it into an escrow account. The deed then is forwarded to the state so the project can commence prior to the actual cost being determined in the courts. Additional parcels are also slated for purchase in an effort to help alleviatc traffic congestion.

Other highlights: The board also approved the purchase of property at 10800 W. 153rd Street for $51,012 to Angelo Aggelopoulos and $47,745 to Recon Trust Company. An ordinance amending the village land development code was approved as well as ordinance providing full reimbursement of the village share of real estate tax paid by the owners-occupants of residential real estate.

The board approved waiving the bidding process to purchase telecommunications system additions, upgrades and installation from Maron Structure Technologies in an amount not to exceed $227,867. An ordinance to annex Orland Grove Office Park at 143rd and 108th Avenue was also approved. The next meeting is Oct.2.

Oak Forest approves police purchase

by Matt Mayer

At the Sept. 26, Oak Forest City Council meeting, the city council approved a contract with Terry's Lincoln - Mercury of Peotonc to purchase, four Ford Crown Victoria police cruisers, through state purchase. The city council approved a contract with ERA Valdivia Contractors, Inc for the repainting of the city's two water storage tanks as well as a contract with HNTB for updating services of the city Forest's compressive plan. A contract with Catherine O'Connor to act as a payroll service provider was also approved- the amounts were not disclosed.

An ordinance for the extension of an intergovernmental agreement with Arbor Park School District 145 for the purchase of the 159th Street Arbor Park school site was approved; a resolution to authorize the execution of an agreement with the Municipal Energy Collaborative was also approved. The week of Oct 8 was proclaimed Fire Prevention Week and the month of Oct was proclaimed Domestic Violence Awareness month. The next mecting is Oct. 10.

City of Oak Forest

By now, all Oak Forest residents should have received their property tax bills. The City portion of thc property tax rate increased from $1.471 to $1.515 per $100 in equalized assessed value. This change represents an increase of 2.99% when compared to the previous tax rate.

Upon the adoption of the property tax levy in December 2005 the City had projected an expected increase of 15%.

The line graph plots the history of the city's tax rate since 1994. The minimal increase is consistent with thc city's philosophy of keeping the tax rate constant and avoiding large jumps. This allows residents to plan accordingly, and avoids shocking increases.

It has been a goal of the Mayor & City Council to dccrease thc City's reliance on the property tax as a source of revenue. A number of alternative sources have been identified which would allow the City to decrease ncxt year's property tax lcvy. Depending upon final revenue projections, the decrease could be in the vicinity of 10%.

ESP - Psychic Ability

I was recently asked if Extra-Sensory Perception is the same as Psychic Ability by a reporter from another local paper. I told them that Psychic Ability is a "completed circuit, electricity with the Universe." A true Psychic can sense future happenings. ESP happens when people are on the same spiritual, mental, emotional or physical level. ESP lets a person "listen in" to other people's thoughts at some same &/or specific time. [Not mind-reading however.] ESP comes & goes but Psychic Ability stays & grows. I once had a sister [Sally] ESP gifted. She often wore the same colours I would choose to wear at the very same time or would listen to the same music I was listening to at the same time.

Not Paying for College
With Joe Orsolini from College Aid Planners
Thursday, Oct. 5th, 2006, 7:00 PM

Joseph Orsolini, a Certified Financial Planner drawing on 16 years of financial services experience and featured in a variety of media outlets such as Kiplinger's Safe Investing, & CLTV News' Your Money will introduce students and parents to the college financial aid process: the timetable, the forms and applications, as well as the information needed to complete them. He will discuss the long- and near-term strategies to reduce your family contribution and maximize the amount of college aid for which you will qualify. You really should incorporate planning for financial aid as soon as your child is born, but sophomore year of high school is when you need to finalize planning for financial aid. What families don't realize is that even though they fill out the financial aid applications during senior year, they are actually using tax information going back to the student's junior year. So if your child is a junior in high school, the financial aid process has already begun. When your child is a sophomore you still have time to change some of the variables that impact the financial aid formulas. Even if your student is in college currently there may be ways to save. Mr. Orsolini will help answer your questions for a clearer understanding of college tuition — one of the largest expenses faced by your family!

ESP - Psychic Ability

I was recently asked if Extra-Sensory Perception is the same as Psychic Ability by a reporter from another local paper. I told them that Psychic Ability is a "completed circuit, electricity with the Universe." A true Psychic can sense future happenings. ESP happens when people are on the same spiritual, mental, emotional or physical level. ESP lets a person "listen in" to other people's thoughts at some same &/or specific time. [Not mind-reading however.] ESP comes & goes but Psychic Ability stays & grows. I once had a sister [Sally] ESP gifted. She often wore the same colors I would choose to wear at the very same time or would listen to the same music I was listening to at the same time.

With summer winding down and the kids eager to return to school, the Evergreen Park Youth Commission ran three mini-bus trips to Space Mini-Golf in Orland Park, Tinley Park Roller Rink and a Tour of White Sox Park.

The kids said this Sox Tour was the best as they were escorted from "Ozzie's" interview room to the Stadium Club, then to the Announcer's Booth and down to the playing field where they sat in the White Sox Dugout and finished up in the Sox Bullpen. The 1/1/2 hour tour was both fun and very informative indicated the children.

Oak Lawn Senior Happenings

As everyone knows, volunteers are a vital part of everyday life for so many. They're at schools, churches, social service organizations and yes, here at the Oak Lawn Senior Center. Thcy are a the Center to set up for card games, movies, the Rummage Sale, the Council Picnic and many other events. But at this time, we would like to thank and honor our Friday morning group of ladies who call themselves "The Cutups". Faithfully they meet to make what we now call the "oops pads". Out of old fabric, such as towels, sheets, mattress pads, and with newspapers, wax paper and masking tape, they assemble a pad that may used on a chair or in bed for those unsure or unable to use the bathroom. That word "incont" seems so crucl, ergo, "oops". They work on the same concept as the costly store bought ones. The pads are available for anyone in need.

Another thanks should go out to Senior Center Liaison Bob Sobczak who with a little leg work has located and delivers to two groups of very appreciative people. The folks at Little Company of Mary Home Health Care and their hospice group use the "oops" pads for their patients.

Donations from the community of sheets, mattress pads, and towels will enable the work to continue. You may drop off your donations at the Senior Center, 53330 West 95th St.

So once again, let's give up a big thanks to thc Friday morning "Cutups".

Blue Cap Plans New Play-ground

Blue Cap staff and students are celebrating plans to build an accessible playground on thc grounds of the Instructional Centcr. For more than two years the agcncy worked to secure the funding to build the facility.

The final pieces of the puzzle are in place now that organizations and generous individuals have pledged their support to the project. Ronald McDonald Charities visited the playground site on Monday, September 25th for a check presentation of more than $15,000. "Blue Cap's work really mirrors our mission," says Jill Sterling Director of Grants and Scholarships for Ronald McDonald House Charities of Chicago and NW Indiana.

"The playground projcct is a special need and our mission is providing those critical and vital needs to support the well-being of childrcn in Chicago." Ronald McDonald House Charities, Andrew Family Foundation, and longtime supporter Margurict Bobb are thc major donors making the playground possible. Other donors include Colonel Stanley R. McNeil Foundation, FireWorks for Kids Foundation, WNUA Cares for Kids Charities and Iron Warriors Motorcycle Club. Thc playground project is important to Blue Cap students for many reasons.

Currently, any time teachers want to take children in wheelchairs to a playground, they have to leave the school and walk about five blocks to Centennial Park . Every child in a wheelchair needs someone to push them all the way making the trek cumbersome.

The new playground will be on the north side of the school in the gated area facing Broadway. "We'll be able to go to the playground more often when it's on school grounds," says Blue Cap High School Teacher Patti Kuehner. "There, students expand their physical skills and learn concepts like cause and effect through play."

Research shows that recreation enhances children's cognitive and motor skills, language development and social competence especially for children with developmental challenges. It is essential for children with developmental disabilities to have recreational opportunities to help them reach their highest potential.

"My student Samauria is just learning how to play with toys and manipulate hcr cnvironment," says Keuhner. "Activities like swinging on a swing or sliding down a slide are extremely beneficial providing her with lots of stimulation and interaction with her environment." Many of the children at the Instructional Center use wheelchairs or face other physical challenges, but their opportunities for outdoor play are often limited by the lack of accessible equipment.

The new playground at Blue Cap will include adaptive swings in several sizes to accommodate children ages 3 to 21, including aluminum platform swings for those in wheelchairs. Swinging helps children develop stronger muscles and gross motor skills, and it can provide necessary vestibular stimulation, which helps improve balance, posture and coordination.

The area will also include accessible in-ground tables and mini shelters for children who cannot handle long periods in the sun due to medical conditions.

Activity on a playground develops children's physical and social skills helping them gain confidence and independence as they learn. Providing the playground is another way Blue Cap is accomplishing its mission; helping individuals with developmental disabilities achieve personal growth and dignity.

Something Old and Something New

Dear Brides to Be:

Your headpiece selection depends on formality of oyour wedding and your individual style.

If you go to a custom house, they will leave it uop to your imagination. They make it up to your specifications.

Keep it in mind how you'll be wearing your hair, the shape of oyour face, your dress and your figure.

If you have ivory, bring a swatch with you so everything matches with the gown.

Traditionally long cathedral veils are with long trains. If you have sweep train or waltz length, you will want a fingertip veil, or one that touches the floor.

Your wedding is the most important day of your life. Make it special. Be Happy! Best Wishes! Carlene O'Connor

Our World In Chaos
"Our world is in chaos because of the Hate & Anger many people have stored up inside them. They infect others with it. They become contagious & they spread," says Phil. Phil is right about what "collected anger" can do. Many people are being senselessly killed, children starving the world over & kids being born into AIDS. Threat of using nuclear action against innocent people is also a form of "Extortion" [the necessary ingredient of terrorism]. "Chaos" or a world going nuts, which is it?" One effective way to deal with terrorism is for everyone to use their psychic ability like a mirror and reflect hate, anger & all else that is evil back to those who send it. Network this idea!

Kathy's Kaleidoscope

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

by Kathy Whirity

With the happy couple recently celebrating their third month of wedded bliss, we've been enjoying the process of watching as Jaime and Dan settle into married life.

It's only natural that their new life together also brings about the blessing of new adventures as the newlyweds make their home together.

Another natural response, following the nuptials, is the comments from family and friends ,who assure us that the real fun starts when the pitter-patter of tiny feet, belonging to grandchildren, step into our lives.

Grand-kids, I know, are not in their immediate family plans. Jaime's focus is on getting her nursing degree but being a mommy will come when the time is right.

Still it wasn't long after the honeymoon when an announcement, of sorts, came.

"Mom, Dan and I are looking for a puppy." "A puppy?", thought this grandma in waiting."Guess they have to start somewhere." And so the search was on. They looked online, they searched the classifieds, and they window shopped at pet stores. It wasn't long and they found the perfect puppy for them - a cute black and white Border Collic mix. Maizy is officially the newest member of our family.

Just like an infant, this hyper bundle of pure puppy spent the first week or so keeping her new masters awake til the wee hours of the morning. They take turns tending to her needs - feeding her,walking her, and keeping her safe.

The newly decoratcd condo has teething toys sprawled all over the living room floor - available distractions from electrical cords and woodwork that may otherwise be chewed.

It's funny how their new pet has affected us. This pampered pooch definitely has preferential treatment while visiting us. I found this out the day Maizy first came to visit and we discovered she would not do her duty in the backyard.

For years, our yard has been cemented so, our own dogs had no choice but to pee and poop on the pavement. Little Miss Maizy, on the other hand, would not go with the flow. She needed grass to 'go.'

Bill didn't even mind that Maizy would only do her business on his immaculately manicured lawn. The sight of those tell tale brown spots use to make him curse the neighborhood canines that dared to squat on his carpet smooth sod. Now that Maizy's here, it's only grass that will eventually grow back.

Is a grand-pup a prelude to grand-parenthood?

I use to laugh when I'd notice someone wearing a tee-shirt proudly proclaiming - "My Grandchild Is A Dog!" I can tell you that you'll never catch me wearing those silly shirts, but I have made a list.

We'll necd dog bowls and puppy chow for our house.

A cage we spied at Wal-Mart would fit nicely in thc comer of my office ; hcr own personal space when granny dear nccds a break.

Oh, and let's not forget some squeaky toys, a new raw hide bone, and some mini dog bone treats.

Oh what fun when the pitter-patter of paw prints are wclcomed into the family!

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

If you want your life to be more rewarding, you have to change the way you think. (Oprah Winfrey.)

Three Mo Tenors to cross eight musical genres during Moraine Valley show

Where else can the versatile sounds of Usher, Pavarotti, Sondheim, and Marvin Gaye be heard coming from the same vocal chords than at a Three Mo' Tenors performance? This impressive musical trio will grace the stage in the Dorothy Menker Theater in Moraine Valley's Fine and Performing Arts Center, on campus, 9000 W. College Pkwy., Palos Hills, on Friday, November 10, at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $40 for adults and $35 for students and seniors.

Three Mo' Tenors, conceived, directed and choreographed by Marion J. Caffey and produced by Willette Murphy Klausner, take their audience on a passionate musical journey spanning 400 years of operatic, jazz, gospel, soul, spiritual, new school, Broadway and blues music in one evening. The tenors have developed a rousing musical repertoire demonstrating extraordinary breadth, and through song and explosive choreography, elevate the stature of African-American tenors in the music world. The audience will enjoy hits such as Love Train, Midnight Train to Georgia and Verdi's La donna e mobile.

Because of the exceptional vocal demands of the show, two equally exceptional casts alternate performances. The tenors featured at the Moraine Valley show will be Kenneth D. Alston, Jr., Ramone Diggs and Phumzile Sojola. Their impressive, combined resumé includes numerous operatic roles with the Opera Company of Philadelphia, Boston Modern Opera Project, Opera Theater of Pittsburgh, and Music Academy of the West, to name a few. They also boast individual accomplishments such as performing at the 2004 Republican National Convention and Rosa Parks' historic lying in state and with the Lexington Philharmonic, Knoxville Symphony, Bach Choir of Pittsburgh, and American Spiritual Ensemble.

Three Mo' Tenors opened in New York City to critical and audience acclaim in August 2000. It is conceived, directed and choreographed by Marion J. Caffey, a former song and dance performer turned writer and director. His first writing effort, Cookin' at the Cookery, has played more than 35 productions and was the New York Times critic's choice as best musical of 2003. He has directed or choreographed at least 15 other productions.

Klausner, a woman with substantial business acumen who is passionate about the arts, has produced the show since 2001. Formerly vice president of Marketing and Marketing Research at MCA Universal Studios, she has produced five shows in Los Angeles, Philadelphia, and on Broadway. She serves on various boards of directors and committees and with her attorney husband are the founding members of the American Institute of Wine and Food.

The show's notable performances include the White House, J.F. Kennedy Center, the NAACP Image Awards Show, and a PBS "Great Performances" special. RCA has released a recording of the show.

This performance is partially funded by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Moraine Valley Box Office at (708) 974-5500. Phone orders are subject to a $1 per order handling fee. To learn more about future shows at the Fine and Performing Arts Center, visit morainevalley.edu/fpac.

Moraine Valley hosts "In the Throes of Being" exhibit by Mary Porterfield

"In the Throes of Being," an exhibit by local artist Mary Porterfield, will show October 13-November 17 in the Robert F. DeCaprio Art Gallery , in the Fine and Performing Arts Center, on campus, 9000 W. College Pkwy. , Palos Hills . An artist's reception will be held October 19 at 2 p.m.

Porterfield's work is influenced by her experience as an occupational therapist to individuals with Alzheimer's disease. She uses space consisting of multiple, altered perspectives to represent a loss of familiarity and comfort. Visual metaphors, such as animals, represent the freedom and independence that are often lost with progressive memory loss. Figures and forms are repeated to demonstrate the blurring of time and the monotony of daily routines in institutionalized settings.

"Recently my work has become more personal, representing my own difficulty in letting go of the hardships of my patients," said Porterfield. "I now find myself exploring my own personal struggle to separate myself from the tragedies of my patients. I paint both what I fear and what I covet. In allowing my paintings to become more personal, I hope that they might become more universal."

Porterfield is an adjunct instructor at Northeastern Illinois University and the Harrington School of Design, both in Chicago . She earned a Master in Fine Arts degree from Arizona State University .

She also studied figure drawing and painting at St. Louis Community College , drawing and painting at the St. Louis Artist's Guild, and art history at St. Louis University.

Porterfield has shown her award-winning work in solo and group exhibitions around the country and has been published many times.

The Robert F. DeCaprio Art Gallery provides an opportunity to view locally and nationally recognized artists. Exhibits in the Art Gallery are free and available for viewing Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and during most performances in the Fine and Performing Arts Center.

For more information, call Meaghan Callan, the Gallery director, at (708) 608-4231, or visit morainevalley.edu/fpac.

Joffrey's Cinderella is glorious and in drag

by Marijo Doody

The 50th Anniversary season continues with the Joffrey Ballet. The two step sisters in Joffrey's Cinderella stoled the show by being in drag and really funny. Former personalities, Christian Holder and Gary Chryst, have returned as guest artists this year. The actor-dancers dominated stages in the 60's and 70's and their comedic effects are awesome. Both were apprentices selected by Robert Joffrey in the late 60's. Since then they have done choreography and costume design. Holder and Chryst are brilliant in every step and gesture. The Stepsister roles are demanding and they are the life of the party.

Ballet is movement and human character. We don't see that in animated fairy tales. Ashton's full-length ballet with the glorious Prokofiev score is more lavish than the holiday production of "Nutcracker." With this production, Joffrey is the first American Company to dance the work that was created for the precursor of Britains' Royal Ballet in the 1940's and danced by famed Moira Shearer of "The Red Shoes."

The willowy Cinderella, played by technically brilliant Julianne Kepley, was commanding in her partnership with the Prince played by Michael Levine. Suzanne Lopez as the Fairy Godmother was ever so flowing in movements. The Fairy Seasons were exquisite and sensual in the variations danced by Allison Walsh, Christine Rocas, April Daly and Victoria Jaiani. The topsy- turvy leaps and spins by the Jester (John Gluckman) gave an appearance of having springs in his legs.

The corps de ballet showed in classical ballet Ashton's twists on staging with the females. It was beautifully complemented by the music played by the Chicago Sinfonietta conducted by Leslie B. Dunner. Former Royal Ballet dancer, Wendy Ellis Somes, did the staging.

David Walker's sets and costumes are awesome. The silvery pumpkin carriage with the white mice is really cool. Even though the ballet has closed in Chicago, perhaps it will go on tour.

Hubbard Street Dance II plays for children

by Marijo Doody

This past week many children got to enjoy and partake in the Hubbard Street Dance II for kids. The afternoon program featured the young dancers of the Company. They ranged from 21-25 years of age and could relate to children.

The first number on the program was A Work in Progress and the dancers jumped, twirled and leaped to the delight of the children. A number of children were called up to the stage and partook with the dancers and bowed at the end. It was great for them.

Hubbard Street Dance II, Artistic Director, Julie Nakagawa Bottcher, narrated the programming and introduced the participants. Unspoken Barrier was premiered with costumes. Hallaig a Chicago premier was choreographed by Hubbard Street ensemble member, Brian Enos. During the program, a child was invited up to the stage to work with the dancers with her ideas. A good time was had by all!

The ballet core, four men and four women were all featured in the finale. Afterwards, the dancers were on two levels in the lobby for an autograph and a photo shoot! Program notes showed the favorite subject in school of the dancers and they ranged from art, history, English, science and math. Dancers were from around the world.

At the performance, there were as many girls as there were boys. Most of the young dancers started their lessons by the age of 8 or 9 and indicated it was their first love. All were very athletic!

Orland Park adopts smoking ban

by Matt Mayer

The village board at the at the Oct 2, Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting approved an ordinance banning cigarette, cigar and pipe smoking in the village's restaurants and bars. The ban goes into effect Jan. 2,2007, and carries significant fines for violators. The Southwest Conference of Mayors President Jerry Bennett asked Trustee Kathy Fenton last spring to form a committee to explore the drafting of a smoking ordinance. Restaurants with outdoor seating are excepted; smoking, however, would need to be a minimum of 15 feet from the main entrance.

Nursing homes, hotel and motel rooms are also exempt when occupants request a room in which smoking is permitted. The ordinance also bans smoking in outdoor public areas such as baseball and soccer fields and parks. The village, however, will consider designated-smoking areas for outdoor events such as Orland Days and Taste of Orland Park.

Ordinance violation fines begin at $100 for the first offense and increase to $200 for three or more offenses. Businesses that don't enforce the ordinance will be fined $100 for the first offense, which can escalate to $2,500 for the third and subsequent violations along with the possibility of license suspension. Municipalities, which don't have an ordinance in effect by March 15, 2007, will have to adopt the Cook County smoking ban, which County Commissioners passed on March 15, 2006.

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) is hosting a Household Hazardous Waste Disposal day on Saturday, October 21, from 8:00 a.m. to 3 p.m. This will be held at the Midlothian Metra Train Station's south parking lot at 147th Place and Waverly Avenue. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the MWRD at 312.751.6633.

Tinley Park officials consider TIF expansion

by Matt Mayer

Tinley Park officials discussed a proposed expansion of the Main Street South Tax Incumbent Financing (TIF) district at a public hearing in the Village's Kallsen Center on Oct. 3. The Main Street South TIF district consists of 59.9 acres of property on the east and west sides of Oak Park Avenue. The current South Street project is slated to consist of two buildings, which would include 70 condominiums, underground parking and some 36,000 square feet of first floor retail space. If the expansion were approved, the TIF would increase the 59.5 acres of property by some 17.7 acres for additional commercial and residential properties just west of 66th Court and 67th Avenue. The additional properties would need to be included in the TIF district in order to use the TIF district funds. The village would need to find an additional funding source if the properties are unable to be included in the current TIF. Residents expressed concerns regarding the village's desire to purchase their homes if they were included in the TIF expansion.

The current South Street project followed the controversial $100 million North Street development project, which was approved at the Aug. 22, Board of Trustees meeting amidst opposition from residents located near the Metra Station. Their concerns were that the project would take away from the historic character of the area and will be too dense and increase traffic. This development is slated for the area near 173rd Street and Oak Park Avenue and will include 115 condominiums, underground parking, 16,000 square feet of office space, approximately 43,000 square feet of retail space, and a two story 11-screen, 1,930 seat movie theater. Construction also includes the expansion of Zabrocki Plaza, doubling its size, and the construction of an underground parking garage under the new Park.

Chicago Premium Outlet Trip

A few spaces remain for the Tinley Park-Park District's trip to the Chicago Premium Outlet Mall in Aurora. Shoppers can get a jump start on their Christmas shopping and enjoy a fun-filled day of bargain hunting.

A bus will depart the Tony Bettenhausen Recreation Center at 9:30 am on Friday, November 3 and will return by approximately 3:00 pm. The fee of $16 includes transportation only. All ages welcome!

For more information, contact the Park District at 708/342-4200.

Our World In Chaos

"Our world is in chaos because of the Hate & Anger many people have stored up inside them. They infect others with it. They become contagious & they spread," says Phil. Phil is right about what "collected anger" can do. Many people are being senselessly killed, children starving the world over & kids being born into AIDS. Threat of using nuclear action against innocent people is also a form of "Extortion" [the necessary ingredient of terrorism]. "Chaos" or a world going nuts, which is it?" One effective way to deal with terrorism is for everyone to use their psychic ability like a mirror and reflect hate, anger & all else that is evil back to those who send it. Network this idea!

A non predictable storm

by Annette Dixon

It was a nice sunny day on Monday, October 2, when my mother had to go to the doctors. Around 2:15 p.m. when we arrived home, I said to my mother, "look at the dark clouds in the north, this reminds me of 1967."

Well it wasn't until Tuesday morning, when I received a call from the delivery person that he couldn't get through from the tri-state. Traffic was at a stand still, the entrance was closed on 95th. More delivery personnel came and said about similar circumstances in their areas of Worth and Palos Hills.

I proceeded to get my labels on the papers for the mail delivery and off I went to the Moraine Post Office. In 33 years this was the first time the Post Office closed down. The workers stated there was no power, that I should come back Wed.

I immediately surveyed some areas and found it to be a disaster zone. Call it a microburst, tornado, windstorm, what every this storm was it done more damage than one could imagine. In some areas there were no flooded basements, yet within the same block the power was out and basements flooded and debris was everywhere.

CommonWealth Edison Power was not always on the scene. So many power lines were down especially in Hickory Hills, Bridgeview, Palos Hills, Oak Lawn. Some residents from these towns were without power for four days.

Pictured above on 100th street across from Moraine Post Office Fraser Co. looked like this and there were more damaged buildings in this area. Conrady Elementary school on 96th and Robert's had a flat roof which caved in. Was anyone prepared for this.

Chicago Ridge puts Roche on final notice

by Matt Mayer

Patrick Roche, son of Michael Roche, appeared before the board at the Oct. 3, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting. Roche has been cited with numerous violations over the years for his property located at 10008 S. Anderson Ave. Roche has been at this location for nine years and still doesn't have a rental business license, which will not be granted until all village codes are met. Michael Roche has appeared before the board, accompanied by counsel, numerous times.

At such times, Roche has been required to clean up his property consisting of the paving of the parking lot, the removal of junk and debris. Roche has made some improvements however the removal of debris, junk cars and clearing the junk packed area in the back of the property, in order to create a fire lane and comply with the ordinance, has not been met. Roche was given a deadline of Oct. 7 at 5 p.m. to comply or face the shut down of his business.

The board approved a business license for Diamond Blade Resale, a contractor supply business at 10321 Oxford Avenue. A fire department request to purchase preplan software for $1,925 was also approved as well as the approval of a Fire and Police ordinance. A request to waive the permit fee and allow the installation of a sign at 95th and Ridgeland for Queen of Peace High School was also approved.

Our World In Chaos
"Our world is in chaos because of the Hate & Anger many people have stored up inside them. They infect others with it. They become contagious & they spread," says Phil. Phil is right about what "collected anger" can do. Many people are being senselessly killed, children starving the world over & kids being born into AIDS. Threat of using nuclear action against innocent people is also a form of "Extortion" [the necessary ingredient of terrorism]. "Chaos" or a world going nuts, which is it?" One effective way to deal with terrorism is for everyone to use their psychic ability like a mirror and reflect hate, anger & all else that is evil back to those who send it. Network this idea!

By Matt Mayer

Village Clerk Jane Quinlan resumed her position on the dais as village clerk calling the roll. Quinlan was absent at the previous meeting she attended a weeklong university prepared intensive education program in Springfield. She has embarked on a two-year pursuit to become Oak Lawn's first certified municipal clerk. There are weeklong sessions of study, which are held at various periods throughout the two-year education program. Quinlan is very enthusiastic about taking on this challenge.

The board approved an ordinance amending a chapter of the village code regarding emergency powers of the village president. Highlights of the verbiage of the ordinance shall now include the following: The village president shall have the following emergency powers in the event of any natural disaster or manmade calamity, including flood, conflagration, cyclone, tornado, earthquake, explosion or other event within or adjacent to the corporate limits of the village resulting in or threatening death or injury of persons or destruction of property to such an extent that extraordinary measures must be taken to protect the public health, safety and welfare.

Whenever an emergency is defined. The president shall declare the existence via written declaration consisting of facts that constitute the emergency. The declaration shall be filled with the village clerk as soon as possible. The emergency shall remain in effect until a date no later than the first regular meeting of the corporate authorities after the state of emergency is declared. Upon the issue of the declaration, the president shall notify the local news media in the village and copies of the proclamation declaring the emergency will be posted in the village hall. The president may also order a curfew an evacuation.

The village hall will be closed on Nov. 10, in observation of Veteran's Day. The next meeting is Nov 14.

Ronald McDonald House slated for Oak Lawn

By Matt Mayer

A partnership between Oak Lawn High School District 229 and Advocate Christ Hospital for a Ronald McDonald House is becoming a reality. Mary Agnes Laguatan, Director of Programs and Services for the Ronald McDonald House of Chicago and Northwestern Indiana, first addressed the board at the Oct. 10, Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting, regarding a leased parcel of property from Oak Lawn Community High School. A representative from Advocate Christ Hospital also addressed the board - he said that he is excited about what this partnership would bring to the area, such as scholarships and other opportunities.

The formed partnership is between Hope Children's Hospital, Ronald McDonald Charities and Oak Lawn Community High School District 229, for the construction of a 13- bedroom 18,000 square foot house to be located on the northwest corner of 93rd and Kostner Avenue across the street from Hope Hospital. The lease agreement also includes the construction of new restrooms and a field maintenance shed. The total cost of construction is estimated in the vicinity of $5 million.

The Ronald McDonald House will serve families of children, who live a great distance away from the hospital. Hope does however permit parents of critically ill children to stay with them 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Hope Children's Hospital also admits children from all over the world. There are currently three Ronald McDonald Houses in the Chicago land area, which is the highest local area number, making that number four with the completion of the Oak Lawn house. Additional information regarding the Ronald McDonald Charities may be obtained by visiting the Ronald McDonald Charities Website at www.mcdonalds.com/rmhc/index/programs.html

Colonel John Drolet
District Commander
U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
Chicago District
111 North Canal Street
Chicago, IL 60606

Dear Colonel Drolet:

I am contacting you to respectfully request a preliminary evaluation of the Stoney Creek flooding issues in the Village of Oak Lawn. As the Army Corps of Engineers (COE) has jurisdiction over flood control projects in the Nation, I would ask you to utilize COE technical expertise to evaluate potential flood mitigation options.

As you may know, flooding problems attributed to Stoney Creek have been an ongoing problem. Flooding results in real damages to homes and businesses and adversely impacts the quality of life for any community. Persistent flooding only furthers these damaging aspects and results in very real losses to my constituents. It is critically important to evaluate potential flood mitigation options in this area in order to help prevent future flooding problems and to improve the quality of life.

Again, I would request that you utilize COE technical expertise to look into the situation and conduct a preliminary evaluation. I would also request that the evaluation be conducted in close cooperation with the Village of Oak Lawn and other appropriate stakeholders, such as the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District and the Illinois Department of Natural Resources. By taking this first step and working together in a collaborative fashion, there may be feasible concrete options developed for addressing these flooding problems.

Thank you for your time and attention given to this matter, and I look forward to working with you. With best wishes and kind regards, I remain

Sincerely,

DANIEL LIPINSKI
Member of Congress

A Guide For Boomers

(NAPSI)-It is never too early for baby boomers to start planning for retirement. That's the message from a guide designed to reach boomers with retirement planning information.

In July, the Eldercare Locator, a free service of the U.S. Administration on Aging, asked callers who are older boomers ages 51-60 if they are saving for retirement. While 60 percent of these callers said they are saving annually, over half think they will need to work past age 65.

The guide, called "Pick Up The Pace," urges boomers to plan to have a long, active and healthy life; act now to have flexible choices later; and control finances and evaluate lifestyle options that impact financial security.

Copies of the "Pick Up The Pace" guide are available online at www.eldercare.gov and www.csrees.usda.gov/fsll, and by calling the Eldercare Locator at (800) 677-1116.

While some boomers are saving for retirement, they might not be saving enough.

Something Old and Something New

As the old adage goes, "Diamonds are a girl's best friend," and you have to treat them as such.

This article is dedicated to care of diamonds. Many jewelers neglect giving their customers this important information.

First, have your diamond appraised. This appraisal is necessary for insurance purposes to be sure you receive the full replacement value (retail) cost of your diamond in case of theft or loss. Make sure your diamond is insured the day it leaves the jewelry store.

Don't wear your diamond while doing housework. Cleaners are harsh to the stone and can pit or discolor mountings. Abrasive cleaners can scratch bands. A diamond can scratch also, so be careful while traveling. It is best to wrap your diamond in a tissue or store it in a ring box or a special place designed for your ring.

Clean your ring at least once a month with a jewelry cleaner or mild soap. Use a small brush or an old toothbrush and gently go over the whole ring. Dry the ring with a soft rag or jewelry cloth. You might be able to have your ring professionally cleaned at your jewelry store, if they offer this service. At this time, check the mounting, especially the prongs.

And, also remember to keep your hands pretty to show off your diamond.

Your wedding is special. A heart that loves, bonds. Best wishes.

Marist Students Receive Scouting Awards

Zachary Banko '09 (Alsip) and Nicole O'Connor '07 (Palos Heights) display the certificates and medals they received as an Eagle Scout and Gold Award Project winner, respectively.

CHICAGO, IL, November 3, 2006 – Two Marist High School students received the highest Scouting awards possible earlier this year in recognition of their community service. Nicole O'Connor '07 (Palos Heights) and Zachary Banko '09 (Alsip) designed service projects to fulfill the application process for their Scouting awards.

O'Connor received The Gold Award in May from the Girls Scouts of the USA, and it is the highest award a Girl Scout can receive, and requires each applicant to design a long-term project that puts the applicant in a leadership role and which is related to her future career goal. O'Connor chose to serve at The Mantle, part of Port Ministries outreach program, located in Chicago's Back of the Yards neighborhood, an underserved area of the city. The Mantle provides education, child care and development, and community enrichment programs.

Just before starting her project in November of 2005, O'Connor ran a book drive at Marist, and with the help of classmates, collected over 1,000 books for the Book Worm Angels Network. Half of the books were donated to The Mantle. Those books were key to her work, as she and fellow Marist volunteers focused on literacy with the kids who visited The Mantle after school. Nicole also created age appropriate lessons to strengthen the kids' academic skills and brought along a craft project on her twice monthly visits. "Each time I went to The Mantle I felt very blessed," Nicole said. "The area is rundown and it's good to get out there and help with an immediate problem in our city; one that is near us."

Banko, who has been involved in Scouting since third grade, chose The Crisis Center for South Suburbia as his service site. Banko organized a drive to collect new and gently used clothes and new toiletry items for the organization that provides emergency shelter and services for families dealing with domestic violence. After a week of advertising the drive throughout his neighborhood, Banko filled 40 large moving boxes with items for the center. "They couldn't believe how much I had collected," Banko said. "It took nearly a half hour to move it all inside the [Crisis Center] building." Banko found the project fulfilling because he said, "I like helping people and I like making others happy." Banko received his award in August.

Both students agree that staying in Scouting has provided interesting things to learn and great people to meet and befriend. Only about five percent of members of the Boy Scouts and Girls Scouts organizations receive these distinguished awards.

Celebrating over 40 years of excellence, Marist High School, 4200 W. 115th Street in Chicago, is a Catholic, college preparatory school educating young men and women in heart, mind, and body.

UFO's (ummm)

There is even more information coming to us from "so-called" authorities on the subject of unidentified flying objects & admitted experimentations coming from "where?" Pictographs show flying objects in the skies way back before any other form of people to people communication. "They etched in stone what they saw" is what I say. Saying it was all imagination really lacks intelligence. Why? Because such pictographs appear all over Earth's surfaces long before transportation by air or boat was possible. And more, why do we see Halo's only on religious people? Read my next column, it'll explain why.

Kathy's Kaleidoscope

JUST CALL ME CLUMSY

kathywhirlty@yahoo.com

by Kathy Whirity

The childhood rhyme had been stuck in my head for a few days; an annoying side effect from my job as a daycare provider. "Mrs. Bumble Took A Tumble," repeated itself over and over until I was more than ready to bump old Mrs. Bumble right out of my brain.

Like other obnoxious rhymes that have settled in my mind for a short duration, I patiently waited for this one to also wear itself out. Somehow, this little ditty would prove prophetic to yours truly.

Sunday morning dawned and, as is the tradition, Bill and I met his sister, Marie, for 8:30 mass, and then it's across the street for breakfast.

This particular morning I hit the snooze button on the alarm and told Bill to go without me. I rolled over, preparing to catch up on the wonderful, unfinished dream I was having , before the shrill sound of the alarm sent it away. Everything seemed fine until Bill stood beside the bed and, with a sound of disappointment in his voice, said - "You're not coming to mass with me?" Okay, so who needs extra sleep on Sunday morning anyway?

I jumped out of bed and into the shower, surprising myself by being ready, with a few minutes to spare.

Mass was inspiring, breakfast was perfectly pleasant, and as we walked out into the bright and sunny autumn morning I just knew it was going to be an awesome day.

The optimistic outlook was short lived, however, when I started to cross the street and fell flat on my face, tripping on a dip in the road.

One minute I was partaking in small talk and the next Bill and Marie were picking me up off the pavement.

As I tried to regain composure with an ankle bursting with pain, what do you suppose was going through my mind? Those 5 silly words were back to haunt me!

Yep, "Mrs. Bumble Took A Tumble"

I am officially on the injured list. With ice packs resting atop my black and blue swollen foot, I am so very thankful that it was not much worse.

For now I'm learning how to navigate, peg leg style. I'm mastering the art of shuffle hobble, shuffle hobble, pretty well.

You never know when the unexpected will suddenly stop you right in your tracks.

This past week I have spent a great deal of my time with my right foot propped up three pillows high, iced till numb.

And, as I curse myself for being clumsy there's that darn refrain that seems to be mocking me in the fall of my misery - Mrs. Bumble took A Tumble.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

Remember the tea kettle, it's always up to its neck in hot water, yet it still sings. (Author Unknown.)

Ernie Banks Makes Appearance at Charter One Bank November 1

"Mr. Cub" Ernie Banks helped kick off Charter One Bank's "Carving Out Hunger" initiative on Nov. 1 by being first at bat with a donation to help feed Chicagoland's hungry. Charter One is asking Chicagoland residents to donate a variety of food staples – including canned meats, fruits and vegetables – in any of the bank's 120 Illinois branches through the end of the month. Through a partnership with the Greater Chicago Food Depository, this food will be distributed through a network of food pantries, soup kitchens and shelters to help thousands of in-need families.

Help "carve out" hunger this season by making donations at suburban Charter One Bank branches. All donated food will be stocked on the shelves of local food pantries (including pantries in Tinley Park, Orland Park, Carol Stream, Alsip, Worth, Burbank and others) - directly benefiting the hungry in your community.

Queen Of Peace Student You Should Know

Congratulations to Queen of Peace senior Rachel Alexander (Chicago, 2500 bl. of 80th St.). She was honored as a 2006-2007 National Achiever through the National Achievement Scholarship Program. Rachel's presence has been felt at Queen of Peace for the last 3 years.

As a first-year student at Peace, Rachel tutored her peers and upper-class students in math. She is also an active member of the National Honor Society. In addition to her academic achievements, Rachel is an active player in the arts.

As a frosh and sophomore, Rachel participated in the Peace Dance Company. As a junior, she devoted her time to the Peace Choral Program. This year, she looks forward to dancing again. Outside of school, Rachel also spends her time singing and performing with the Chicago Children's Concert Choir. This past spring, she traveled with 60 members of her top-level choir to the Czech Republic, where she sang with the Czech National Symphony Orchestra at the Terezin Memorial – the site of a former Nazi prison and concentration camp. "The experience was amazing. I love singing and performing because it allows me to travel and learn about other cultures and history."

When asked about her involvement in the arts, she reflected, "the arts permit me to express myself freely. I always have my nose in the books studying. To dance, sing, and perform is fun, lets me laugh, and balances me. They make me who I am."

Queen of Peace senior Rachel Alexander wins recognition through the National Achievement Scholarship Program.

What does the future hold for Rachel Alexander? "I want to attend the University of Illinois at Champaign. I have so many different interests that I'm not sure what I want to study. I love to communicate with others, travel, and help people. What I do know is that I will make a difference."

Moraine Valley Announces Business People of the Year

Moraine Valley's Economic Development Council for the Southwest Suburbs (EDCSS) honored Gary Wesner of Great Lakes Bank in Alsip as its 2006 Business Advocate of the Year during the 12th Annual EDCSS Small Business Awards Luncheon held on Thursday, November 2.

Gary Wesner started his banking career in 1974 at Beverly Bank. Considered the "premier bank on the South Side" at the time, Wesner met many individuals who served as mentors to him early in his career and helped him gain valuable knowledge about the banking industry. He has attempted to provide this same support to others throughout his career.

A few years later, Wesner began taking college courses at night to expand his opportunities, and in 1986 received a bachelor's degree from Governors State University. He went on to earn a master's degree in business administration with a concentration in finance from DePaul University.

In 1991, Wesner joined First National Bank of Blue Island, which later became Great Lakes Bank. When First National Bank of Blue Island purchased the First State Bank of Alsip in 1992, Wesner was charged with building a commercial banking portfolio of small business clients. He has successfully met this challenge and uses resources such as the U.S. Small Business Administration and the Moraine Valley Small Business Development Center to assist his customers in expanding their businesses.

He believes that stability and continuity are important in building professional relationships and considers himself a reliable team player who actively looks for ways to help his clients. As a result of bis commitment to his customers' needs, Wesner has earned their trust and confidence, and some have remained his clients for more than 30 years. As a strong advocate of the value that small business owners provide, Wesner looks for ways to belp them receive the recognition he feels they deserve. He has been an active member in several business organizations such as the Oak Lawn Cbamber of Commerce and served on the board of the Alsip Industrial Association for nine years.

Wesner was nominated for Business Advocate of the Year by Josepb F. Kozmin, president of KVK, Inc.

Moraine Valley's Economic Development Council for the Southwest Suburbs (EDCSS) honored Bob Simbianti from Linear Electric in Orland Park as its 2006 Government Contractor of the Year during the 12th Annual EDCSS Small Business Awards Luncheon held on Thursday, November 2.

When Bob Simbianti and his father, Anthony, began Linear Electric in 1986, Anthony had worked nearly 40 years in the electrical industry. This family business grew steadily over the years and now employs approximately 80 workers. Antbony retired from the company with 50 years experience.

Linear is a well-established, licensed and bonded contracting company that can handle all aspects of an electrical project. It offers complete project management and can take a job from the design stage through installation and maintenance.

The company originally focused on industrial clients, and this sector still remains an important part of the business. But as companies left the state and the market changed, Linear moved into other areas as well. The business now works on numerous institutional, commercial, and government projects throughout Cbicagoland, and its customers vary from Chicago State University to Lenzip Manufacturing to Silver Cross Hospital.

Linear's extensive work in industrial settings includes high voltage service and large demand power distribution systems, material handling conveyors, computerized processing systems, including programmable controllers and instrumentation. The company is skilled in commercial and institutional services such as computer power and wiring, lighting, uninterrupted power systems, and life safety systems.

Simbianti believes the company's emphasis on personal service and his staff of highly qualified workers has contributed to Linear's success. His in-house estimator/project managers and engineers each possess 10 to 50 years of experience in the industry so they can effectively address their clients' diverse needs. Linear works with seven unions and employs a full-time supervisor to manage the differing rules and pay scales. The company also has a strong commitment to safety. All foremen are 10-hour OSHA certified. Employees can take safety instruction courses and receive related certification.

Linear Electric believes in giving back to the community. Among tbe many organizations it supports are the American Diabetes Association and the American Cancer Society. Additionally, the company has helped with several fundraisers for children suffering from terminal and life-threatening illnesses.

Tony Denovellis, vice president of First Midwest Bank, nominated Simbianti for the Entrepreneur of the Year Award.

Moraine Valley's Economic Development Council for the Southwest Suburbs (EDCSS) honored Phil Schaafsma from Sid's Greenhouses and Garden Center in Palos Hills as its 2006 Small Business Person of the Year during the 12th Annual EDCSS Small Business Awards Luncheon held on Thursday, November 2.

Sid's Greenhouses and Garden Center has been an integral part of the Palos area for more than 40 years. Sid and Bernice Schaafsma began the business in 1961 when they opened a fresh fruit and vegetable stand on the current site on Southwest Highway. Their sons, Philip and William, belped out wbile in high scbool and joined the staff full-time after they graduated.

Schaafsma serves as the company's president, and he works hard to ensure Sid's offers a great shopping experience for its customers. Although be grew up in the family business, he has never lost his enthusiasm for it. He continues to look for new and profitable ways to serve customers and the community. Each year, Sid's supports hundreds of local charitable organizations such as schools, churches and clubs by contributing gift certificates as raffle prizes.

Over the years, the company has grown enormously to meet its customers' demands. Originally, Sid's added greenhouses and sold plants wholesale to area businesses. It later returned its focus to retail, and Sid's is now a full-service facility featuring a greenbouse, garden center, florist, nursery, and a home and garden showplace store. It also operates a plant rental and maintenance service and a landscaping design and installation service. Sid's stocks thousands of plants, over 10,000 yard and garden-related items, and one of the widest selections of pond supplies in the Cbicagoland area.

The Palos Hills location now encompasses approximately five acres. In 2001, Sid's purchased the assets of an existing garden center in Bolingbrook, and tbis second center now includes a 27,000-square-foot building on four acres.

Joan E. Knox, alderman from the City of Palos Hills, nominated Scbaafsma for the Small Business Person of the Year Award.

HICKEY'S REAL ESTATE CORNER

Copr. 2006 by Jim Hickey

Columnist: Jim Hickey

Jim Hickey

"Dear Jim, I am not sure if I will be moving in 5 years or staying in my home forever. What kind of Mortgage do you suggest? I currently have about $20,000 in credit card debt I would like to pay off?"

This seems to be the dilemma of many people. Mine also. I think I will be in my home until all of my children are done with school, whicb for me is 10 years away. Now, depending on the amount of equity you bave in your home, we could get the cash out and pay off all of your debt within 14 days. If you do not bave enough equity, then we will need to put a plan together to systematically pay off your debt eacb month. A new program that just rolled out on November 1st is a 10 year fixed minimum payment of 2.25% with a 30 year fixed option. This way you are protected for the long haul and yet are able to save hundreds if not thousands a month in mortgage payments. For example: You have a $200,000 loan, are currently paying $2000 a month, and you do not have enough equity to pull out cash. With this 2.25% minimum payment your payment will be approximately $800 a month, saving $1200 a month, $14,400 a year. You sbould be debt free within 18 months.

"Dear Jim, I have watched many of those late night "Let's Get Rich from Real Estate shows." Do these really work with no money down?

I am not sure exactly what shows you have watched, but I have been to a ton of real estate seminars, I have read countless books and have listened to numerous audio books on the subject of real estate investing. In short, yes you can buy an investment property with no money down if you have a credit score of 720 or higher with no proof of income or assets. I personally have about 10 clients that buy properties each and every month. It is very exciting and you will get a rush of excitement as you see your empire grow.

Caution: Do not think this is easy and quick money, it is the opposite. It is slow growth and you need to be able to make the payments each month regardless if the tenant sends in their payment, so you will need reserves. What if the furnace goes out? Or the city finds repairs that need to be made in order to bave a renter move in, how will you pay for this? I am not trying to discourage anyone, but I will tell you how it is...the good, the bad, and the ugly. If you really want to build an empire and you are willing to devote time to learn and study, I can help you.

Ides of March at Beverly Arts Center Nov. 22

(CHICAGO, Nov. 3, 2006) – Chicago's own Ides of March appear in concert at the Beverly Arts Center, 2407 W. 111th St. (111th Street south on Western), Chicago, 8 p.m. Wed., Nov. 22. On their play list are the powerhouse tunes they made famous: "Vehicle," their 1970 million-seller; "You Wouldn't Listen," their debut single that made it to #7 on Chicago's WLS survey in 1966; and "Finally Next Year," the song that cheered on the Cubs during their red-hot 2003 season.

Formed in 1965 when they were in high school, band members Jim Peterik (lead vocal, lead guitar), Larry Millas (vocals, guitar, bass), Bob Bergland (bass, vocals, sax), Mike Borch (drums, vocals), Chuck Soumar (trumpet, percussion, vocals), and John Larson (trumpet, vocals), the Ides of March were popular locally, playing for teen clubs and sock hops. With the release of their first single the band's reputation grew tremendously, and they started touring throughout the US and Canada on weekends while still in school.

When Warner Bros. records signed them and released "Vehicle," they got their big break. The song went to #2 in Billboard, and was the fastest breaking single in Warner Bros. history.

Vocal harmonies and trademark driving brass made Ides of March one of Chicago's favorite hometown bands. Lead singer/guitarist and songwriter Jim Peterik, (who recorded the hit "Eye Of The Tiger" with his band Survivor in the 1980s while Ides of March was on sabbatical), penned the band's rock and roll tunes that have stood the test of time including "L.A. Goodbye" and "Age Before Beauty."

Hear the Ides of March in the BAC's 400-seat state-of-the-art theater. Tickets $25. Call 773-445-3838 or buy online, www.beverlyartcenter.org.

2006-2007 Kraft Family Matinee Series Kicks Off On Saturday, November 18 With Music And Dance

Traditions Of Cultures Around The World In A World Of Music, A World Of Dance

Symphony Center's yearlong Silk Road celebration continues with an exploration of music and dance

CHICAGO— The Chicago Symphony Orchestra's 2006-2007 Kraft Family Matinee Series opens on Saturday, .November 18 at 11:00 a.m. and at 12:45 p.m. with a Silk Road-inspired exploration of music and dance when members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and soloists from the Chicago Symphony Chorus, along with guest artists from Chicago's Ensemble Español Spanish Dance Theater and Natya Dance Theatre, take the audience on a musical adventure around the globe. Kraft Family Matinee Series concerts are recommended for families with children ages 5 and up.

In A World of Music, A World of Dance, conductor Duain Wolfe brings musicians and dancers together in a program of beloved masterpieces by Bernstein, Bizet, Williams, Rimsky-Korsakov, Delibes, Albéniz, and Tchaikovsky that were inspired by the music and dance traditions of cultures around the world, from Spain to India, Arabia and Russia. The program culminates with the two dance ensembles onstage in a final choreographic collaboration set to Bernstein's Overture to Candide. Pre-concert activities to include members of the two dance ensembles begin one hour before each family concert in the Symphony Center Rotunda.

Ensemble Español Spanish Dance Theater, under the artistic leadership of founder Dame Libby Komaiko, is celebrating its 30th anniversary as the premier Spanish dance center in the United States to have residence status at a state university, Northeastern Illinois University, Chicago. The Ensemble is chartered to share the rich traditions of the dance, music, art, literature, and culture of Spain in the classical, folkloric and Flamenco styles, at the community, state, national and international levels. The company of 40 dancers, singers, and musicians is a mosaic of world cultures—Spanish, Puerto Rican, Mexican, Columbian, Peruvian, Chilean, Guatemalan, and Honduran, as well as roots in Hispanic/Middle Eastern and Hispanic/European cultures.

Natya Dance Theatre was founded in Chicago in 1975 by choreographer and dancer Hema Rajagopalan. The company began as a school to teach Bharata Natyam, the classical dance form of India, to new generations; Ms. Rajagopalan expanded her school into a nonprofit organization encompassing the school and the dance company with the community's support. In Bharata Natyam, highly trained dancers perform precise hand gestures, intricate footwork, vivid facial expressions, and fluid movement. The dance pieces often incorporate ideas, stories, and myths from ancient texts while transforming them into contemporary context. Nearly 900 students have participated in Natya classes, summer camp and residencies over the past 30 years, promoting the values of Indian culture, preserving an ancient art form, and forging links among Indian, American and other cultures.

Conductor Duain Wolfe is in his 13th season as director of the Chicago Symphony Chorus, having been appointed to the position by Daniel Barenboim in the spring of 1994. Director and conductor of the CSO's popular Welcome Yule! concerts, Mr. Wolfe also has conducted members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in CSO education performances including My Own True Voice, Voices in Song, A Company of Critters, Do Re Meowzart, Stomp Your Foot, Parade, and Magical Movements. Well known for his work with children, in 1999 Duain Wolfe retired from the Colorado Children's Chorale, an organization that he founded and conducted for 25 years. Under his leadership, the CCC grew to six choirs and toured 47 states (under the auspices of Columbia Artists), as well as Europe and Asia.

Silk Road Chicago (www.silkroadchicago.org) is an unprecedented collaboration among the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, The Art Institute of Chicago, Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs, and Yo-Yo Ma's Silk Road Project, along with many Chicago cultural and community organizations. The Silk Road Chicago project was initiated by acclaimed cellist Yo-Yo Ma, who dreamed of bringing the historic Silk Road, and the ideas that it represents, to life in Chicago, one of the most diverse cities in the world.° Silk Road Chicago offers the rare opportunity for the city to celebrate the arts together—transforming Chicago through hundreds of performances, exhibitions, and special events citywide, exploring cross-cultural discovery and celebrating the rich artistic legacy of the Silk Road, in an extended yearlong schedule of events through June 2007.

Tickets: $7-$32. Tickets can be purchased by calling PhoneCharge at 312-294-3000 or 800-223-7114, or by visiting either the CSO's Web site at www.cso.org or the Symphony Center Box Office at 220 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60604. Box Office and PhoneCharge hours are Monday–Saturday, 10 a.m.–6 p.m.; Sunday, 11 a.m.–4 p.m. For group rates, please call 312-294-3040. Artists, programs, and ticket prices are subject to change.

November 25 – December 30, 2006 - St. Charles, IL October 19, 2006 Noble Fool Theatricals Youth Ensemble makes their debut with the hit musical, "High School Musical," making this amateur one-act production one of the first Chicagoland premieres at Pheasant Run Resort & Spa Mainstage Theater (4051 E. In fact, our first performance on November 25 sold out within 10 days," adds Gawlik. "Plans for our next youth ensemble production are already in the works."

It's for the birds

As gardeners, we tend to take one of the most interesting parts of our garden for granted - the birds! By providing birds with a few basic necessities, we can help these garden-dwellers survive through winter and provide a spark of color and interest during the cold months. These necessities include shelter, warmth, and food. First, locate your birdfeeder in a protected spot and close to an area of cover. This can be as simple as a brush pile, or as complex as a series of planted evergreens. Both provide adequate cover and warmth for your birds in the winter. Birdhouses are another form of winter protection. Ideally, at least 3/4 inch wood is used and foam or rubber weathering strips are placed in the cracks and extra holes. Finally, my most favorite way of providing winter protection is by leaving up the bottom part of those dead or dying trees. Not only can they provide winter interest in their natural state, but also it gives you the opportunity to create a birdhouse and sculpture of your own design.

"Oh no...Unplanted Bulbs!!"

It happens all the time. You're cleaning up for the holidays and you find a bag of bulbs, purchased back in September or October, which you forgot to plant. Now the ground is frozen and you don't know what to do. Perhaps all is not lost. Many bulbs can be "forced"-planted in pots, given an artificial winter, and brought back into warmth in the spring to bloom. First, closely examine the bulbs. If they seem firm and not too dried out, they can probably be salvaged. Tulip bulbs are often too desiccated to be much good, but most daffodils and smaller bulbs like grape hyacinths "keep" longer and should work. Plant them in any type of container (as long as it has drain holes) and forget the standard rules of spacing and depth. You can plant them much closer together and as long as the soil covers the bulbs, you're OK. Water them once, stick a tag on them with the variety and date planted, and find a place where the temperature will remain between 32 and 45 degrees for the next three months. Your refrigerator is a good choice, but be careful if youstore fruit in your fridge. Ripening fruit gives off a gas that will destroy the forming flowers within the bulbs. A window well, a three-season porch, or a partially heated attached garage can work well – the idea is not to let the container freeze solid. Putting the pots with styrofoam peanuts will help insulate them, as well as cushion them from wild temperature fluctuations that may trigger premature growth. Mark your calendar 14 weeks from the planting date, and on that day move the pot to a cool (45-60 degrees is ideal) but bright location, where regular growth should commence. When the blooms are ready to pop, you can bring them into your house to enjoy, but remember they'll last longer and be less floppy if you can keep them in a cooler location. It sounds like a lot of work, but it really isn't, and forcing bulbs is fun and relieves your guilt!

Blood Stains in Clothing

Blood stains in clothing need to be removed as soon as possible. Use cold water and wash out the stain. Hot water will set the blood and it will be difficult or impossible to get out.

The following is a suggestion sent via e-mail from "R". Thank you for your addition to this page!

"Hydrogen peroxide is the absolute best for removing blood stains. The fresher the easier of course, but even dried blood comes out with a little effort. The hydrogen peroxide seems to do no damage to any fabric I've tried it on."

Another suggestion from Wanda is to use Adolph's unseasoned meat tenderizer. Rinse in cold water, then sprinkle on the tenderizer and let sit for awhile and rinse again. May have to be repeated. Thanks, Wanda.

Garlic Odor on Hands

Have you ever peeled garlic or handled it and your hands smell to high heaven? The next time that happens, take any stainless steel bowl, pan or other stainless steel kitchen gigit and rub your hands on it. It will take away the smell of garlic. I'm not sure what makes this happen, but it works.

And here's a tip from a reader concerning smelly hands. "I have found that washing your hands with tootpaste gets rid of the odor." Thanks for the hint!

Evergreen Park obtains financing for Franks property purchase

By Matt Mayer

The board unanimously voted to approve an ordinance at the Nov. 7 Evergreen Park Board of Trustees meeting providing for the issuance of a $1.7 million general obligation promissory note for the purchase of the vacated Franks Nursery and Crafts at 3720 W. 95th Street, which has been vacant since 2005 after the company filed for bankruptcy. The village made several efforts to work with the building owner and lease the property - there were interested parties, however they were to no avail.

This process began in May when the village negotiated the purchase of the property and at a board meeting last month, the board approved the purchase. The is one of the powers the village may utilize due to being a home rule unit. The financial agreement is with Marquette Bank - the note was issued Nov.15 with a final payoff date of September 1, 2011. The village can now become more aggressive in the sale of the property being that it is now village owned. This also allows the village additional control regarding how it is developed. Mayor James Sexton hopes to resell the property in a relatively short period of time. The proceeds of the sale of the property will allow the village to pay the loan off in full, therefore retiring the loan sooner.

This property is part of a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) district, which was created in November 2000. A TIF district uses tax revenues to finance improvement within the district and is also free from local taxing bodies such as schools and libraries. A TIF also allow incentives for developers. The maximum life of a TIF is 23 years.

Evergreen Park finalizes fiscal year

By Matt Mayer

The brief meeting of the Evergreen Park Board of Trustees swiftly moved thru the agenda. The board approved Mayor James Sextons request to grant authorization for a resolution so as to finalize the fiscal year budget. An ordinance reserving volume cap in connection with provides activity bond issues by the village was also approved. A municipality with home rule status annually is granted a certain allocation of industrial revenue bonds, which allows the municipality to borrow monies at a relativity low interest rate. By selling the revenue bonds to other municipalities creates a two-fold benefit. It allows other municipalities the opportunity to acquire industrial revenue bonds. As well as securing the annual bonds the village receives. If the bonds were not sold the allocation to the village would expire.

A businesses license was approved for Circle K Shell 1264 at 10258 S. Kedzie Avenue due to a change of ownership. The Household Hazardous Waste Program, which was held on Saturday Oct. 21, will be held again. Household hazardous materials are collected yearly at a specific sit determined by the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District, information regarding drop off dates and locations may be obtain by calling the MWRD at 312.751.6633 or on the web at www.mwrdgc.dst.il.us/

Also recycling guides are available free of charge at the village hall. The recycling guide features organizations/ businesses that accept computers, cell phones. Furniture, fire extinguishers, packing peanuts, used motor oil, vehicle batteries etc. the village offers one of the most expansive recycling programs, some 2,000 tons of recycled materials are diverted from landfills annually. Sexton was also instrumental in developing the blue bag-recycling program, which has been in effect in excess of ten years. Bags are available at the village hall and information regarding the recycling program may be obtained by calling the village hall at 422-1551.

Handyman Network - Bridgeview Gives Back to Our Veterans

Encourages Nominations from Local Community

Bridgeview, IL (Grassroots Newswire) November 8, 2006 — Handyman Network announced a contest that will provide free handyman services to veterans or currently serving U.S. military personnel or their families. According to Terry Anderson, of Handyman Network - Bridgeview this unique program will launch this month in an effort to recognize the many men and women who have put their lives on the line to serve our country and protect our freedom.

"We are ecstatic to be able to do this for our local community," Anderson said. "We are proud to honor America's veterans for their patriotism and willingness to serve and sacrifice for the common good. Our 'Giving Back to Our Veterans' program will run for at least the next twelve months to support our belief that veterans should be honored throughout the entire year."

Residents are encouraged to salute a veteran, a service man or woman, or their families by nominating them for a day (8 hours) of free handyman services. Area residents can nominate someone worthy by visiting the Handyman Network Web site at www.handyman-network.com. The nomination form will include the nominee's name, address, contact information, a one or two paragraph statement explaining why they think their nominee deserves the award and a short description of what handyman services are needed. Handyman Network will collect the nominations and select a winner.

The winner's name and city, along with his or her photograph in their home with the handyman performing the work, will also be posted on the company's local Web site.

"By involving our local community members in this salute to our veterans and soldiers, we not only give back to our brave soldiers, but we also serve our community as a whole and the many customers who support us by using our services for their home repair and improvement needs," Anderson said. "We know that our friends and customers in the community know someone who wishes they could have work done around their home and we want to help them make that wish come true. Maybe their neighbor is a war veteran who needs ramps built or hand rails installed – perhaps there's a young mother in their church whose husband is currently serving in Iraq and she needs help around the house – they may have a family member who was disabled in service – these are the people we want to hear about and help."

For more information, please contact Handyman Network - Bridgeview, or visit the company's Web site at www.handyman-network.com.

Oak Lawn to install red light cameras

By Matt Mayer

The board approved a contract at the Nov. 14, Board of Trustees meeting with Red Flex Traffic Systems of Scottsdale, AZ for the installation of red light cameras. Chicago began utilizing this equipment in 2003, which significantly increased the number of citations. Red Flex is currently installing 500 additional cameras in the city. Due to their expansion, Red Flex plans on opening a regional office in the Chicago and area.

Red Flex performed a survey of the village's intersections and suggested that the village beginning with the installation of the cameras at the following three intersections. 95th and Cicero eastbound; 95th Street and Cicero Avenue southbound; 93rd street and southwest highway east bound. The surveyed revealed the worst problems existed at 95th Street and Cicero Avenue eastbound and 93rd street and Cicero Avenue eastbound. Each of these intersections averaged thirty violations per day.

The terms of the contract contains a "Cost Neutrality" clause, which guarantees that the village will not be responsible for payment of the equipment nor the processing of citations. All fees will be derived from the fines received. The clause also states that if the fines received do not total enough to pay the fees, these fees then will be rolled over to future months until there is a sufficient amount received.

The fees are $4,395 per month per intersection and $4.80 per month per citation processed. The implementation of photo red enforcement has proven to reduce the number of violations by half within a matter of months. Red Flex will also be responsible for the installation costs as well as periodic updates and ongoing maintenance of the equipment.

In addition the village has been awarded a grant for photo red enforcement.° The police department will submit a proposal to the state requesting that the funds be used to cover related costs for a period of six months - for the three systems.

Mayor Dave Heilmann announced that the fees for the Metra parking garage will increase from $1 per day to $2 dollars and quarterly parking permits, which are only available to residents, would increase from $75 to $100 per quarter. Finance Director Gail Paul said that the increase is needed to cover maintenance costs. The next meeting is Dec. 12.

Something Old and Something New

Your honeymoon is the most exciting vacation you will ever take as a married couple. This is of course the most romantic one. In order not to take away from your wedding you must plan early.

Whether you are on a cruise or just a weekend away it must be within your budget. You cannot have bills spoiling your married life together.

Talk to your travel agent and have all the arrangements, especially transportation, done well in advance. Pack early and plan to have someone take your wedding gown and return the groom's formal wear. Pack all tickets and credit cards in a safe place and have a separate sheet with all the numbers on it. This is in case of emergency. Be prepared and have all medications refilled and bring a bottle of aspirin. These are just some of the things brides neglect when caught up in the excitement of the big day.

Another important thing is to bring a good camera with plenty of film. You'll want to capture all the important memories on this special trip. If you're using a digital camera, be sure to charge batteries and bring the charger with. Also, be sure that you have enough disk storage space for all the photos you'll want to save.

Travel is fun but exhausting too. Try to spend time together alone at your home before you return to the real world as "Mr. and Mrs."

Your wedding is special. A heart that loves, bonds. Best wishes.

Carlene O'Connor

Thank You For Your Support

I would like to thank you and the Burbank and surrounding communities for supporting my Eagle Service Project, Operation Support Our Troops, Christmas Drive for Our Troops. Through the door-to-door drive and the drop off locations, we were able to collect over 3,100 pounds of comfort items and 1,300 signed Christmas Cards! On November 4th, Boy Scout Troop #652, family, and friends collected, sorted, and delivered these donations to Operation Support Our Troops, Inc.-IL. They will ship the comfort items and cards to the troops in harms way for Christmas. I sincerely appreciate your support of my Eagle Project. With all of the support that was given, this project was an enormous success!

It's Time to Think about Medicare

The Annual Election Period for people with Medicare begins November 15th and ends December 31st. Although unfortunate that this occurs at a time of year when many people find their schedules extra busy with holiday duties, don't let it go by unattended.

If a Medicare beneficiary did not select a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan prior to May 15, 2006, this six-week period is the ONLY chance to get into a Prescription Drug Plan for 2007. You should begin at www.medicare.gov. If you look at the left side of your computer screen, you'll see Plan Choices. This is a great place to start shopping. Follow the prompts and you will find that Medicare has laid out all options in an easy to compare fashion.

Don't pass up the opportunity to look into Medicare Advantage Plans. These plans typically cost less than Medicare supplements and most include the Prescription Drug coverage. Some of these plans have no additional premium and some even have no deductible for the drug coverage. When comparing Medicare Advantage Plans, besides looking at premiums and deductibles, compare co-pays for seeing specialists, how much you will pay when hospitalized, and look carefully at the drug coverage.

Shop wisely and don't hesitate to contact Medicare by phone at 1-800-MEDICARE (TTY users call 1-877-486-2048.) Another resource is the State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) which offers sites across the state with volunteers who have been specially trained, and who can help you make the choice that's best for you. Call Illinois' Dept of Insurance SHIP program at 1-800-548-9034. You can also inquire at your preferred hospital to see if they offer SHIP counseling services – which are always free.

Happier Holidays

There are always going to be things in the future to be thankful for, as well as things to be grateful for right now, but the first to consider is "family." Jeanne S. says, "I have no one, not one family member to share Holidays with, & it is lonely & always difficult not to envy those people who do have someone to care & share life with. I am a Sagittarius born on the 19th so I also have the Leo part to deal with according to you. What can I do to feel better during the upcoming Holidays?" Find an organization that has people who need a meal & offer to buy one for someone. Check into this, you'll be happier.

THANKSGIVING - A FAMILY TIME OF YEAR

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

The memory is many years old now, but its impact has never been forgotten. The lesson learned happened about 15 years ago. My sister and her two young sons had just moved to Portland Oregon to live with our bachelor brother, who had settled there after retiring from the Navy.

My parents were planning a trip there, to visit them, and it soon turned into a family affair. One call to the travel agent and 3 more people were added to the flight - my 2 girls and I.

We stayed for 3 weeks, which didn't sound like a terribly long time, at first, but after the first few days the girls missed their friends and I so dearly missed my husband.

Time did eventually pass, as it always does, and soon we found ourselves back at the Portland airport. It had been nice to see my sister, nephews and brother but I was more than happy to be going home.

As we stood waiting to board the plane, I noticed that my mom was staring intently at my brother and sister and the boys, with tears running down her cheeks. When I asked what was wrong she shrugged her shoulders and quietly remarked that she was worried it might be the last time she sees them.

I remember impatiently nudging her along, telling her she was being ridiculous. Of course she'd see them again. What I remember, most when I recall that moment, is that I was frazzled, with 2 kids in tow, trying to make sure we all got to our seats, and I didn't have any time for what I sensed was a melancholy mood from Mom.

Shortly after that visit, my sister and her children moved back to Chicago. As for my brother, he stayed in Oregon, living once again as a bachelor, none the worse for wear.

My mom never did see her first born son again. Well, in a manner of speaking she did. He walked into her hospital room literally minutes before the doctor disconnected her from life support.

The tears running down her face told the tale that cold and snowy March morning. My mother had been right. Her wisdom was far beyond my years.

That day in the airport was, unbeknownst to any of us, her final good bye to her son.

Sometimes we take so much for granted. When we're young we so foolishly think that time will forever be ours. The truth is that none of us knows when a simple good bye may be permanent.

Consider the saying that has a soft scented sentiment. "Give Me The Roses While I Can Smell Them' - or better yet - Why not give the roses while the other person can still smell them? Don't be stingy with compliments. Never hesitate to share your feelings with those you love. It's never too late to express the joy someone has brought to your life.

If someone has made a difference in your life, then make a difference in theirs by telling them so.

Don't wait until your thoughts and memories of someone come in the form of a eulogy because it won't matter then.

This Thursday we will celebrate Thanksgiving, and with its dawning we will have yet another chance to gather round the family table to share the bounty of togetherness with loved ones. Make it as special as you can.

Express yourself this Thanksgiving, in kind words, in good deeds, in gratefulness for all those you love and for all those who love you too.

You reap what you sow, so sow a harvest of blessings as you spend quality time reconnecting with the people who mean the most - your family and friends.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING - TO YOU ALL ENJOY GOD'S GIFTS OF GRACE IN THE SEASON OF FALL.

HICKEY'S REAL ESTATE CORNER

Columnist: Jim Hickey

"Dear Jim, is it better to sell my home by owner or with a realtor?

This is really up to how much Time you have and how much "selling" you want to do. Yes you can save thousands selling your home by yourself, but watch out, there are many companies that will tell you they can help you sell your home for only a $3000 flat fee. What they fail to inform you of is that you owe them this money regardless of whether or not they have sold your property. Then the client owes $3000 and still may have to call a realtor to sell their property. If have time and want to try to sell your home by owner, give it twenty one to thirty days maximum. If you are not getting any good contracts, call a professional ASAP. Remember, most qualified buyers are using a realtor to find a home because it costs them nothing to buy a home, and people that have not been qualified need to be qualified before you look at or accept any offers. A very important point: I have a lot of friends that are police officers and they have told me about burglars that pretend to be interested in buying your home and are actually seeing how they can break in. They are asking if you have an alarm, where it is located, checking the windows, etc. I have always used a realtor to purchase and sell my properties.

"Dear Jim, I keep reading about 100% financing. If this is true, why does everyone own a home instead of renting?"

Very good point. Yes there are loans that are 100% financing and with a good realtor you will need no money out of your pocket and will actually get cash back at closing. Not everyone can qualify for 100% financing, because it is based upon your credit scores, total monthly income and total monthly debt payment. For most 100% programs you will need a 580 or higher credit score to qualify (Scores range from 400 to 900). There are programs that you do not need to prove income or show debt but you will need to have reserves (money in savings or retirement) and you will need a 640 or higher credit score. If someone is really truly interested in owning their own home and they are willing to establish their credit, I can help them and usually within 12 months they will be living the American Dream being a landowner instead of a renter.

Always consult a financial consultant before investing or refinancing. The above strategies may not be suitable for your risk tolerances, always consult a professional before taking any actions mentioned above. This is for informational purposes only.

It's more than a feeling;

IT'S A FACT!

A single gender environment is better for GIRLS!

"Researchers at the University of Michigan compared graduates of Catholic single-sex high schools with graduates of Catholic coeducational private schools. Boys in the single-sex high schools scored better in reading, writing, and math than did boys at coed high schools. Girls at the single-sex schools did better in science and reading than girls in coed schools. In fact, these researchers found that students at single-sex schools had not only superior academic achievement, but also had higher educational aspirations, more confidence in their abilities, and a more positive attitude toward academics, than did students at coed high schools."

Letter to the Editor

Dr Briscoe:

Pursuant to our conversation of 11/07/06. Republican judge of election, Mr Al Wolf (a foreperson of judges from the 99th precinct) was observed by myself, assisting Senior Voters by: Providing false information to voters that the referendum was to "increase property taxes to build a new theater at the high school."

This is a gross violation of giving false/misleading information. A blatant attempt to discourage voters against the referendum for school district 229. Judges are prohibited by election rules from providing false information to any voter seeking clarification on a ballot. Any judge(s) who provide(s) such false information, is tampering with a voter election outcome. A judge who fails to report such a violation, is as guilty of misconduct as the judge(s) who committed the act. Judges need to be removed from future elections for violations that obstruct due process.

The Worth Township Republicans (thru their precinct captains) hand pick their respective judges. These are not people who are in a position to claim "mea culpa" on any voter referendum. Besides counting votes, this is their job: To ensure a fair election is conducted without any undue influence, irregularity, or bias toward none.This is why election judges are prohibited from wearing campaign buttons in the polling place.

If a judge does understand what the referendum is, they have a legal and moral obligation not to comment. If any judge (regardless of party affiliation) witnesses a judge misleading a voter seeking assistance, they are required to report the violation with the county clerks office. At the very least, any judge who observes any impropriety is expected to issue a verbal warning to the responsible party not to commit the offense again. This should not be the job of you or I. Mr Wolf is an experienced judge of every election. In my nine years of voting in this neighborhood, Mr. Wolf is a judge of election, every time. Mr. Wolf knew exactly what he was doing, he chose to act as he did, fearing no one would cry "wolf".

My father was a former treasurer for the Worth Township Republican Organization. He served as a precinct captain for 3 different precincts in Oak Lawn. In my neighborhood, my mother served as a Republican judge of election at the polling place that doubled as a fire house. My parents volunteered for decades because they believed in the power of the vote, and will of the people.

I have served as a poll watcher for NBC News. My responsibility: Observe and report the election results to WMAQ from the polling place assigned to me. I have also served as a poll watcher at my union's local election. We follow guidelines identical to those applied at polling places on election day. I am not an expert, but I know what is/is not appropriate conduct of a judge of election.

Did you as promised, file a complaint of voter irregularities against the Republican judges who (thru Al Wolf's own admission) misinformed voters requiring assistance by giving the above statement? I will swear under oath what transpired while I was voting.

We are aware that you will have to work with the decision. We however, will have to live and pay for the decision.

It does not take a village to raise a child: It takes a village to educate a child.

Dr. Briscoe, The village awaits your answer.

Black Ensemble Revue of Soulful 60's sings

by Marijo Doody

The BET performed a decade of great soul songs in the world premier of Those Sensational Soulful Sixties. Artistic Director of BET, Jackie Taylor has branched out with this musical revue and it is presented in a Las Vegas style night club at the Black Orchid in Piper Alley. This fills a void missing in the Chicago entertainment scene.Baby boomers of all colors swooned and want to dance and sing to the sample of works of many of the great singers of the decade. Singers performed as Sam Cooke, Aretha Franklin, Otis Redding, The Temptations, The Supremes, Patti La Belle, The Four Tops, Gladys Knight, Frank Sinatra, Sammy Davis Jr., Ella Fitzgerald, Tina and Ike Turner, Etta James .and Mahalia Jackson. Patti LaBelle's Somewhere Over the Rainbow brought down the house. Nine lucky audience members got to dance and jive with the performers. Taylor has become an expert in talent with song. The singers that performed are young and very talented.Women singers were Stephanie Booth, Melanie McCullough, Melva Rogers Williams and Marilyn Grives. I met Marilyn at the reception. She did Ella! She still sings gospel on the south side of Chicago on Sunday at church when able and thanks God for her opportunity to display her talent.

Men singers were Kenny Davis, Rashan Thompson, Byron Glen Willis, Thooe Huff, and David Simmon. They all feel blessed and thankful for the opportunity to perform Black Ensemble. It is no doubt the show is an audience pleaser. It runs through December 31.Call 312-944-2200 for $45 tickets. In a conversation with Miss Taylor at the show reception, I suggested they record a CD of the music and use it to sell to benefit AIDS research. Maybe they will do it! People will snap it up! It is happy music with soul. Go see the revue for the holidays. It runs Friday and Saturday at 8pm and Sunday at 3pm. Tickets are $45 and it is worth seeing.

Happy Thanksgiving from Village View Newspaper and Staff

A Jewel is in the Southwest Symphony

by Marijo Doody

Recently the opportunity was presented to attend a rehearsal and meet the Director of the Southwest Symphony Orchestra. This is a gem in our suburban area. Its current Music Director is David Crane, a very talented musician from Skokie. His conducting technique reminds me of the passionate Italian conductors I have seen.

At the break one of the timpanist indicated Crane conducts the New Year's Eve program at Symphony Center. The rehearsal first number was selections from Phantom of the Opera by Andrew Lloyd Webber. This was in the recent program because this year is the 20th anniversary of the musical. Mr. Crane indicated it had grossed $3.3 billion in staging receipts.

The story of Phantom of the Opera is told in music and costume and is therapy for the listener. Musically the horn playing is very much like Mahler moments. In directing, Crane signaled different passages for work.

There was a lovely sound with flute, keyboard, synthesizer and triangle.

Percussion had big moments, then horns and brass with melody and a climax with every instrument and at the end the triangle. Orchestra set up was similar to that used by the Chicago Symphony. Strings in the front, all around, with violin, viola and cello in semi-circle. In the center were flutes, oboe, clarinet and bassoon. To the right of the conductor and back were horns and brass. In the back area were percussion, tympani, base and keyboard.

The Southwest Symphony should not be a well-kept secret! Let the word out!

Parts of Scheherade with concert-master Remus Bodea, violin soloist were done. His tones and playing were praised by Conductor Crane and it was lovely. He was one of the talented musicians and has been with the orchestra for four years.

Many of the string players are 20 year members. Two sisters from Lombard also play with the Elmhurst Symphony. A timpanist has been with the group for over 10 years and next month will play in the Do It Messiah.

One of the violinists said her first teacher was a conductor when she was a child and her goal was to play in the SWS. She has played now for ten years. SWS members are from Flossmoor, Joliet, New Lenox, Blue Island, Oak Lawn, Chicago Heights, Tinley Park, Chicago, Lombard, Downers Grove to name a few places.

The SWS was founded in April 1964 and its first concert was at Evergreen Park High School conducted by Alfred Aulwurm, founder. David Crane took over in 1990 as conductor and Music Director.

As of 2002 most concerts are at Trinity Christian College Auditorium in Palos Heights. The 2006-07 season theme is Symphonic Nights. The holiday concert is December 3, 2006 at 4pm at St. Michael's Church in Orland Park.

Call 708-802-0686 for tickets. Prices are $20, $16 seniors and $5 students. Three choral groups will also perform.

Visualize Your Lifestyle: Three New Approaches

(NAPSA)-Which design concept suits your lifestyle? To help you visualize the way you want to live and create a home you can feel comfortable in, cutting-edge designers now offer lifestyle furnishing concepts.

"Today, living in beautiful, welcoming and elegant surroundings is a luxury one shouldn't sacrifice. It's a need, an aspiration that is natural to us," said designer Pasquale Natuzzi. "And a way of living that improves our daily existence and with which we identify."

For example, Natuzzi offers the three lifestyle approaches-casual, urban and vintage-which each consider the total environment including furniture models and coverings, plus accessories, flooring and lighting to complement them.

Urban

The Urban concept is a cosmopolitan interpretation of the home. It's a way of furnishing that is masculine, yet sensual. Underpinned by rich, strong colors such as red, black and white, this palette is an excellent foil for the more theatrical colors of golden yellow, jade green and blue. New wood finishes in walnut and cheery and glowing satin metals enhance the Urban sensibility.

Sofas feature generous and embracing shapes that invite relaxation. Chairs with sleek lines and hidden details introduce a surprising comfort to modern design. Accessories couple silver with ceramic and highlight sinuous lines.

Vintage

Inspired by memories of generations past, the Vintage lifestyle takes its form from colonial, Victorian and Edwardian styles. It's a marriage of past memories and current life experiences. Patina and grace are found in design details and coverings such as Nubuck and nail heads. It features colors typically encountered in private clubs and libraries such as Cognac, Aged-Whiskies and Hot Buttered Rums.

Casual

Free-spirited, informal and harmonious sum up the lifestyle called Casual. Designed with family in mind, the look is best described as a day at the beach-a place where every day is a holiday. Warm and embracing, it's a habitat inspired by the Mediterranean coast.

A mix of comfort and love of nature-pale woods, natural tones-colors of water, sky and earth. The colors, textures and accessories all contribute to an atmosphere of inner balance and harmony.

Oak Lawn Adopts Bowling Alley Ordinance

By Matt Mayer

The village board approved an ordinance at the Nov. 28 Oak Lawn Board of Trustees meeting. The ordinance enacts a new section of a chapter of the village code regarding bowling alley hours. This ordinance was adopted after failing to achieve a verbal agreement to close at midnight with the owners of the Brunswick Zone bowling alley at 4700 W. 103rd Street, which has been the site of criminal activity over the past several years.

Oak Lawn Police responded to 180 incidents arising at the bowling alley in 2005 and have received at least one call per day until last February; most of those arrested were not from Oak Lawn but surrounding areas. One particular response call resulted in a person attempting to grab an officer's gun during a brawl.

Responding to village pressure, Brunswick Zone management began closing at midnight in March rather than 2 a.m. Brunswick Zone also began charging a $5 cover charge to patrons under 21 years of age and changed the type of music it played as well as adding weekend security officers. Disturbances began to decrease and village officials encouraged Brunswick to continue with the midnight closing.

Earlier this month, however, village officials received a letter from Brunswick Zone management which stated that they intend the return to the 2 a.m. closing on Nov 7, but wouldn't sell alcohol after midnight. At the previous board meeting, Trustee Steve Rosenbaumn said he was at the nearby Jewel Osco and discovered that customers would purchase alcohol around midnight to bring to Brunswick Zone.

The new ordinance states that the police department has informed the corporate authorities that bowling alleys have been the site of numerous police calls and contacts over the past several years and a significant number of incidents at bowling alleys involving police response occur late at night or in early morning hours. The village president and board of trustees believe and hereby declare that it is in the best interest of the village and its residents to require bowling alleys to be closed between the hours of 12:00 a.m. and 5 a.m.

The ability of village officials to impose this ordinance is one of the benefits of the village being a home rule unit. A home rule unit may exercise any power and perform any function pertaining to its government and affairs, including, but not limited to, the power to tax and incur debt. In this particular scenario, the ordinance was invoked in an effort to secure the area. The next meeting is Dec.12.

South Side Teams Excel

Congratulations go to Brother Rice Football Team. They took the Chicago City championship at a recent Soldiers Field battle. In the State 8A Championship finals the Mount Carmel Caravan lost to Wheaton Warrenville South Tigers at Champaign. In the State 7A finals, the St Rita Mustangs beat Lake Zurich in the title game. Former Bear and St Rita Mustang, Dennis Lick said there is nothing like championship football. Congratulations to the Caravan and Mustangs for their successes. That brings us to The Bears! Go Bears!

Doodlings

by Marijo Doody

The Chicago White Sox's and Sporting News recently announced that Jim Thome, White Sox slugger was named 2006 Major League Baseball AL Comeback Player of the Year Award presented by Viagra. Thome led wire-to- wire in the voting to win the award from the fans.

Thome re-established himself as one of the games' elite by hitting 42 home runs and driving in 109. Jim Thome homer was the last homer I saw at US Cellular this past summer. I met him the day I was in the dugout before a game with media. He was most gracious. The photo is a treasure. Of course I voted every time, as a fan, when I was at the Internet in the library. Chicago's politics is vote early and often! I also voted for Nomar (ex–Cub) and he won for the National League.

Thome's peers vote the Sporting News Award. He felt that Frank Thomas was just a deserving of the award. This was Jim Thome's first season with the Chicago White Sox. He said he would resume his daily back program after he returns home from a family vacation and resume baseball activities. We expect good things in 2007!

Limey at Large

"Come in. Sit Down." I accepted both invitations. "Do you like my new chair?" I shuffled my rump into the best position and relaxed back into the soft embrace of the cushions. "I got it out of the garbage." His eyebrows almost leaped off the top of his head. He had never seen anyone shift so fast. One moment I was laid out in his chair and the next I was vertical. I brushed at my trousers and gave him my 'look.'

He was completely unperturbed. "It's all right, I cleaned it." I gave the chair another inspection. It was clean, it was solid and it had obviously been very expensive when it first was sat upon.

The use of the word "garbage" had been a little casual and my vision of rat-infested, salad encrusted, festering dumps of furniture were inaccurate. I didn't even catch the telltale smell of mildew. This piece had clearly been given honorable retirement from a good home. I got the cooker on the street." I took careful note of the polished white enamel. "And the refrigerator too." I sat back in the garbage chair. Here was an entirely new aspect of the throwaway society. I had discovered the collect-it-up-again society. I know all about recycling metal and plastics and things, but recycled armchairs and cookers were a new idea to me.

Isn't it amazing how you hear of something for the first time and think what a wonderful new idea it is, only to discover that everybody is doing it? In the past week, I have discovered that half the people in New York furnish their homes with what other people throw away I decided already which half I am going to be in. I have started to keep a sharp lookout for some good stuff. I went to furnish a new business office but I think I am looking in the wrong places. All I have found so far is a chair with one leg missing and a locked file cabinet.

These were in the Garment District. They must be a bunch of cheapskates down there; using all their stuff until it is worn out. I shall go to Madison Avenue in the future, where there is a good chance of a locked file cabinet having something in it. Who knows, I may even find a castoff secretary that I can use? They throw away anything they have had more than three years in some swank offices.

You even find money in some of the better class stuff. A friend of mine found $4 in three pieces of furniture he had adopted. It paid for the cleaning fluid needed to remove the finger marks and gum blobs. Oh, how the other half lives. Just imagine being so rich that you throw out your office desk when there is no more room under the edge for your gum.

I used to be an inveterate collector of "useful" pieces of wood and metal, but living in the city has made me change my ways. Apartment living does not adapt to the necessity of storage. The night I put on my pajamas and backed into a splintery piece of timber propped against the dressing table was the turning point in that little habit. In any case, there are always unlimited dumpsters about the place, filled to overflowing with timber and bent metal of any dimension you require.

I think there must be a thriving industry in this city making patchwork quilts. I can't imagine what else you could do with some of the stuff I have seen being rescued from the bins of cuttings outside dressmaking places. If you are there at the right time, you can see flocks of women descend on a bin and absolutely ravage it. They are like starlings in a wormy garden and unfortunately, the bin looks as if a bunch of birds have been scratching in it after they have finished. If you plan to become a street comber, a word is in order. Like Shakespeare put it, all that glitters is not gold.

I went into Stephen's apartment the other day and I couldn't help but express my concern. "Stephen," I said, "Stephen, have you had a live polecat in here, my dear chap?" "I don't think so. Why?" "This place smells like a zoo." "Do you think it is my new rug?" "It is a polecat rug?" I approached the offending article and sniffed with care.

The hum from that rug was well matched in quality by its decrepit appearance. It was completely safe from moths, which could have died on contact, but that is not to say that it didn't show signs of the past attentions of the little beasts. "Stephen, how long have you had it?" "I just got it. I found it up the street."

I didn't have to be Sherlock Homes to read that rug. Clearly it had belonged to a lady who kept twin tigers on it. They hated baths and were not house- trained. Not only that, but the rug caught mange from them.

I took Stephen to get some rubber gloves so that he could put it out for some other collector.

Something Old and Something New

Dear Brides to Be:

After selecting the date for the wedding, the next step is to choose the sight for the ceremony.

There are some beautiful chapels available for rent in the Chicagoland area. Many have ministers available. You can choose to have your own private minister, rabbi, or judge.

If you choose a chapel, they have gardens and other romantic novelties available, which will make a wedding special. It's affordable and nice for smaller parties.

I want your wedding to be perfect. A Heart that Loves Bonds.

Best Wishes, Carlene O'Connor

What December Means

Our world runs on numbers. The letters in December [numerically] are the #1 and this means "rebuilding to wholeness" of whatever needs to be rebuilt." [Every letter has a number]. #1 brings better health, more wealth and/or self-worth, starting a new friendship, business or even a new relationship. The #1 is always a new beginning, another chance to dance life's dance [so to speak]. December is also known as a very special "Blessed" period in our lives [Christmas]. If you are born on the 1-10-19 or 28th of any month, December is the month for the re-charging of your energy. Astrologically, December is a #3, the 12th month [1+2] "benefits."

LET THE SEASON BEGIN!

kathywhirity@yahoo.com

Now that the turkey has been all gobbled up and family get togethers of Thanksgiving Day are a memory, there's only one thing left to do - GET IN THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT!

Last year I did a complete about face and decided we would focus on the Thanksgiving holiday and not rush to usher in the Christmas season before grace was barely spoken at Thanksgiving dinner.

Last year I put an end to hurrying right into the gift giving time of year with a list a mile long and seasonal stresses to match. Thankfully, last year, I had purchased an array of Autumn decorations that festively brightened our home, leaving an ambiance of fall splendor.

This year, with Christmas items on store shelves in September, I was lucky to find a few strands of golden, leafy garland to beautify the banister. I'm liking the idea of waiting until after the turkey feast to start hanging the holly and the ivy.

With leftovers still lingering in the fridge, black Friday signaled the start of the shopping frenzy for Christmas.

I wonder what Bill and I were thinking as we walked through the doors of Circuit City at noon time on the dreaded black Friday. Long lines wrapped around the store; up and down they snaked through every aisle. There wasn't a smile to be found anywhere - exccpt for one enthusiastic sales clerk who, thankfully, chose to take care of us.

With his help, shopping for what we wanted was a breeze. Standing in linc to pay for all our purchases was another story. We patiently waited it out, trying hard not to show our impatience when customers ahead of us seemed to take forever to be checked out. When it was our turn there was more than a few glitches to contend with, not to mention a few unexpected computer freeze ups.

Forty minutes from merchandise being rung up to having the bags in our hands, and I almost felt as if we owed the growing line an apology. But, I changed my mind and smiled instead. After all, if you're going to brave the crowds to get the best deals, you surely know that you won't be alone in doing so.

We spent the remainder of the weekend turning our front yard into a winter delight.

Each year, my Kris Kringle of a husband likes to change and rearrange his merry motif.

This year it's snowmen and a huge snow igloo, with snow kids twirling on a carousel, while another snow kid peeks through the window.

Holiday hymns like 'Hark The Herald Angels Sing' and 'Jingle Bell Rock', are now playing for our Christmas enjoyment.

The next few weeks will whiz by in a flurry of shopping, partying, gift-giving and getting together with family and friends.

Enjoy the season. Trcasure the wonderful memories for all their worth, wonder and surprise.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK ~

May you have the gladness of Christmas which is hope; the spirit of Christmas which is peace; and the heart of Christmas which is love. (Ada V. Hendricks.)

She was able to gain first hand knowledge of the fundamentals of assessment appeals. Touring the many departments in the Bridgeview Courthouse followed this.

During the visitation, Joanna Cichowicz had the good fortune to meet the Honorable Judge J Hayes. While in his exclusive chamber, she was able to gain knowledge of various legal principals as well as respect for those involved in the judicial process.

Orland Park Theatre Troupe Seeks Women for "Steel Magnolias"

Stage Version Calls for Women Age 18 and Older

ORLAND PARK, IL – The Village of Orland Park Theatre Troupe has chosen "Steel Magnolias" as its spring, 2007 production. Written by Robert Harling, "Steel Magnolias" is a 1987 off-Broadway play that was made into a successful movie in 1989. The story is based on the author's experience with the death of his sister. The comedy-drama illustrates the bond among a group of southern women in northwest Louisiana.

The original stage production opened in New York in 1987 and the show made its official Broadway debut in the spring of 2004.

"Most people remember the 1989 movie that starred Julia Roberts, Shirley MacLaine, Sally Field and Dolly Parton," said Orland Park Recreation Program Supervisor Irene Buikema, executive producer for the show. "The stage version is a little different because the entire cast is adult women," she added.

Orland Park Resident Producer/Director Frann Carnivele-Sidlow will direct the spring production with Jim Mazeika serving as assistant director.

"We usually reserve our spring show for a Broadway musical," Carnivele-Sidlow explained. "Because we don't have access to a school stage for a musical this year, we've opted for a standard production at the Orland Park Civic Center. This one of my all time favorite dramatic productions," she said.

Auditions, open to women age eighteen and older, will be held Monday, December 18 and Tuesday, December 19 from 7:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. at Orland Park's Old Village Hall, 14415 South Beacon Avenue.

Once cast, village residents must pay a $30 registration fee while non-residents pay $45. Rehearsals will be held Sunday afternoons and Monday and Thursday evenings. Performances will be February 23, 24 and 25.

For more information, call the Orland Park Recreation Department at 708/403-7275.

Letter to the Editor

In recent months, I have noticed a lot of negative editorials written about Oak Lawn Trustee Jerry Hurckes. Having worked with Jerry on several different initiatives in the village I felt compelled to share a different view. Jerry is a strong supporter of our community. This isn't a statement of "opinion" but fact. The following are just a few of the things that he's quietly had an impact upon that nobody else would know about unless you were directly involved as I was. These things aren't required of him as Trustee rather done because he cares and gives beyond the position he was elected to. He has actively assisted or participated in Harnew Schools Traffic Safety Committee (i.e. facilitated the addition of a signage, crossing guard, painting of crosswalks, addition of a sidewalk to improve student safety); donations to Harnew School such as a U.S. flag that flew over the Capital and flower pots; donation of U.S. Constitution booklets to Simmons Middle School students preparing for the Constitution test; donations to Oak Lawn Community High School's State Speech Competition; signage around the school to improve student safety, planning of the Westside Baseball opening day festivities and year end picnic.

Far too often in life, it easier to assess blame and ridicule never looking beyond the negative image somebody is trying to portray. I can assure you that for every negative comment about Jerry Hurckes there are 10 positives that most of the village hasn't heard about. Those that do the right things for the right reasons don't need a parade or stage to step on to tell the world. The quiet man is the one that continues to do them because it's the right thing. Jerry thank you for doing the things you do. You've made a difference in the community!

A Couple of Blaguards Makes One Smile

by Marijo Doody

In a limited four week engagement actors Jarlath Conroy and Howard Platt star in a rollicking Irish comedy written by Frank and Malachy McCourt at the Royal George Theatre. It runs through December 24, 2006.

Jarlath Conroy is initially from Ireland and now New York plays Frank McCourt. He has a great singing voice and stage presence. At the reception we met his clergyman brother in ministry in Chicago.

Howard Platt is a show business veteran of more than 35 years and has appeared in more than 100 plays. Conroy has been on Broadway, TV and movies. He received the Helen Hayes Award.

A Couple of Blaguards is an autobiographical account of the McCourt years growing up in the poverty of Ireland. If material poverty was there, then there is a jewel to be gotten in the art of story telling. It was their key to success in raising to survive and triumph. Poverty is no longer in Ireland. Times now have certainly changed there. The show is a result of a typical Irish household of story telling and blarney of the elders. It blends the ears, eyes, and tongue and gives voice to the most trivial events.

Before "Angela's Ashes" and "A Monk Swimming" made McCourt a household name, Chicago audiences were introduced in 1988 to the Blaguards. This updated version adds incidental music to the celebration. You'd better check a pulse, if you do not have a fun evening! You may be dead!

Performances are Tuesday-Thursday at 7:30pm, Friday at 8pm, Saturday at 5 and 8pm and Sunday at 3pm. Tickets are $39.50 and $49.50. Call the box office at Royal George at 312-902-1500. The family friendly production will be a delight for 12 and over.

A Child's Christmas in Wales is Presented at Remy Bumppo Theatre

The Remy Bumppo Theatre presents the annual Christmas family matinee production of Dylan Thomas's, A Child's Christmas in Wales. Matinees are Dec 6 at 2pm, and Saturday Dec 9, 16 and 23 at 4pm. Performances are upstairs main stage of Victory Gardens Greenhouse Theatre, 2257 N. Lincoln Ave. Tickets are $6 for children and $12 adults. It is recommended for children 10 and up.

Call 773-871-3000.

The classic summons memories of simple holiday pleasures from the author's childhood, in his beloved Welsh seacoast village. His use of language is truly unique and it calls to mind the work in unexpected ways. It is storytellers telling stories and events remembered for the holiday season. It is a time for reflection, appreciation and good fortune and a reminder of ones responsibility in the world indicates Edward Sobal the Director.

Classic Toys Create Lasting Childhood Memories

(NAPS)—Peter Pan may have said "I'll never grow up," but in an age of cell phones, MP3 players and video games, it seems harder for kids to stay kids. In this high-tech era, classic toys offer a "back to basics" approach to creative, imaginative play for children of all ages and interests.

"It's still a thrill to receive your first train set, open the door to a new dollhouse or to build your first Lincoln Logs cabin," says Sheliah Gilliland, spokesperson for leading national online toy retailer eToys.com. "Classic toys continually rank as popular gift choices for holidays, birthdays and other special occasions."

For example, the 95-piece Premium Beginner Art Kit from Faber-Castell makes a great gift for 3- to 5-year-olds. With colored pencils, crayons, pastels, paints and more, this kit keeps little hands busy creating lasting works of art. The 200-piece Yukon Express Wood Train set, available exclusively at eToys.com, offers hours of imaginative play for kids who love things that go. Another favorite, the 52" Honey Brown Hugga Bear, provides unlimited hugs and gives kids a cozy lap for snuggling, napping or reading.

Young animal lovers between the ages of 3 and 5 can saddle up on the Radio Flyer Liberty Spring Horse and pretend they're riding the range. For older aspiring equestrians, the Large Wooden Horse Barn and Corral provides stables and training grounds for toy horses. For girls who delight in dolls, no gift says "you're special" like the 23" personalized My Twinn doll, customized to look like your child using a photo you provide. Also popular for girls ages 6 to 12 is the Deluxe Victorian Dollhouse, which comes with 85 pieces of beautiful furniture and accessories.

Kids with an interest in science can experience the natural world close-up with a lab-quality microscope from National Geographic. Designed for ages 9 to 12, it offers sharp viewing and comes with a complete set of slides, dishes, vials and more—all in a handy carrying case.

"Children grow up, but classic toys stand the test of time, creating such fond memories that they will be passed down to future generations," adds Gilliland.

Finding terrific toys—classic and contemporary—for children of all ages is easy at eToys.com, where shoppers can search by gender, age and product popularity.

Orland Park Approves Land Acquisitions

By Matt Mayer

The village board, at the Nov. 20 Orland Park Board of Trustees meeting, voted to invoke the powers of eminent domain for two parcels of property for needed right of way in an effort to improve the 159th Street and LaGrange Road intersection. The approved agreement requires the village to pay the Cook County Treasurer slightly over of $4.3 million, which will be used to compensate the owners of the two parcels.

The intersection is slated to resemble the 159th Street and Harlem Avenue intersection, with three lanes in each direction. The 159th Street and LaGrange road needs to widened due to heavy traffic gridlock. Also the traffic on LaGrange Road is expected to worsen when the village Main Strect Triangle development project located between Southwest Highway, 143rd Strect and LaGrange Road commences.

Along with the new Metra station, the Triangle includes a downtown with a mixed-use development, which will consist of restaurants, shops, offices and condominiums. The entire LaGrange Road improvement and construction project is slated to cost some $100 million. The board also approved various 159th Street and LaGrange Road invoice payments totaling $20,236.67.

What December Means

Our world runs on numbers. The letters in December [numerically] are the #1 and this means "rebuilding to wholeness" of whatever needs to be rebuilt." [Every letter has a number]. #1 brings better health, more wealth and/or self-worth, starting a new friendship, business or even a new relationship. The #1 is always a new beginning, another chance to dance life's dance [so to speak]. December is also known as a very special "Blessed" period in our lives [Christmas]. If you are born on the 1-10-19 or 28th of any month, December is the month for the re-charging of your energy. Astrologically, December is a #3, the 12th month [1+2] "benefits."

Southwest Suburban Regional Office of Catholic Charities moves into new facility

By Kimberley Mathisen

It takes more than desks, computers and telephones to make an office. A fact not lost on the staff at Catholic Charities Southwest Services. But now it's official.

The Southwest Suburban Services staff is happily moved into new offices on 111th Street in south suburban Worth.

Although the move took place in July, the dedication service took place Sept. 25, for about 50 guests including representatives from Catholic Charities and clergy from surrounding parishes.

The dedication ceremony, led by the Most Rev. John Gorman, Gorman included prayers and readings with the. assistance of Rev. Michael Boland and Brejcha. Ill. Senators Edward Maloney and Louis Viverito and Worth Mayor, Edward Guzdziol were among attendees.

"This is a great opportunity for the southwest suburbs," Maloney said, noting the new offices are located in the middle of his district.

"With the diversity found in the area, there is a tremendous need for (services) provided by Catholic Charities," Maloney said. "This is an outstanding organization, and I look forward to working with them."

"I feel privileged to have this organization in Worth," Guzdziol said. "Catholic Charities is known for helping their fellow man with many different programs."

After the ceremony, guests enjoyed refreshments, hand-made angels and homemade Irish Soda Bread.

According to Matt Brejcha, regional services representative for Catholic Charities southwest suburban services, the former offices, located in Palos Hills weren't large enough for staff.

"Our new offices span about 4,500 square feet of space — we've doubled the size of our food pantry," Brejcha said.

"It's wonderful to have so much more room," he said.

"In doubling our space, we'll double our care and response to those in need," said Ellen Gorney, director of programs for Catholic Charities.

"This is a big day for us," Brejcha said. "I'm overwhelmed at the great turnout for the dedication."

"This is a marvelous extension of the great work that Catholic Charities performs in the area," Gorman said.

"This is an exciting day as Catholic Charities expands its services in the southwest suburbs," said Rev. Michael Boland, CEO, President and Administrator for Catholic Charities.

While busy providing tours of the new offices, Brejcha thanked several individuals for their help with moving the offices, including Regional Advisory Board Chairman, Bill Carroll, who helped find the available office space.

"The move was smooth and well organized," he said, while especially thanking Betty Chambers and Maggie Oscar.

Brejcha said chairs were donated by through Regional Advisory Board member, Cheryl Jekiel, of Ralcorp Co., and thanked Don Manikas for the new paint and carpeting.

"We're also most grateful for the donations of three sets of office furniture from Svend Alsing of Furniture Resources, Inc."

Chicago Ridge Discusses Smoking Ban

By Matt Mayer

The village board at the Nov 21, Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting discussed adopting an ordinance regarding a smoking ban. Municipalities, which don't have an ordinance in effect by March 15, 2007, will have to adopt the Cook County smoking ban, which County Commissioners passed on March 15, 2006. On October 2, the Village of Orland Park approved an ordinance banning cigarette, cigar and pipe smoking in the village's restaurants and bars effective Jan 2, 2007. The ordinance also carries significant fines for violators. The Southwest Conference of Mayors will meet on Nov. 29 to discuss the matter.

Other highlights: The board approved a fire department request to purchase an upgraded EKG monitor for the ambulance for $19,348. A public works request to purchase 10 new tables and 50 chairs for the senior center for $3,172 plus freight was also approved as well as a request to enter into a three-year contract with Montrose Fireworks for the Ridge Fest displays. A block party request, which was held on Nov. 25 on the 109th block of Oak, was also approved.

The village is offering free holiday trolley shuttle service, which commenced on Nov 24 and will operate through December 24; the trolley operates on Fridays from 5 p.m to 10 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays from 2:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. The trolley operates from the village hall parking lot on Oxford, and the parking lot at 107th Street and Menard with drop offs at the Commons and the Chicago Ridge mall. What December Means

Our world runs on numbers. The letters in December [numerically] are the #1 and this means "rebuilding to wholeness" of whatever needs to be rebuilt." [Every letter has a number]. #1 brings better health, more wealth and/or self-worth, starting a new friendship, business or even a new relationship. The #1 is always a new beginning, another chance to dance life's dance [so to speak]. December is also known as a very special "Blessed" period in our lives [Christmas]. If you are born on the 1-10-19 or 28th of any month, December is the month for the re-charging of your energy. Astrologically, December is a #3, the 12th month [1+2] "benefits."

Letter to the editor

From Snackville Junction

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for another Great Thanksgiving Day at Snackville. Your generosity and willingness to help others less fortunate really made a difference! We made approximately 500 pounds of food and served over 175 dinners in a short 4 hour span. We made approximately 40 deliveries serving over 100 meals at home to shut-ins who could not come to Snackville to eat. We also had 20 take-out dinners that were picked up by neighborhood families wishing to drop off a dinner or two.

Our own employees and friends volunteered their time and friendliness to help with all the preparations and service. We delivered to Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn, Burbank, Beverly, Blue Island, Chicago Lawn, Roseland, Worth and Alsip. Special thanks to Most Holy Redeemer Girl Scouts!—Thanks girls. Great project.

Special recognition to a few other very generous contributors: Larry O'Connell, Restaurant Depot, Tuzik Bakery, Rich Minnella, (Chef at Whitney's bar & Grille) and Turano Baking Co. Through these and so many other donations, we were able to give families extra food to enjoy 'leftovers' throughout the holiday weekend. There are always some good stories, a few tears and lots of hugs!

We really apprcciate all of your donations and hope to continue this tradition annually, if we are still around. We invite you to stop into Snackville at any time in the future and let us express our thanks personally. Your generosity made a lot of people happy and we appreciate every one of you!

Have a wonderful Christmas Season and a safe and prosperous 2007.

Very sincerely yours
Jeff and Linda Silhan

Doody's Doodlings

by Marijo Doody

It would not be Christmas Tide without Chicago's own Joffrey Ballet performing "The Nutcracker Ballet" at Chicago's Roosevelt University Auditorium Theatre. This year's production has the grand daughter of Alfrida Jablonski, Evergreen Park resident. Janine Jablonski, is the daughter of Jerry from Downers Grove, Illinois and is in the Cavalry Mice in 'The Magical Battleground.' Janine is 14 and in eight grade in the gifted program at Avery Coovley School in Downers Grove. She has been dancing since a young child and has been with the Salt Creek Ballet group. She has danced with them at Governor's State locally. This is her first experience with Chicago's Joffrey Ballet and is thrilled to be picked. Her grandmother indicated it would be good on her resume.

After the Musichorale performance at St. Hugh Church in Lyons, many of the singers went to supper at The View on Harlem. Alex Nelius of Burbank picked up the check and treated 30+ members to supper. What a nice feeling they group had in being appreciated. Of course they sang several Christmas songs at the restaurant. Mr. Nelius is the person who gives $100 to White Sox's charities every time a Sox player hits a home run. Several years ago he won a lottery. It is nice to hear of good deeds for the Christmas holidays. Maybe at some time he will help in the scholarship fund for young musicians. Musichorale 60 Noel concert was a great success at Trinity Christian College and over 800 attended the concert.

We heard from Francine Lazzar that her son, Justin got to play in the Brother Rice City Championship game last month at Soldiers Field. He was greatly thrilled to play where the Bears play. Go Bears!!

Something Old and Something New

Dear Brides to Be: The Holiday Season is a beautiful time to have a wedding. Red and Green velvet attendant dresses are gorgeous and show real nice. Pointsettas are a nice flower and make a terrific look at the altar. Really puts everyone on good cheer and look very romantic. The flower girl can drop red rose petals as you walk before the aisle. All of this is priced very niccly at local bridal shops and florists and make excel-lent pictures. Also halls are easier to book at this time. Make sure you reserve now. Your wedding is special. A heart that loves bonds.

Help Needed on Park for Families With Dogs

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank everyone in the community who has been supportive of constructing a park for families with dogs in our area. Parks for families with dogs are growing in popularity across Illinois and Cook County. There are at least 16 of these parks in Cook County and I am glad that Oak Lawn residents can now benefit by having a place to bring their dogs that is close to home.

Parks for families with dogs service a growing population that include traditional families, seniors, and singles. It is something that can be enjoyed safely by almost everyone.

As we movc forward with the construction of the park, I think it is important to find ways to defer costs away from taxpayers. As dog owners who use the park we have a responsibility to not only share in the costs of the park, but also in the maintenance of the park. A well maintained beautiful park helps everyone share a more enjoyable experiencc.

Right now we are in the process of creating a committee made up of area residents who are interested in helping to build and maintain a dog park in our area. Activities will include fundraising for the park, developing ideas for the future of the park, and participating in activities to promote the continued success of the park. If you are interested in getting involved at any level, please contact me at 708-203-1412 or MaryListens@hotmail.com

Faith

Q.J.W. asks, "I have been doing some numerology & worked out the word Faith, & as you know it comes to a single digit #8. Doesn't the #8 offer challenge?" A. Yes it does but…it also represents help in healing. Q.L.P. says, "I had lost all Faith because everything I did or said was being taken wrong & people just seemed to fail me in every way. I don't know how or why I got it back, but it's back & my life has turned around. Do you know why this happened to me?" A. Our Creator never leaves us on our own. Something deep inside you had to have happened that made you ready again to believe in yourself & the Creator.

Data Show Students Improve Dramatically During High School Years

While most Americans grade high schools by their state's annual assessment, educators know better. For years, school boards, administrators and teachers have stressed how student growth – how much students improve over their four years of high school – provides the one true measure of educational effectiveness.

State assessments, when examined independently, merely provide a snapshot of ability levels and supply no information on whether a group of students has improved over time.

Analyzing standardized assessments across four years shows whether students grow over time. Today in District 218, data from standardized test scores supply evidence clearly demonstrating that students improve skill levels dramatically.

District staff tracked test scores for the current senior class. Calculations span from their results on the Explore test, which they took as eighth graders to indicate academic readiness for high school; the PLAN test, which they took as freshmen and sophomores; and, the ACT, which is the first day of testing of the Prairie State Achievement Exam as juniors. The College Board, which designs and administers the ACT, produces all three of these tests, which are correlated and used for tracking the success of a particular cohort of students.

District 218, where ACT scores have improved for five straight years, likely will experience a small decline for the Class of 2007. Analysis over time reveals, however, that district students have demonstrated steady growth. "When you look at the percentages of students in the various ranges, the movement is in the right direction," Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dr. Kevin McCaffrey said to the Board earlier this month.

Analysis of the College Readiness Standards — derived from Explore (8th grade placement), PLAN (grades 9 and 10), and PSAE/ ACT (grade 11) — across the past four years reveals noteworthy trends. Data, in general, indicated that students moved out of lower-achieving ranges and into mid- and higher- achieving ranges. Specifically, the data from the Explore, PLAN, and PSAE reveal the following between 8th grade and 11th grades:

In the lowest score range, the district improved from 23% to 5% (that means, as eighth graders, one in four scored in the lowest range and, as juniors, one in 20 did);

In the second lowest range, the district improved from 41% to 21%;

In the middle range, the district increased from 29% to 33%; and,

In the high-scoring ranges, the district increased from 7% to 41%.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

kathywhlrity@yahoo.com

This Christmas will be different. I had never given much thought to what life would be like as an empty nester. When the girls were away at college they were still around on weekends, spring break and summer vacation. When our youngest daughter, Katie, graduated from college she moved up north to the independence of her own apartment. I barely had time to contemplate life without my children at home. I was kept busy helping my oldest child, Jaime, plan her wedding. Before we knew it, the wedding was here and gone and so was our other little girl. Suddenly, we were left with two bedrooms, bare of our daughter's belongings and the stark reality that we were officially empty nesters.

This past Thanksgiving Bill and I found ourselves putting the finishing touches on our festive feast while anxiously looking forward to our kids coming for dinner.

They came, they ate, and I did what every mother does afterward - I packed up leftovers for them to take home. It's different now. I feel that they are my guests and I enjoy doting on them.

Today, the totes and boxes of Christmas stuff are stacked all over the family room, ready and waiting to be unpacked. At the moment I have no incentive to begin the daunting task of decorating, but once I get started I know I won't stop until every snowman, angel and nativity figurine are in their place. This Christmas will be different. We'll wake up Christmas morn to an empty house. The presents will sit under the tree as we patiently wait for our grown daughters to come home for Christmas.

I have mixed feelings about reaching this empty nest phase of life. Always trying to be the optimist, I look for the advantages. For instance, going through the treasure trove of Christmas knick-knacks, I spy the sentimental souvenirs whose meaning spans over 30 years of married life.

Logically I must accept that our lives are a continual work in progress, and I know that change is what makes life worthliving.

As I crack the lid on the first tote I immediately see the the snowman figurine I purchased last year. Across the bottom are the words - 'My Family Is My Treasure.' Those are the words I live by.

With Christmas carols serenading my senses and inspiring me to deck the halls - I find myself merrily singing along with the song playing on the radio. "I'll Be Home For Christmas -You Can count On Me."

My daughters may no longer live in my home, but home is where I hope their hearts will always be.

This Christmas will be different, and as we grow in the experience of new challenges and expand upon new horizons, one thing will never, ever change, and that's the comfort found in being part of a family.

And, so it is, with open arms, I welcome my family home for the holidays.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK~

A hug is a perfect gift for Christmas; one size fits all and it's easily returned. (Evelyn Beilenson.)

Argue For The Fun Of It This Spring At Moraine Valley

Love to argue? Want to win? Learn to master the skillful art of debate in Moraine Valley's Argumentation class, which meets Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:30-1:45 p.m. during the spring 2007 semester.

This core communication course teaches students academic debate skills while increasing their knowledge of current controversial issues. By working in teams, students will learn how to analyze arguments to strengthen their own argument or to point out flaws in an opponent's case and how to defend their point of view with logic and evidence.

The coursework will disprove some common misconceptions about debate and will teach students how to be a good sport during a debate, how to speak in timed segments while remaining calm, the rules about citing current research and using an outline, and how to overcome nervousness.

Students interested in this fun course taught by Krista Appelquist, assistant professor of Speech and coach of the forensics team, may be law, philosophy, or communication majors or may just love to argue. They must already have taken Composition and Speech Fundamentals to be eligible to enroll.

Registration for the spring semester is underway. Classes begin the week of January 16. In-district tuition is $67 per credit hour plus fees and books. Students can register in person by visiting the Admissions, Records and Registration office, located in the College Center, on campus, 9000 W. College Pkwy., Palos Hills, or by calling (708) 974-2110 (TTY for the hearing impaired 708-974-9556). Previously enrolled students also can register online at morainevalley.edu.

Information on all credit and non-credit classes is available in the spring 2007 class schedule or online at morainevalley.edu.

For news media inquiries, call Jessica Crotty, College and Community Relations coordinator, at (708) 974-5281, or e-mail her at crotty@morainevalley.edu.

Sandra Delgado and Andrew Perez in Sonia Flew by Melinda Lopez, directed by Jessica Thebus. The production plays in the Steppenwolf Downstairs Theatre through February 4, 2007. For tickets, visit www.steppenwolf.org or call 312-335-1650. Credit Michael Brosilow.

Family Secrets Are in "Sonia Flew"

by Marijo Doody

It is a tale of two worlds where the media awaits Castro's demise and Americans ponder the mid-eastern conflict. Playwright Melinda Lopez in the current Steppenwolf's production "Sonia Flew" ponders the fate of kids who escaped Castro's rule and the aftermath of life effects. It is her using the Cuban immigration experience from "Peter Pan" in the 60's where a child was sent to the United States to escape Castro's reign .The idea of children, mothers and safety was drawn from the exodus. What about the child's felt abandonment? The secret no one talked about in later relationships. It is so true in families!

In the play's first act, Zak (Andrew Perez), the son announces he has joined the Marines in the post 9-11 time to protect his mother, Sonia (Sandra Marquez) who is suffering anxiety from 9-11 and past memories. She freaks out! She has married a Jewish man a while ago. They are trying to have holidays with both Jewish and Cuban traditions. Foods are supposed to heal! Her father-in-law was a Polish Jew in World War II and is suffering posttraumatic stress from that. No one gets healing!

Act II opens some 40 years back to the scene where Sonia as a young girl is in the Cuban Youth movement with a friend. He turns in her parents for having a radio. The parents put her on a plane for the US with the fake visa as in Operation Peter Pan. She never sees her parents again. Her father is shot and her mother drowns. She feels abandonment. As an adult she never resolves the problem and even though her husband is a psychologist, he cannot help her. Her son goes into the marines and looses an arm and his colleague. Is it worth it to fight in the mid-east? We cannot win!

Acting is excellent by the Steppenwolf players including Jeff Still and Sandra Delgado. Melinda Lopez, the playwright, has a great ability to really get inside people and examine the paranoid more difficult humors that flow through us. Things we cannot understand become cleared in her words. She has not been to Cuba

As her parents gave her an idealized version and their memories were positive and seemed wonderful. The friend that was with me at the performance had been to Cuba before and after Castro and confirmed the fact. There is pain, joy, passion and commerce in the weird fractured history between Cuba and the United States.

Tickets are $20-$65 for the Steppenwolf Theatre and the play runs through February 4, 2007 in the Downstairs Theatre. The box office phone number is 312-335-1650. The theater is accessible to public transportation.

The award has a $16,000 grant to each artist which was awarded by Tim Meier and Helen Coburn Meier Foundation that recognizes gifted artist in mid-career.

Helen Coburn Meier indicated "the award is given out during Thanksgiving as a thank you to gifted individuals who seriously commit themselves to work on the arts in Chicago." The husband and wife artist to encourage artists in mid-careers founded the Meier Achievement Award.

Gift Theatre Company Celebrates 5 Years

Don't Miss The Live Frogs at Museum of Science and Industry

Hop on down to the MSI before it is too late! Frogs A Chorus of Colors lets you explore more than 150 brilliantly colored frogs from 15 different countries that are showcased in custom habitats that mimic their natural environments. Frogs come in every color and size and are the most adaptable creatures on earth and live on every continent except Antarctica.

The exhibit introduces guests to the unique attributes of these amphibians and their scientific significance, particularly as their populations are dwindling due to climate changes, pollution and other environmental factors. Throughout the exhibit guests are encouraged to get a 'frog eye view' by trying their hand as several interactive challenges. This is good for families.

Frogs A Chorus of Colors runs through January 7, 2007 and was created by Clyde Peeling's Reptiland. Entry to the exhibit is by timed ticket and the exhibit has a charge of $5 per person in addition to the Museum's admission. of $11 adults, $9.50 seniors and $7 children 3-11.

Queen of Peace Lends a Hand During Holidays

During this holiday season, Queen of Peace High School students volunteer in multiple ways to help those in need. Members of the Poverty and Hunger Task Force at Queen of Peace have resumed their monthly trips to the Greater Chicago Food Depository this year.

When the students arrived at the depository this past November and December, they helped re-package food that had been donated from businesses and that will be distributed to various food pantries and shelters in the Chicagoland area. "This is the second year the task force has worked at the depository, and it is very gratifying to feel that you are helping others," noted Judy Zitlow, co-moderator of the Poverty and Hunger Task Force.

Members of Peace's chapter of the National Honor Society also began collecting food for the holiday season. The National Honor Society asked residents of Burbank, Oak Lawn, and parts of Chicago to assist in their efforts. Households were asked to have donations ready and to leave these non-perishable items on their porches. Peace students have spent the afternoon and evenings collecting bags of groceries.

The efforts of these organizations are meant to encourage community building, inspire a dedication to service, and promote the values of peace and justice.

Sanitary Sewer Cleaning and Televising in Oak Forest

OAK FOREST, Illinois – The City of Oak Forest has contracted with AK Underground of Tinley Park to clean and inspect 15 miles sanitary sewers beginning Monday, December 11th. The sewer mains will be pressure jetted clean, root cut, and televised as part of a proactive maintenance program to insure that the city's sanitary sewer system continues to function properly. The cleaning and inspection work will improve system performance, significantly reduce the chance of future sewer backups, and visually inspect and record conditions of the underground pipe network.

Residents are asked to look for notices sent out by the Department of Public Works to all homes that will be affected. The area initially impacted by the sanitary sewer cleaning and televising includes from Pine Road eastward to addresses in the 6000 block between Victoria Drive and 159th Street. Work will continue north of Victoria Drive/James Drive to 151st Street, from Ridgeland Avenue eastward to Long Avenue.

Cleaning the sewer lines can sometimes creates a back pressure on the sanitary system. The water jetting and vacuuming process causes a vacuum in the sewer main. This will not affect most homes, but some homes may experience problems with inadequate or partially blocked drain vents. The vacuum may cause "P traps" (the little S-shaped bend in the pipe under sinks and drains) to be sucked dry. Oak Forest residents who notice a sewer smell are advised to run a small amount of water into the drains to refill the P-traps.

Residents may notice a gurgling or bubbling noise when work is occurring in your neighborhood. The City is asking for your cooperation by making sure that the lids to all your toilets be left closed. This will help minimize any mess that may occur if there is a back pressure problem. Although this condition is rare it has occurred in past programs.

This sanitary sewer cleaning and televising work will be completed in early spring 2007. For additional information, contact the Oak Forest Public Works Department at (708) 535-4090.

Faith

Q.J.W. asks, "I have been doing some numerology & worked out the word Faith, & as you know it comes to a single digit #8. Doesn't the #8 offer challenge?" A. Yes it does but…it also represents help in healing. Q.L.P. says, "I had lost all Faith because everything I did or said was being taken wrong & people just seemed to fail me in every way. I don't know how or why I got it back, but it's back & my life has turned around. Do you know why this happened to me?" A. Our Creator never leaves us on our own. Something deep inside you had to have happened that made you ready again to believe in yourself & the Creator.

Data Show Students Improve Dramatically During High School Years

While most Americans grade high schools by their state's annual assessment, educators know better. For years, school boards, administrators and teachers have stressed how student growth – how much students improve over their four years of high school – provides the one true measure of educational effectiveness.

State assessments, when examined independently, merely provide a snapshot of ability levels and supply no information on whether a group of students has improved over time.

Analyzing standardized assessments across four years shows whether students grow over time. Today in District 218, data from standardized test scores supply evidence clearly demonstrating that students improve skill levels dramatically.

District staff tracked test scores for the current senior class. Calculations span from their results on the Explore test, which they took as eighth graders to indicate academic readiness for high school; the PLAN test, which they took as freshmen and sophomores; and, the ACT, which is the first day of testing of the Prairie State Achievement Exam as juniors. The College Board, which designs and administers the ACT, produces all three of these tests, which are correlated and used for tracking the success of a particular cohort of students.

District 218, where ACT scores have improved for five straight years, likely will experience a small decline for the Class of 2007. Analysis over time reveals, however, that district students have demonstrated steady growth. "When you look at the percentages of students in the various ranges, the movement is in the right direction," Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dr. Kevin McCaffrey said to the Board earlier this month.

Analysis of the College Readiness Standards — derived from Explore (8th grade placement), PLAN (grades 9 and 10), and PSAE/ ACT (grade 11) — across the past four years reveals noteworthy trends. Data, in general, indicated that students moved out of lower-achieving ranges and into mid- and higher- achieving ranges. Specifically, the data from the Explore, PLAN, and PSAE reveal the following between 8th grade and 11th grades:

In the lowest score range, the district improved from 23% to 5% (that means, as eighth graders, one in four scored in the lowest range and, as juniors, one in 20 did);

In the second lowest range, the district improved from 41% to 21%;

In the middle range, the district increased from 29% to 33%; and,

In the high-scoring ranges, the district increased from 7% to 41%.

Chicago Ridge Officials Discuss Metra Station Situation

By Matt Mayer

Village officials at the Dec. 5 Chicago Ridge Board of Trustees meeting discussed complaints regarding the Metra station, such as debris and filthy conditions when commuters arrive in the morning. According to Police Chief Tim Baldermann and Public Works Director Jack Lind, there have also been occurrences of people starting fires and sleeping in the station after the last train departure at 11 p.m. Mayor Gene Siegel requested that Lind contact Metra requesting that they close the station within one half hour of 11 p.m. departure. Lind however said that Metra wants to keep the station open 24 hours. The previous system Metra had was that after the last departure, the doors would automatically lock. "I will try to get Metra to return to the previous system," Lind said.

Village officials also discussed a smoking ban ordinance. Municipalities, which don't have an ordinance in place by March 15, 2007, will have to adopt the Cook County Smoking Ban, which was adopted on March 15, 2006. This ordinance is stricter than the Chicago ordinance. The Chicago ordinance will not go into effect until July 1, 2008 due to being implemented prior to the Cook County ordinance. A public hearing to discuss the smoking ban will take place on Feb. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the municipal center. The next meeting is Dec. 21.

Faith

Q.J.W. asks, "I have been doing some numerology & worked out the word Faith, & as you know it comes to a single digit #8. Doesn't the #8 offer challenge?" A. Yes it does but…it also represents help in healing. Q.L.P. says, "I had lost all Faith because everything I did or said was being taken wrong & people just seemed to fail me in every way. I don't know how or why I got it back, but it's back & my life has turned around. Do you know why this happened to me?" A. Our Creator never leaves us on our own. Something deep inside you had to have happened that made you ready again to believe in yourself & the Creator.

Data Show Students Improve Dramatically During High School Years

While most Americans grade high schools by their state's annual assessment, educators know better. For years, school boards, administrators and teachers have stressed how student growth – how much students improve over their four years of high school – provides the one true measure of educational effectiveness.

State assessments, when examined independently, merely provide a snapshot of ability levels and supply no information on whether a group of students has improved over time.

Analyzing standardized assessments across four years shows whether students grow over time. Today in District 218, data from standardized test scores supply evidence clearly demonstrating that students improve skill levels dramatically.

District staff tracked test scores for the current senior class. Calculations span from their results on the Explore test, which they took as eighth graders to indicate academic readiness for high school; the PLAN test, which they took as freshmen and sophomores; and, the ACT, which is the first day of testing of the Prairie State Achievement Exam as juniors. The College Board, which designs and administers the ACT, produces all three of these tests, which are correlated and used for tracking the success of a particular cohort of students.

District 218, where ACT scores have improved for five straight years, likely will experience a small decline for the Class of 2007. Analysis over time revcals, however, that district students have demonstrated steady growth. "When you look at the percentages of students in the various ranges, the movement is in the right direction," Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services Dr. Kevin McCaffrey said to the Board earlier this month.

Analysis of the College Readiness Standards — derived from Explore (8th grade placement), PLAN (grades 9 and 10), and PSAE/ ACT (grade 11) — across the past four years reveals noteworthy trends. Data, in general, indicated that students moved out of lower-achieving ranges and into mid- and higher- achieving ranges. Specifically, the data from the Explore, PLAN, and PSAE reveal the following between 8th grade and 11th grades:

In the lowest score range, the district improved from 23% to 5% (that means, as eighth graders, one in four scored in the lowest range and, as juniors, one in 20 did);

In the second lowest range, the district improved from 41% to 21%;

In the middle range, the district increased from 29% to 33%; and,

In the high-scoring ranges, the district increased from 7% to 41%.
